2 And when they saw some of his disciples eat meat with common hands, (that is to say, unwashed) they complained.

3 (For the Pharisees, and all the Jews, except they wash their hands oft, eat not, holding the traditions of the Elders.

4 And when they come from the market, except they wash, they eat not: and many other things there be, which they have taken upon them to observe, as the washing of cups, and pots, and of brazen vessels, and of beds.)

5 Then asked him the Pharisees and Scribes, Why walk not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eat meat with unwashed hands?

6 Then he answered and said unto them, Surely Isaiah hath prophesied well of you, hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoreth me with lips, but their heart is far away from me.

7 But they worship me in vain, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men.

8 For ye lay the Commandments of God apart, and observe the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and of cups, and many other such like things ye do.

9 And he said unto them, Well ye reject the commandment of God, that ye may observe your own tradition.

10 For Moses said, Honor thy father and thy mother: and Whosoever shall speak evil of father or mother, let him die the death.

11 But ye say, If a man say to father or mother, of God (as they blasphemously persuade themselves) but also do ye do many such like things.

12 And he answered and said unto them, Surely, Hypocrisy is always joined with superstition.

13 Making the word of God of none authority, by your tradition which ye have ordained: and ye mayest have profit, be free from the market, except that is said.

14 Then he calleth the whole multitude unto him, and said unto them, Hearken you all unto me, and understand.

15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entereth into him: but the things which proceed out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If any have ears to hear, let him hear.

17 And when he came into an house, away from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.

18 And he said unto them, What? are ye without understanding also? Do ye not know that whatsoever thing from without entereth into a man, cannot defile him, 19 Because it entered not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught which is the purging of all meats?

20 Then he said, That which cometh out of man, that defileth man.

21 For from within, even out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, 22 Thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, uncleanness, a wicked eye, backbiting, pride, foolishness.

23 All these evil things come from within, and defile a man.

24 ¶ And from thence he rose, and went into the borders of Tyre and Sidon, and entered into an house, and would that no man should have known: but he could not be hid.

25 For a certain woman, whose little daughter had an unclean spirit, heard of him, and came, and fell at his feet, 26 (And the woman was a Greek, a Syro-Phoenician by nation) and she besought him that he would cast out the devil out of her daughter.

27 But Jesus said unto her, Let the children first be fed: for it is not good to take the children's bread, and to cast it unto whom helpeth.
28 Then she answered, and said unto him, "Truth, Lord: yet indeed the whelpes eat under the table of the children's crumbs.

29 Then he said unto her, For this saying go thy way: the devil is gone out of thy daughter.

30 And when she was come home to her house, she found the devil departed, and her daughter lying on the bed.

31 ¶ And he departed again from the coasts of Tyre and Sidon, and came unto the sea of Galilee, through the midst of the coasts of "Decapolis.

32 And they brought unto him one that was deaf and stammered in his speech, and prayed him to put his hand upon him.

33 Then he took him aside from the multitude, and put his fingers in his ears, and did spit, and touched his tongue.

34 And looking up to heaven, he sighed, and said unto him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened.

35 And straightway his ears were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and he spake plain.

36 And he commanded them that they should tell no man: but how much soever he forbade them, the more a great deal they published it.

37 And were beyond measure astonished, saying, He hath done all things well: 1 He maketh both the deaf to hear, and the dumb to speak.

8 1 The miracle of the seven loaves. 11 The Jews seek signs. 15 To beware of the leaven of the Pharisees. 22 A blind man healed. 27 The people's sundry opinions of Christ. 29 The Apostles acknowledge Christ. 31 He foretelleth his death. 33 Peter, Satan. 35 To save and lose the life. 38 To be ashamed of Christ.

1 In "those days, when there was a very great multitude, and had nothing to eat, Jesus called his disciples to him, and said unto them,

2 I have compassion on the multitude, because they have now continued with me three days, and have nothing to eat.

3 And if I send them away fasting to their own houses, they would 2 faint by the way: for some of them came from far.

4 Then his disciples answered him, Whence can a man satisfy these with bread here in the wilderness?

5 And he asked them, How many loaves have ye? And they said, Seven.

6 Then he commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground: and he took the seven loaves, and gave thanks, brake them, and gave to his disciples to set before them, and they did set them before the people.

7 They had also a few small fishes: and when he had given thanks, he commanded them also to be set before them.

8 So they did eat, and were sufficed, and they took up of the broken meat that was left, seven baskets full.

9 (And they that had eaten, were about four thousand) so he sent them away.

10 ¶ And anon he entered into a ship with his disciples, and came into the parts of Dalmanutha.

11 ¶ And the Pharisees 2 came forth, and began to dispute with him, seeking of him a sign from heaven, and tempting him.

12 Then he 1 sighed deeply in his spirit, and said, Why doth this generation seek a sign? Verily I say unto you, a sign shall not be given unto this generation.

13 ¶ So he left them, and went into the ship again, and departed to the other side.

14 ¶ And they had forgotten to take bread, neither had they in the ship with them, but one loaf.

15 ¶ And he charged them, saying, Take heed, and beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, and of the leaven of Herod.

16 ¶ And they reasoned among themselves, saying, It is, because we have no bread.

17 And when Jesus knew it, he said unto them, Why reason ye? and do ye not remember?

18 Have ye eyes, and see not? and have ye ears, and hear not? and do ye not remember?

19 ¶ When I brake the five loaves among five thousand, how many baskets full of broken meat took encounter with him.

8:12 These sighs came even from the heart root, for the Lord was very much moved with these men's so great infidelity.

8:15 Word for word, if a sign be given: it is a cut kind of speech very common among the Hebrews: wherein some such words as these must be understood. Let me be taken for a liar, or some such like. And when they speak out the whole, they say, The Lord do thus and thus by me.

8:16 These that have their minds fixed on earthly things, are utterly blind in heavenly things, although they be never so plainly set forth unto them.
ye up? They said unto him, Twelve.

20 And when I brake seven among four thousand, how many baskets full of the leavings of broken meat took ye up? And they said, Seven.

21 Then he said unto them, How is it that ye understand not?

22 And he came to Bethsaida, and they brought a blind man unto him, and desired him to touch him.

23 Then he took the blind by the hand, and led him out of the town, and spat in his eyes, and put his hands upon him, and asked him, if he saw ought.

24 And he looked up, and said, I see men: for I see them walking like trees.

25 After that, he put his hands again upon his eyes, and made him look again. And he was restored to his sight, and saw every man afar off.

26 And he sent him home to his house, saying, Neither see well or no.

27 ¶ And Jesus went out, and his disciples into the towns of Caesarea Philippi. And by the way he asked his disciples, saying unto them, Whom do men say that I am?

28 And they answered, Some say, John Baptist: and some, Elijah: and some, one of the Prophets.

29 And he said unto them, But whom say ye that I am?

30 Then Peter answered, and said unto him, Thou art that Christ.

31 And he sharply charged them, that concerning him they should tell no man.

32 Then he began to teach them that the son of man must suffer many things, and should be reproved of the Elders, and of the high Priests, and of the Scribes, and be slain, and within three days rise again.

33 And he looked up, and said, I see men: for I see them walking like trees.

34 ¶ And he called the people unto him with his disciples, and said unto them, Whosoever will follow me, let him forsake himself, and take up his cross, and follow me.

35 For whosoever will save his life, shall lose it: but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the Gospel's, he shall save it.

36 ¶ For what shall it profit a man, though he should win the whole world, if he lose his soul?

37 Or what exchange shall a man give for his soul?

38 ¶ For whosoever shall be ashamed of me, and of my words among this adulterous and sinful generation, of him shall the Son of man be ashamed also, when he cometh in the glory of his Father with the holy Angels.
and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son: hear him.

8 And suddenly they looked round about, and saw no more any man save Jesus only with them.

9 ¶ And as they came down from the mountain, he charged them, that they should tell no man what they had seen, save when the Son of man was risen from the dead again.

10 So they kept that matter to themselves, and demanded one of another, what the rising from the dead again should mean.

11 ¶ Also they asked him, saying, Why say the Scribes, that Elijah must first come?

12 And he answered, and said unto them, Elijah verily shall first come, and restore all things: and as it is written of the Son of man, he must suffer many things, and be set at nought.

13 But I say unto you, that Elijah is come, (and they have done unto him whatsoever they would) as it is written of him.

14 ¶ And when he came to his disciples, he saw a great multitude about them, and the Scribes disputing with them.

15 And straightway all the people, when they beheld Jesus, ran from him.

16 ¶ Then he asked the Scribes, What dispute you among yourselves?

17 And one of the company answered, and said, Master, I have brought my son unto thee, which hath a dumb spirit:

18 And wheresoever he taketh him, he teareth him, and he foameth, and gnasheth his teeth, and pineth away: and I spake to thy disciples, that they should cast him out, and they could not.

19 Then he answered him, and said, O faithless generation, how long shall I be with you, how long shall I suffer you! Bring him unto me.

20 So they brought him unto him: and as soon as he saw him, he straightway rejoiced over him.

21 Then he asked his father, How long time is it since he hath been thus? And he said, Of a child.

22 And oft times he casteth him into the fire, and into the water to destroy him: but if thou canst do anything, help us, and have compassion upon us.

23 And Jesus said unto him, If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth.

24 And straightway the father of the child crying with tears, said, Lord, I believe: help my unbelief.

25 When Jesus saw that the people came running together, he rebuked the unclean spirit, saying unto him, Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I charge thee come out of him, and enter no more into him.

26 ¶ Then the spirit cried, and rent him sore, and came out, and he was as one dead, insomuch that many said, He is dead.

27 But Jesus took his hand, and lifted him up, and he arose.

28 ¶ And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him secretly, Why could not we cast him out?

29 And he said unto them, This kind can by no other means come forth, but by prayer and fasting.

30 ¶ And they departed thence, and went together through Galilee, and he would not that any should know it.

31 ¶ For he taught his disciples, and said unto them, The Son of man shall be delivered into the hands of men, and they shall kill him, but after that he is killed, he shall rise again the third day.

32 But they understood not that saying, and were afraid to ask him.

33 ¶ After, he came to Capernaum: and when he was in the house, he asked them, What was it that ye disputed among you by the way?

34 And they held their peace: for they feared to ask him.

35 And he sat down, and called the twelve, and the chiefest.

36 And he said unto them, Whosoever shall receive one of such little children in my Name, receiveth me: and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth him, Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I charge thee come out of him, and enter no more into him.

37 Whosoever shall receive one of such little children in my Name, receiveth me: and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth him, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth him, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth me, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth me, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth me, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth me, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth me, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth me, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth me, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth me, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth me, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth me, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth me, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth me, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth me, and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth me.
me, receiveth not me, but him that sent me.

38 ¶ Then John answered him, saying, Master, we saw one casting out devils by thy Name, which followeth not us, and we forbade him, because he followeth us not.

39 ¶ But Jesus said, Forbid him not: for there is no man that can do a miracle by my Name, that can lightly speak evil of me.

40 For whosoever is not against us, is on our part.

41 And whosoever shall give you a cup of water to drink for my Name's sake, because ye belong to Christ, verily I say unto you, he shall not lose his reward.

42 ¶ And whosoever shall offend one of these little ones, that believe in me, it were better for him rather, that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were cast into the sea.

43 Wherefore if thine hand cause thee to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter into life maimed, than having two hands, to go into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched,

44 Where their worm dieth not, and the fire never goeth out.

45 Likewise, if thy foot cause thee to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee to go halt into life, than having two feet, to be cast into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched.

46 Where their worm dieth not, and the fire never goeth out.

47 And if thine eye cause thee to offend, pluck it out: it is better for thee to go into the kingdom of God with one eye, than having two eyes, to be cast into hell fire.

48 Where their worm dieth not, and the fire never goeth out.

49 For every man shall be salted with fire: and every sacrifice shall be salted with salt.

50 Salt is good: but if the salt be unsavory, where-with shall it be seasoned? have salt in yourselves, and have peace one with another.

10 The wife, only for fornication, is to be put away. 13 Little children are brought to Christ. 17 A rich man asketh Jesus, how he may possess eternal life. 28 The Hebrew tongue, sitting and dwelling are all one, and so are rising and going forth.

9:37 ¶ He doth not only receive me, but also him that sent me.

9:38 ¶ God who is the author of an ordinary vocation, worketh also extraordinarily so oft as it pleaseth him. But an extraordinary vocation is tried by the doctrine and the effects.

9:42 ¶ God is so severe a revenger of offenses, that it is better to suffer any loss, than to be an occasion of offense unto any.

9:44 ¶ Their worm which shall be cast into that flame.

9:49 ¶ We must be seasoned and powdered by God, both that we may be acceptable sacrifices unto him: and also that we being knit together, may season one another.

2 That is, shall be consecrated to God, being seasoned with the incorruptible word.

10:1 ¶ That is to say, departed and went from thence: for in the Hebrew tongue, sitting and dwelling are all one, and so are rising and going forth.

10:5 ¶ God did never allow those divorces, which the Law did tolerate.

2 See also Matt. 19. For Moses gave them no commandment to put away their wives, but rather made a good provision for the wives against the stubborn hardness of their husbands.

10:11 ¶ Whom he putteth away, for he is an adulterer by keeping company with another.

10:13 ¶ God of his goodness comprehended in the covenant not only the fathers, but the children also: and therefore he blesseth them.

10:15 ¶ We must in malice become children, if we will enter into the kingdom of heaven.
17 ¶ 1And when he was gone out from thence, there came one running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I do, that I may possess eternal life?

18 Jesus said to him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, even God.

19 Thou knowest the commandments, 1Thou shalt not commit adultery. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steal. Thou shalt not bear false witness. Thou shalt 3hurt no man. Honor thy father and mother.

20 Then he answered, and said to him, Master, all these things have I observed from my youth.

21 And Jesus looked upon him, and loved him, and said unto him, One thing is missing: Go and sell all that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven, and come, follow me, and take up the cross.

22 But he was sad at that saying, and went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions.

23 And Jesus looked round about, and said unto his disciples, How hard it is for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdom of God!

24 And his disciples were afraid at his words. But Jesus answered, and said to them, Children, how hard it is for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdom of God!

25 It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

26 And they were much more astonished, saying with themselves, Who then can be saved?

27 But Jesus looked upon them, and said, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for all things are possible.

28 ¶ Then Peter began to say unto him, Lo, we have forsaken all, and have followed thee.

29 Jesus answered, and said, Verily I say unto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my sake and the Gospels, 30 But he shall receive an hundredfold, now at this present, houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands 2with persecutions, and in the world to come, eternal life.

31 ¶ But many that are first, shall be last, and the last, first.

32 ¶ 1And they were in the way going up to Jerusalem, and Jesus went before them, and they were troubled, and as they followed, they were afraid, and Jesus took the twelve again, and began to tell them what things should come unto him, 33 Saying, Behold, we go up to Jerusalem, and the Son of man shall be delivered unto the high Priests, and to the Scribes, and they shall condemn him to death, and shall deliver him to the Gentiles.

34 And they shall mock him, and scourge him, and spit upon him, and kill him: but the third day he shall rise again.

35 ¶ Then James and John the sons of Zebedee came unto him, saying, Master, we would that thou shouldest do for us that we desire.

36 And he said unto them, What would ye that I should do for you?

37 And they said to him, Grant unto us, that we may sit at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand, in thy glory.

38 But Jesus said unto them, Ye know not what ye ask. Can ye drink of the cup that I shall drink of, and be baptized with the baptism that I shall be baptized with?

39 And they said unto him, We can. But Jesus said unto them, Ye shall drink indeed of the cup that I shall drink of, and be baptized with the baptism wherewith I shall be baptized:

40 But to sit at my right hand and at my left, is not mine to give, but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when the ten heard that, they began to disdain at James and John.

42 ¶ But Jesus called them unto him, and said to them, Ye know that they which are princes among the Gentiles, have dominion over them, and they that be great among them, exercise authority over them.

43 But it shall not be so among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your servant.

44 And whosoever will be chief of you, shall be the servant of all.

45 For even the Son of man came not to be served, but to serve, and to give his life for the ransom of many.
46 ¶ Then they came to Jericho: and as he went out of Jericho with his disciples, and a great multitude, Bartimaeus the son of Timaeus, a blind man, sat by the wayside, begging.
47 And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry, and to say, Jesus the Son of David, have mercy on me.
48 And many rebuked him, because he should hold his peace: but he cried much more, O Son of David, have mercy on me.
49 Then Jesus stood still, and commanded him to be called: and they called the blind, saying unto him, Be of good comfort: arise, he calleth thee.
50 So he threw away his cloak, and rose, and came to Jesus.
51 And Jesus answered, and said unto him, What wilt thou that I do unto thee? And the blind said unto him, Lord, that I may receive sight.
52 Then Jesus said unto him, Go thy way: thy faith hath saved thee. And by and by he received his sight, and followed Jesus in the way.

11 Christ entereth into Jerusalem riding on an ass.  13 The fruitless fig tree is cursed.  15 Sellers and buyers are cast out of the Temple.  23 The force of faith.  24 Faith in prayer.  25 The brother's offences must be pardoned.  27 The Priests ask by what authority he wrought those things that he did.  30 Whence John's baptism was.

1 And when he came near to Jerusalem, to Bethphage and Bethany unto the mount of Olives, he sent forth two of his disciples,
2 And said unto them, Go your ways into that town that is over against you, and as soon as ye shall enter into it, ye shall find a colt tied, whereon never man sat: loose him, and bring him.
3 And if any man say unto you, Why do ye this? Say that the Lord hath need of him, and straightway he will send him hither.
4 And they went their way, and found a colt, tied by the door without, in a place where two ways met, and they loosed him.
5 Then certain of them, that stood there, said unto them, What do ye loosing the colt?
6 And they said unto them, as Jesus had commanded them: So they let them go.
7 ¶ And they brought the colt to Jesus, and cast their garments on him, and he sat upon him.
8 And many spread their garments in the way: others cut down branches off the trees, and strawed them in the way.
9 And they that went before, and they that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna: Blessed be he that cometh in the Name of the Lord.
10 Blessed be the kingdom that cometh in the Name of the Lord of our father David: Hosanna, O thou which are in the highest heavens.
11 So Jesus entered into Jerusalem, and into the Temple: and when he had looked about on all things, and now it was evening, he went forth unto Bethany with the twelve.
12 ¶ And on the morrow when they were come out from Bethany, he was hungry.
13 ¶ And seeing a fig tree afar off, that had leaves, he went to see if he might find anything thereon: but when he came unto it, he found nothing but leaves: for the time of figs was not yet.
14 Then Jesus answered, and said to it, Never man eat fruit of thee hereafter while the world standeth: and his disciples heard it.
15 ¶ And they came to Jerusalem, and Jesus went into the Temple, and began to cast out them that sold and bought in the Temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers, and the seats of them that sold doves.
16 Neither would he suffer that any man should carry a vessel through the Temple.
17 And he taught, saying unto them, Is it not written, Mine house shall be called the house of prayer unto all nations? but you have made it a den of thieves.
18 And the Scribes and high Priests heard it, and sought how to destroy him: for they feared him, because the whole multitude was astonished at his doctrine.
19 But when even was come, Jesus went out of the city.
20 ¶ And in the morning as they journeyed together, they saw the fig tree dried up from the roots.
21 Then Peter remembered, and said unto him, Master, behold, the fig tree which thou cursedst, is withered.
22 And Jesus answered, and said unto them, Have faith of God.
23 For verily I say unto you, that whatsoever shall

1007 MARK 11:23
And he began to speak unto them in parables, and said: ‘The kingdom of heaven is like a certain householder, who went into a strange country, and left his house, and gave his servants charge of it, and required of them, that they should keep it. And he sent his servants at intervals, to know how the vineyard was doings. And he said unto his servants, “Whoever has saved the fruit of the vineyard, that same shall be given of the hire of the vineyard: and if any have defrauded me, he shall pay me again sevenfold.” And the householder went into another country: and they gave the vineyard to others. And the hirelings despised the householder’s servants, and said amongst themselves, “This is the last of the householder: it is his inheritance shall be ours.” And they sent unto him certain of his own servants, and they did not respect them. And he sent other servants, and they also they did the same thing, and despised them. And he sent yet others, and they said, “Lord, we know that thou art true, and carest for no man: for thou considerest not the person of men, but teachest the way of God truly.” Is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar, or not? And they said, “Give.” And they said unto him, “Master, we know that thou art true, and carest for no man: for thou considerest not the person of men, but teachest the way of God truly. Is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar, or not?” Should we give it, or should we not give it? but they feared the people: for they perceived that he spake parables against them: therefore they left him, and went their way. And they brought it, and he said unto them, “Bring me a penny, that I may see it.” He knew their hypocrisy, and said unto them, “Why do ye test me? A certain servant, that he might receive of the husbandmen of the fruit of the vineyard.” And they said unto him, “Caesar’s.” And he said unto them, “Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and to God, those that are God’s: and they marveled at him.”

11:24 Word for word, that you receive it speaking in the time that now is, to show the certainty of the thing and the performance indeed.
11:25 When you shall appear before the altar.
11:27 The Gospel hath been assaulted long time since, under the pretense of an ordinary succession.
11:32 A reward of an evil conscience to be afraid of those, of whom they should and might have been feared.
12:1 The calling of God is not tied either to place, person, or time, without exception.
12:2 This word Parable, which the Evangelists use, doth not only signify a comparing of things together, but also dark speeches and allegories.
12:12 They were greedy and very desirous.
12:13 The Gospel jointeth the authority of the Magistrate with the service of God.
12:14 Thou dost not so judge by outward appearance, that the truth is thereby darkened any whit at all.
18 ¶ Then came the Sadducees unto him, (which say, there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying,
19 Master, Moses wrote unto us, If any man's brother die, and leave his wife, and leave no children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.
20 There were seven brethren, and the first took a wife, and when he died, left no issue.
21 Then the second took her, and he died, neither did he yet leave issue, and the third likewise:
22 So these seven had her, and left no issue: last of all the wife died also.
23 In the resurrection then, when they shall rise again, whose wife shall she be of them? for seven had her to wife.
24 Then Jesus answered, and said unto them, Are ye not therefore deceived, because ye know not the Scriptures, neither the power of God?
25 For when they shall rise again from the dead, neither man marry, nor wives are married, but are as the Angels which are in heaven.
26 And as touching the dead, that they shall rise again, have ye not read in the book of Moses how in the bush God spake unto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?
27 God is not the God of the dead, but the God of the living. Ye are therefore greatly deceived.
28 ¶ Then came one of the Scribes that had heard them disputing together, and perceiving that he had answered them well, he asked him, Which is the first commandment of all?
29 Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, Israel, The Lord our God is the only Lord.
30 Thou shalt therefore love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment.
31 And the second is like, that is, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these.
32 Then that Scribe said unto him, Well, Master, thou hast said the truth, that there is one God, and that there is none but he,
33 And to love him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the soul, and with all the strength, and to love his neighbor as himself, is more than all whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.
34 Then when Jesus saw that he answered discreetly, he said unto him, Thou art not far from the kingdom of God. And no man after that durst ask him any question.
35 ¶ And Jesus answered and said teaching in the Temple, How say the Scribes that Christ is the son of David?
36 For David himself said by the holy Ghost, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool.
37 Then David himself calleth him Lord: by what means is he then his son? and much people heard him gladly.
38 a Moreover he said unto them in his doctrine, Beware of the Scribes which love to go in long robes, and love salutations in the markets, 39 And the chief seats in the Synagogues, and the first rooms at feasts, 40 Which devour widows' houses, even under a color of long prayers. These shall receive the greater damnation.
41 a And as Jesus sat over against the treasury, he beheld how the people cast money into the treasury, and many rich men cast in much.
42 And there came a certain poor widow, and she threw in two mites, which make a quadrin.
43 Then he called unto him his disciples, and said unto them, Verily I say unto you, that this poor widow hath cast more in, than all they which have cast into the treasury.
44 For they all did cast in of their superfluity: but she of her poverty did cast in all that she had, even all her living.
13 Of the destruction of Jerusalem. 9 Persecutions for the Gospel. 10 The Gospel must be preached to all nations. 26 Of Christ's coming to judgment. 33 We must watch and pray.

1 "And as he went out of the Temple, one of his disciples said unto him, Master, see what manner stones, and what manner buildings are here.

2 Then Jesus answered and said unto him, Seest thou these great buildings? there shall not be left one stone upon a stone, that shall not be thrown down.

3 And as he sat on the mount of Olives, over against the Temple, Peter, and James, and John, and Andrew asked him secretly,

4 "Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign when all these things shall be fulfilled?"

5 And Jesus answered them, and began to say, "Take heed lest any man deceive you.

6 For many shall come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceive many.

7 Furthermore when ye shall hear of wars, and rumors of wars, be ye not troubled, for such things must needs be: but the end shall not be yet.

8 For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom, and there shall be earthquakes in divers quarters, and there shall be famine and troubles: these are the beginnings of sorrows.

9 But take ye heed to yourselves: for they shall deliver you up to the Councils, and to the Synagogues: ye shall be beaten, and brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimonial unto them.

10 And the Gospel must first be published among all nations.

11 "But when they lead you, and deliver you up, be not careful before hand, neither study what ye shall say: but what is given you at the same time, that speak: for it is not you that speak, but the holy Ghost.

12 Yea, and the brother shall deliver the brother to death, and the father the son, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die.

13 And ye shall be hated of all men for my Name's sake: but whosoever shall endure unto the end, he shall be saved.

14 Moreover, when ye shall see the abomination of desolation (spoken of by Daniel the Prophet) set where it ought not, (let him that readeth, consider it) then let them that be in Judea, flee into the mountains.

15 And let him that is upon the house, not come down into the house, neither enter therein, to fetch anything out of his house.

16 And let him that is in the field, not turn back again to take his garment.

17 Then woe shall be to them that are with child, and to them that give suck in those days.

18 Pray therefore that your flight be not in the winter.

19 For 1 those days shall be such tribulation, as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created unto this time, neither shall be.

20 And except that the Lord had shortened those days, no flesh should be saved: but for the elect's sake, which he hath chosen, he hath shortened those days.

21 Then if any man say to you, Lo, here is Christ, or lo, he is there, believe it not.

22 For false Christs shall rise, and false prophets, and shall show signs and wonders, to deceive if it were possible the very elect.

23 But take ye heed: behold, I have showed you all things before.

24 ¶ Moreover in those days, after that tribulation, the sun shall wax dark, and the moon shall not give her light, 25 And the stars of heaven shall fall: and the powers which are in heaven, shall shake.

26 And then shall they see the Son of man, coming in the clouds, with great power and glory.

27 "And he shall then send his Angels, and shall gather together his elect from the four winds, and from the utmost part of the earth to the utmost part of heaven.

28 Now learn a parable of the fig tree. When her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth forth leaves, ye know that summer is near.

29 So in like manner, when ye see these things come to pass, know that the kingdom of God is near, even at the doors.

30 Verily I say unto you, that this generation shall not pass, till all these things be done.

31 Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away.

32 "But of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the Angels which are in heaven, neither the Son himself, but the Father.

13:11 The hearing of you preaching shall be a most evident witness against them, so that they shall not be able to pensive ignorance.

13:13 For me.

13:14 When the heathen and profane people shall not only enter into the Temple, and defile both it and the city, but also clean destroy it.

13:19 This is a kind of speech which the Hebrews use, and it hath a great force in it, for it giveth us to understand that in all that time one misery shall so follow upon another, as if the time itself were very misery itself: So the Prophet Amos, 5:20 saith, that the day of the Lord shall be darkness.

13:32 The latter day is not curiously to be searched for which the Father alone knoweth: but let us rather take heed, that it come not upon us unaware.
14 Then Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve, went away unto the high Priests, to betray him unto them.
11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised that they would give him money; therefore he sought how he might conveniently betray him.
12 Now the first day of unleavened bread, when they sacrificed the Passover, his disciples said unto him, Where wilt thou that we go and prepare, that thou mayest eat the Passover?
13 Then he sent forth two of his disciples, and said unto them, Go ye into the city, and there shall a man meet you bearing a pitcher of water: follow him.
14 And whithersoever he goeth in, say ye to the good man of the house, The master saith, Where is the lodging where I shall eat the Passover with my disciples?
15 And he will show you an upper chamber which is large, trimmed and prepared: there make it ready for us.
16 So his disciples went, and found as he had said unto them, and made ready the Passover.
thanked, gave it to them: and they all drank of it.
24 And he said unto them, This is my blood of that new Testament which is shed for many.
25 Verily I say unto you, I will drink no more of the fruit of the vine until that day, that I drink it new in the kingdom of God.
26 And when they had sung a Psalm, they went out to the mount of Olives.
27 ¶ Then Jesus said unto them, All ye shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered.
28 But after that I am risen, I will go into Galilee before you.
29 ¶ And Peter said unto him, Although all men should be offended at thee, yet would not I.
30 Then Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, this day, even in this night before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny me thrice.
31 But he said more earnestly, If I should die with thee, I will not deny thee: likewise also said they all.
32 ¶ And they came into a place named Gethsemane: then he said to his disciples, Sit ye here, till I have prayed.
33 And he took with him Peter, and James, and John, and he began to be troubled, and in great heaviness, 34 And said unto them, My soul is very heavy, even unto the death: tarry here, and watch.
35 So he went forward a little, and fell down on the ground, and prayed, that if it were possible, that hour might pass from him, 36 And he said, Abba, Father, all things are possible unto thee: take away this cup from me: nevertheless not that I will, but that thou wilt, be done.
37 Then he came, and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, Simon, sleepest thou? couldest not thou watch one hour?
38 ¶ Watch ye, and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is ready, but the flesh is weak.
39 And again he went away, and prayed, and spake the same words.
40 And he returned, and found them asleep again: for their eyes were heavy: neither knew they what they should answer him.
41 And he came the third time, and said unto them, Sleep henceforth, and take your rest: it is enough: the hour is come: behold, the Son of man is delivered into the hands of sinners.
42 Rise up: let us go: lo, he that betrayeth me, is at hand.
43 ¶ And immediately while he yet spake, came Judas that was one of the twelve, and with him a great multitude with swords and staves from the high Priests, and Scribes, and Elders.
44 And he that betrayed him, had given them a token, saying, Whomsoever I shall kiss, he it is: take him and lead him away safely.
45 And as soon as he was come, he went straightway to him, and said, Hail Master, and kissed him.
46 Then they laid their hands on him, and took him.
47 And one of them that stood by, drew out a sword, and smote a servant of the high Priest, and unto him, and said, Hail Master, and kissed him.
48 And Jesus answered, and said to them, Ye be come out as against a thief, with swords and with staves, to take me.
49 I was daily with you, teaching in the Temple, and ye took me not: but this is done that the Scriptures should be fulfilled.
50 Then they all forsook him, and fled.
51 ¶ And there followed him a certain young man, clothed in his linen upon his bare body, and the young men caught him.
52 But he left his linen cloth, and fled from them naked.
53 ¶ So they led Jesus away to the high Priest, and to him came together all the high Priests, and the Elders, and the Scribes.
54 And Peter followed him afar off, even into the satisfaction for this ruin, is forsaken for his own, and betrayed by one of his followers as a thief, that the punishment might be agreeable to the sin, and we who are very traitors, forsakers, and sacrilegers might be delivered out of the devil’s snare.
55 ¶ He which cast about him, when he hearing that stir in the night suddenly ran forth: whereby we may understand with how great licentiousness these villains violently set upon him.
56 ¶ The highest council was assembled, because Christ was accused as a blasphemer and a false prophet: for as for the other crime of treason, it was forged against him by the Priests, to enforce Pilate by that means to condemn him.
hall of the high Priest, and sat with the servants, and warmed himself at the fire.

55 And the ‘high Priests, and all the Council sought for witness against Jesus, to put him to death, but found none.

56 For many bare false witness against him, but their witness agreed not together.

57 Then there arose certain, and bare false witness against him, saying.

58 We heard him say, ‘I will destroy this Temple made with hands, and within three days I will build another, made without hands.

59 But their witness yet agreed not together.

60 Then the high Priest stood up amongst them, and asked Jesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what is the matter that these bear witness against thee?

61 But he held his peace, and answered nothing. Again the high Priest asked him, and said unto him, Art thou that Christ the son of the ‘Blessed?

62 And Jesus said, I am he, ‘and ye shall see the Son of man sit at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the clouds of heaven.

63 Then the high Priest rent his clothes, and said, What have we anymore need of witnesses?

64 Ye have heard the blasphemy: what think ye? And they all condemned him to be worthy of death.

65 ‘And some began to spit at him, and to cover his face, and to beat him with fists, and to say unto him, Prophesy. And the sergeants smote him with their rods.

66 ‘And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the maids of the high Priest.

67 And when she saw Peter warming himself, she looked on him, and said, Thou wast also with Jesus of Nazareth.

68 But he denied it, saying, I know him not, neither wot I what thou sayest. Then he went out into the porch, and the cock crew.

69 ‘Then a maid saw him again, and began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them: for thou art of Galilee, and thy speech is like.

70 But he denied it again: and anon after, they that stood by, said again to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galilee, and thy speech is like.

71 And he began to curse, and swear, saying, I know not this man of whom ye speak.

72 ‘Then the second time the cock crew, and Peter remembered the word that Jesus had said unto him, Before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny me thrice, and weighing that with himself, he wept.

15 1 Of the things Christ suffered under Pilate. 11 Barabbas is preferred before Christ. 15 Pilate delivereth Christ to be crucified. 17 He is crowned with thorns. 19 They spit on him, and mock him. 21 Simon of Cyrene carrieth Christ’s cross. 27 Christ is crucified between two thieves. 26 He is nailed at. 37 He giveth up the ghost. 43 Joseph buryeth him.

1 And anon in the dawning, the high Priests held a Council with the Elders, and the Scribes, and the whole Council, and bound Jesus, and led him away, and delivered him to Pilate.

2 Then Pilate asked him, Art thou the King of the Jews? And he answered, and said unto him, Thou sayest it.

3 And the high Priests accused him of many things.

4 Wherefore Pilate asked him again, saying, Answerest thou nothing? behold how many things they witness against thee.

5 But Jesus answered no more at all, so that Pilate marvelled.

6 Now at the feast, Pilate did deliver a prisoner unto them, whomsoever they would desire.

7 Then there was one named Barabbas, which was bound with his fellows, that had made insurrection, who in the insurrection had committed murder.

8 And the people cried aloud, and began to desire that he would do as he had ever done unto them.

9 Then Pilate answered them, and said, Will ye that I let loose unto you the King of the Jews?

10 For he knew that the high Priests had delivered him of envy.

11 But the high Priests had moved the people to desire that he would rather deliver Barabbas unto them.

12 And Pilate answered, and said again unto them, What will ye then that I do with him, whom ye call the King of the Jews?

14:55 1 Christ, who was so innocent that he could not be oppressed, no not by false witnesses, is at the length, for confessing God to be his father, condemned of impiety before the high Priest: that we, who denied God and were indeed wicked, might be quit before God.

1461 1 Of God, who is most worthy of all praise?

1465 1 Christ suffering all kinds of reproach for our sakes, geteth everlasting glory to them that believe in him.

1466 1 An heavy example of the frailness of man, together with a most comfortable example of the mercy of God, who giveth the spirit of repentance and faith to his elect.

1469 1 If we compare the Evangelists diligently together, we shall perceive that Peter was known of many through the maiden’s report: yea, and in Luke, when the second denial is spoken of, there is a manservant mentioned, and not a maid.

15:1 1 Christ being bound before the judgment seat of an earthly judge, in open assembly is condemned as guilty unto the death of the cross, not for his own sins, (as appeareth by the judge’s own words) but for all ours, that we most guilty creatures being delivered from the guiltiness of our sins, might be quit before the judgment seat of God, even in the open assembly of the Angels.

2 It was not lawful for them to put any man to death, for all causes of life and death were taken away from them, first by Herod the great, and afterward by the Romans, about forty years before the destruction of the Temple, and therefore they deliver Jesus to Pilate.

15:6 1 Used Pilate to deliver.
13 And they cried again, Crucify him.
14 Then Pilate said unto them, But what evil hath he done? And they cried the more fervently, Crucify him.
15 So Pilate willing to content the people, loosed them Barabbas, and delivered Jesus, when he had scourged him, that he might be crucified.
16 Then the soldiers led him away into the hall, which is the common hall, and called together the whole band,
17 1 And clad him with purple, and platted a crown of thorns, and put it about his head, 18 And began to salute him, saying, Hail, King of the Jews.
19 And they smote him on the head with a reed, and spat upon him, and bowed the knees, and did him reverence.
20 And when they had mocked him, they took the purple off him, and put his own clothes on him, and led him out to crucify him.
21 1 And they compelled one that passed by, called Simon of Cyrene (which came out of the country, and was father of Alexander and Rufus) to bear his cross.
22 1 And they brought him to a place named Golgotha, which is by interpretation, the place of a foul place of dead men's carcasses, as a man most unclean, not sacrificed.
23 And they gave him to drink wine mingled with myrrh: but he received it not.
24 1 And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lots for them, what every man should have.
25 And it was the third hour when they crucified him.
26 And the title of his cause was written above, THAT KING OF THE JEWS.
27 They crucified also with him two thieves, the one on the right hand, and the other on his left.
28 Thus the Scripture was fulfilled, which saith, 1 And he was counted among the wicked.

15:17 1 Christ going about to take away the sins of men, who went about to usurp the throne of God himself, is condemned as one that hunted after the kingdom, and mocked with a false show of a kingdom, that we on the other side, who shall indeed be eternal kings, might receive the crown of glory at God's own hand.
15:21 1 The rage of the wicked hath no measure, but in the mean season, even the weakness of Christ, being in pain under the heavy burden of the cross, doth manifestly show that a lamb is led to be sacrificed.
15:22 1 Christ is led out of the walls of the earthly Jerusalem, into a foul place of dead men's carcasses, as a man most unclean, not touching himself, but touching our sins, which were laid upon him, to the end that we being made clean by his blood, might be brought into the heavenly Sanctuary.
15:24 1 Christ hangeth naked upon the cross, and as the most wickedest caitiff that ever was, most vilely reproved: that we being clothed with his righteousness, and blessed with his curses, and sanctified by his only oblation, may be taken up into heaven.
15:33 1 How angry God was against our sin, which he punished in our surety, his son, it appeareth by this horrible darkness.

43 1Joseph of Arimathea, an 1honorable counselor, which also looked for the kingdom of God, came, and went in 1boldly unto Pilate, and asked the body of Jesus.
44 And Pilate marveled, if he were already dead, and called unto him the Centurion, and asked of him whether he had been any while dead.
45 And when he knew the truth of the Centurion, he gave the body to Joseph:
46 Who bought a linen cloth, and took him down, and wrapped him in the linen cloth, and laid him in a tomb that was hewn out of a rock, and rolled a stone unto the door of the sepulcher:
47 And Mary Magdalene, and Mary Jose's mother, beheld where he should be laid.

16:1 Of Christ's resurrection. 9 He appeareth to Mary Magdalene and others. 15 He sendeth his Apostles to preach. 19 His ascension.
1 And when the Sabbath day was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James and Salome, bought sweet ointments, that they might come and anoint him.
2 Therefore early in the morning, the first day of the week, they came unto the sepulcher, when the Sun was now risen.
3 And they said one to another, Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulcher?
4 And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away (for it was a very great one)
5 So they went into the sepulcher, and saw a young man sitting at the right side, clothed in a long white robe: and they were sore troubled.
6 But he said unto them, Be not so troubled: ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which hath been crucified: he is risen, he is not here: behold the place where they put him.
7 But go your way, and tell his disciples, and 169 1 Christ himself appeareth to Mary Magdalene to upbraid the disciples' incredulity.

1612 1 Christ appeareth to two other disciples, and at length to the eleven.
1614 1 The Evangelist considered not the order of the time, but the course of his history, which he divided into three parts: The first showeth how he appeared to the women, the second, to his Disciples, the third, to his Apostles, and therefore he saith, Finally.
16:15 1 The Apostles are appointed, and their office is limited unto them, which is to preach that which they heard of him, and to minister the Sacraments, which Christ hath instituted, having besides power to do miracles.
16:17 1 Strange tongues, such as they knew not before.
16:19 1 Christ having accomplished his office on earth, ascendeth into heaven, from whence (the doctrine of his Apostles being confirmed with signs) he will govern his Church, unto the world's end.
16:20 1 To wit, the doctrine: therefore doctrine must go before, and signs must follow after.

1 Forasmuch as 'many have 'taken in hand to set forth the story of those things, whereof we are fully persuaded,
2 'As they have delivered them unto us, which from the beginning saw them themselves, and were ministers of the word,
3 It seemed good also to me ('most noble Theophilus) as soon as I had searched out perfectly all things 'from the beginning, to write unto thee thereof from point to point, 4 That thou mightest 'acknowledge the certainty of those things whereof thou hast been instructed.
5 In 'the time of 1Herod King of Judea, there was a certain Priest named Zacharias, of the 4course of Abijah: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth.
6 Both were 'just before God, and 'walked in all the 'commandments and ordinances of the Lord,
'without reproof.

7 And they had no child, because that Elizabeth was barren: and both were well stricken in age.
8 And it came to pass, as he executed the Priest's office before God, as his course came in order, 9 According to the custom of the Priest's office, his lot was to burn incense, when he went into the Temple of the Lord.
10 And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, 'while the incense was burning.
11 Then appeared unto him an Angel of the Lord, standing at the right side of the Altar of incense.
12 And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and fear fell upon him.
13 But the Angel said unto him, Fear not, Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife Elizabeth shall bear thee a son, and thou shalt call his name John.
14 And thou shalt have joy and gladness, and many shall rejoice at his birth.
15 For he shall be great in the 'sight of the Lord, and shall neither drink wine, nor 'strong drink: and he shall be filled with the holy Ghost, even from his mother's womb.
16 'And many of the children of Israel shall he 'turn to their Lord God.
17 'For he shall go 'before him 'in the spirit and

1:1 1 Luke commendeth the witnesses that saw this history.
     2 Many took it in hand, but did not perform: Luke wrote his Gospel before Matthew and Mark.
1:2 1 Luke was not an eyewitness, and therefore it was not he to whom the Lord appeared when Cleopas saw him: and he was taught not only by Paul, but by others of the Apostles also.

     Christ, coming of the stock of Aaron, and of two famous and blameless parents, hath showed in his conception, which was against the course of nature, a double miracle, to the end that men should be more readily stirred up to the hearing of his preaching, according to the forewarning of the Prophets.

19 And the Angel answered, and said unto him, I am Gabriel \textit{that stand in the presence of God, and am sent to speak unto thee, and to show thee these good tidings.}

20 And behold, thou shalt be dumb, and not be able to speak, until the day that these things be done, because thou believest not my words, which shall be fulfilled in their season.

21 Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marveled that he tarried so long in the Temple.

22 And when he came out, he could not speak unto them: then they perceived that he had seen a vision in the Temple: for he made signs unto them, and remained dumb.

23 And it came to pass, when the days of his office were fulfilled, that he departed to his own house.

24 And after those days, his wife Elizabeth conceived, and hid herself five months, saying, 25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with me, in the days wherein he looked on me, to take from me my rebuke among men.

26 ¶ And in the sixth month, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, 27 To a virgin affianced to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David, and the virgin’s name was Mary.

salutation of Mary, the babe 1sprang in her belly, and Elizabeth was filled with the holy Ghost.

42 And she cried with a loud voice, and said, Blessed art thou among women, because 1the fruit of thy womb is blessed.

43 And whence cometh this to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?

44 For lo, as soon as the voice of thy salutation sounded in mine ears, the babe sprang in my belly for joy.

45 And blessed is she that believed; for those things shall be performed, which were told her from the Lord.

46 Then Mary said, My soul magnifeth the Lord,

47 And my spirit rejoiceth in God my Savior.

48 For he hath looked on the 1poor degree of his servant: for behold, henceforth shall all ages call me blessed,

49 Because he that is mighty hath done for me great things, and holy is his Name.

50 And his mercy is from generation to generation on them 1that fear him.

51 He that showed strength with his 1arm: 1he hath scattered the proud in the 1imagination of their hearts.

52 He hath put down the mighty from their seats, and exalted them of 1low degree.

53 1He hath filled the hungry with good things, and sent away the rich empty.

54 1He hath upholden Israel his servant to be mindful of his mercy, 55 (As he hath 1spoken to our fathers, to wit, to Abraham and his seed) forever.

56 ¶ And Mary abode with her about three months: after, she returned to her own house.

57 ¶ Now Elizabeth's time was fulfilled, that she should be delivered, and she brought forth a son.

58 And her neighbors and cousins heard tell how the Lord had showed his great mercy upon her, and they 1rejoiced with her.

59 And it was so that on the eighth day they came to circumcise the babe, and called him Zacharias, after the name of his father.

60 But his mother answered, and said, Not so, but he shall be called John.

61 And they said unto her, There is none of thy kindred that is named with this name.

62 Then they made signs to his father, how he would have him called.

63 So he asked for writing tablets, and wrote, saying, His name is John, and they marveled all.

64 And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue, 1and he spake and praised God.

65 Then fear came on all them that dwelt near unto them, and all 1these words were noised abroad throughout all the hill country of Judea.

66 And all they that heard them, 1laid them up in their hearts, saying, What manner child shall this be! and the 1hand of the Lord was with him.

67 Then his father Zacharias was filled with the holy Ghost, and prophesied, saying,

68 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, because he hath 1visited his people, and 2redeemed his people,

69 1And hath raised up the horn of salvation unto us, in the house of his servant David,

70 1As he spake by the mouth of his holy Prophets, which were since the world began, saying,

71 That he would send us deliverance from our enemies, and from the hands of all that hate us,

72 That he might show mercy towards our fathers:

73 1And the oath, which he swears to our fathers

1:41 1 This was no ordinary nor usual kind of moving.

1:42 1 Christ is blessed in respect of his humanity.

1:46 1 Christ the redeemer of the afflicted, and revenger of the proud, of long time promised to the fathers, is now at length exhibited indeed.

1:48 1 Hath freely and graciously loved.

2 1Word for word, My baseness, that is, my base estate: so that the Virgin vaunteth not her deserts, but the grace of God.

1:50 1 To them that live godly and religiously, so speak the Hebrews.

1:51 1 That is, an heaping up of words more than needed, which the Hebrews use very much, and the arm is taken for strength.

2 1Even as the wind doth the chaff.

3 1He hath scattered them, and the imagination of their hearts; or by and through the imagination of their own hearts: so that their wicked counsel turned to their own destruction.

1:52 1 The mighty and rich men.

2 1Such as none account is made of, and are vile in men's eyes, which are indeed the poor in spirit, that is, such as challenge nothing to themselves in the sight of God.

1:53 1 Them that are brought to extreme poverty.

1:54 1 He hath holpen up Israel with his arm, being clean cast down.

1:55 2 Promised.

1:57 1 John's nativity is set out with new miracles.

1:58 2 This word Horn in the Hebrew tongue signifieth might, and it is a Metaphor, taken from beasts, that fight with their horns; and by raising up the might of Israel, is meant, that the kingdom of Israel was defended, and the enemies thereof laid on the ground, even then when the strength of Israel seemed to be utterly decayed.

1:72 1 Declared indeed that he was mindful.
Abraham.

74 Which was, that he would grant unto us, that we being delivered out of the hands of our enemies, should serve him without fear.

75 All the days of our life, in holiness and righteousness before him.

76 And thou, babe, shalt be called the Prophet of the most High: for thou shalt go before the face of the Lord to prepare his ways,

77 And to give knowledge of salvation unto his people, by the remission of their sins,

78 Through the tender mercy of our God, whereby the dayspring from on high hath visited us, 79 To give light to them that sit in darkness, and in the shadow of death, and to guide our feet into the way of peace.

80 And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, and was in the wilderness, till the day came that he should show himself unto Israel.

Augustus Caesar taxeth all the world. 7 Christ is born. 13 The Angels' Song. 21 Christ is circumcised. 22 Mary purified. 28 Simeon taketh Christ in his arms. 29 His Song. 36 Anna the Prophetess. 40 The child Christ. 46 Jesus disputeth with the doctors.

1 And it came to pass in those days, that there came a decree from Augustus Caesar, that all the world should be taxed.

2 (This first taxing was made when Quirinius was governor of Syria.)

3 Therefore went all to be taxed, every man to his own city:

4 And Joseph also went up from Galilee out of a city called Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem (because he was of the house and lineage of David.)

5 To be taxed with Mary that was given him to wife, which was with child.

6 ¶ And so it was, that while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

7 And she brought forth her first begotten son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a cratch, because there was no room for them in the inn.

8 ¶ And there were in the same country shepherds, abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night over their flock.

9 And lo, the Angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone about them, and they were sore afraid.

10 Then the Angel said unto them, Be not afraid: for behold, I bring you glad tidings of great joy, that shall be to all the people.

11 That is, that unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Savior, which is Christ the Lord.

12 And this shall be a sign to you, Ye shall find the babe swaddled, and laid in a cratch.

13 And straightway there was with the Angel a multitude of heavenly soldiers, praising God, and saying, 14 Glory be to God in the high heavens, and peace in earth, and toward men good will.

15 And it came to pass when the Angels were gone away from them into heaven, that the shepherds said one to another, Let us go then unto Bethlehem, and see this thing that is come to pass, which the Lord hath showed unto us.

16 So they came with haste, and found both Mary and Joseph and the babe laid in the cratch.

17 And when they had seen it, they published abroad the thing that was told them of that child.

18 And all that heard it, wondered at the things which were told them of the shepherds.

19 But Mary kept all those sayings, and pondered them in her heart.

20 And the shepherds returned glorifying and praising God, for all that they had heard and seen, as it was spoken unto them.

21 ¶ And when the eight days were accomplished, that they should circumcise the child, his name was then called Jesus, which was named of the Angel,
2:22 1 Christ, upon whom all our sins were laid, being offered to God, according to the Law, both purely both Mary and us all in himself.

2 And when the days of her purification, after the Law of Moses, were accomplished, they brought him to Jerusalem, to present him to the Lord.

3 (As it is written in the Law of the Lord, ‘Every man child that first openeth the womb, shall be called holy to the Lord,’

4 And to give an oblation, as it is commanded in the Law of the Lord, a pair of turtledoves, or two young pigeons.

5 And behold, there was a man in Jerusalem, whose name was Simeon: this man was just, and feared God, and waited for the consolation of Israel, and the holy Ghost was upon him.

6 And it was declared to him from God by the holy Ghost, that he should not see death, before he had seen that Anointed of the Lord.

7 And he came by the motion of the spirit into the Temple, and when the parents brought in the babe Jesus, to do for him after the custom of the Law.

8 Then he took him in his arms, and praised God, and said,

9 Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, according to thy word, 10 For mine eyes have seen thy salvation,

11 Which thou hast prepared before the face of all people, 12 A light to be revealed to the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel.

13 And Simeon blessed them, and said unto Mary his mother, Behold, this child is appointed for the sign which shall be spoken against, 14 (Yea and a sword shall pierce through thy soul) that the thoughts of many hearts may be opened.

15 And there was a Prophetess, one Anna the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher, which was of a great age, after she had lived with an husband seven years from her virginity:

16 And when they were twelve years old, and they were come up to Jerusalem, after the custom of the feast, they returned into Galilee to their own city Nazareth.

17 But they supposing that he had been in the company, went a day’s journey, and sought him among their kinsfolk, and acquaintance.

18 And when they found him not, they turned back to Jerusalem, and sought him.

19 And when they found him, they were amazed, and understanding and answers.

20 When they found him in the Temple, sitting in the midst of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions:

21 And all that heard him, were astonished at his understanding and answers.

22 So when they saw him, they were amazed, and his mother said unto him, Son, why hast thou thus dealt with us? behold, thy father and I have sought thee with very heavy hearts.

23 Then said he unto them, How is it that ye sought me? knew ye not that I must go about my Father’s business?

24 But they understood not the word that he spake to them.
3 John exhorteth to repentance. 15 His testimony of Christ. 20 Herod putteth him in prison. 21 Christ is baptized. 23 His pedigree.

1 Now in the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar, Pontius Pilate being governor of Judea, and Herod being Tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip Tetrarch of Iturea, and of the country of Trachonitis, and Lysanias the Tetrarch of Abilene,

2 (When Annas and Caiaphas were the high Priests) the word of God came unto John, the son of Zacharias in the wilderness.

3 And he came into all the coasts about Jordan, preaching the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins,

4 As it is written in the book of the sayings of Isaiah the Prophet, which saith, "The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his paths straight."

5 Every valley shall be filled, and every mountain and hill shall be brought low, and crooked things shall be made straight, and the rough ways shall be made smooth.

6 And all flesh shall see the salvation of God.

7 Then said he to the people that were come out to be baptized of him, "O generations of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the wrath to come?"

8 Bring forth therefore fruits worthy amendment of life, and begin not to say with yourselves, We have Abraham to our Father: for I say unto you, that God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham.

9 Now also is the axe laid unto the root of the trees: therefore every tree which bringeth not forth good fruit, shall be hewn down, and cast into the fire.

10 Then the people asked him, saying, What shall we do then?

11 And he answered, and said unto them, 'He that hath two coats, let him part with him that hath none: and he that hath meat, let him do likewise.

12 Then came there Publicans also to be baptized, and said unto him, Master, what shall we do?

13 And he said unto them, Require no more than that which is appointed unto you.

14 The soldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we do? And he said unto them, Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely, and be content with your wages.

15 As the people waited, and all men mused in their hearts of John, if he were not that Christ.

16 John answered, and said to them all, 'Indeed I baptize you with water, but one stronger than I, cometh, whose shoe's latchet I am not worthy to unloose: he will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire.

17 Whose fan is in his hand, and he will make clean his floor, and will gather the wheat into his garner, but the chaff will he burn up with fire that never shall be quenched.

18 Thus then exhorting with many other things, he preached unto the people.

19 But when Herod the Tetrarch was rebuked of him, for Herodias his brother Philip's wife, and for all the evils which Herod had done, 20 He added yet this above all, that he shut up John in prison.

21 Now it came to pass, as all the people were baptized, and that Jesus was baptized and did pray, that the heaven was opened:

22 And the holy Ghost came down in a bodily shape like a dove upon him, and there was a voice from heaven, saying, Thou art my beloved Son: in thee I am well pleased.

23 And Jesus himself began to be about thirty years of age, being as men supposed the son of Joseph, which was the son of Heli,

24 The son of Matthat, the son of Levi, the son of Melchi, the son of Janna, the son of Joseph,

25 The son of Mattathia, the son of Amos, the son of Nahum, the son of Eli, the son of Naggai, 26 The son of Maath, the son of Mattathia, the.

2:51 Christ very man is made like unto us in all things, except sin. 3:1 John cometh at the time foretold of the Prophets, and layeth the foundation of the Gospel which is exhibited unto us, setting forth the true observing of the Law, and free mercy in Christ, which cometh after him, using also baptism the effectual sign both of regeneration and also of forgiveness of sins. 3:2 Josephus calleth him Ananus. 3:13 Require no more than that sum that is appointed for the tribute money. 3:14 Which was paid them partly in money, and partly in victual. 3:15 If we would rightly, and fruitfully receive the sacraments, we must neither rest in the signs, neither in him that ministereareth the signs, but lift up our eyes to Christ, who is the author of the sacraments, and the giver of that which is represented by the sacraments. 3:17 The Gospel is the fan of the world. 3:19 John’s preaching is confirmed with his death. 3:21 Our baptism is sanctified in the head of the Church, and Christ also is pronounced, by the voice of the Father, to be our everlasting King, Priest, and Prophet. 3:23 The stock of Christ, according to the flesh, is brought by order even to Adam, and so to God, that it might appear, that he only it was, whom God promised to Abraham and David, and appointed from everlasting to his Church, which is gathered together of all sorts of men.
4 1 Of Christ's temptation, and fasting. 16 He teacheth in Nazareth to the great admiration of all. 24 A Prophet that teacheth in his own country is condemned. 33 One possessed of the devil is cured. 38 Peter's mother-in-law is healed. 40 and divers sick persons are restored to health. 41 The devils acknowledge Christ.

1 And Jesus full of the holy Ghost returned from Jordan, and was led by that Spirit into the wilderness,

2 And was there forty days tempted of the devil, and in those days he did eat nothing; but when they were ended, he afterward was hungry.

3 Then the devil said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, command this stone, that it be made bread.

4 But Jesus answered him, saying, It is written, 'That man shall not live by bread only, but by every word of God.'

5 Then the devil took him up into an high mountain, and showed him all the kingdoms of the world, in the twinkling of an eye.

6 And the devil said unto him, All this power will I give thee, and the glory of those kingdoms: for that is delivered to me: and to whomsoever I will, I give it.

7 If thou therefore wilt worship me, they shall be all thine.

8 But Jesus answered him, and said, Hence from me, Satan; for it is written, 'Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him alone shalt thou serve.'

9 Then he brought him to Jerusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the Temple, and said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down from hence,

10 For it is written, 'That he will give his Angels charge over thee to keep thee:'

11 And with their hands they shall lift thee up, lest at anytime thou shouldest dash thy foot against a stone.

12 And Jesus answered, and said unto him, It is said, 'Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.'

13 And when the devil had ended all the temptation, he departed from him for a little season.

14 And Jesus returned by the power of the Spirit into Galilee: and there went a fame of him throughout all the region round about:

15 For he taught in their Synagogues, and was honored of all men.

16 And he came to Nazareth where he had been brought up, and (as his custom was) went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood up to read.

17 And there was delivered unto him the book of the Prophet Isaiah: and when he had 'opened the book, he found the place, where it was written,'

18 'The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me, that I should preach the Gospel to the poor: he hath sent me, that I should preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, that I should set at liberty them that are bruised:

19 And that I should preach the acceptable year of the Lord.'

20 And he closed the book, and gave it again to the minister, and sat down: and the eyes of all that were in the Synagogue were fastened on him.

21 Then he began to say unto them, This day is the Scripture fulfilled in your ears.

4:1 Christ being carried away (as it were out of the world, into the desert) after the fast of forty days, and the overcoming of Satan thrice, coming as it were suddenly from heaven, beginneth his office.

4:2 Christ being stirred up of Satan, first to distrust in God, secondly to the desire of riches and honor, and lastly to a vain confidence of himself, overcometh him thrice by the word of God.

4:6 By this word power, are the kingdoms themselves meant, which have the power: and so it is spoken by the figure Metonymy.

2 That is sorely so, for he is prince of the world yet not absolutely, and is the sovereign over it, but by sufferance, and way of entreaty, and therefore he saith not true, that he can give it to whom he will.
22 And all bare him witness, and wondered at the gracious words, which proceeded out of his mouth, and said, Is not this Joseph’s son?

23 Then he said unto them, Ye will surely say unto me this Proverb, Physician, heal thyself: whatsoever we have heard done in Capernaum, do it here likewise in thine own country.

24 And he said, Verily I say unto you, No Prophet is accepted in his own country.

25 But I tell you of a truth, many widows were in Israel in the days of E’lijah, when heaven was shut three years and six months, when great famine was throughout all the land:

26 But unto none of them was E’lijah sent, save into Zarephath, a city of Sidon, unto a certain widow.

27 Also many lepers were in Israel, in the time of E’lisha the Prophet: yet none of them was made clean, saving Na’amann the Syrian.

28 Then all that were in the Synagogue, when they heard it, were filled with wrath, 29 And rose up, and thrust him out of the city, and led him unto the edge of the hill, whereon their city was built, to cast him down headlong.

30 But he passed through the midst of them, and went his way, 31 ¶ And came down into Capernaum a city of Galilee, and there taught them on the Sabbath days.

32 And they were astonished at his doctrine: for his word was with authority.

33 And in the Synagogue there was a man which had a spirit of an unclean devil, which cried with a loud voice.

34 Saying, Oh, what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy us? I know thou art, even the Holy One of God.

35 And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. Then the devil throwing him in the midst of them, came out of him, and hurt him nothing at all.

36 So fear came on them all, and they spake among themselves, saying, What thing is this: for with authority and power he commandeth the foul spirits, and they come out?

37 And the fame of him spread abroad throughout all the places of the country round about.

38 ¶ And he rose up, and came out of the Synagogue, and entered into Simon’s house. And Simon’s wife’s mother was taken with a great fever, and they required him for her.

39 Then he stood over her, and rebuked the fever, and it left her, and immediately she arose, and ministered unto them.

40 Now at the Sun setting, all they that had sick folks of divers diseases, brought them unto him, and he laid his hands on everyone of them, and healed them.

41 And devils also came out of many, crying, and saying, Thou art that Christ that Son of God: but he rebuked them, and suffered them not to say that they knew him to be that Christ.

42 And when it was day, he departed, and went forth into a desert place, and the people sought him, and came to him, and kept him that he should not depart from them.

43 But he said unto them, Surely I must also preach the kingdom of God to other cities: for therefore am I sent.

44 And he preached in the Synagogues of Galilee.

5 1 Christ teacheth out of the ship. 6 Of the draught of fish. 12 The Leper. 16 Christ prayeth in the desert. 18 One sick of the palsy. 27 Levi the Publican. 34 The fastings and afflictions of the Apostles after Christ’s ascension. 36,37,38 Fainthearted and weak disciples are likened to old bottles and worn garments.

1 Then it came to pass, as the people pressed upon him to hear the word of God, that he stood by the lake of Gennesaret,

2 And saw two ships stand by the lakeside, but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nets.

3 And he entered into one of the ships, which was Simon's, and required him that he would thrust off a little from the land: and he sat down, and taught the people out of the ship.

4 ¶ Now when he had left speaking, he said unto Simon, Launch out into the deep, and let down your nets for a draught.

5 Then Simon answered, and said unto him, Master, we have travailed sore all night, and have taken nothing: nevertheless at thy word I will let down the net.

6 And when they had so done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes, so that their net brake.

7 And they beckoned to their partners, which were in the other ship, that they should come and help them, who came then, and filled both the ships, that they did sink.

8 Now when Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus knees, saying, Lord, go from me: for I am a sinful man.

9 For he was utterly astonished, and all that were with him, for the draught of fishes which they took.

10 And so was also James and John the sons of Zebedee, who were companions with Simon. Then Jesus said unto Simon, Fear not: from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought the ships to land, they forsook all, and followed him.

12 ¶ Now it came to pass, as he was in a certain city, behold, there was a man full of leprosy, and when he saw Jesus, he fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

13 So he stretched forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will, be thou clean. And immediately the leprosy departed from him.

14 And he commanded him that he should tell it no man: but Go, saith he, and show thyself to the Priest, and offer for thy cleansing, as Moses hath commanded, for a witness unto them.

15 But so much more went there a fame abroad of him, and great multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed of him of their infirmities.

16 But he kept himself apart in the wilderness, and prayed.

17 ¶ And it came to pass, on a certain day, as he was teaching, that the Pharisees and doctors of the Law sat by, which were come out of every town of Galilee, and Judea, and Jerusalem, and the power of the Lord was in him, to heal them.

18 ¶ Then behold, men brought a man lying in a bed, which was taken with a palsy, and they sought means to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in, because of the press, they went up on the house, and let him down through the tiling, bed and all, in the midst before Jesus.

20 And when he saw their faith, he said unto him, Man, thy sins are forgiven thee.

21 Then the Scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive sins, but God only?

22 But when Jesus perceived their reasoning he answered, and said unto them, What reason ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier to say, Thy sins are forgiven thee, or to say, Rise and walk?

24 But that ye may know that the Son of man hath authority to forgive sins in earth, (he said unto the sick of the palsy) I say to thee, Arise: take up thy bed, and go into thine house.

25 And immediately he rose up before them, and took up his bed whereon he lay, and departed to his own house, praising God.

26 And they were all amazed, and praised God, and were filled with fear, saying, Doubtless we have seen strange things today.

27 ¶ And after that, he went forth and saw a Publican named Levi, sitting at the receipt of custom, and said unto him, Follow me.

28 And he left all, rose up, and followed him.

29 Then Levi made him a great feast in his own house, where there was a great company of Publicans, and of others that sat at table with them.

30 But they that were Scribes and Pharisees among them, murmured against his disciples, saying, Why eat ye and drink ye with Publicans and sinners?

31 Then Jesus answered, and said unto them, They that are whole, need not the Physician, but they that are sick.

32 ¶ I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

33 ¶ Then they said unto him, Why do the dis-
1 The disciples pull the ears of corn on the Sabbath. 6 Of him that had a withered hand. 13 The election of the Apostles. 20 The blessings and curses. 27 We must love our enemies. 46 With what fruit the word of God is to be heard.

1 And it came to pass on a second solemn Sabbath, that he went through the corn fields, and his disciples plucked the ears of corn, and did eat, and rubbed them in their hands.

2 And certain of the Pharisees said unto them, Why do ye that which is not lawful to do on the Sabbath days?

3 Then Jesus answered them, and said, Have ye not read this, that David did when he himself was an hungered, and they which were with him,

4 How he went into the house of God, and took, and ate the showbread, and gave also to them which were with him, which was not lawful to eat, but for the priests only?

5 And he said unto them, The Son of man is Lord also of the Sabbath day.

6 It came to pass also on another Sabbath, that he entered into the Synagogue, and taught, and there was a man, whose right hand was dried up.

7 And the Scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether he would heal on the Sabbath day, that they might find an accusation against him.

8 But he knew their thoughts, and said to the man which had the withered hand, Arise, and stand up in the midst. And he arose, and stood up.

9 Then said Jesus unto them, I will ask you a question, Whether is it lawful on the Sabbath days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy?

10 And he beheld them all, and said unto the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he did so, and his hand was restored again, as whole as the other.

11 Then they were filled full of madness, and communed one with another, what they might do to Jesus.

12 ¶ And it came to pass in those days, that he went into a mountain to pray, and spent the night in prayer to God.

13 And when it was day, he called his disciples, and of them he chose twelve which also he called Apostles:

14 (Simon whom he named also Peter, and Andrew his brother, James and John, Philip and Bartholomew, 15 Matthew and Thomas: James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon called Zelous, 16 Judas James brother, and Judas Iscariot, which also was the traitor.)

17 Then he came down with them, and stood in a plain place with the company of his disciples, and a great multitude of people out of all Judea,

18 And Jerusalem, and from the sea coast of Tyre and Sidon, which came to hear him, and to be healed of their diseases:

19 And they that were vexed with foul spirits, and they were healed.

20 And the whole multitude sought to touch him: for there went virtue out of him, and healed them all:

5:34 1 Laws generally made without any consideration of circumstances, for fasting and other things of like sort, are not only tyrannous, but very hurtful in the Church.

6:1 1 Christ showeth against the superstitious, who stick in every trifle, that the Law of the very Sabbath, was not given to be kept without exception: much less that the salvation of man should consist in the outward keeping of it.

2 Epiphanius noteth well in his treatise, where he confuteth Ebon, that the time, when the disciples plucked the ears of corn, was in the feast of unleavened bread: Now, whereas in these feasts which were kept many days together, as the feast of Tabernacles, and the Passover, their first day and their last were of like solemnity, Lev. 23. Luke fitly calleth the last day the second Sabbath, though Theophylact understandeth it of any other of them, that followed the first.

66 1 Charity is the rule of all ceremonies.

69 1 Whoso helpeth not his neighbor when he can, he killeth him.

612 1 In that, that Christ useth earnest and long prayer, in choosing twelve of his own company, to the office of the Apostleship, he showeth how religiously we ought to behave ourselves in the choice of Ecclesiastical persons.

grievous enemies, and that for our Father’s sake, which is in heaven:

But woe be to you that are rich: for ye have received your consolation.

Woe be to you that are full: for ye shall hunger.

Woe be to you that now laugh: for ye shall wail and weep.

Woe be to you when all men speak well of you: for so did their fathers to the false prophets.

But I say unto you which hear, Love your enemies: do well to them which hate you.

Bless them that curse you, and pray for them which hurt you.

And unto him that smiteth thee on the one cheek, offer also the other, and him that taketh away thy cloak, forbid not to take thy coat also.

Give to every man that asketh of thee: and of him that asketh not of thee, ask them not again.

And as ye would that men should do to you, so do ye to them likewise.

For if ye love them which love you, what thank shall ye have? for even the sinners love those that love them.

And if ye do good for them which do good for you, what thank shall ye have? for even the sinners love those that love them.

And if ye do good for them which do good for you, what thank shall ye have? for even the sinners do the same.

And if ye lend to them of whom ye hope to receive, what thank shall ye have? for even the sinners lend to sinners, to receive the like.

Wherefore love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, looking for nothing again, and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of ‘the most High: for he is kind unto the unkind, and to the evil.

Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful.

Judge not, and ye shall not be judged: condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned: forgive, and ye shall be forgiven.

Give, and it shall be given unto you: ‘a good measure, pressed down, shaken together and running over shall men give into your bosom: for with what measure ye mete, with the same shall men mete to you again.

And he spake a parable unto them, ‘Can the blind lead the blind? shall they not both fall into the ditch?

The disciple is not above the master: but whosoever will be a perfect disciple, shall be as his master.

And why seest thou a mote in thy brother’s eye, and considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?

Either how canst thou say to thy brother, Brother, let me pull out the mote that is in thine eye, when thou seest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Hypocrite, cast out the beam out of thine own eye first, and then shalt thou see perfectly to pull out the mote that is in thy brother’s eye.

For it is not a good tree that bringeth forth evil fruit: neither an evil tree, that bringeth forth good fruit.

For every tree is known by his own fruit: for neither of thorns gather men figs, nor of bushes gather they grapes.

A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good; and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart bringeth forth evil: for of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaketh.

‘But why call ye me Lord, Lord, and do not the things that I speak?

Whosoever cometh to me, and heareth my than John, among them that are begotten of women: nevertheless, he that is the least in the kingdom of God, is greater than he.

29 Then all the people that heard, and the Publicans justified God, being baptized with the baptism of John.

30 But the Pharisees and the expounders of the Law despised the counsel of God against themselves, and were not baptized of him.

31 And the Lord said, Whereunto shall I liken the men of this generation? and what thing are they like unto?

32 They are like unto little children sitting in the marketplace, and crying one to another, and saying, We have piped unto you, and ye have not danced: we have mourned to you, and ye have not wept.

33 For John Baptist came neither eating bread, nor drinking wine: and ye say, He hath the devil.

34 The Son of man is come, and eateth, and drinketh: and ye say, Behold, a man which is a glutton, and a drunker of wine, a friend of Publicans and sinners:

35 But wisdom is justified of all her children.

36 ¶ And one of the Pharisees desired him that he would eat with him: and he went into the Pharisee's house, and sat at table.

37 And behold, a woman in the city, which was a sinner, came to Peter's house, and brought a box of ointment.

38 And she stood at his feet behind him weeping, and washed his feet with tears, and wiped them with the hairs of her head.

39 Now when the Pharisee which bade him, saw it, he spake within himself, saying, If this man were a Prophet, he would surely have known who, and what manner of woman this is which toucheth him: for she is a sinner.

40 And Jesus answered, and said unto him, Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entered into thine house, and thou gavest me no water to my feet: but she hath washed my feet with tears, and wiped them with the hairs of her head.

41 There was a certain lender which had two debtors: the one ought five hundred pence, and the other fifty:

42 When they had nothing to pay, he forgave them both: Which of them therefore, tell me, will love him most?

43 Simon answered, and said, I suppose that he to whom he forgave most. And he said unto him, Thou hast truly judged.

44 Then he turned to the woman, and said unto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entered into thine house, and thou gavest me no water to my feet: but she hath washed my feet with tears, and wiped them with the hairs of her head.

45 Thou gavest me no kiss: but she, since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kiss my feet.

46 Mine head with oil thou didst not anoint: but she hath anointed my feet with ointment.

47 Wherefore I say unto thee, many sins are forgiven her: for she loved much. To whom a little is forgiven, he doth love a little.

48 And he said unto her, Thy sins are forgiven thee.

49 And they that sat at table with him, began to say to one another, Who is this that even forgiving sins?

50 And he said to the woman, Thy faith hath saved thee: go in peace.

1 And it came to pass afterward, that he himself went through every city and town, preaching and publishing the kingdom of God, and the twelve were with him,

2 And certain women, which were healed of evil spirits, and infirmities, as Mary which was called Magdalene, out of whom went seven devils,

3 And Joanna the wife of Chuza Herod's steward, and Susanna, and many others which ministered abundantly: and Basil in his sermon of Baptism saith, He that oweth much, hath much forgiven him, that he may love much more: And therefore Christ's saying is so plain by the similitude, that it is a wonder to see the enemies of the truth draw and rack this place so soundly to establish their meritorious works: for the greater sum a man hath forgiven him, the more he loveth him that hath been so gracious to him: And this woman shoveth by duties of love, how great the benefit was she had received: and therefore the charity that is here spoken of, is not to be taken for the cause, but as a sign: for Christ saith not as the Pharisees did, that she was a sinner, but beareth her witness that the sins of her life past are forgiven her.

7:30 1 To their own hurt.

7:31 1 What way soever God followeth in offering us the Gospel, the most part of men procure offences unto themselves: yet notwithstanding some Church is gathered together.

7:36 1 Proud men deprive themselves of the benefits of the presence of Christ, even then when he is at home with them in their houses: which the humble and base do enjoy.

7:39 1 Rashness is the fellow of pride.

7:40 1 To love Christ, is a sure and perpetual witness of remission of sins.

7:47 1 That is, saith Theophylact, she hath shoveth her faith other fifty:
unto him of their substance.

4 1Now when much people were gathered together, and were come unto him out of all cities, he spake by a parable.

5 A sower went out to sow his seed, and as he sowed, some fell by the wayside, and it was trodden under feet, and the fowls of heaven devoured it up.

6 And some fell on the stones, and when it was sprung up, it withered away, because it lacked moistness.

7 And some fell among thorns, and the thorns sprang up with it, and choked it.

8 And some fell on good ground, and sprang up, and bare fruit, an hundredfold. And as he said these things, he cried, He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

9 Then his disciples asked him, demanding what parable that was.

10 And he said, Unto you it is given to know the secrets of the kingdom of God, but to others in parables, that when they see, they should not see, and when they hear, they should not understand.

11 The parable is this, The seed is the word of God.

12 And they that are beside the way, are they that hear: afterward cometh the devil, and taketh away the word out of their hearts, lest they should believe, and be saved.

13 But they that are on the stones, are they which when they have heard, receive the word with joy: but they have no roots: which for a while believe, but in the time of temptation go away.

14 And that which fell among thorns, are they which have heard, and after their departure are choked with cares and with riches, and voluptuous living, and bring forth no fruit.

15 But that which fell in good ground, are they which with an honest and good heart hear the word, 2and keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience.

16 ¶ 2No man when he hath lighted a candle, covereth it under a vessel, neither putteth it under the bed, but setteth it on a candlestick, that they that enter in, may see the light.

17 For nothing is secret, that shall not be evident: neither anything hid, that shall not be known, and come to light.

18 ¶ Take heed therefore how ye hear: for whosoever hath, to him shall be given: and whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken even that which he seeth that he hath.

19 ¶ Then came to him his mother and his brethren, and could not come near to him for the press.

20 And it was told him by certain which said, Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, and would see thee.

21 But he answered, and said unto them, My mother and my brethren are these which hear the word of God, and do it.

22 ¶ And it came to pass on a certain day, that he went into a ship with his disciples, and he said unto them, Let us go over unto the other side of the lake. And they launched forth.

23 And as they sailed, he fell asleep, and there came down a storm of wind on the lake, and they feared, and wondered among themselves, saying, Who is this that commandeth both the winds and the waves of water: and they ceased, and it was calm.

24 Then they went to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, we perish. And he arose, and rebuked the wind, and the waves of water: and they ceased, and it was calm.

25 Then he said unto them, Where is your faith? and they feared, and wondered among themselves, saying, Who is this that commandeth both the winds and water, and they obey him!

26 ¶ So they sailed unto the region of the Gadarenes, which is over against Galilee.

27 ¶ And as he went out to land, there met him a certain man out of the city, which had devils long time, and he wore no garment, neither abode in house, but in the graves.

28 And when he saw Jesus, he cried out, and fell down before him, and with a loud voice said, What have I to do with thee, Jesus the son of God the most High? I beseech thee torment me not.

29 For he commanded the foul spirit to come out of the man: (for oft times he had caught him: therefore he was bound with chains: and, in fetters:) but he brake the bands, and was carried of the devil into wildernesses.

30 Then Jesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? and he said, Legion, because many devils were entered into him.

31 And they besought him, that he would not command them to go out into the deep.

32 And there was thereby an herd of many swine feeding on an hill: and the devils besought him, that he would suffer them to enter into them. So he suffered them.

33 Then went the devils out of the man, and entered into the swine: and the herd was cast into a great lake, and perished.

34 When the herdsmen saw what was done, they fled: and when they were departed, they told it in the city and in the country.

35 Then they came out to see what was done, and came to Jesus, and found the man, out of whom the devils were departed, sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed, and in his right mind: and they were afraid.

36 They also which saw it, told them by what means he that was possessed with the devil, was healed.

37 Then the whole multitude of the country about about the Gadarenes, besought him that he would depart from them: for they were taken with a great fear: and he went into the ship, and returned.

38 Then the man, out of whom the devils were departed, besought him that he might be with him: but Jesus sent him away, saying, 39 Return into thine own house, and show what great things God hath done to thee. So he went his way, and preached throughout all the city, what great things Jesus had done unto him.

40 ¶ And it came to pass, when Jesus was come again, that the people received him: for they all waited for him.

41 ¶ And behold, there came a man named Jairus, and he was the ruler of the Synagogue, who fell down at Jesus' feet, and besought him that he would come into his house.

42 For he had but a daughter only, about twelve years of age, and she lay a dying (and as he went, the people thronged him.

43 And a woman having an issue of blood, twelve years long, which had spent all her substance upon physicians, and could not be healed of any:

44 When she came behind him, she touched the hem of his garment, and immediately her issue of blood stanched.

45 Then Jesus said, Who is it that hath touched me? When every man denied, Peter said and they that were with him, Master, the multitude thrust thee, and tread on thee, and sayest thou, Who hath touched me?

46 And Jesus said, Someone hath touched me: for I perceive that virtue is gone out of me.

47 When the woman saw that she was not hid, she came trembling, and fell down before him, and told him before all the people: for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediately.

48 And he said unto her, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath saved thee: go in peace.)

49 While he yet spake, there came one from the ruler of the Synagogue's house, which said to him, Thy daughter is dead: disease not the Master.

50 When Jesus heard it, he answered him, saying, Fear not: believe only, and she shall be saved.

51 And when he went into the house, he suffered no man to go in with him, save Peter, and James, and John, and the father and mother of the maid.

52 And all wept, and sorrowed for her: but he said, Weep not: for she is not dead, but sleepeth.

53 And they laughed him to scorn, knowing that she was dead.

54 So he thrust them all out, and took her by the hand, and cried, saying, Maid, arise.

55 And her spirit came again, and she rose straightway: and he commanded to give her meat.

56 Then her parents were astonished: but he commanded them that they should tell no man what was done.

8:29 1 By force and violence, as a horse when he is spurred.

8:39 1 To wit, the city of the Gadarenes: and though Mark says that he preached it in Decapolis, they differ not; for Pliny recordeth, lib. 5, chap. 18, that Gadara is a town of Decapolis, so that Decapolis was partly on this side Jordan, and partly on the other side.

8:40 1 The multitude was glad he was come again, and rejoiced greatly.

8:41 1 Christ showeth by a double miracle, that he is Lord both of life and death.

8:43 1 All that she had to live upon.

8:52 1 The word signifieth to beat and strike, and is transferred to the mourning and lamentations, that are at burials, at which times men use such kind of behavior.

8:55 1 The corpse was laid out, and the wench received life, and rose out of the bed, that all the world might see, she was not only restored to life, but also void of all sickness.
Chapter 9

1 Then *called he his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to heal diseases.

2 And he sent them forth to preach the kingdom of God, and to cure the sick.

3 And he said to them, 'Take nothing to your journey, neither staves, nor scrip, neither bread, nor silver, neither have two coats apiece.

4 And whatsoever house ye enter into, there abide, and thence depart.

5 And how many soever will not receive you, when ye go out of that city, shake off the very dust from your feet for a testimony against them.

6 And they went out, and went through every town preaching the Gospel, and healing everywhere.

7 And how many soever will not receive you,

9 Then Herod said, John have I beheaded: who then is this of whom I hear such things? and he doubted, because that it was said of some, that John was risen again from the dead:

10 And of some, that Elijah had appeared: and that one of the old Prophets was risen again.

11 Then Herod said, John have I beheaded: who then is this of whom I hear such things? and he

the dead:

12 And when the day began to wear away, the twelve came, and said unto him, Send the people away, that they may go into the towns and villages round about, and lodge, and get meat: for we are here in a desert place.

13 But he said unto them, Give ye them to eat.
And they said, We have no more but five loaves and two fishes, except we should go and buy meat for all this people.

14 For they were about five thousand men.
Then he said to his disciples, Cause them to sit down by fifties in a company.

15 And they did so, and caused all to sit down.
16 Then he took the five loaves, and the two fishes,
and looked up to heaven, and blessed them, and brake,
gave to the disciples, to set before the people.

17 So they did all eat, and were satisfied: and was taken up of that remained to them, twelve baskets full of broken meat.

18 ¶ And it came to pass, as he was alone praying,
his disciples were with him: and he asked them,
saying, Whom say the people that I am?

19 They answered, and said, John Baptist: and others say, Elijah: and some say, that one of the old Prophets is risen again.

20 And he said unto them, But whom say ye that I am? Peter answered, and said: That Christ of God.

21 And he warned and commanded them, that they should tell that to no man,

22 ¶ Saying, The Son of man must suffer many tings, and be reproved of the Elders, and of the high Priests and Scribes, and be slain, and the third day rise again.

23 ¶ And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me.

24 ¶ For whosoever will save his life, shall lose it:
and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, the need to be healed.

25 And when the day began to wear away, the twelve came, and said unto him, Send the people
away, that they may go into the towns and villages

Then he said to his disciples, Cause them to sit down by 28 And they did so, and caused all to sit down.

29 Then he took the five loaves, and the two fishes,
and looked up to heaven, and blessed them, and brake,
gave to the disciples, to set before the people.

30 So they did all eat, and were satisfied: and was taken up of that remained to them, twelve baskets full of broken meat.

31 ¶ And it came to pass, as he was alone praying,
his disciples were with him: and he asked them,
saying, Whom say the people that I am?

32 They answered, and said, John Baptist: and others say, Elijah: and some say, that one of the old

33 And he said unto them, But whom say ye

34 And he warned and commanded them, that they should tell that to no man,

35 ¶ Saying, The Son of man must suffer many tings, and be reproved of the Elders, and of the high Priests and Scribes, and be slain, and the third day rise again.

36 ¶ And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me.

37 ¶ For whosoever will save his life, shall lose it:
and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, the need to be healed.
same shall save it.
25 "For what advantageth it a man, if he win the whole world, and destroy himself, or lose himself?
26 "For whosoever shall be ashamed of me, and of my words, of him shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he shall come in his glory, and in the glory of the Father, and of the holy Angesls.
27 "And I tell you of a surety, there be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they have seen the kingdom of God.
28 ¶ And it came to pass about an eight days after those words, that he took Peter and John, and James, and went up into a mountain to pray.
29 And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, and his gariment was white and glistened.
30 And behold, two men talked with him, which were Moses and Elijah:
31 Which appeared in glory, and told of his departing, which he should accomplish at Jerusalem.
32 But Peter and they that were with him, were heavy with sleep, and when they awoke, they saw his glory, and the two men standing with him.
33 And it came to pass, as they departed from him, Peter said unto Jesus, Master, it is good for us to be here: let us therefore make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elijah, and wist not what he said.
34 While he thus spake, there came a cloud and overshadowed them, and they feared when they were entering into the cloud.
35 ¶ And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son, hear him.
36 And when the voice was past, Jesus was found alone: and they kept it close, and told no man in those days any of those things which they had seen.
37 ¶ And it came to pass on the next day, as they came down from the mountain, much people met him.
38 ¶ And behold, a man of the company cried out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, behold my son: for he is all that I have.
39 And lo, a spirit taketh him, and suddenly he foameth, and hardly departeth from him, when he hath bruised him.
40 Now I have besought thy disciples to cast him out, but they could not.
41 Then Jesus answered and said, O generation faithless, and crooked, how long now shall I be with you, and suffer you? bring thy son hither.
42 And while he was yet coming, the devil rent him, and tore him: and Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, and healed the child, and delivered him to his father.
43 ¶ And they were all amazed at the mighty power of God: and while they all wondered at all things which Jesus did, he said unto his disciples, 44 ¶ Mark these words diligently: for it shall come to pass, that the son of man shall be delivered into the hands of men.
45 But they understood not that word: for it was hid from them, so that they could not perceive it: and they feared to ask him of that word.
46 ¶ Then there arose a disputation among them, which of them should be the greatest.
47 When Jesus saw the thoughts of their hearts, he took a little child, and set him by him,
48 And said unto them, Whosoever receiveth this little child in my Name, receiveth me: and whosoever shall receive me, receiveth him that sent me: for he that is least among you all, he shall be great.
49 ¶ And John answered and said, Master, we saw one casting out devils in thy Name, and we forbad him, because he followeth thee not with us.
50 Then Jesus said unto him, Forbid ye him not: for he that is not against us, is with us.
51 ¶ And it came to pass, when the days were accomplished, that he should be received up, he settled himself fully to go to Jerusalem, 52 And sent messengers before him: and they went and entered into a town of the Samaritans, to prepare him lodging.
53 But they would not receive him, because his behavior was as though he would go to Jerusalem.
54 ¶ And when his disciples, James and John saw it, they said, Lord, wilt thou that we command, that fire come down from heaven, and consume them, even as Elijah did?

9:28 1 Lest the disciples of Christ should be offended at the debasing himself in his flesh, he teacheth them that it is voluntary, showing therewithall for a space the brightness of his glory.
9:31 1 Until Christ was risen again from the dead.
9:37 1 Christ is offended with nothing so much as with incredulity, although he bears it with a time.
9:39 1 As it faareth in the falling sickness.
9:43 1 We have no cause to promise ourselves rest and quietness in this world, seeing that they themselves which seemed to fawn upon Christ, do shortly after crucify him.
9:44 1 Give diligent ear unto them, and when you have once heard them, see that you keep them.
9:46 1 The end of ambition is ignomy; but the end of modest obedience is glory.
9:49 1 Extraordinary things are neither rashly to be allowed, nor condemned.
9:51 1 Christ goeth willingly to death.
1 Word for word: he hardened his face, that is, he resolved with himself to die, and therefore ventured upon his journey, and cast away all fear of death, and went on.
9:54 1 We must take heed of the immoderateness of zeal, and fond imitation, even in good causes, that whatsoever we do, we do it to God's glory, and the profit of our neighbor.
55 But Jesus turned about, and rebuked them, and said, Ye know not of what spirit ye are.
56 For the Son of man is not come to destroy men's lives, but to save them. Then they went to another town.
57 ¶ And it came to pass that as they went in the way, 'a certain man said unto him, I will follow thee, Lord, whithersoever thou goest.
58 And Jesus said unto him, The foxes have holes, and the birds of the heaven nests, but the Son of man hath not whereon to lay his head.
59 ¶ But he said unto another, Follow me. And the same said, Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father.
60 And Jesus said unto him, Let the dead bury their dead: but go thou, and preach the kingdom of God.
61 ¶ Then another said, I will follow thee, Lord: but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at mine house.
62 And Jesus said unto him, No man that putteth his hand to the plough, and looketh back, is apt to the kingdom of God.

3 ¶ Go your ways: behold, I send you forth as lambs among wolves.
4 Bear no bag, neither scrip, nor shoes, and salute no man by the way.
5 ¶ And into whatsoever house ye enter, first say, Peace be to this house.
6 And if "the son of peace be there, your peace shall rest upon him, if not, it shall turn to you again.
7 And in that house, "carry still, eating and drinking such things as by them shall be set before you; for the laborer is worthy of his wages. Go not from house to house.
8 ¶ But into whatsoever city ye shall enter, if they receive you, 'eat such things as are set before you,
9 And heal the sick that are there, and say unto them, The kingdom of God is come near unto you.
10 ¶ But into whatsoever city ye shall enter, if they will not receive you, go your ways out into the streets of the same, and say, 11 Even the very dust, which cleaveth on us of your city, we wipe off against you: notwithstanding know this, that the kingdom of God was come near unto you.

12 For I say to you, that it shall be easier in that day for them of Sodom, than for that city.
13 Woe be to thee, Chorazin: woe be to thee, Bethsaida: for if the miracles had been done in Tyre and Sidon, which have been done in you, they had a great while ago repented, sitting in sackcloth and ashes.
14 Therefore it shall be easier for Tyre, and Sidon, at the judgment, than for you.
15 And thou, Capernaum, which art exalted to heaven, shalt be thrust down to hell.
16 ¶ He that heareth you, heareth me: and he that despiseth you, despiseth me: and he that despiseth me, despiseth him that sent me.
17 ¶ And the seventy turned again with joy, saying, Lord, even the devils are subdued to us through thy Name.

955 1 So speak the Hebrews, that is, you know not what will, mind, and counsel you are of: so the gifts of God are called the spirit, because they are given of God's Spirit, and so are they, that are contrary to them, which proceed of the wicked spirit, as the spirit of covetousness, of pride, and madness.
957 1 Such as follow Christ, must prepare themselves, to suffer all discomforts.
959 1 The calling of God ought to be preferred, without all controversy before all duties that we owe to men.
960 1 Who notwithstanding that they live in this frail life of man, yet are strangers from the true life, which is everlasting and heavenly.
961 1 Such as follow Christ, must at once renounce all worldly cares.
961 1 The seventy are sent as the second forewarners of the coming of Christ.
963 1 The faithful ministers of the word are in this world as lambs among wolves: but if they be diligent to do their duty, he that sent them will also preserve them.
964 1 This is spoken after the manner of a figure, which men use, when they put down more in words, than is meant: usually among the Hebrews, when they command a thing to be done speedily without delay, as 2 Kings 4:29: for otherwise courteous and gentle salutations, are points of Christian duty: as for the calling it was but for a season.
966 1 So speak the Hebrews: that is, he that favoreth the doctrine of peace and embraceth it.
967 1 Take up your lodging in that house, which ye first enter into, that is, be not careful for commodious lodging, as men do which purpose to stay long in a place: for here is not instituted that solemn preaching of the Gospel, which was used afterward, when the Churches were settled: but these are sent abroad to all the coasts of Judea, to give them to understand, that the last Jubilee is at hand.
968 1 Content yourselves with that meat that is set before you.
969 1 God is a most severe revenger of the ministry of his Gospel.
970 1 Neither the gift of miracles, neither what else soever excellent gift, but only our election giveth us occasion of true joy: and the only publishing of the Gospel is the destruction of Satan.
972 2 For Christ's disciples used no absolute authority, but wrought such miracles as they did, by calling upon Christ's Name.
LUKE 10:18

18 And he said unto them, I saw Satan, like lightning, fall down from heaven.
19 Behold, I give unto you power to tread on Serpents, and Scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall hurt you.
20 Nevertheless, in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subdued unto you: but rather rejoice, because your names are written in heaven.
21 ¶ That same hour rejoiced Jesus in the spirit, and said, I confess unto thee, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the wise and understanding, and hast revealed them to babes: even so, Father, because it so pleased thee.
22 All things are given me of my Father: and no man knoweth who the son is, but the Father: neither who the Father is, save the Son, and he to whom the Son will reveal him.
23 ¶ And he turned to his disciples, and said secretly, Blessed are the eyes, which see that ye see.
24 For I tell you that many Prophets and Kings have desired to see those things, which ye see, and have not seen them: and to hear those things which ye hear, and have not heard them.
25 ¶ Then behold, a certain Lawyer stood up, and tempted him, saying, Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?
26 And he said unto him, What is written in the Law? how readest thou?
27 And he answered and said, Thou shalt love thy Lord God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy thought, and thy neighbor as thyself.
28 Then he said unto him, Thou hast answered right: this do, and thou shalt live.
29 But he willing to justify himself, said unto Jesus, Who is then my neighbor?
30 And Jesus answered, and said, A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, and they robbed him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead.
31 Now so it fell out, that there came down a certain Priest that same way, and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side.
32 And likewise also a Levite, when he was come near to the place, went and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.
33 Then a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came near unto him, and when he saw him, he had compassion on him, 34 And went to him, and bound up his wounds and poured in oil and wine, and put him on his own beast, and brought him to an Inn, and made provision for him.
35 And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two pence, and gave them to the host, and said unto him, Take care of him, and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come again, I will recompense thee.
36 Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbor unto him that fell among the thieves?
37 And he said, He that showed mercy on him. Then said Jesus unto him, Go, and do thou likewise.
38 ¶ Now it came to pass, as they went, that he entered into a certain town, and a certain woman named Martha, received him into her house.
39 And she had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Jesus' feet, and heard his preaching.
40 But Martha was cumbered about much serving, and came to him, and said, Master, dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serve alone? bid her therefore, that she help me.
41 And Jesus answered, and said unto her, Martha, Martha, thou carest, and art troubled about many things:
42 But one thing is needful, Mary hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

11 1 He teacheth his Apostles to pray. 14 The dumb devil driven out. 27 A woman of the company lifted up her voice. 29 The Jews require signs. 37 He being feasted of the Pharisee, reproveth the outward show of holiness.
1 And so it was, that as he was praying in a certain place, when he ceased, one of his disciples said unto him, Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples.
2 ¶ And he said unto them, When ye pray, say, Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be thy Name. Thy kingdom come: Let thy will be done, even in earth, as it is in heaven:

10:18 1 Paul placeth the devil and his angels, in the air, Eph. 6:12, and he is said to be cast down from thence by force when his power is abolished by the voice of the Gospel.
10:19 1 Shall do you wrong.
10:21 1 The Church is contemptible, if we behold the outward face of it, but the wisdom of God is not so marvelous, in any thing, as in it. 2 Of this world.
3 Then he turned to his disciples, and said, Is read in some copies.
10:22 1 Whosoever seeketh the Father without the Son, wandereth out of the way.
10:23 1 The difference of the old Testament and the new consisteth in the measure of revelation.
10:25 1 Faith doth not take away, but establisheth the doctrine of the Law.
2 One of them that professed himself to be learned in the rites and laws of Moses.
10:29 1 All they are comprehended in the name of our neighbor, by the Law, whomsoever we may help.
2 That is, to vouch his righteousness, or show, that he was just; that is, void of all faults: and James 5:1 useth the word of justification in this sense.
10:38 1 Christ careth not to be entertained delicately, but to be heard diligently, that is it which he especially requireth.
11:2 1 A form of true prayer.
3 Our daily bread give us 'for the day:
4 And forgive us our sins: for we forgive every man that is indebted to us: And lead us not into temptation: but deliver us from evil.
5 ¶ Moreover he said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go to him at midnight, and say unto him, Friend, lend me three loaves?
6 For a friend of mine is come out of the way to me, and I have nothing to set before him:
7 And he within should answer, and say, Trouble me not: the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed: I cannot rise and give them to thee.
8 I say unto you, Though he would not arise and give him, because he is his friend, yet doubtless because of his 'importunity, he would rise and give him as many as he needed.
9 And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you: seek, and ye shall find: knock, and it shall be opened unto you.
10 For every one that asketh, receiveth: and he that seetheth, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.
11 If a son shall ask bread of any of you that is his father, will he give him a stone? or if he ask a fish, will he for a fish give him a serpent?
12 Or if he ask an egg, will he give him a scorpion?
13 If ye then which are evil, can give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your heavenly Father give the holy Ghost to them that desire him?
14 ¶ Then he cast out a devil which was dumb: and when the devil was gone out, the dumb spake, and the people wondered.
15 But some of them said, He casteth out devils through Beelzebub the chief of the devils.
16 And others tempted him, seeking of him a sign from heaven.
17 But he knew their thoughts, and said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself, shall be desolate, and an house divided against an house, falleth.
18 So if Satan also be divided against himself, how shall his kingdom stand, because ye say that I cast out devils through Beelzebub?
19 If I through Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out? Therefore shall they be your judges.
20 But if I by the 'finger of God cast out devils, doubtless the kingdom of God is come unto you.
21 When a strong man armed keepeth his 'palace, the things that he possesseth, are in peace.
22 But when a stronger than he cometh upon him, and overcometh him: he taketh from him all his armor wherein he trusted, and divideth his spoils.
23 ¶ He that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.
24 ¶ When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through dry places, seeking rest: and when he findeth none, he saith, I will return unto mine house whence I came out.
25 And when he cometh, he findeth it swept and garnished.
26 Then goeth he, and taketh to him seven other spirits worse than himself: and they enter in, and dwell there: so the last state of that man is worse than the first.
27 ¶ And it came to pass as he said these things, a certain woman of the company lifted up her voice, and said unto him, Blessed is the womb that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked.
28 But he said, Yea, rather blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it.
29 ¶ And when the people were gathered thick together, he began to say, This is a wicked generation: they seek a sign, and there shall no sign be given them, but the sign of Jonas the Prophet.
30 For as Jonas was a sign to the Ninevites: so shall also the son of man be to this generation.
31 ¶ The Queen of the South shall rise in judgment, with the men of this generation, and shall condemn them: for she came from the utmost parts of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and behold, a greater than Solomon is here.
32 The men of Nineveh shall rise in judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it: for they repented at the preaching of Jonas: and behold, a greater than Jonas is here.

11:3 1 That is, as much as is needful for us this day, whereby we are not debaered to have an honest care for the maintenance of our lives; but that carping care, which killeth a number of men, is cut off and restrained.
11:5 1 Word for word, impudency: but that impudency which is spo­
11:9 1 That is, as much as is needful for us this day, whereby we are not debaered to have an honest care for the maintenance of our lives; but that carping care, which killeth a number of men, is cut off and restrained.
11:15 1 An example of horrible blindness, and such as cannot be healed, when as upon an evil conscience, and pretended malice, the power of God is blasphemed.
11:17 1 The true way to know the true Christ, from the false, is this, that the true Christ hath no accord or agreement with Satan: And it remaneth that after we know him, we acknowledge him.
11:18 1 By the name and power of Beelzebub.
11:20 1 That is, by the power of God: so it is said, Exod. 8:19.
11:21 1 The word signifieth properly an open and void room before an house, and so by translation is taken for noblemen's houses.
11:23 1 Against indifferent men, and such as love to have a mean, which seek means to reconcile Christ and Satan together.
11:24 1 He that doth not continue, is in worse case, than he that never began.
11:27 1 Christ seeketh not praise in himself, but in our salvation.
11:29 1 They that are fond desiri­es of miracles, instead of miracles shall receive punishment.
LUKE 11:33

33 ¶ "No man when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a privy place, neither under a bushel: but on a candlestick, that they which come in, may see the light.

34 ¶ The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, then is thy whole body light: but if thine eye be evil, then thy body is dark.

35 Take heed therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkness.

36 If therefore thy whole body shall be light, having no part dark, then shall all be light, even as when a candle doth light thee with the brightness.

37 ¶ And as he spake, a certain Pharisee besought him to dine with him: and he went in, and sat down at the table.

38 And when the Pharisee saw it, he marveled because he had not first washed before dinner.

39 ¶ And the Lord said to him, Indeed ye Pharisees make clean the outside of the cup, and of the platter: but the inward part is full of ravening and wickedness.

40 Ye fools, did not he that made that which is within, make that which is within also?

41 Therefore, give alms of those things which you have, and behold, all things shall be clean unto you.

42 ¶ But woe be to you, Pharisees: for ye tithe the mint and the rue, and all manner herbs, and pass over the judgment and the love of God: these ought ye to have done, and not to have left the other undone.

43 ¶ Woe be to you, Pharisees: for ye love the uppermost seats in the Synagogues, and greetings in the markets.

44 ¶ Woe be to you, Scribes and Pharisees hypocrites: for ye are as graves which appear not, and the men that walk over them, perceive not.

45 ¶ Then answered one of the Lawyers, and said unto him, Master, thus saying thou puttest us to rebuke also.

46 And he said, Woe be to you also, ye Lawyers: for ye lade men with burdens grievous to be borne, and ye yourselves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers.

47 ¶ Woe be to you: for ye build the sepulchers of the Prophets, and your fathers killed them.

48 Truly "ye bear witness, and allow the deeds of your fathers: for they killed them, and ye build their sepulchers.

49 Therefore said the wisdom of God, I will send them Prophets and Apostles, and of them they shall slay, and persecute away,

50 That the blood of all the Prophets, shed from the foundation of the world, may be required of this generation,

51 From the blood of Abel unto the blood of Zechariah, which was slain between the altar and the Temple: verily I say unto you, it shall be required of this generation, 52 ¶ Woe be to you, Lawyers: for ye have taken away the key of knowledge: ye entered not in yourselves, and them that came in, ye forbade.

53 ¶ And as he said these things unto them, the Scribes and Pharisees began to urge him sore, and to provoke him to speak of many things, 54 Laying wait for him, and seeking to catch something of his mouth, whereby they might accuse him.

12 1 The leaven of the Pharisee. 5 Who is to be feared. 8 To confess Christ. 16 The parable of...
The rich man whose land was very fertile. 21 Not to care for earthly things. 31 But to seek the kindness of God. 39 The thief in the night. 51 Debate for the Gospel's sake.

1 In the meantime, there gathered together an innumerable multitude of people, so that they trod one another: and he began to say unto his disciples first, Take heed to yourselves of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy.

2 For there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed: neither hid, that shall not be known.

3 Wherefore whatsoever ye have spoken in darkness, it shall be heard in the light: and that which ye have spoken in the ear, in secret places, shall be preached on the houses.

4 And I say unto you, my friends, be not afraid of them that kill the body, and after that are not able to do anymore.

5 But I will forewarn you, whom ye shall fear: fear him which after he hath killed, hath power to cast into hell: yea, I say unto you, him fear.

6 Are not five sparrows bought for two farthings, and yet not one of them is forgotten before God?

7 Yea, and all the hairs of your head are numbered: fear not therefore: ye are more of value than many sparrows.

8 Also I say unto you, Whosoever shall confess me before men, him shall the Son of man confess also before the Angels of God.

9 But he that shall deny me before men, shall be denied before the Angels of God.

10 And whosoever shall speak a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him: but unto him that shall blaspheme the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven.

11 And when they shall bring you unto the Synagogues, and unto the rulers and Princes, take no thought how, or what thing ye shall answer, or what ye shall speak.

12 For the holy Ghost shall teach you in the same hour, what ye ought to say.

13 And one of the company said unto him, Master, bid my brother divide the inheritance with me.

14 And he said unto him, Man, who made me a judge, or a divider over you?

15 Wherefore he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for though a man have abundance, yet his life standeth not in his riches.

16 And he put forth a parable unto them, saying, The ground of a certain rich man brought forth fruits plenteously.

17 Therefore he thought with himself, saying, What shall I do, because I have no room where I may lay up my fruits?

18 And he said, This will I do, I will pull down my barns, and build greater, and therein will I gather all my fruits, and my goods.

19 And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years, live at ease, eat, drink, and take thy pastime.

20 But God said unto him, O fool, this night will he pull up thy soul from thee: then whose shall all those things be which thou hast provided?

21 So is he that gathereth riches to himself, and is not rich in God.

22 And he spake unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat: neither for your body, what ye shall put on.

2 They proposed many questions to him, to draw something out of his mouth, which they might traitorously carp at.

12:21 The faithful teachers of God's word, which are appointed by him for his people, must both take good heed of them, which corrupt the purity of doctrine with goodly glosses, and also take pains through the help of God, to set forth sincere doctrine, openly and without fear.

2 Word for word, ten thousands of people, a certain number for an uncertain.

124 Although hypocrites have princes to execute their cruelty, yet there is no cause why we could be afraid of them, the least iota that may be, seeing they can do nothing, but what pleaseth God, and God will not anything that may be against the salvation of his elect.

125 He warneth them of dangers that presently hang over their heads, for those that come upon the sudden, do make the greater wound.

128 Great is the reward of a constant confession: and horrible is the punishment of the denying of Christ, yea impossible to be called back again shall the punishment be, if upon set purpose, both with mouth and heart we blaspheme a known truth.

121 It is a great and hard conflict to confess the truth, yet he that can do all things, and is almighty, will not be wanting to the weakest which strive and contend in his appointed time.
23 The life is more than meat: and the body more than the raiment.
24 Consider the ravens: for they neither sow nor reap: which neither have storehouse nor barn, and yet God feedeth them: how much more are ye better than fowls?
25 And which of you with taking thought, can add to his stature one cubit?
26 If ye then be not able to do the least thing, why take ye thought for the remnant?
27 Consider the lilies how they grow: they labor not, neither spin they: yet I say unto you, that Solomon himself in all his royalty was not clothed like one of these.
28 If then God so clothe the grass which is today in the field, and tomorrow is cast into the oven, how much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith?
29 Therefore ask not what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, neither hang you in suspense.
30 For all such things the people of the world seek for: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things.
31 But rather seek ye after the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be cast upon you.
32 Fear not, little flock: for it is your Father’s pleasure to give you the kingdom.
33 Sell that ye have, and give alms: make you bags which wax not old: a treasure that can never fail in heaven, where no thief cometh neither moth corrupteth.
34 For where your treasure is, there will your hearts be also.
35 Let your loins be girded about, and your lights burning.
36 And ye yourselves like unto men that wait for their master, when he will return from the wedding, that when he cometh and knocketh, they may open unto him immediately.
37 Blessed are those servants, whom the Lord when he cometh shall find waking: verily I say unto you, he that doeth so will be girded about, and make them to sit down at table, and will come and serve them.
38 And if he come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and shall find them so, blessed are those servants.
39 Now understand this, that if the good man of the house had known at what hour the thief would have come, he would have watched, and would not have suffered his house to be dug through.
40 Be ye also prepared therefore: for the Son of man will come at an hour when ye think not.
41 Then Peter said unto him, Master, tellest thou this parable unto us, or even to all?
42 And the Lord said, Who is a faithful steward and wise, whom the master shall make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of meat in season?
43 Blessed is that servant, whom his master when he cometh, shall find so doing.
44 Of a truth, I say unto you, that he will make him ruler over all that he hath.
45 But if that servant say in his heart, My master doth defer his coming, and shall begin to smite the servants, and maidens, and to eat and drink, and to be drunken,
46 The master of that servant will come in a day when he thinketh not, and at an hour when he is not aware of, and will cut him off, and give him his portion with the unbelievers.
47 ¶ And that servant that knew his master’s will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes.
48 But he that knew it not, and yet did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes: for unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required, and to whom men much commit, the more of him will they ask.
49 ¶ I am come to put fire on the earth, and what is my desire, if it be already kindled?
50 Notwithstanding I must be baptized with a baptism, and how am I grieved till it be ended?
51 Think ye that I am come to give peace on earth? I tell you, Nay, but rather debate.
52 For from henceforth there shall be five in one house divided, three against two, and two against three.
53 The father shall be divided against the son, and the son against the father: the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother: the mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law, and the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law.
54 ¶ Then said he to the people, When ye see a cloud rise out of the West, straightway ye say, A shower cometh: and so it is.
55 And when ye see the South wind blow, ye say, that it will be hot: and it cometh to pass.
56 Hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the earth, and of the sky: but why discern ye not this time?
57 ¶ Yea, and why judge ye not of yourselves what is right?
58 ¶ While thou goest with thine adversary to the ruler, as thou art in the way, give diligence in the way, that thou mayest be delivered from him, lest he draw thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the 'jailer, and the jailer cast thee into prison.
59 I tell thee, thou shalt not depart thence, till thou hast paid the utmost mite.

13 Of the Galileans, 4 and those that were slain under Siloam. 6 The fig tree that bare no fruit. 11 The woman vexed with the spirit of infirmity, that is, with a disease brought on by her Satan, is healed. 19 The parable of the grain of mustard seed. 21 Of leaven. 23 How few shall be saved. 31 Herod that Fox.
1 ¶ There were certain men present at the same season, that showed him of the Galileans, whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices.
2 And Jesus answered, and said unto them,
Suppose ye, that these Galileans were greater sin-ers than all the other Galileans, because they have suffered such things?
3 I tell you, nay: but except ye amend your lives,
ye shall all likewise perish.
4 Or think you that those eighteen, upon whom the tower in Siloam fell, and slew them, were sinners above all men that dwell in Jerusalem?
5 I tell you, nay: but except ye amend your lives,
ye shall all likewise perish.
6 ¶ He spake also this parable, A certain man had a fig tree, planted in his vineyard: and he came and sought fruit thereon, and found none.
7 Then said he to the dresser of his vineyard, Behold, this three years have I come and sought fruit of this fig tree, and find none: cut it down: why keepeth it also the ground barren?
8 And he answered, and said unto him, Lord, let it alone this year also, till I dig round about it, and dung it.
9 And if it bear fruit, well; if not, then after thou shalt cut it down.
10 ¶ And he taught in one of the Synagogues on the Sabbath day.
11 And behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could not lift up herself in any wise.
12 When Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said to her, Woman, thou art loosed from thy disease.
13 And he laid his hands on her, and immediately
she was made straight again, and glorified God.
14 And the ruler of the Synagogue answered with indignation, because that Jesus healed on the Sabbath day, and said unto the people, There are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the Sabbath day.
15 Then answered him the Lord, and said, Hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the Sabbath day loose his ox or his ass from the stall, and lead him away to the water?
16 And ought not this daughter of Abraham, whom Satan had bound, lo, eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?
17 And when he said these things, all his adversaries were ashamed: but all the people rejoiced at all the excellent things that were done by him.
18 ¶ Then said he, What is the kingdom of God like? or whereto shall I compare it? 19 It is like a grain of mustard seed, which a man took and sowed in his garden, and it grew, and waxed a great tree, and the fowls of the heaven made nests in the branches thereof. 20 ¶ And again he said, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdom of God? 21 It is like leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three pecks of flour, till all was leavened. 22 ¶ And he went through all cities and towns, teaching, and journeying towards Jerusalem. 23 Then said one unto him, Lord, are there few that shall be saved? And he said unto them, 24 Strive to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able. 25 When the good man of the house is risen up, and hath shut to the door, and ye began to stand without, and to knock at the door, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us, and he shall answer and say unto you, I know you not whence ye are, 26 Then shall ye begin to say, We have eaten and drunk in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streets. 27 But he shall say, I know you not whence ye are: depart from me, all ye workers of iniquity. 28 There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the Prophets in the kingdom of God, and yourselves thrust out at doors. 29 Then shall come many from the east, and from the west, and from the north, and from the south, and shall sit at Table in the kingdom of God. 30 And behold, there are last, which shall be first, and there are first, which shall be last. 31 The same day there came certain Pharisees, and said unto him, Depart, and go hence: for Herod will kill thee.

16 Then answered he them again, and said, The kingdom of heaven is like unto a man, which was an householder, and went out early in the morning, and plowed, and sowed his seed. 17 And when he had slept, a night came on. 18 And behold, there was a thorn that sprang up and choked it: and he that saw said unto the householder, Be look the thorn out of his ground. 19 But he said, Lest haply there be a standing ear of wheat with the chaff. 20 Therefore let the standing wheat be gathered first: and the rye shall follow. 21 And when he had gathered out the wheat, he shall say to his servant, Gather the harvest into the barn; the chaff also shall be burned with fire. 22 And he said unto him, Take no thought, my friend, for all these things: for your Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. 23 But rather be ye thankful. 24 There is nothing prepared for them that are unthankful and abominable: for as they have practiced unthankfulness unto me, so shall they have unthankfulness given unto them. 25 And every one that shall speak evil of the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him: but he, that shall speak evil of the Holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, neither in the world to come. 26 And when he was come into his own country, he taught them in their synagogue, so that they were astonished, and said, Whence hath this man this wisdom, and these mighty works? 27 Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary? and brother to James, and Joses, and Judas, and Simon? and are not his sisters here with us? but as for these things, he giveth the knowledge of the prophets. 28 Then answered he them, How shall we also say unto them, that they might be astonished? but how shal we say unto them, in what manner? 29 And one of the scribes answered and said unto him, Master, thou hast well said. 30 And he said, That is why I was sent. 31 And he cast out a devil; and his name was Herod. 32 Then said he unto them, Go ye and tell that fox, Behold, I cast out devils, and will heal still today, and tomorrow, and the third day I shall be perfected. 33 Nevertheless I must walk today, and tomorrow, and the day following: for it cannot be that a Prophet should perish out of Jerusalem. 34 ¶ O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which killest the Prophets, and stonest them that are sent to thee, how often would I have gathered thy children together, as the hen gathered her brood under her wings, and ye would not. 35 Behold, your house is left unto you desolate: and verily I tell you, ye shall not see me until the time come that ye shall say, Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord.

14 The dropsy healed on the Sabbath. 8 The chief place: at banquets. 12 The poor must be called to our feasts. 16 Of those that were bid to the great supper. 23 Some compelled to come in. 28 One about to build a tower.

1 And it came to pass that when he was entered into the house of one of the chief Pharisees on the Sabbath day, to eat bread, they watched him. 2 And behold, there was a certain man before him, which had the dropsy, 3 Then Jesus answering, spake unto the Lawyers and Pharisees, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath day? 4 And they held his peace. Then he took him, and healed him, and let him go, 5 And answered them, saying, Which of you shall have an ass, or an ox fallen into a pit, and will not straightway pull him out? 6 And they could not answer him again to those things. 7 ¶ He spake also a parable to the guests, when he marked how they chose out the chief rooms, and said unto them, 8 When thou shalt be bidden of any man to a 13:19 1 God beginneth his kingdom with small beginnings, that the unlooked for proceeding of it may better set forth his power. 13:22 1 Against them which had rather err with many, than go right with a few, and by that means through their own slowness, are shut out of the kingdom of God. 13:26 1 He is in vain in the Church, which is not of the Church, which is glory. 13:19 2 That deceitful and treacherous man. 13:32 2 This is a proverb: or else, by Today, we may understand the time that now is, and by Tomorrow, the time to come, meaning thereby all the time of his ministry and office. 13:33 1 There are now more cruel enemies of the godly, than they which are within the Sanctuary and Church itself: but God seeth it, and will in his time have an account of it. 13:34 2 Either one of the Elders, whom they called the Sanhedrin, or one of the chiefs of the Synagogue, John 7:48, for this word Pharisee was the name of a sect, though it appears by the whole history that the Pharisees were in great credit. 14:1 1 The Law of the very Sabbath ought not to hinder the offices of charity. 14:7 1 The reward of pride is ignomy and the reward of true modesty is glory.

wedding, set not thyself down in the chiefest place, lest a more honorable man than thou be bidden of him, 9 And he that bade both him and thee, come, and say to thee, Give this man room, and thou then begin with shame to take the lowest room.

10 1But when thou art bidden, go and sit down in the lowest room, that when he that bade thee, cometh, he may say unto thee, Friend, sit up higher: then shalt thou have worship in the presence of them that sit at table with thee.

11 2For whosoever exalteth himself, shall be brought low, and he that humbleth himself, shall be exalted.

12 3Then said he also to him that had bidden him, 2When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor the rich neighbors, lest they also bid thee again, and a recompense be made thee.

13 But when thou makest a feast, call the poor, the maimed, the lame and the blind, 14 And thou shalt be blessed, because they cannot recompense thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the just.

15 ¶ Now when one of them that sat at table heard these things, he said unto him, Blessed is he that eateth bread in the kingdom of God.

16 Then said he to him, 2A certain man made a great supper, and bade many,

17 And sent his servant at supper time to say to them that were bidden, Come: for all things are now ready.

18 4But they all with 3one mind began to make excuse: The first said unto him, I have bought a farm, and I must needs go out and see it: I pray thee have me excused.

19 And another said, I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to prove them: I pray thee have me excused.

20 And another said, I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.

21 So that servant returned, and showed his master these things. Then was the good man of the house angry, and said to his servant, Go out quickly, and into the highways, and hedges, and compel them to come in, that mine house may be filled.

22 And the servant said, Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is room.

23 Then the master said to the servant, Go out into the highways, and hedges, and compel them to come in, that mine house may be filled.

24 For I say unto you, that none of those men which were bidden, shall taste of my supper.

25 1Now there went great multitudes with him, and he turned and said unto them, 26 2If any man come to me, and 3hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters; yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple.

27 33And whosoever beareth not his cross, and cometh after me, cannot be my disciple.

28 For which of you minding to build a tower, sitting not down before, and counteth the cost, whether he have sufficient to perform it,

29 Lest that after he hath laid the foundation, and is not able to perform it, all that behold it, begin to mock him, 30 Saying, This man began to build, and was not able to make an end.

31 Or what King going to make war against another King, sitteth not down first, and taketh counsel, whether he be able with ten thousand, to meet him that cometh against him with twenty thousand?

32 Or else while he is yet a great way off, he sendeth an ambassage, and desireth peace.

33 So likewise, whosoever he be of you, that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple.

34 4Salt is good: but if salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted?

35 It is neither meet for the land, nor yet for the dunghill, but men cast it out. He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

15 The parable of the lost sheep. 8 Of the great, 12 And of the prodigal son.

1 Then 2resorted unto 3him 2all the Publicans and sinners, to hear him.

2 Therefore the Pharisees and Scribes murmured, saying, He receiveth sinners, and eateth with them.

3 Then spake he this parable to them, saying,

4 ‘What man of you having an hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, doth not leave ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost, until he find it?

5 And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders with joy.

6 And when he cometh home, he calleth together his friends and neighbors, saying unto them, Rejoice with me: for I have found my sheep which was lost.

7 I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven for one sinner that converteth, more than for ninety and nine just men, which need none amendment of life.

8 Either what woman having ten groats, if she lose one groat, doth not light a candle, and sweep the house, and seek diligently till she find it?

9 And when she hath found it, she calleth her friends and neighbors, saying, Rejoice with me: for I have found the groat which I had lost.

10 Likewise I say unto you, there is joy in the presence of the Angels of God, for one sinner that converteth.

11 ¶ He said moreover, A certain man had two sons,

12 And the younger of them said to his father, Father, give me the portion of the goods that falleth to me. So he divided unto them his substance.

13 So not many days after, when the younger son had gathered all together, he took his journey into a far country, and there he wasted his goods with riotous living.

14 Now when he had spent all, there arose a great dearth throughout that land, and he began to be in necessity.

15 Then he went and clave to a citizen of that country, and he sent him to his farm, to feed swine.

16 And he would fair have filled his belly with the husks that the swine ate: but no man gave them him.

17 ¶ Then he came to himself, and said, How many hired servants at my father’s have bread enough, and I die for hunger?

18 I will arise and go to my father, and say unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before thee, 19 And am no more worthy to be called thy son: make me as one of thine hired servants.

20 So he arose and came to his father, and when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran and fell on his neck, and kissed him.

21 ¶ And the son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy son.

22 Then the father said to his servants, Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet,

23 And bring the fat calf, and kill him, and let us eat, and be merry:

24 For this my son was dead, and is alive again: and he was lost, but he is found. And they began to be merry.

25 ¶ Now the elder brother was in the field, and when he came and drew near to the house, he heard melodies, and dancing, 26 And called one of his servants, and asked what those things meant.

27 And he said unto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fat calf, because he hath received him safe and sound.

28 Then he was angry, and would not go in: therefore came his father out, and entreated him.

29 But he answered, and said to his father, Lo, these many years have I done thee service, neither brake I at anytime thy commandment, and yet thou never gavest me a kid that I might make merry with my friends.

30 But when this thy son was come, which hath devoured thy goods with harlots, thou hast for his sake killed the fat calf.

31 And he said unto him, Son thou art ever with me, and all that I have, is thine. It was meet that we should make merry, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is alive again: and he was lost, but he is found.

16 ¶ The parable of the steward accused to his master.

13 To serve two masters. 16 The law and the Prophets. 19 Of Dives and Lazarus.

1 And he said also unto his disciples, There was...
16:1 a certain rich man, which had a steward, and he was accused unto him, that he wasted his goods.

2 And he called him, and said unto him, How is it that I hear this of thee? Give an account of thy stewardship: for thou mayest be no longer steward.

3 Then the steward said within himself, What shall I do, for my master taketh away from me the stewardship? I cannot dig, and to beg I am ashamed.

4 I know what I will do, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receive me into their houses.

5 Then called he unto him everyone of his master's debtors, and said unto the first, How much owest thou unto my master?

6 And he said, An hundred measures of oil. And he said to him, Take thy writing, and sit down quickly, and write fifty.

7 Then said he to another, How much owest thou? And he said, An hundred measures of wheat. Then he said to him, Take thy writing and write fourscore.

8 And the Lord commended the unjust steward, because he had done wisely. Wherefore the children of this world are in their generation wiser than the children of light.

9 And I say unto you, Make ye friends with the riches of iniquity, that when ye shall want, they may receive you into everlasting habitations.

10 He that is faithful in the least, is also faithful in much: and he that is unjust in the least, is unjust also in much.

11 If then ye have not been faithful in the wicked riches, who will trust you in the true treasure?

12 And if ye have not been faithful in another man's goods, who shall give you that which is yours?

13 No servant can serve two masters: for either he shall hate the one, and love the other: or else he shall be Lord to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and riches.

14 All these things heard the Pharisees also which were covetous, and they scoffed at him.

15 Then he said unto them, Ye are they, which justify yourselves before men: but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God.

16 The Law and the Prophets endured until John: and since that time the kingdom of God is preached, and every man presseth into it.

17 Now it is more easy that heaven and earth should pass away, than that one tittle of the Law should fall.

18 ¶ Whosoever putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, committeth adultery: and whosoever marrieth her that is put away from her husband, committeth adultery.

19 ¶ There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared well and delicately every day.

20 Also there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate full of sores.

21 And desired to be refreshed with the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table: yea, and the dogs came and licked his sores.

22 And it was so that the beggar died, and was carried by the Angels into Abraham's bosom. The rich man also died, and was buried.

23 And being in hell in torments, he lifted up his eyes, and saw Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.

24 Then he cried, and said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue: for I 168 This parable doth not approve the steward's naughty dealing, for it was every theft: but parables are set forth, to show a thing covertly, and as it were under a figure to represent the truth, though it be not thoroughly with the matter itself: so that Christ meaneth by this parable to teach us, that worldly men are more heady in the affairs of this world, than the children of God are careful for everlasting habitations.

169 This is not spoken of goods that are evil gotten, for God will have our bountifulness to the poor, proceed and come from a good fountain: but he calleth those riches of iniquity, which men use unright.

2 To wit, the poor Christians: for they are the inheritors of these Tabernacles, Theophylact.

1610 We ought to take heed that for abusing our earthly function and duty, we be not deprived of heavenly gifts: for how can they use spiritual gifts aright, who abuse worldly things?

1611 That is, heavenly and true riches: which are contrary to worldly and flitting substance.

1612 In worldly goods, which are called other men's, because they are committed to our credit.
25 But Abraham said, Son, remember that thou in thy lifetime receivest thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus pains: now therefore is he comforted, and thou art tormented.
26 Besides all this, between you and us there is a great gulf set, so that they which would go from hence to you, cannot: neither can they come from thence to us.
27 ¶ Then he said, I pray thee therefore father, that thou wouldest send him to my father's house, 28 (For I have five brethren,) that he may testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.
29 Abraham said unto him, They have Moses and the Prophets: let them hear them.
30 And he said, Nay, father Abraham: but if one came unto them from the dead, they will amend their lives.
31 Then he said unto him, If they hear not Moses and the Prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rise from the dead again.

17 1 Offences. 3 We must forgive him that trespasseth against us. 10 We are unprofitable servants. 11 Of the ten lepers. 20 Of the coming of the kingdom of heaven. 33 False Christs. 36 After what manner Christ's coming shall be.

1 Then said he to his disciples, "If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him: and if he repent, forgive him.
2 And though he sin against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to thee, saying, it repenteth me, thou shalt forgive him.
5 ¶ And the Apostles said unto the Lord, Increase our faith.

6 And the Lord said, "If ye had faith, as much as a grain of mustard seed, and should say unto this mulberry tree, Pluck thyself up by the roots, and plant thyself in the sea, it should even obey you.
7 ¶ Who is it also of you, that having a servant plowing or feeding cattle, would say unto him by and by, when he were come from the field, Go, and sit down at table,
8 And would not rather say to him, Dress wherewith I may sup, and gird thyself, and serve me, till I have eaten and drunken, and afterward eat thou, and drink thou?
9 Doth he thank that servant, because he did that which was commanded unto him? I trow not.
10 ¶ So likewise ye, when ye have done all those things, which are commanded you, say, We are unprofitable servants: we have done that which was our duty to do.
11 ¶ And so it was when he went to Jerusalem, that he passed through the midst of Samaria, and Galilee.
12 And as he entered into a certain town, there met him ten men that were lepers, which stood afar off.
13 And they lifted up their voices and said, Jesus, Master, have mercy on us.
14 And when he saw them, he said unto them, Go, show yourselves unto the Priests. And it came to pass, that as they went, they were cleansed.
15 Then one of them, when he saw that he was healed, turned back, and with a loud voice praised God, 16 And fell down on his face at his feet, and gave him thanks: and he was a Samaritan.
17 And Jesus answered, and said, Are there not ten cleansed? but where are the nine?
18 There is none found that returned to give God praise, save this stranger.
19 And he said unto him, Arise, go thy way, thy faith hath saved thee.
20 ¶ And when he was demanded of the Pharisees, when the kingdom of God should come, he answered them, and said, The kingdom of God cometh not with observation.

16:27 "Seeing that we have a most sure rule to live by, laid forth unto us in the word of God, rashly and vainly do men seek for other revelation.
17:1 "The Church is of necessity subject to offences, but the Lord will not suffer them unpunished, if any of the least be offended.
17:2 Our reprobations must be just, and proceed of love and charity.
17:5 "God will never be utterly lacking to the Godly (although he be not so perfectly with them, as they would) even in those difficulties, which cannot be overcome by man's reason.
17:6 "If you had no more faith, but the quantity of the grain of mustard seed.
17:7 "Seeing that God may challenge unto himself of right, both us and all that is ours, he can be debtor unto us for nothing, although we labor manfully even unto death.
17:10 "The most perfect keeping of the Law, which we can perform, deserves no reward.
17:11 "Christ doeth well even unto such, as will be unthankful, but the benefits of God profit them only to salvation, which are thankful.
17:20 "The kingdom of God is not marked of many, although it be most present before their eyes: because they fondly persuade themselves, that it is joined with outward pomp.
17:21 With any outward pomp and show of majesty, to be known by: for there were otherwise many plain and evident tokens, whereby men might have understood, that Christ was the Messiah, whose kingdom was so long looked for: but he spake in this place of those signs which the Pharisees dreamed of, which looked for an earthly kingdom of Messiah.
21 Neither shall man say, Lo here, or lo there: for behold, the kingdom of God is among you.

22 And he said unto the disciples, the days will come, when ye shall desire to see one of the days of the Son of man, and ye shall not see it.

23 And he said also unto them, Where is the like of this among the scribes? Then they shall say to you, Behold here, or behold there: but go not thither, neither follow them.

24 For as the lightning that lighteneth out of the one part under heaven, shineth unto the other part under heaven, so shall the Son of man be in his day.

25 But first must he suffer many things and be reproved of this generation.

26 And as it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be in the days of the Son of man.

27 They ate, they drank, they married wives, and gave in marriage unto the day that Noah went into the Ark: and the flood came, and destroyed them all.

28 Likewise also as it was in the days of Lot: They ate, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built.

29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all.

30 After these examples shall it be in the day when the son of man is revealed.

31 At that day he that is upon the house, and his stuff in the house, let him not come down to take it out: and he that is in the field likewise, let him not turn back to that he left behind.

32 Remember Lot’s wife.

33 Whosoever will seek to save his soul, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose it, shall get it life.

34 I tell you, in that night there shall be two in one bed: the one shall be received, and the other shall be left.

35 Two women shall be grinding together, the one shall be taken, and the other shall be left.

36 Two women shall be in the field: one shall be received, and another shall be left.

37 And they answered, and said to him, Where, Lord? And he said unto them, Wheresoever the body is, thither shall also the eagles be gathered together.
LUKE 18:11

11 The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, O God, I thank thee that I am not as other men, extortioners, unjust adulterers, or even as this Publican.

12 I fast twice in the week: I give tithe of all that ever I possess.

13 But the Publican standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes to heaven, but smote his breast, saying, O God, be merciful to me a sinner.

14 I tell you, this man parted to his house, justified rather than the other: for every man that exalteth himself shall be brought low, and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.

15 ¶ They brought him also babes that he should touch them. And when his disciples saw it, they rebuked them.

16 But Jesus called them unto him, and said, Suffer the babes to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God.

17 Verily I say unto you, whosoever receiveth not the kingdom of God as a babe, he shall not enter therein.

18 Then a certain ruler asked him, saying, Good Master, what ought I do, to inherit eternal life?

19 And Jesus said unto him, Why callest thou me good? none is good, save one, even God.

20 Thou knowest the commandments, Thou shalt not commit adultery: Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not steal: Thou shalt not bear false witness: Honor thy father and thy mother.

21 And he said, All these have I kept from my youth.

22 Now when Jesus heard that, he said unto him, Yet lackest thou one thing, Sell all that thou hast, and distribute unto the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven, and come follow me.

23 But when he heard those things, he was very heavy: for he was marvelous rich.

24 And when Jesus saw him very sorrowful, he said unto him, How is it with thee, Simon? for whom have I tasted?

25 Surely it is easier for a camel to go through a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

18:11 1 Although we confess that whatsoever we have, we have it of God, yet are we despised of God, as proud and arrogant, if we put never so little trust in our own works before God.

18:15 1 The children were tender and young, in that they were brought, which appeareth more evidently in that, that they were infants, which is to be marked against them that are enemies to the baptizing of children.

2 To judge or think of Christ after the reason of our flesh, is the cause of infinite corruptions.

18:16 1 The children also of the faithful are comprehended in the free covenant of God.

2 Them that carried the children, whom the disciples drove away.

18:17 1 Childlike innocence is an ornament of Christians.

18:21 1 The enticement of riches carrieth away many from the right way.

18:24 1 To be both rich and godly, is a singular gift of God.

18:29 1 They become the richest of all, which refuse not to be poor for Christ's sake.

18:31 1 As sure and certain as persecution is, so sure is the glory which remaineth for the conquerors.

18:34 1 Hereby we see how ignorant the disciples were.

18:35 1 Christ sheweth by a visible miracle, that he is the light of the world.

18:39 1 The more stops and lets that Satan layeth in our way, even by them which profess Christ's Name, so much the more ought we to go forward.
And Jesus said unto him, Receive thy sight: thy faith hath saved thee.

Then immediately he received his sight, and followed him, praising God: and all the people, when they saw this, gave praise to God.

CHAPTER 19

2 Zacchaeus the Publican. 13 Ten pieces of money delivered to servants to occupy withall. 19 Jesus entereth into Jerusalem. 41 He foretelleth the destruction of the city with tears. 45 He casteth the sellers out of the Temple.

1 Now when Jesus entered and passed through Jericho,

2 Behold, there was a man named Zacchaeus, which was the chief receiver of the tribute, and he was rich.

3 And he sought to see Jesus, who he should be, and could not for the press, because he was of a low stature.

4 Wherefore he ran before, and climbed up into a wild fig tree, that he might see him: for he should come that way.

5 And when Jesus came to the place, he looked up, and saw him, and said unto him, Zacchaeus, come down at once: for today I must abide at thine house.

6 Then he came down hastily, and received him joyfully.

7 And when all they saw it, they murmured, saying, that he was gone in to lodge with a sinful man.

8 And Zacchaeus stood forth, and said unto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor: and if I have taken from any man by forged cavillation, I restore him fourfold.

9 Then Jesus said to him, This day is salvation come unto this house, forasmuch as he is also become the son of Abraham.

10 For the son of man is come to seek, and to save that which was lost.

11 And while they heard these things, he continued and spake a parable, because he was near to Jerusalem, and because also they thought that the kingdom of God should shortly appear.

12 He said therefore, A certain noble man went into a far country, to receive for himself a kingdom, and so to come again.

13 And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pieces of money, and said unto them, Occupy till I come.

14 Now his citizens hated him, and sent an ambassador after him, saying, We will not have this man to reign over us.

15 And it came to pass, when he was come again, and had received his kingdom, that he commanded the servants to be called to him, to whom he gave his money, that he might know what every man had gained.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased ten pieces.

17 And he said unto him, Well, good servant: because thou hast been faithful in a very little thing, take thou authority over ten cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased five pieces.

19 And to the same he said, Be thou also ruler over five cities.

20 So the other came, and said, Lord, behold thy piece, which I have laid up in a napkin:

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a straight man: thou takest up that thou laist not down, and reapest that thou didst not sow.

22 Then he said unto him, Of thine own mouth will I judge thee, O evil servant. Thou knowest that I am a straight man, taking up that I lai not down, and reaping that I did not sow.

23 Wherefore then gavest not thou my money into the bank, that at my coming I might have required it with vantage?

24 And he said to them that stood by, Take from him that piece, and give it him that hath ten pieces.

25 (And they said unto him, Lord, he hath ten pieces.)

19:3 The world forsaketh the grace of God, and yet is unwilling that it should be bestowed upon others.

19:8 The example of true repentance, is known by the effect.

2 By falsely accusing any man: and this agreeth most fitly to the master of the customer's person: for commonly they have this trade among them when they rob and spoil the commonweal, they have nothing in their mouths, but the profit of the commonweal, and under that color they play the thieves, insomuch that if men reprove and go about to redress their robbery, and spoiling, they cry out, the commonwealth is hindered.

19:9 Beloved of God, one that walketh in the steps of Abraham's faith: and we gather that salvation came to that house, because they received the blessing as Abraham had, for all of the household were circumcised.

19:11 We must patiently wait for the judgment of God, which shall be revealed in his time.

19:13 There are three sorts of men in the Church: the one sort fall from Christ whom they see not; the other, which according to their vocation, bestow the gifts which they have received of God, to his glory with great pains and diligence: the third live idly, and do no good. As for the first, the Lord when he cometh will justly punish them in his time: the other he will bless, according to the pains which they have taken: and as for the slothful and idle persons, he will punish them as the first.

19:16 This was a piece of money, which the Grecians used, and was in value about an hundred pence, which is about ten crowns.

19:20 Against them which spend their life idly in deliberating, and otherwise, in contemplation.

19:23 To the bankers and changers.
26 1 For I say unto you, that unto all them that have, it shall be given: and from him that hath not, even that he hath, shall be taken from him.

27 Moreover, those mine enemies, which would not that I should reign over them, bring hither, and slay them before me.

28 ¶ And when he had thus spoken, 1he went forth before, ascending up to Jerusalem.

29 ¶ And it came to pass, when he was come near to Bethphage, and Bethany, besides the mount which is called the mount of Olives, he sent two of his disciples, 30 Saying, Go ye to the town which is before you, wherein as soon as ye are come, ye shall find a colt tied, whereon never man sat: loose him, and bring him hither.

31 And if any ask you, why ye loose him, thus shall ye say unto him, Because the Lord hath need of him.

32 So they that were sent, went their way, and found it as he had said unto them.

33 And as they were loosing the colt, the owners thereof said unto them, Why loose ye the colt?

34 And they said, The Lord hath need of him.

35 ¶ So they brought him to Jesus, and they cast their garments on the colt, and set Jesus thereon.

36 And as he went, they spread their clothes in the way.

37 And when he was now come near to the going down of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice, and to praise God with a loud voice, for all the great works that they had seen, 38 Saying, Blessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord: peace in heaven, and glory in the highest places.

39 1 Then some of the Pharisees of the company said unto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples.

40 But he answered, and said unto them, I tell you, that if these should hold their peace, the stones would cry.

41 ¶ And when he was come near, he beheld the City, and wept for it.

42 1Saying, 2O if thou hadst even known 3at the Prophet.
7 Therefore they answered, that they could not tell whence it was.
8 Then Jesus said unto them, Neither tell I you, by what authority I do these things.

Then began he to speak to the people this parable, A certain man planted a vineyard, and let it forth to husbandmen: and went into a strange country, for a great time.
10 And at the time convenient he sent a servant to the husbandmen, that they should give him of the fruit of the vineyard: but the husbandmen did beat him, and sent him away empty.
11 Again he sent yet another servant: and they did beat him, and foul entreated him, and sent him away empty.
12 Moreover he sent the third, and him they wounded, and cast out.
13 Then said the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I do! I will send my beloved son: it may be that they will do reverence when they see him.
14 But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned with themselves, saying, This is the heir: come, let us kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.
15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyard therefore do unto them?
16 He will come and destroy these husbandmen, and will give out his vineyard to others. But when they heard it, they said, God forbid.
17 ¶ And he beheld them, and said, What meaneth this then that is written, The stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner?
18 Whosoever shall fall upon that stone, shall be broken: and on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to powder.
19 Then the high Priests, and the Scribes the same hour went about to lay hands on him (but they feared the people) for they perceived that he had spoken this parable against them.
20 ¶ And they watched him, and sent forth spies, which should feign themselves just men, to take him in his talk, and to deliver him unto the power and authority of the governor.

1049 LUKE 20:37
21 And they asked him, saying, Master, we know that thou sayest, and teachest right, neither dost thou accept any man's person, but teachest the way of God truly.
22 Is it lawful for us to give Caesar tribute or no?
23 But he perceived their craftiness, and said unto them, Why tempt ye me?
24 Show me a penny. Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered, and said, Caesar's.
25 Then he said unto them, 'Give then unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and to God those which are God's.
26 And they could not reprove his saying before the people: but they marveled at his answer, and held their peace.
27 ¶ Then came to him certain of the Sadducees (which deny that there is any resurrection) and they asked him, 28 Saying, Master, Moses wrote unto us, If any man's brother die having a wife, and he die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.
29 Now there were seven brethren, and the first took a wife, and he died without children.
30 And the second took the wife, and he died childless.
31 Then the third took her: and so likewise the rest, seven died, and left no children.
32 And last of all, the woman died also.
33 Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? for seven had her to wife.
34 Then Jesus answered, and said unto them, The children of this world marry wives, and are married.
35 But they which shall be counted worthy to enjoy that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry wives, neither are married.
36 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equal unto the Angels, and are the sons of God, since they are the children of the resurrection.
37 And that the dead shall rise again, even Moses showed it besides the bush, when he said, 'The Lord is the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.

38 For he is not the God of the dead, but of them which live: for all live unto him.

39 Then certain of the Scribes answered, and said, Master, thou hast well said.

40 And after that, durst they not ask him anything at all.

41 ¶ Then said he unto them, How say they that Christ is David’s son?

42 And David himself saith in the book of the Psalms, ‘The Lord said unto my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 43 Till I shall make thine enemies thy footstool.

44 Seeing David called him Lord, how is he then his son?

45 ¶ Then in the audience of all the people he said unto his disciples,

46 Beware of the Scribes, which willingly go in long robes, and love salutations in the markets, and the highest seats in the assemblies, and the chief rooms at feasts:

47 Which devour widow’s ‘houses, and in show make long prayers: These shall receive greater damnation.

21 1 The widow’s liberality above her riches. 5 Of the time of the destruction of the Temple. 19 and Jerusalem. 25 The signs going before the last judgment.

1 And as he beheld, he saw the rich men which cast their gifts into the treasury.

2 And he saw also a certain poor widow which cast in thither two mites:

3 And he said, Of a truth I say unto you, that this poor widow hath cast in more than they all.

4 For they all have of their superfluity cast into the offerings of God: but she of her penury hath cast in thither two mites:

5 Now as some spake of the Temple, how it was garnished with goodly stones, and with ‘consecrated things, he said,

6 Are these the things that ye look upon? the days will come wherein a stone shall not be left upon a stone, that shall not be thrown down.

7 Then they asked him, saying, Master, but when shall these things be? and what sign shall there be when these things shall come to pass?

8 ¶ And he said, Take heed, that ye be not deceived: for many will come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and the time draweth near: follow ye not them therefore.

9 ¶ And when ye hear of wars and seditions, be not afraid: for these things must first come, but the end followeth not by and by.

10 Then said he unto them, Nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom, 11 And great earthquakes shall be in divers places, and hunger, and pestilence, and fearful things, and great signs shall there be from heaven.

12 But before all these, they shall lay their hands on you, and persecute you, delivering you up to the assemblies, and into prisons, and bring you before kings and rulers for my Name’s sake.

13 And this shall turn to you, for a testimonial.

14 Lay it up therefore in your hearts, that ye cast not beforehand what ye shall answer.

15 For I will give you a mouth, and wisdom whereagainst all your adversaries shall not be able to speak nor resist.

16 Yea, ye shall be betrayed also of your parents and of your brethren, and kinsmen, and friends, and some of you they shall put to death.

17 And ye shall be hated of all men for my Name’s sake.

18 Yet there shall not one hair of your heads perish.

19 By your patience possess your souls.

20 ¶ And when ye see Jerusalem besieged with soldiers, then understand that the desolation thereof is near.

21 Then let them which are in Judea, flee to the mountains: and let them which are in the midst thereof, depart out: and let not them that are in the country, enter therein:

22 For these be the days of vengeance, to fulfill all things that are written.

23 But woe be to them that be with child, and to them that give suck in such days: for there shall be great distress in this land, and 1wrath over this people,

24 And they shall fall on the 1edge of the sword, and shall be led captive into all nations, and Jerusalem shall be trodden under foot of the Gentiles, until the time of the Gentiles be fulfilled.

25 1Then there shall be signs in the sun, and in the moon, and in the stars, and upon the earth trouble among the nations, with perplexity: the sea and the waters shall roar.

26 1And men's hearts shall fail them for fear and for looking after those things which shall come on the world: for the powers of heaven shall be shaken.

27 And then shall they see the Son of man come in a cloud, with power and great glory.

28 And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads: 1for your redemption draweth near.

29 1And he spake to them a parable, Behold, the fig tree, and all trees, 30 When they now shoot forth, ye seeing them, know of your own selves, that summer is then near.

31 So likewise ye, when ye see these things come to pass, know ye that the kingdom of God is near.

32 But of that day and hour knoweth no man, 1neither the angels of heaven, nor the Son, but the Father.

33 Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away.

34 1Take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be oppressed with surfeiting and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and lest that day come on you at unawares,

35 For as a snare shall it come 1on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth.

36 Watch therefore, and pray continually, that ye may be counted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and that ye may 1stand before the son of man.

37 ¶ Now in the daytime he taught in the Temple, and at night he went out, and abode in the mount, that is called the mount of Olives.

38 And all the people came in the morning to him, to hear him in the Temple.

22:3 1 Jude selleth Christ.  7 The Apostles prepare the Passover.  24 They strive who shall be chiefest.

31 Satan desireth them.  35 Christ sheweth they wanted nothing.  42 He prayeth in the mount.  44 He sweareth blood.  50 Malchus's ear cut off and healed.  57, 58, 60 Peter deneth Christ three times.  63 Christ is mocked and stoned.  69 He confesseth himself to be the Son of God.

1 Now 1the feast of unleavened bread drew near, which is called the Passover.

2 And the high Priests and Scribes sought how they might kill him: for they feared the people.

3 1Then entered Satan into Judas, who was called Iscariot, and was of the number of the twelve.

4 And he went his way, and communed with the high Priests and 1captains, how he might betray him to them.

5 So they were glad, and agreed to give him money.

6 And he consented, and sought opportunity to betray him unto them, when the people were 1away.

7 ¶ 1Then came the day of unleavened bread, when the Passover 1must be sacrificed.

8 And he sent Peter and John, saying, Go and prepare us the 1Passover that we may eat it.

9 And they said to him, Where wilt thou, that we prepare it?

10 Then he said unto them, Behold, when ye be entered into the city, there shall a man meet you, bearing a pitcher of water: follow him into the house that he entereth in,

11 And say unto the good man of the house, The Master saith unto thee, Where is the lodging where I shall eat my Passover with my disciples?

12 Then he shall show you a great high chamber trimmed: there make it ready.

13 So they went, and found as he had said unto 22:14 1 Christ having ended the Passover according to the order of the Law, forewarneth them that this shall be his last banquet with them, after the manner and necessity of this life.
22:15 1 I am put to death.
22:16 1 Christ establisheth his new Covenant, and his communicating with us with new signs.
22:17 1 Here is a double Metonymy: for first the vessel is taken for that which is contained in the vessel, as the cup, for the wine which is within the cup. Then the wine is called the Covenant or Testament, whereas indeed it is but the sign of the Testament, or rather of the blood of Christ, whereby the Testament was made: neither is it a vain sign, though it be not all one with the thing that it representeth.
22:18 1 And the Law, forewarneth them that this shall be his last banquet with them, after the manner and necessity of this life.
22:19 1 And truly the Son of man goeth as it is ap­pointed: but woe be to that man by whom he is betrayed.
22:20 1 Then they began to inquire among themselves which of them it should be, that should do that.
22:21 1 But ye shall not be so: but let the greatest among you be as the least: and the chiefest as he that serveth.
22:22 1 For who is greater, he that sitteth at table, or he that serveth? is not he that sitteth at table? And I am among you as he that serveth.
22:23 1 And ye are they which have continued with me in my tentations.
22:24 1 The Pastors are not called to rule, but to serve.
22:25 1 Have great titles, for so it was the custom to honor Princes with some great titles.
22:26 1 Such as are partakers of the afflictions of Christ, shall also be partakers of his kingdom.
22:27 1 We must always think upon the wait that Satan layeth for us.
22:28 1 It is through the prayers of Christ, that the elect do never utterly fall away from the faith: and that for this cause, that they should stir up one another.
22:29 1 Christ sheweth that faith differeth much from a vain security,
22:30 1 2 For I say unto you, That yet the same which is written, must be performed in me,
22:31 1 But I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not: therefore when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren.
22:32 1 And he said unto him: Lord, I am ready to go with thee into prison, and to death.
22:33 1 And he said unto them, 2When I sent you without bag, and scrip, and shoes, lacked ye anything? And they said, Nothing.
22:34 1 Then he said to them, But now he that hath a bag, let him take it, and likewise a scrip: and he that hath none, let him sell his coat, and buy a sword.
22:35 1 And he said unto them, 2What I sent you without, shall be given you here: and whatsoever ye shall lack, when ye enter into the kingdom of Christ, shall be given you.
22:36 1 And there arose also a strife among them, which of them should seem to be the greatest.
22:37 1 For I say unto you, That yet the same which is written, must be performed in me.
22:38 1 And they said, Lord, behold, are two swords. And he said unto them, It is enough.
22:39 1 And he came out, and went (as he was wont) to the mount of Olives: and his disciples also followed him.
them, Pray, lest ye enter into tentation.
41 And he was drawn aside from them about a stone’s cast, and kneeled down, and prayed, 42 Saying, Father, If thou wilt, take away this cup from me: nevertheless, not my will, but thine be done.
43 And there appeared an Angel unto him from heaven, comforting him.
44 But being in an agony, he prayed more earnestly: and his sweat was like drops of blood, trickling down to the ground.
45 And he rose up from prayer, and came to his disciples, and found them sleeping for heaviness.
46 And he said unto them, Why sleep ye? rise and pray, lest ye enter into temptations.
47 ¶ And while he yet spake, behold, a company of them came from the temple, and were set down together, Peter also sat down among them.
48 And when they had kindled a fire in the midst of the hall, and were set down together, Peter also sat down among them.
49 And one of them smote a servant of the high Priest, and struck off his right ear.
50 And one of them smote a servant of the high Priest, and struck off his right ear.
51 Then Jesus answered, and said, Suffer them thus far: and he touched his ear, and healed him.
52 Then Jesus said unto the high Priests, and captains of the Temple, and the Elders which were come to him, Be ye come out as unto a thief with swords and staves?
53 When I was daily with you in the Temple, ye stretched not forth the hands against me: but this is your very hour, and the power of darkness.
54 ¶ Then took they him, and led him to the high Priest’s house.
55 And when they had blindfolded him, they smote him on the face, and asked him, saying, Prophesy, who is it that smote thee.
56 And a certain maid beheld him as he sat by the fire, and having well looked on him, said, This man was also with him.
57 But he denied him, saying, Woman, I know him not.
58 And after a little while, another man saw him, and said, Thou art also of them. But Peter said, Man, I am not.
59 And about the space of an hour after, a certain other affirmed, saying, Verily, even this man was with him: for he is also a Galilean.
60 And Peter said, Man, I know not what thou sayest. And immediately while he yet spake, the cock crew.
61 Then the Lord turned back, and looked upon Peter: and Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how he had said unto him, Before the cock crow, thou shalt deny me thrice.
62 And Peter went out, and wept bitterly.
63 ¶ And the men that held Jesus, mocked him, and struck him.
64 And when they had blindfolded him, they smote him on the face, and asked him, saying, Prophesy who is it that smote thee.
65 And many other things blasphemously spake they against him.
66 ¶ And as soon as it was day, the Elders of the people, and the high Priests and the Scribes came together, and led him into their Council, 67 Saying, Art thou that Christ? tell us. And he said unto them, If I tell you, ye will not believe it.
68 And if also I ask you, you will not answer me, nor let me go.
69 Hereafter shall the Son of man sit at the right hand of the power of God.
70 Then said they all, Art thou then the Son of God? And he said to them, Ye say, that I am.
71 Then said they, What need we any further witness? for we ourselves have heard it of his own mouth.

22:41 Prayers are a sure succour against the most perilous assaults of our enemies.
22:44 This agony showeth that Christ strove much, and was in great distress: for Christ strove not only with the fears of death, as other men used to do, for so many martyrs might seem more constant than Christ; but with the fearful judgment of his angry Father, which is the fearfullest thing in the world: and the matter was, for that he took the burden of all our sins upon himself.
22:45 Men are utterly sluggish, even in their greatest dangers until Christ stir them up.
22:47 Christ is willingly betrayed and taken, that by his obedience he might deliver us which were guilty for the betraying of God’s glory.
23 1 He is accuseth before Pilate. 7 He is sent to Herod. 11 He is mocked. 24 Pilate yieldeth him up to the Jews' request. 27 The women bewail him. 33 He is crucified. 39 One of the thieves reviloth him. 43 The other is saved by faith. 45 He dieth. 53 He is buried.

1 Then 'the whole multitude of them arose, and led him unto Pilate.
2 And they began to accuse him, saying, We have found this man 'perverting the nation, ‘and forbidding to pay tribute to Caesar, saying, That he is Christ a King.
3 'And Pilate asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Jews? And he answered him, and said, Thou sayest it.
4 Then said Pilate to the high Priests, and to the people, I find no fault in this man.
5 But they were the more fierce, saying, He moveth the people, teaching throughout all Judea, beginning at Galilee, even to this place.
6 'Now when Pilate heard of Galilee, he asked whether the man were a Galilean.
7 And when he knew that he was of 'Herod's jurisdiction, he sent him to Herod, which was also at Jerusalem in those days.
8 And when Herod saw Jesus, he was exceeding glad: for he had heard many things of him, and trusted to have seen some sign done by him.
9 Then questioned he with him of many things: but he answered him nothing.
10 The high Priests also and Scribes stood forth and accused him vehemently.
11 And Herod with his 'men of war, despised him, and mocked him, and arrayed him in white, and led him up to Jerusalem in those days.
12 'And the same day Pilate and Herod were made friends together: for before they were enemies one to another.
13 ¶ Then Pilate called together the high Priests, and the 'rulers, and the people, 14 'And said unto them, Ye have brought this man unto me, as one that perverted the people: and behold, I have examined him before you, and have found no fault in this man, of those things whereof ye accuse him:

15 No, nor yet Herod: for I sent you to him: and lo, nothing worthy of death is done of him.
16 ¶ I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.
17 (For of necessity he must have let one loose unto them at the feast.)
18 Then all the multitude cried at once, saying, Away with him, and deliver unto us Barabbas: 19 Which for a certain insurrection made in the city, and murder, was cast in prison.
20 'Then Pilate spake again to them, willing to let Jesus loose.
21 But they cried, saying, Crucify, crucify him.
22 'And he said unto them the third time, But what evil hath he done? I find no cause of death in him: I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.
23 But they were instant with loud voices, and required that he might be crucified: and the voices of them and of the high Priests prevailed.
24 So Pilate gave sentence, that it should be as they required.
25 And he let loose unto them him that for insurrection and murder was cast into prison, whom they desired, and delivered Jesus to do with him what they would.
26 ¶ 41And as they led him away, they caught one Simon of Cyrene, coming out of the field, and on him they laid the cross, to bear it after Jesus.
27 'And there followed him a great multitude of people, and of women, which women bewailed and lamented him.
28 But Jesus turned back unto them, and said, Daughters of Jerusalem, weep not for me, but weep for yourselves, and for your children.
29 For behold, the days will come, when men shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombs that never bare, and the paps which never gave suck.
30 'Then shall they begin to say to the mountains, Fall on us: and to the hills, Cover us.
31 'For if they do these things to a 'green tree, what shall be done to the dry?

32 And there were two others, which were evildoers, led with him to be slain.

33 And when they were come to the place, which is called Calvary, there they crucified him, and the evildoers: one at the right hand, and the other at the left.

34 Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them: for they know not what they do. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots.

35 And the people stood, and beheld: and the rulers mocked him with them, saying, He saved others: let him save himself, if he be that Christ the Chosen of God.

36 The soldiers also mocked him, and came and offered him vinegar.

37 And said, If thou be the King of the Jews, save thyself.

38 And a superscription was also written over him, in Greek letters, and in Latin, and in Hebrew, THIS IS THAT KING OF THE JEWS.

39 ¶ And one of the evildoers, which were hanged, railed on him, saying, If thou be that Christ, save thyself and us.

40 But the other answered, and rebuked him, saying, Fearest thou not God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation?

41 We are indeed righteously here: for we receive things worthy of that we have done: but this man hath done nothing amiss.

42 And he said unto Jesus, Lord, remember me, when thou comest into thy kingdom.

43 Then Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with me in Paradise.

44 ¶ And it was about the sixth hour: and there was a darkness over all the land, until the ninth hour.

45 And the Sun was darkened, and the veil of the Temple rent through the midst.

46 And Jesus cried with a loud voice, and said, Father, into thine hands I commend my spirit. And when he thus had said, he gave up the ghost.

47 ¶ Now when the Centurion saw what was done, he glorified God, saying, Of a surety this man was just.

48 And all the people that came together to that sight, beholding the things which were done: smote their breasts, and returned.

49 ¶ And all his acquaintances stood afar off, and the women that followed him from Galilee, beholding these things.

50 ¶ And behold, there was a man named Joseph, which was a counselor, a good man and a just.

51 He did not consent to the counsel and deed of them, which was of Arimathea, a city of the Jews: who also himself waited for the kingdom of God.

52 He went unto Pilate, and asked the body of Jesus, 53 And took it down, and wrapped it in a linen cloth, and laid it in a tomb hewn out of a rock, wherein was never man yet laid.

54 And that day was the preparation, and the Sabbath drew on.

55 ¶ And the women also that followed after, which came with him from Galilee, beheld the sepulcher, and how his body was laid.

56 And they returned and prepared odors, and ointments, and resteth the Sabbath day according to the commandment.

24 The women come to the sepulchre. 9 They report that which they heard of the Angels, unto the Apostles. 13 Christ doth accompany two going to Emmaus. 27 He expoundeth the Scriptures unto them. 39 He offereth himself to his Apostles to be handled. 49 He promiseth the holy Ghost. 51 He is carried up into heaven.

23:33 Christ became acquainted for us upon the Cross, suffering the punishment which they deserved that would be God’s.

23:34 Christ in praying for his enemies, sheweth that he is both the sacrifice and the Priest.

23:35 Whom God loveth more than all others.

23:38 Which was a counselor, a good man and a just.

23:39 Christ in praying for his enemies, showeth that he is both the sacrifice and the Priest.

23:41 Christ being set upon by the devil and all his instruments, and being even, in death’s mouth, seteth weak women in his forward, minding straightways to triumph over those terrible enemies without any great endeavor.
LUKE 24:1

1  Now the first day of the week early in the morning, they came unto the sepulcher, and brought the odors which they had prepared, and certain women with them.

2  And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulcher,

3  And went in, but found not the body of the Lord Jesus.

4  And it came to pass, that as they were amazed thereat, behold, two men suddenly stood by them in shining vestures.

5  And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said to them, Why seek ye him that liveth, among the dead?

6  He is not here, but is risen: remember how he spake unto you, when he was yet in Galilee,

7  Saying, that the Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.

8  And they remembered his words,

9  And returned from the sepulcher, and told all these things unto the eleven, and to all the remnant.

10  Now it was Mary Magdalene, and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women with them which told these things unto the Apostles.

11  But their words seemed unto them as a feigned thing, neither believed they them.

12  And behold two of them went that same day to a town which was from Jerusalem about threescore furlongs, called Emmaus.

13  And they talked together of all these things that were done.

14  And it came to pass, as they communed together, and reasoned, that Jesus himself drew near, and went with them.

15  But their eyes were holden, that they could not know him.

16  And he said unto them, What manner of communications are these that ye have one to another as ye walk and are sad?

18  And the one (named Cleopas) answered and said unto him, Art thou only a stranger in Jerusalem, and hast not known the things which are come to pass therein in these days?

19  And he said unto them, What things? And they said unto him, Of Jesus of Nazareth, which was a Prophet, mighty indeed and in word before God, and all people, 20  And how the high Priest, and our rulers delivered him to be condemned to death, and have crucified him.

21  But we trusted that it had been he that should have delivered Israel, and as touching all these things, today is the third day, that they were done.

22  Yea, and certain women among us made us astonished, which came early unto the sepulcher.

23  And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seen a vision of Angels, which said, that he was alive.

24  Therefore certain of them which were with us, went to the sepulcher, and found it even so as the women had said, but him they saw not.

25  Then he said unto them, O fools and slow of heart to believe all that the Prophets have spoken!

26  Ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into his glory?

27  And he began at Moses, and at all the Prophets, and interpreted unto them in all the Scriptures the things which were written of him.

28  And they drew near unto the town, which they went to, but he made as though he would have gone further.

29  But they constrained him, saying, Abide with us, for it is towards night, and the day is far spent.

30  So he went in to tarry with them.

31  And it came to pass, as he sat at table with them, he took the bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gave it to them.

32  Then their eyes were opened, and they knew him: and he was no more seen of them.
32 And they said between themselves, Did not our hearts burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and when he opened to us the Scriptures?
33 And they rose up the same hour, and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleven gathered together, and them that were with them, 34 Which said, The Lord is risen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon.
35 Then they told what things were done in the way, and how he was known of them in breaking of bread.
36 ¶ And as they spake these things, Jesus himself stood in the midst of them, and said unto them, Peace be to you.
37 But they were abashed and afraid, supposing that they had seen a spirit.
38 Then he said unto them, Why are ye troubled? and wherefore do doubts arise in your hearts?
39 Behold mine hands and my feet: for it is I myself: handle me, and see: for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have.
40 And when he had thus spoken, he showed them his hands and feet.
41 And while they yet believed not for joy, and wondered, he said unto them, Have ye here any meat?
42 And they gave him a piece of a broiled fish, and of an honeycomb, 43 And he took it, and did eat before them.
44 ¶ And he said unto them, These are the words, which I spake unto you while I was yet with you, that all must be fulfilled which are written of me in the Law of Moses, and in the Prophets, and in the Psalms.
45 Then opened he their understanding, that they might understand the Scriptures, 46 And said unto them, Thus is it written, and thus it behooved Christ to suffer, and to rise again from the dead the third day,
47 And that repentance, and remission of sins should be preached in his Name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.
48 Now ye are witnesses of these things.
49 And behold, I do send the promise of my Father upon you: but tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem, until ye be endued with power from on high.
50 ¶ Afterward he lead them out into Bethany, and lifted up his hands, and blessed them.
51 And it came to pass, that as he blessed them, he departed from them, and was carried up into heaven.
52 And they worshipped him, and returned to Jerusalem with great joy, 53 And were continually in the Temple, praising, and lauding God. Amen.

24:35 ¶ When he brake bread, which that people used, and as the Jews use yet at this day at the beginning of their meals, and say a prayer.
24:36 ¶ The Lord himself showeth by certain and necessary signs, that he was risen again, and that in the same body which he took upon him.
24:38 ¶ Divers and doubtful thoughts which fall oft into men's heads, when any strange thing falleth out, whereof there is no great likelihood.
24:44 ¶ The preaching of the Gospel, which was promised to the Prophets and performed in his time, is committed unto the Apostles: the sum whereof, is repentance and remission of sins.
24:47 ¶ The Apostles who are the preachers of the Gospel beginning at Jerusalem.
24:49 ¶ Until the holy Ghost comes down from heaven upon you.
24:50 ¶ Christ ascendeth into heaven, and departing bodily from his disciples, filleth their hearts with the holy Ghost.
1 That Word begotten of God before all worlds, which was ever with the Father, is made man.

6, 7 For what end was John sent from God. His preaching of Christ's office.

19, 20 The record that he bare given out unto the Priests.

40 The calling of Andrew, Philip, and Nathanael.

1 In the beginning was that Word, and that Word was with God, and that Word was God.

2 This same was in the beginning with God.

3 1 All things were made by it, and without it was made nothing that was made.

4 1 In it was life, and that life was the light of men.

5 1 And that light shineth in the wilderness, and the darkness comprehended it not.

6 1 There was a man sent from God, whose name was John.

7 This same came for a witness, to bear witness of that light, that all men through him might believe.

8 He was not that light, but was sent to bear witness of that light.

9 This was that true light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world.

10 1 He was in the world, and the world was made by him: and the world knew him not.

11 He came unto his own, and his own received him not.

12 1 But as many as received him, to them he gave the prerogative to be the sons of God, even to them that believe in his Name.

13 Which are born not of blood, nor of the will of man, nor of the will of God.
14 And that Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we saw the glory thereof, as the glory of the only begotten Son of the Father) full of grace and truth.

15 ¶ John bare witness of him, and cried, saying, This was he of whom I said, He that cometh after me, was before me: for he was better than I.

16 ¶ And of his fullness have all we received, and grace for grace.

17 For the Law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ.

18 ¶ No man hath seen God at any time: that only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, hath declared him.

19 ¶ Then this is the record of John, when the Jews sent Priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, Who art thou?

20 And he confessed and denied not, and said plainly, I am not that Christ.

21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elijah? And he said, I am not. Art thou that Prophet?

22 Then said they unto him, Who art thou, that we may give an answer to them that sent us? What sayest thou of thyself?

23 He said, I am the voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the Prophet Isaiah.

24 ¶ Now which they were sent, were of the Pharisees.

25 And they asked him, and said unto him, Why baptizest thou then, if thou be not that Christ, neither Elijah, nor that Prophet?

26 John answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there is one among you, whom ye know not.

27 He it is that cometh after me, which was before me, whose shoe latchet I am not worthy to unloose.

28 These things were done in Bethabara beyond Jordan, where John did baptize.

29 ¶ The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold that Lamb of God, which...
31 And 1 knew him not: but because he should be declared to Israel, therefore am I come, baptizing with water.

32 1 So John bare record, saying, I beheld, 1 that Spirit come down from heaven, like a dove, and it abode upon him, 33 And I knew him not: but he that sent me to baptize with water, he said unto me, Upon whom thou shalt see that Spirit come down, and tarry still on him, that is he which baptizeth with the holy Ghost.

34 And I saw, and bare record that this is 1 that Son of God.

35 ¶ 1 The next day, John stood again, and two of his disciples.

36 1 And he beheld Jesus walking by, and said, Behold that Lamb of God.

37 1 And the two disciples heard him speak, and followed Jesus.

38 Then Jesus turned about, and saw them follow, and said unto them, What seek ye? And they said unto him, Rabbi, (which is to say by interpretation, Master) 1 where dwellest thou?

39 He said unto them, Come, and see. They came and saw where he dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the 1 tenth hour.

40 Andrew, Simon Peter’s brother, was one of the two which had heard it of John, and that followed him.

41 The same found his brother Simon first, and said unto him, We have found that Messiah which is by interpretation, that 1 Christ.

42 And he brought him to Jesus. And Jesus beheld him, and said, Thou art Simon the son of Jonah:

43 Thou shalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation a stone.

44 Now Philip was of Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter.

45 1 Philip found Nathanael, and said unto him, We have found him of whom Moses did write in the Law, and the Prophets, Jesus that Son of Joseph, that was of Nazareth.

46 Then Nathanael said unto him, Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth? Philip said to him, Come, and see.

47 1 Jesus saw Nathanael coming to him, and said of him, Behold indeed an Israelite, in whom is no guile.

48 1 Nathanael said unto him, Whence knowest thou me? Jesus answered, and said unto him, Before that Philip called thee, when thou wast under the fig tree, I saw thee.

49 Nathanael answered, and said unto him, Rabbi, thou art that Son of God: thou art that King of Israel.

50 Jesus answered, and said to him, Because I said unto thee, I saw thee under the fig tree, believest thou? thou shalt see greater things than these.

51 And he said unto him, Verily, verily, I am that thou hast heard from me, Hereafter shall ye see heaven open, and the Angels of God ascending, and descending upon that Son of man.

1 Christ turneth water into Wine. 11 which was the beginning of his miracles. 12 He goeth down to Capernaum: 13 from thence he goeth up to Jerusalem, 15 and casteth the merchandise out of the Temple. 19 He foretelleth that the Temple, that is, his body shall be destroyed of the Jews. 23 Many believe in him, seeing the miracles which he did.

1 And the third day, was there a marriage in 23 Christ is careful enough of our salvation, and therefore hath no need of others to put him in mind of it.
24 Mine appointed time.
26 These were vessels appointed for water, wherein they washed themselves.
29 Every firkin contained an hundred pounds, at twelve ounces the pound: Whereby we gather that Christ helped them with a thousand and eight hundred pounds of wine.

1 With what miracle dost thou confirm it, that we may see that heavenly power and virtue, which giveth thee authority to speak and do thus?
2 But he in whom some part of the excellency of God appeareth.
3 Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily verily I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.

4 Nicodemus said unto him, How can a man be born which is old? can he enter into his mother's womb again, and be born?

5 Jesus answered, Verily, verily I say unto thee, except that a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.

6 That which is born of the flesh, is flesh: and that which is born of the Spirit, is spirit.

7 Marvel not that I said to thee, Ye must be born again.

8 The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: so is every man that is born of the Spirit.

9 Nicodemus answered, and said unto him, How can these things be?

10 Jesus answered, and said unto him, Art thou a teacher of Israel, and knowest not these things?

11 Verily, verily I say unto thee, We speak that we know, and testify that we have seen: but ye receive not our witness.

12 If when I tell you earthly things, ye believe not, how should ye believe, If I shall tell you of heavenly things?

13 For no man ascended up to heaven, but he that had descended from heaven, that Son of man which is in heaven.

14 And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must that Son of man be lifted up, 15 That whosoever believeth in him, should not perish, but have eternal life.

16 For God so loved the world, that he hath given his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him, should not perish, but have everlasting life.

17 For God sent not his Son into the world, that he should condemn the world, but that the world through him might be saved.

18 He that believeth in him, is not condemned: but he that believeth not, is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the Name of that only begotten Son of God.

19 And this is the condemnation, that light came into the world, and men loved darkness rather than that light, because their deeds were evil.

20 For every man that doeth evil, hateth the light, neither cometh to light, lest his deeds should be reproved.

21 But he that doeth truth, cometh to the light, that his deeds might be made manifest, that they are wrought according to God.

22 ¶ After these things came Jesus, and his disciples into the land of Judea, and there tarried with them, and baptized.

23 And John also baptized in Aenon beside Salim, because there was much water there: and they came and were baptized.
24 For John was not yet cast into prison.
25 1Then there arose a question between John’s disciples and the Jews, about purifying.
26 And they came unto John, and said unto him, Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Jordan, to whom 2thou barest witness, behold, he baptized, and all men come to him.
27 John answered, and said, A man 3can receive nothing, except it be given him from heaven.
28 Ye yourselves are my witnesses, that 4I said, I am not that Christ, but that I am sent before him.
29 He that hath the bride, is the bridegroom: but the friend of the bridegroom which standeth and heareth him, rejoiceth greatly, because of the bridegroom’s voice. This my joy therefore is fulfilled.
30 He must increase, but I must decrease.
31 He that is come from on high, is above all: he that is of the earth, is of the 1earth, and 2speaketh of the earth: he that is come from heaven, is above all.
32 And what he hath 3seen and heard, that he 4testifieth: but 2no man receiveth his testimony.
33 He that hath receiveth his testimony, hath sealed that 5God is true.
34 For he whom God hath sent, speaketh the words of God: for God giveth 6him not the Spirit by measure.
35 The Father loveth the Son, and hath 3given all things into his hand.
36 He that believeth in the Son, hath everlasting life, and he that obeyeth not the Son, shall not 6see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.

4 6 Jesus being weary, asked drink of the woman of Samaria. 21 He teacheth the true worship. 26 He confesseth that he is the Messiah, 32 His meat. 39 The Samaritans believe in him. 46 He healeth the Ruler’s son.
1 Now 1when the Lord knew, how the Pharisees had heard, that Jesus made 2and baptized more disciples than John,
2 (Though Jesus himself baptized not: but his disciples,)
3 He left Judea, and departed again into Galilee.
4 And he must needs go through Samaria.
5 1Then came he to a city of Samaria called Sychar, near unto the possession that 1Jacob gave to his son Joseph.
6 And there was Jacob’s Well. Jesus then wearied in the journey, sat 1thus on the Well: it was about the 2sixth hour.
7 There came a woman of Samaria to draw water. Jesus said unto her, Give me drink.
8 For his disciples were gone away into the city, to buy meat.
9 Then said the woman of Samaria unto him, How is it, that thou being a Jew, askest drink of me, which am a woman of Samaria? For the Jews 1meddle not with the Samaritans.
10 Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest 1that gift of God, and who it is that saith 2to thee, Give me drink, thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee 3water of life.
11 The woman said unto him, Sir, thou hast nothing to draw with, and the Well is deep: from whence then hast thou that water of life?
12 Art thou greater than our father Jacob, which gave us the Well, and he himself drank thereof, and his sons, and his cistle.
13 Jesus answered, and said unto her, Whosoever drinketh of this water, shall thirst again:
14 But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him, shall never be more athirst: but the water that I shall give him, shall be in him a well of water, springing up into everlasting life.
15 The woman said unto him, Sir, give me of that water, that I may not thirst, neither come hither to draw.
16 Jesus said unto her, Go, call thine husband, and come hither.
17 The woman answered, and said, I have no husband, Jesus said unto her, thou hast well said, I have no husband.

18 For thou hast had five husbands, and he whom thou now hast, is not thine husband: that saistest thou truly.

19 The woman said unto him, Sir, I see that thou art a Prophet.

20 Our fathers worshipped in this mountain, and ye say, that in Jerusalem is the place where men ought to worship.

21 Jesus said unto her, Woman, believe me, the hour cometh, when ye shall neither in this mountain, nor at Jerusalem worship the Father.

22 Ye worship that which ye know not: we worship that which we know: for salvation is of the Jews.

23 But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in Spirit and Truth: for the Father requireth even such to worship him.

24 God is a Spirit, and they that worship him, must worship him in Spirit and Truth.

25 The woman said unto him, I know well that Messiah shall come, which is called Christ: when he is come, he will tell us all things.

26 Jesus said unto her, I am he, that speak unto thee.

27 ¶ And upon that, came his disciples, and marveled that he talked with a woman: yet no man said unto him, What askest thou? or why talkest thou with her.

28 The woman then left her waterpot, and went her way into the city, and said to the men, 29 Come, see a man which hath told me all things that ever I did: is not he that Christ is?

30 Then they went out of the city, and came unto him.

31 ¶ In the meanwhile, the disciples prayed him, saying, Master, eat.

32 But he said unto them, I have meat to eat, that ye know not of.

33 Then said the disciples between themselves, Hath any man brought him meat?

34 Jesus said unto them, My meat is that I may do the will of him that sent me, and finish his work.

35 Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? Behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the regions: for they are white already unto harvest.

36 And he that reapeth, receiveth reward, and gathered fruit unto life eternal, that both he that soweth, and he that reapeth might rejoice together.

37 For herein is the saying true, that one soweth and another reapeth.

38 I sent you to reap that, whereon ye bestowed no labor: other men labored, and ye are entered into their labors.

39 Now many of the Samaritans of that city believed in him, for the saying of the woman which testified, He hath told me all things that ever I did.

40 Then when the Samaritans were come unto him, they besought him, that he would tarry with them: and he abode there two days.

41 And many more believed because of his own word.

42 And they said unto the woman, Now we believe, not because of thy saying: for we have heard him ourselves, and know that this is indeed that Christ the Savior of the world.

43 ¶ So two days after he departed thence, and went into Galilee.

44 For Jesus himself had testified, that a Prophet hath none honor in his own country.

45 Then when he was come into Galilee, the Galileans received him, which had seen all the things that he did at Jerusalem at the feast: for they went also to the feast.

46 And Jesus came again into Cana a town of Galilee, where he had made of water wine. And 4:20 1 All the religion of superstitious people, standeth for the most part, upon two pillars, but very weak; that is to say upon the examples of the fathers perverted, and a foolish opinion of outward things: against which errors we have to set the word and nature of God.

2 The name of this mountain is Gerizim, whereupon Sanabeletta the Cushite built a Temple by Alexander of Macedonia’s leave, after the victory of Issica, and made there Manasses his son-in-law high priest, Josephus, book 11.

4:23 1 This word (Spirit) is to be taken here, as it is set against that commandment, which is called carnal, Heb. 7:16, as the commandment is considered in itself: and so he speaketh of (Truth) not as we set it against a lie, but as we take it in respect of the outward ceremonies of the Law which did only shadow that which Christ performed indeed.

4:24 1 By the word (Spirit) he meaneth the nature of the Godhead, and not the third person in the Trinity.

4:32 1 We may have care of our bodies, but yet so, that we prefer willingly and freely the occasion which is offered us to enlarge the kingdom of God, before all necessities of this life whatsoever.

4:35 1 When the spiritual corn is ripe, we must not linger: for so the children of this world would condemn us.

4:36 1 The doctrine of the Prophets was as it were a sowing time: and the doctrine of the Gospel, as the harvest, and there is an excellent agreement between them both, and the ministers of them both.

4:37 1 That proverb.

4:39 1 The Samaritans do most joyfully embrace that which the Jews most stubbornly rejected.

4:43 1 The despisers of Christ deprive themselves of his benefit: yet Christ preparèth a place for himself.

2 Into the towns and villages of Galilee: for he would not make abode in his country of Nazareth, because they despised him, and where (as the other Evangelists write) the efficacy of his benefits was hindered through their marvelous stiffneckedness.

4:46 1 Although Christ be absent in body, yet he worketh mightily in the believers by his word.
there was a certain ruler, whose son was sick at Capernaum.

47 When he heard that Jesus was come out of Judea into Galilee, he went unto him, and besought him that he would go down, and heal his son: for he was even ready to die.

48 Then said Jesus unto him, Except ye see signs and wonders, ye will not believe.

49 The ruler said unto him, Sir, go down before my son dies.

50 Jesus said unto him, Go thy way, thy son liveth: and the man believed the word that Jesus had spoken unto him, and went his way.

51 And as he was now going down, his servants met him, saying, Thy son liveth.

52 Then inquired he of them the hour when he began to amend. And they said unto him, Yesterday the seventh hour the fever left him.

53 Then the father knew that it was the same hour in which Jesus had said unto him, Thy son liveth. And he believed, and all his household.

54 This second miracle did Jesus again, after he was come out of Judea into Galilee.

2 One lying at the pool, 5 is healed of Christ on the Sabbath. 10 The Jews that rashly find fault with that his deed, 17 he convinceth with the authority of his Father, 19, 20 He proveth his divine power by many reasons, 45 and with Moses' testimony.

1 After that, there was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

2 And there is at Jerusalem by the place of the sheep, a pool called in Hebrew Bethesda, having five porches:

3 In the which lay a great multitude of sick folk, of blind, halt, and withered, waiting for the moving of the water.

4 For an Angel went down at a certain season into the pool, and troubled the water: whosoever then first, after the stirring of the water, stepped in, was made whole of whatsoever disease he had.

5 And a certain man was there, which had been diseased eight and thirty years.

6 When Jesus saw him lie, and knew that he now long time had been diseased, he said unto him, Wilt thou be made whole?

7 The sick man answered him, Sir, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pool: but while I am coming, another steppeth down before me.

8 Jesus said unto him, Rise: take up thy bed, and walk.

9 And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked: and the same day was the Sabbath.

10 1The Jews therefore said to him that was made whole, It is the Sabbath day: 2it is not lawful for thee to carry thy bed.

11 He answered them, He that made me whole he said unto me, Take up thy bed, and walk.

12 Then asked they him, What man is that which said unto thee, Take up thy bed, and walk?

13 And he that was healed, knew not who it was: for Jesus had conveyed himself away from the multitude that was in that place.

14 And after that, Jesus found him in the Temple, and said unto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee.

15 ¶ The man departed, and told the Jews that it was Jesus that had made him whole.

16 And therefore the Jews did persecute Jesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the Sabbath day.

17 1But Jesus answered them, My father worketh hitherto, and I work.

18 1Therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him: not only because he had broken the Sabbath: but said also that God was 2his Father, and made himself equal with God.

19 Then answered Jesus, and said unto them, Verily, verily I say unto you, The Son can do nothing of himself, save that he 2seeth the Father do: for whatsoever things he doeth, the same things doeth the Son 3in like manner.

2 Some of Herod's courtiers, for though Herod was not a king, but a Tetrarch, yet the lofty name only except, he was a king, or at least the people called him a king.

52 ¶ There is no disease so old, which Christ cannot heal.

2 Whereof cattle drank, and used to be plunged in; whereof there could not be but great store at Jerusalem.

3 That is to say, the house of pouring out, because great store of water was poured out into that place.

5:10 1 True religion is no more cruelly assaulted by any means, than by the pretence of religion itself.

5:17 1 The work of God was never the breach of the Sabbath: but the works of Christ are the works of the Father, both because they are one God, and also because the Father doth not work but in the Son.

5:19 1 That is, his only and no man's else, which they gather by that, that he saith, (And I work) applying this word (work) to himself, which is proper to God, and therefore maketh himself equal to God.

5:19 2 Not only without his Father's authority, but also without his mighty working and power.

2 This must be understood of Christ's person, which consisteth of two natures, and not simply of his Godhead: so then he saith that his Father moveth and governeth him in all things, but yet notwithstanding, when he saith he worketh with his Father, he voucheth his Godhead.

3 In like sort, jointly and together. Not for that the Father doeth some things, and then the Son worketh after him, and doeth the like, but because the might and power of the Father and the Son do work equally and jointly together.
20 For the Father loveth the Son, and showeth him all things, whatsoever he himself doeth, and he will show him greater works than these, that ye should marvel.

21 For likewise as the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them, so the Son quickeneth whom he will.

22 For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son, 23 Because that all men should honor the Son, as they honor the Father: he that honoreth not the Son, the same honoreth not the Father which hath sent him.

24 Verily, verily I say unto you, he that heareth my word, and believeth him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation, but hath passed from death to life.

25 Verily, verily I say unto you, the hour shall come, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear it shall live.

26 For as the Father hath life in himself, so likewise hath he given to the Son to have life in himself.

27 And hath given him power also to execute judgment, in that he is the Son of man.

28 Marvel not at this: for the hour shall come, in the which all that are in the graves, shall hear his voice.

29 And they shall come forth, that have done good, unto the resurrection of life: but they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of condemnation.

30 I can do nothing of mine own self: as I hear, I judge: and my judgment is just, because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father who hath sent me.

31 If I should bear witness of myself, my witness were not true.

32 There is another that beareth witness of me, and I know that the witness, which he beareth of me, is true.

33 Ye sent unto John, and he bore witness unto the truth.

34 But I receive not the record of man: nevertheless these things I say, that ye might be saved.

35 He was a burning and a shining candle: and ye would for a season have rejoiced in his light.

36 But I have greater witness than the witness of John: for the works which the Father hath given me to finish, the same works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father sent me.

37 And the Father himself, which hath sent me, beareth witness of me. Ye have not heard his voice at any time, neither have ye seen his shape.

38 And his word have you not abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye believe not.

39 Search the Scriptures: for in them ye think to have eternal life, and they are they which testify of me.

40 But ye will not come to me, that ye might have life.

41 I receive not the praise of men.

42 But I know you, that ye have not the love of God in you.

43 I am come in my Father's Name, and ye receive me not: if another shall come in his own name, him will ye receive.

44 How can ye believe, which receive not honor one of another, and seek not the honor that cometh of God alone?

45 Do not think that I will accuse you to my Father: there is one that accuseth you, even Moses, in whom ye trust.

46 For had ye believed Moses, ye would have believed me: for he wrote of me.

47 But if ye believe not his writings, how shall ye believe my words.
5 Five thousand are fed with five loaves and two fishes. Christ goeth apart from the people. As his disciples were rowing, he cometh to them walking on the water. He reasoneth of the true 27 and everlasting 35 bread of life. 42, 52 The Jews murmur, 60 and many of the disciples, 66 depart from him. 69 The Apostles confess him to be the Son of God.

1 After these things, Jesus went his way over the sea of Galilee, which is Tiberias. And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles, which he did on them that were diseased. Then Jesus went up into a mountain, and there he sat with his disciples. Now the Passover a feast of the Jews was near. Then Jesus lift up his eyes, and seeing that a great multitude came unto him, he said unto Philip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these might eat? And this he said to prove him: for he himself knew what he would do.

7 Philip answered him, Two hundred pennyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that everyone of them may take a little. Then said unto him one of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter’s brother, There is a little boy here, which hath five barley loaves, and two fishes: but what are they among so many? And Jesus said, Make the people sit down. (Now there was much grass in that place.) Then the men sat down, in number about five thousand. And Jesus took the bread, and gave thanks, and gave to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set down: and likewise of the fishes as much as they would. And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they said unto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?

17 And the Sea arose with a great wind that blew. And the Lord had given thanks. Then they gathered it together, and filled twelve baskets with the broken meat of the five barley loaves, which remained unto them that had eaten. And when they were satisfied, he said unto his disciples, Gather up the broken meat which remaineth, that nothing be lost. Then they gathered it together, and filled twelve baskets with the broken meat of the five barley loaves, which remained unto them that had eaten. The godly are often in peril and danger, but Christ cometh to them in time, even in the midst of the tempests, and bringeth them to the heaven. In Mark 6:45 they are willed to go before to Bethsaida, for Bethsaida was in the way to Capernaum. They were afraid at the first, but when they knew his voice, they became new men, and took him willingly into the ship, whom they had shunned and fled from before.

6:17 1 In Mark 6:45 they are willed to go before to Bethsaida, for Bethsaida was in the way to Capernaum.
6:21 1 They were afraid at the first, but when they knew his voice, that Jesus did, said, This is of a truth that Prophet that should come into the world. When Jesus therefore perceived that they would come, and take him to make him a king, he departed again into a mountain himself alone. ¶ When even was now come, his disciples went down unto the sea, and when they had rowed about five and twenty, or thirty furlongs, they saw Jesus walking on the sea, and drawing near unto the ship: so they were afraid.

20 But he said unto them, It is I: be not afraid. Then willingly they received him into the ship, and the ship was by and by at the land, whither they went. ¶ The day following, the people which stood on the other side of the sea, saw that there was none other ship there, save that one, where into his disciples were entered, and that Jesus went not with his disciples in the ship, but that his disciples were gone alone, And that there came other ships from Tiberias near unto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had given thanks.

24 When the people saw that Jesus was not there, neither his disciples, they also took shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Jesus. And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they said unto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither? Jesus answered them, and said, Verily, verily I say unto you, Ye seek me not, because ye saw the miracles, but because ye ate of the loaves, and were filled. Labor not for the meat which perisheth, but for the meat that endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father 2sealed. Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Not that he cut over the lake of Tiberias, but by reason of the large creeks, his sailing made his journey the shorter: therefore he is of a truth that Prophet that should come into the world. Then the people which stood on the other side of the sea, saw that there was none other ship there, save that one, where into his disciples were entered, and that Jesus went not with his disciples in the ship, but that his disciples were gone alone, And that there came other ships from Tiberias near unto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had given thanks. Now when the people saw that Jesus was not there, neither his disciples, they also took shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Jesus. And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they said unto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither? But when he said unto them, Ye seek me not, because ye saw the miracles, but because ye ate of the loaves, and were filled. Labor not for the meat which perisheth, but for the meat that endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father 2sealed. Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God?
29 Then Jesus answered, and said unto them, 1This is the work of God, that ye believe in him, whom he hath sent.

30 They said therefore unto him, What sign showest thou then, that we may see it, and believe thee? what dost thou work?

31 Our fathers did eat Manna in the desert, as it is written, He gave them bread from heaven to eat.

32 Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily I say unto you, Moses gave you not that bread from heaven, but my Father giveth you that true bread from heaven.

33 For the bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world.

34 Then they said unto him, Lord, evermore give us this bread.

35 And Jesus said unto them, I am that bread of life: he that cometh to me, shall not hunger; and he that believeth in me, shall never thirst.

36 But I said unto you, that ye also have seen me, and believe not.

37 All that the Father giveth me, shall come to me: and him that cometh to me, I cast not away.

38 For I came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but his will which hath sent me.

39 And this is the Father's will which hath sent me, that of all which he hath given me, I should lose nothing, but should raise it up again at the last day.

40 And this is the will of him that sent me, that every man which seeth the Son, and believeth in him, should have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day.

41 The Jews then murmured at him because he said, I am that bread, which is come down from heaven.

42 And they said, Is not this Jesus that son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? how then saith he, I came down from heaven?

43 Jesus then answered, and said unto them, Murmur not among yourselves.

44 No man can come to me, except the Father, which hath sent me, draw him: and I will raise him up at the last day.

45 It is written in the Prophets, And they shall be all taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh unto me:

46 Not that any man hath seen the Father, save he which is of God, he hath seen the Father.

47 Verily, verily I say unto you, he that believeth in me, hath everlasting life.

48 I am that bread of life.

49 Your fathers did eat Manna in the wilderness, and are dead.

50 This is that bread, which cometh down from heaven, that he which eateth of it, should not die.

51 I am that living bread, which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread, he shall live forever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.

52 Then the Jews strove among themselves, saying, How can this man give us his flesh to eat?
53 Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily I say unto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you.
54 Whosoever eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day.
55 For my flesh is meat indeed, and my blood is drink indeed.
56 He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him.
57 As that living Father hath sent me, so live I by the Father, and he that eateth me, even he shall live by me.
58 This is that bread which came down from heaven: not as your fathers have eaten Manna, and are dead. He that eateth of this bread, shall live forever.
59 These things spake he in the Synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.
60 Many therefore of his disciples (when they heard this) said, This is an hard saying: who can hear it?
61 But Jesus knowing in himself, that his disciples murmured at this, said unto them, Doth this offend you?
62 What then if ye should see that Son of man ascend up wherewith he was before?
63 It is the spirit that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, are spirit and life.
64 But there are some of you that believe not: for Jesus knew from the beginning, which they were that believed not, and who should betray him.
65 And he said, Therefore said I unto you, that no man can come unto me, except it be given unto him of my Father.
66 From that time, many of his disciples went back, and walked no more with him.
67 Then said Jesus to the twelve, Will ye also go away?
68 Then Simon Peter answered him, Master, to whom shall we go? thou hast the words of eternal life:
69 And we believe and know that thou art that Christ that Son of the living God.
70 Jesus answered them, Have not I chosen you twelve, and one of you is a devil?
71 Now he spake it of Judas Iscariot the son of Simon: for he it was that should betray him, though he was one of the twelve.

7 2 Christ, after his cousins were gone up to the feast of Tabernacles, 10 went thither privily. 12 The people's sundry opinions of him. 14 He teacheth in the Temple. 32 The Priests command to take him. 41 Strife among the multitude about him. 47 and between the Pharisees and the officers that were sent to take him. 50 and Nicodemus.

1 After these things, Jesus walked in Galilee, and would not walk in Judea: for the Jews sought to kill him.
2 Now the Jews' feast of the Tabernacles was at hand.
3 His brethren therefore said unto him, Depart hence, and go into Judea, that thy disciples may see thy works that thou doest.
4 For there is no man that doeth anything secretly, and he himself seeketh to be famous. If thou doest these things, show thyself to the world.
5 For as yet his brethren believed not in him.
6 Then Jesus said unto them, My time is not yet come: but your time is always ready.
7 The world cannot hate you; but me it hateth, because I testify of it, that the works thereof are evil.
8 Go ye up unto this feast: I will not go up yet unto this feast: for my time is not yet fulfilled.
9 ¶ These things he said unto them, and abode still in Galilee.

6:53 1 If Christ be present, life is present, but when Christ is absent, then is death present.
6:57 1 In that that Christ is man, he receiveth that power which quickeneth and giveth life to them that are his, of his Father: and he addeth this word (That) to make a difference between him and all other fathers.
2 Christ his meaning is, that though he be man, yet his flesh can give life, not of the own nature, but because that flesh of his liveth by the Father, that is to say, death suck and draw out of the Father, that power which it hath to give life.
6:60 1 The reason of man cannot comprehend the uniting of Christ and his members: therefore let it worship and reverence that which is better than itself.
6:63 1 The flesh of Christ doth therefore quicken us, because that he that is man, is God: which mystery is only comprehended by faith, which is the gift of God, properly only to the elect.
2 Spirit, that is, that power which floweth from the Godhead, causeth the flesh of Christ, which otherwise were nothing but flesh, but to live in itself, and to give life to us.
6:66 1 Such is the malice of men, that they take occasion of their own destruction, even of the very doctrine of salvation (unless it be a few, which believe through the singular gift of God)
6:70 1 The number of the professors, of Christ is very small, and among them also there be some hypocrites, and worse than all others.

7:2 1 This feast was so called, because of the booths and tents which they pight of divers kinds of boughs, and sat under them seven days together; all which time the feast lasted.
7:3 1 The grace of God cometh not by inheritance, but it is a gift that cometh other ways, whereby it cometh to pass, that oftentimes the children of God suffer more affliction by their own kinsfolk than by strangers.
7:5 1 His kinsfolk: for so use the Hebrews to speak.
7:6 1 We must not follow the foolish desires of our friends.
10 But as soon as his brethren were gone up, then went he also up unto the feast, not openly, but as it were privily.
11 Then the Jews sought him at the feast, and said, Where is he?
12 And much murmuring was there of him among the people. Some said, He is a good man: others said, Nay: but he deceiveth the people.
13 Howbeit no man spake openly of him for fear of the Jews.
14 'Now when 'half the feast was done, Jesus went up into the Temple, and taught.
15 And the Jews marvelled, saying, How knoweth this man the Scriptures, seeing that he never learned!
16 Jesus answered them, and said, 'My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me.
17 If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself.
18 'He that speaketh of himself, seeketh his own glory: but he that seeketh his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no unrighteousness is in him.
19 'Did not Moses give you a Law, and yet none of you keepeth the Law? 'Why go ye about to kill me?
20 The people answered, and said, 'Thou hast a devil: who goeth about to kill thee?
21 Jesus answered, and said unto them, I have done one work, and ye all marvel.
22 'Moses therefore gave unto you circumcision, (not because it is of Moses, but of the 'fathers) and ye on the Sabbath day circumcise a man.
23 If a man on the Sabbath receive circumcision, that the 'Law of Moses should not be broken, be ye angry with me, because I have made a man every whit whole on the Sabbath day?
24 'Judge not 'according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment.
25 'Then said some of them of Jerusalem, Is not this he whom they go about to kill?
26 And behold, he speaketh openly, and they say nothing to him: do the rulers know indeed that this is indeed that Christ?
27 'Howbeit we know this man whence he is: but when that Christ cometh, no man shall know whence he is.
28 'Then cried Jesus in the Temple as he taught, saying, Ye both know me, and know whence I am: yet am I not come of myself, but he that sent me, is true, whom ye know not.
29 But I know him: for I am of him, and he hath sent me.
30 'Then they sought to take him, but no man laid hands on him, because his hour was not yet come.
31 Now many of the people believed on him, and said, When that Christ cometh, will he do more miracles than this man hath done?
32 'The Pharisees heard that the people murmured these things of him, and the Pharisees, and high Priests sent officers to take him.
33 Then said Jesus unto them, Yet am I a little while with you, and then go I unto him that sent me.
34 'Ye shall seek me, and shall not find me, and where I am, can ye not come.
35 'Then said the Jews among themselves, Whither will he go, that we shall not find him? Will he go unto them that are 'dispersed among the Greeks, and teach the Greeks?
36 What saying is this that he said, Ye shall seek me, and shall not find me? and where I am, can ye not come?
37 1Now in the last and great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink.
38 He that believeth in me, as saith the Scripture, out of his belly shall flow rivers of water of life.
39 1This spake he of the Spirit, which they that believed in him should receive. 39:7:39 So that by the name of holy Ghost, are meant the virtues and mighty workings of the Spirit which they that believed in him should receive, because that Jesus was not yet glorified.)
40 1So many of the people, when they heard this saying, said, Of a truth this is that Prophet: 41 Others said, This is that Christ: and some said, But shall that Christ come out of Galilee?
42 1Saith not the Scripture that that Christ shall come of the seed of David, and out of the town of Bethlehem, where David was? 43 So was there dissension among the people for him.
44 And some of them would have taken him, but no man laid hands on him.
45 1Then came the officers to the high Priests and Phari-seees, and they said unto them, Why have ye not brought him?
46 The officers answered, Never man spake like this man.
47 Then answered them the Phari-seees, Are ye also deceived?
48 1Doth any of the rulers, or of the Phari-seees believe in him?
49 But this people, which know not the Law, are cursed,
50 Nicodemus said unto them, (he that came to Jesus by night, and was one of them,) 51 Doth our Law judge a man before it hear him, and know what he hath done?
52 They answered, and said unto him, Art thou also of Galilee? Search and look: for out of Galilee ariseth no Prophet.
53 1And every man went unto his own house.
8 1The woman taken in adultery. 11 hath her sins forgiven her. 12 Christ the light of the world. 19 The Phari-seees ask where his Father is. 39 The sons of Abraham. 42 The sons of God. 44 The devil the father of lying. 56 Abraham saw Christ's day.
1 And Jesus went unto the mount of Olives,
2 And early in the morning came again into the Temple, and all the people came unto him, and he sat down and taught them.
3 1Then the Scribes and the Phari-seees brought unto him a woman taken in adultery, and set her in the midst.
4 And said unto him, Master, we found this woman committing adultery even in the very act.
5 1Now Moses in our Law commanded, that such should be stoned: what sayest thou therefore?
6 And this they said to tempt him, that they might have, whereof to accuse him. But Jesus stooped down, and with his finger wrote on the ground,
7 1And while they continued asking him, he lifted himself up, and said unto them, Let him that is among you without sin, cast the first stone at her.
8 And again he stooped down, and wrote on the ground.
9 And when they heard it, being accused by their own conscience, they went out, one by one, beginning at the eldest even to the last: so Jesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the midst.
10 1When Jesus had lifted up himself again, and saw no man, but the woman, he said unto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee?
11 She said, No man, Lord. And Jesus said, Neither do I condemn thee: go and sin no more.
12 1Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am that light of the world: he that followeth me, shall not walk in darkness, but shall have that light point of religion: neither hath Christ any more cruel enemies than those that occupy the seat of truth: yet can they not do what they would.
7:37 1There are two principles of our salvation: the one is to be thoroughly touched with a true feeling of our extreme poverty; the other to seek in Christ only (whom we catch hold on by faith) the abundance of all good things:
7:38 1The last day of the feast of Tabernacles, that as, the eighth day, was as high a day, as the first.
7:39 1What is meant by the holy Ghost, he expressed a little before, speaking of the Spirit which they that believed in him should receive. So that by the name of holy Ghost, are meant the virtues and mighty workings of the holy Ghost.
7:40 1There is contention even in the Church itself about the chief of life.
13 1 The Pharisees therefore said unto him, 2 Thou bearest record of thyself: thy record is not true.
14 1 Jesus answered, and said unto them, 1 Though I beareth record of myself, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go: but ye cannot tell whence I came, and whither I go.
15 1 Ye judge after the flesh: I judge no man.
16 1 And if I also judge, my judgment is true, for I am not alone, but I, and the Father, that sent me.
17 1 And it is also written in your Law, 1 that the testimony of two men is true.
18 1 I am one that bear witness of myself, and the Father that sent me beareth witness of me.
19 1 Then said they unto him, Where is that Father of mine also?
20 1 Hereafter ye shall seek me, and shall not find me: and after that ye shall find me, ye shall see me no more.
21 1 Then said Jesus again unto them, I go my way: and ye shall seek me, and shall not find me: Whither I go, ye can ye not come.
22 1 Then said the Jews, Will he kill himself, because he saith, Whither I go, ye can ye not come?
23 1 And he said unto them, Ye are from beneath, I am from above: ye are of this world, I am not of this world.
24 1 I said therefore unto you, That ye shall die in your sins: for except ye believe, that I am he, ye shall die in your sins.
25 1 Then said they unto him, Who art thou? And Jesus said unto them, 1 Even the same thing that I said unto you from the beginning.
26 1 I have many things to say, and to judge of you: but he that sent me, is true, and the things that I have heard of him, those speak I to the world.
27 1 They understood not that he spake to them of the Father.
28 1 Then said Jesus unto them, When ye have lifted up the Son of man, then shall ye know that I am he, and that I do nothing of myself, but as my Father hath taught me, so I spake these things.
29 1 For he that sent me is with me: the Father hath not left me alone, because I do always those things that please him.
30 1 As he spake these things, many believed in him.
31 1 Then said Jesus to the Jews which believed in him, If ye continue in my word, ye are verily my disciples, 32 1 And shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.
33 1 They answered him, We be 1 Abraham's seed, and were never bond to any man: why sayest thou then, Ye shall be made free?
34 1 Jesus answered them, Verily, verily I say unto you, that whosoever committeth sin, is the servant of sin.
35 1 And the servant abideth not in the house forever: but the Son abideth forever.
36 1 If that Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed.
37 1 I know that ye are Abraham's seed, but ye seek to kill me, because I say that ye have no place in you.
38 I speak that which I have seen with my Father: and ye do that which ye have seen with your Father.
39 They answered, and said unto him, Abraham is our father, Jesus said unto them, If ye were Abraham’s children, ye would do the works of Abraham.
40 But now ye go about to kill me, a man that have told you the truth, which I have heard of God: this did not Abraham.
41 Ye do the works of your father. Then said they to him, We are not born of fornication: we have one Father, which is God.
42 Therefore Jesus said unto them, If God were your Father, then ye would love me: for I proceeded forth, and came from God, neither came I of myself, but he sent me.
43 Why do ye not understand my talk? because ye cannot hear my word.
44 Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do: he hath been a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, then speaketh he of his own: for he is a liar, and the father thereof.
45 And because I tell you the truth, ye believe me not.
46 Which of you can rebuke me of sin? and if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?
47 He that is of God heareth God’s words: ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God.
48 Then answered the Jews, and said unto him, Say not we well that thou art a Samaritan, and hast a devil?
49 Jesus answered, I have not a devil, but I honor my Father, and ye have dishonored me.
50 And I seek not mine own praise: but there is one that seeketh it, and judgeth.

9 1 Christ giveth sight on the Sabbath day, to him that was born blind. 13 Whom, after he had long reasoned against the Pharisees, 22, 35 and was cast out of the Synagogue, 36 Christ endueth with the knowledge of the everlasting light.
1 And 1as Jesus passed by, he saw a man which was blind from his birth.
2 And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sin, this man, or his parents, that he was born blind?

3 Jesus answered, 'Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents, but that the works of God should be shewed on him.

4 'I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is 'day: the night cometh when no man can work.

5 'As long as I am in the world, 'I am the light of the world.

6 'As soon as he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and anointed the eyes of the blind with the clay.

7 And said unto him, Go wash in the pool of Siloam (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore and washed, and came again seeing.

8 'Now the neighbors and they that had seen him before, when he was blind, said, Is not this he that sat and begged?

9 Some said, This is he: and others said, He is like him: but he himself said, I am he.

10 Therefore they said unto him, How were thine eyes 'opened?

11 He answered, and said, The man that is called Jesus, made clay, and anointed mine eyes, and said unto me, Go to the pool of Siloam and wash. So I went and washed, and received sight.

12 Then they said unto him, Where is he? He said, I cannot tell.

13 ¶ They brought to the Pharisees him that was once blind.

14 And it was the Sabbath day, when Jesus made the clay, and opened his eyes.

15 Then again the Pharisees also asked him, how he had received sight. And he said unto them, He laid clay upon mine eyes, and I washed, and do see.

16 'Then said some of the Pharisees, This man is not of God, because he keepeth not the Sabbath day. Others said, How can a man that is a sinner, do such miracles? and there was a dissension among them.

17 Then spake they unto the blind again, What sayest thou of him, because he hath opened thine eyes? And he said, He is a Prophet.

18 Then the Jews did not believe him (that he had been blind, and received his sight) until they had called the parents of him that had received sight.

19 And they asked them, saying, Is this your son, whom ye say was born blind? How doth he now see then?

20 His parents answered them, and said, We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind:

21 But by what means he now seeth, we know not: or who hath opened his eyes, can we not tell: he is old enough: ask him: he shall answer for himself.

22 These words spake his parents, because they feared the Jews: for the Jews had ordained already, that if any man did confess that he was Christ, he should be excommunicated out of the Synagogue.

23 Therefore said his parents, He is old enough: ask him.

24 Then again called they the man that had been blind, and said unto him, 'Give glory unto God: we know that this man is a 'sinner.

25 Then he answered, and said, Whether he be a sinner or no, I cannot tell: one thing I know, that I was blind, and now I see.

26 Then said they to him again, What did he to thee? how opened he thine eyes?

27 He answered them, I have told you already, and ye have not heard it: wherefore would ye hear it again? will ye also be his disciples?

28 'Then reviled they him, and said, Be thou his disciple: we be Moses' disciples.

29 We know that God spake with Moses: but this man we know not from whence he is.

30 The man answered, and said unto them, Doubtless, this is a marvelous thing, that ye know not whence he is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes.

31 Now we know that God heareth not sinners: but if any man be a worshipper of God, and doeth it in others, and yet make a great ado amongst themselves.

9:3 1 Christ reasoneth here, as his disciples thought, which presuppose that there come no diseases but for sins only: whereupon he answered that there was another cause of this man's blindness, and that was, that God's his work might be seen.

9:4 1 The works of Christ are as it were a light, which lighten the darkness of the world.

9:6 1 According to the Hebrew understanding, the work of Christ is the sign of his divinity, and the sign of his divinity is the man born blind, which signifieth Sent, which symbolizeth that as he at the beginning made man, so doth he again restore both his body and soul: and yet so, that he himself cometh first of his own accord to heal us.

9:8 1 A true image of all men, who as they are of nature blind, do neither themselves receive the light that is offered unto them, nor suffer it in others, and yet make a great ado amongst themselves.

9:10 1 This is an Hebrew kind of speech, for they call a man's eyes shut, when they cannot receive any light: And therefore they are said to have their eyes opened, which of blind men are made to see.

9:16 1 Religion is not assaulted by any means more than by pretence of Religion: but the more it is pressed down, the more it riseth up.

9:24 1 A solemn order, whereby men were constrained in old time to acknowledge their fault before God, as if they should say, Consider thou art before God, who knoweth the whole matter; and therefore thou reverence his majesty, and do him this honor, rather to confess the whole matter openly, than to lie before him, Josh. 7:19; 1 Sam. 6:5.

9:28 1 Proud wickedness must needs at length break forth, which in vain lieth hid under a zeal of godliness.

3 To him the ‘porter openeth, and the sheep hear his voice, and he calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out.

4 And when he hath sent forth his own sheep, he goeth before them, and the sheep follow him: for they know his voice.

5 And they will not follow a stranger, but they flee from him: for they know not the voice of strangers.

6 This ‘parable spake Jesus unto them: but they understood not what things they were which he spake unto them.

7 Then said Jesus unto them again, Verily, verily I say unto you, I am that door of the sheep.

8 All that ever came before me, are thieves and robbers: but the sheep did not hear them.

9 I am that door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall ‘go in, and go out, and find pasture.

10 The thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and have it in abundance.

11 I am that good shepherd: that good shepherd giveth his life for his sheep.

12 But an hireling, and he which is not the shepherd, neither the sheep are his own, seeth the wolf coming, and he leaveth the sheep, and fleeth, and the wolf catcheth them, and scattereth the sheep.

13 So the hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not for the sheep.

14 I am that good shepherd, and know mine, and am known of mine.

15 As the Father knoweth me, so know I the Father: and I lay down my life for my sheep.

16 Other sheep I have also, which are not of this fold: they also must I bring, and they shall hear my voice: and there shall be one sheepfold, and one shepherd.

17 Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again.

18 No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and have power to take it again: this commandment have I received of my Father.

19 And there was a dissension among the Jews for these sayings.

20 And many of them said, He hath a devil, and is mad: why hear ye him?

21 Others said, These are not the words of him that hath a devil: can the devil open the eyes of the blind?

22 And it was at Jerusalem the feast of the Dedication, and it was winter.

23 And Jesus walked in the Temple, in Solomon's porch.

24 Then came the Jews round about him, and said unto him, How long dost thou make us to doubt? If thou be that Christ, tell us plainly.

25 Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believe not: for ye are not of my sheep.

26 But ye believe not: for ye are not of my sheep, as I said unto you.

27 My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me.

28 And I give unto them eternal life, and they shall never perish, neither shall any pluck them out of my Father's hand.

29 My Father which gave them me, is greater than all, and none is able to take them out of my Father's hand.

30 I and my Father are one.

31 Then the Jews again took up stones, to stone him.
3 Therefore his sisters sent unto him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom thou lovest, is sick.
4 When Jesus heard it, he said, This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby.
5 ¶ Now Jesus loved Martha and her sister, and Lazarus.
6 And after he had heard that he was sick, yet abode he two days still in the same place where he was.
7 Then after that, said he to his disciples, Let us go into Judea again.
8 ¶ The disciples said unto him, Master, the Jews lately sought to stone thee, and dost thou go thither again?
9 Jesus answered, Are there not twelve hours in the day? If a man walk in the day, he stumbles not, because he seeth the light of this world.
10 But if a man walk in the night, he stumbles, because there is no light in him.
11 These things spake he, and after, he said unto them, Our friend Lazarus sleepeth: but I go to wake him up.
12 Then said his disciples, Lord, if he sleep, he shall be safe.
13 Howbeit, Jesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of the natural sleep.
14 Then said Jesus unto them plainly, Lazarus is dead.
15 And I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, that ye may believe: but let us go unto him.
16 Then said Thomas (which is called Didymus) unto his fellow disciples, Let us also go, that we may die with him.
17 ¶ Then came Jesus, and found that he had lain in the grave four days already.
18 (Now Bethany was near unto Jerusalem, about fifteen furlongs off.)
19 ¶ And many of the Jews were come to Martha and Mary to comfort them for their brother.
20 Then Martha, when she heard that Jesus was coming, went out and met him: but Mary sat still in the house.
21 Then said Martha unto Jesus, Lord, if thou hast not been here, my brother had not been dead.
22 But now I know also, that whatsoever thou askest of God, God will give it thee.
23 Jesus said unto her, Thy brother shall rise again.
24 Martha said unto him, I know that he shall rise again in the resurrection at the last day.
25 Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead yet shall he live.
26 And whosoever liveth, and believeth in me, shall never die: Believeth thou this?
27 She said unto him, Yea, Lord, I believe that thou art Christ that Son of God, which should come into the world.
28 ¶ And when she had so said, she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee.
29 And when she heard it, she arose quickly, and came unto him.
30 For Jesus was not yet come into the town, but was in the place where Martha met him.
31 ¶ The Jews then which were with her in the house, came to the grave. And it was a cave, and a stone was in the place where Martha met him.
32 Then said the Jews, When therefore saw she her weep, and the Jews also weep which came with her, he groaned in the spirit, and was troubled in himself,
33 ¶ When Jesus therefore saw her weep, and the Jews which came with her, he groaned in himself, and was troubled in himself, 34 And said, Where have ye laid him? They said unto him, Lord, come and see.
35 And Jesus wept.
36 Then said the Jews, behold, how he loved him.
37 And some of them said, Could not he which opened the eyes of the blind, have made also, that this man should not have died?
38 Jesus therefore again groaned in himself, and came to the grave. And it was a cave, and a stone was laid upon it.
39 Jesus said, Take ye away the stone. Martha the sister of him that was dead, said unto him, Lord, he stinketh already for he hath been dead four days.
40 Jesus said unto her, Said I not unto thee that, if thou didst believe, thou shouldest see the glory of God?
41 Then they took away the stone from the place. where the dead was laid. And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and said, Father, I thank thee, because thou hast heard me.

42 I know that thou hearest me always, but because of the people that stand by, I said it, that they may believe, that thou hast sent me.

43 As he had spoken these things, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth.

44 Then he that was dead, came forth, bound hand and foot with bands, and his face was bound with a napkin. Jesus said unto them, Loose him, and let him go.

45 ¶ Then many of the Jews, which came to Mary, and had seen the things, which Jesus did, believed in him.

46 ¶ But some of them went their way to the Pharisees, and told them what things Jesus had done.

47 Then gathered the high Priests, and the Pharisees a council, and said, What shall we do? For this man doeth many miracles.

48 If we let him thus alone, all men will believe in him, and the Romans will come and take away both our place, and the nation.

49 ¶ Then one of them named Caiaphas, which was the high Priest that same year, said unto them, Ye perceive nothing at all,

50 ¶ Nor yet do you consider that it is expedient for us, that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not.

51 ¶ This spake he not of himself: but being high Priest that same year, he prophesied that Jesus should die for that nation:

52 And not for that nation only, but that he should gather together in one the children of God, which were scattered.

53 Then from that day forth they consulted together, to put him to death.

54 ¶ Jesus therefore walked no more openly among the Jews, but went thence unto a country near to the wilderness, into a city called Ephraim, and there entered into a house of Simon the Leper, where he was, and there a woman named Mary, the sister of Martha, came, and there washed his feet with tears, and wiped them with the hair of her head, and kissed his feet, and anointed them with the ointment. And there were very many that came together unto him, because it was that time of year when they fasted. And the Pharisees that were of them saw and said, Why doth this woman waste that ointment? For it might have been sold, and the price given to the poor. But they did this, that she might show unto Jesus her lovingkindness. And Judas ISCHARIOT, one of the twelve, went in also to the place where Jesus was, and took an hundred pence, and said, Master, why was not this ointment sold for three hundred pence, and given to the poor? For this is so much money. And he said, She hath done what she could, she hath anointed the Lord in preparation for his burial.

12:2 As Christ is at supper with Lazarus, Mary anointeth his feet. 3 Mary anointeth his feet. 5 Judas findeth fault with her. 7 Christ defendeth her. 10 The Priests would put Lazarus to death. 12 As Christ cometh to Jerusalem. 18 The people meet him. 22 The Greeks desire to see him. 42 The chief rulers that believe in him, but for fear do not confess him. 44 he exhorteth to faith.

1 Then Jesus, six days before the Passover, came to Bethany, where Lazarus was, who died, whom he had raised from the dead.

2 There they made him a supper, and Martha served: but Lazarus was one of them that sat at the table with him.

3 Then took Mary a pound of ointment of Spikenard very costly, and anointed Jesus’ feet, and wiped his feet with her hair, and the house was filled with the savour of the ointment.

4 Then said one of his disciples, even Judas Iscariot, Simon’s son, which should betray him:

5 ¶ Why was not this ointment sold for three hundred pence, and given to the poor?

6 Now he said thus, not that he cared for the poor, but because he was a thief, and had the bag, and bare that which was given.

7 ¶ Then said Jesus, Let her alone: against the day of my burying she kept it.

8 For the poor always ye have with you, but me ye shall not have always.

11:46 1 The last point of hard and iron-like stubbornness is this, to proclaim open war against God, and yet ceaseth not to make a presence both of godliness and of the profit of the commonwealth.

11:47 1 The Jews called the council Sanhedrin: and the word that John useth is Synedri.

11:48 1 That is, take away from us by force: for at that time, though the high Priest’s authority was greatly lessened and decayed, yet there was some kind of government left among the Jews.

11:49 1 The raging and mad company of the false Church, persuade themselves that they cannot be in safety, unless he is taken away, who only upholdeth the Church: And so likewise judgeth the wisdom of the flesh in worldly affairs, which is governed by the spirit of godliness or madness.

11:51 1 Christ doth sometimes so turn the tongues, even of the wicked, that in cursing, they bless.

11:52 1 For they were not gathered together in one country, as the Jews were, but to be gathered from all quarters, from the East to the West.

11:54 1 We may give place to the rage of the wicked, when it is expedient so to do, but yet in such sort, that we swerve not from God’s vocation.

12:5 1 An horrible example in Judas of a mind blinded with covetousness, and yet pretending godliness.

12:7 1 This Extraordinary anointing, which was for a sign, is so allowed of God, that he witnesseth how he will not be worshipped with outward pomp, or costly service, but with alms.

12:9 1 When the light of the Gospel showeth itself, some are found to be curious, and others (which left ought) to be open enemies: others in a rage honor him, whom they will straightway fall from: and very few do so reverently receive him as they ought: Notwithstanding Christ beginneth his spiritual kingdom in the midst of his enemies.

12:9 1 When the light of the Gospel showeth itself, some are found to be curious, and others (which left ought) to be open enemies: others in a rage honor him, whom they will straightway fall from: and very few do so reverently receive him as they ought: Notwithstanding Christ beginneth his spiritual kingdom in the midst of his enemies.
9 1Then much people of the Jews knew that he was there: and they came, not for Jesus’ sake only, but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he had raised from the dead.

10 The high Priests therefore consulted, that they might put Lazarus to death also.

11 because that for his sake many of the Jews went away, and believed in Jesus.

12 ¶ On the morrow a great multitude that were come to the feast, when they heard that Jesus should come to Jerusalem, 13 Took branches of palm trees, and went forth to meet him, and cried, Hosanna, Blessed is the King of Israel that cometh in the Name of the Lord.

14 And Jesus found a young ass, and sat thereon, as it is written, 1 15 2Fear not, daughter of Zion: behold, thy King cometh sitting on an ass’s colt.

16 But his disciples understood not these things at the first: but when Jesus was glorified, then remembered they, that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things unto him.

17 The people therefore that was with him, bare witness that he called Lazarus out of the grave and raised him from the dead.

18 Therefore met him the people also, because they heard that he had done this miracle.

19 1And the Pharisees said among themselves, Perceive ye how ye prevail nothing? Behold, the world goeth after him.

20 ¶ Now there were certain Greeks among them that 1came up to worship at the feast.

21 And they came to Philip, which was of Bethsaida in Galilee, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see that Jesus.

22 Philip came and told Andrew: and again Andrew and Philip told Jesus.

23 And Jesus answered them, saying, The hour is come, that the Son of man must be glorified.

24 1Verily, verily I say unto you, Except the wheat

...corn fall into the ground and 2die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.

25 ¶ He that loveth his life, shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world, shall keep it unto life eternal.

26 ¶ If any man serve me, let him follow me: for where I am, there shall my servant be: and if any man serve me, him will my father honor.

27 ¶ Now is my soul troubled: and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour: but therefore came I unto this hour.

28 Father, 1glorify thy Name. Then came there a voice from heaven, saying, I have both glorified it, and will glorify it again.

29 1Then said the people that stood by, and heard, that it was a thunder: others said, An Angel spake to him.

30 1Jesus answered, and said, This voice came not because of me, but for your sakes.

31 Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out.

32 1And I, if I were 1lift up from the earth, will draw 2all men unto me.

33 Now this said he, signifying what death he should die.

34 The people answered him, We have heard out of the 1Law, that that Christ bideth forever: and how sayest thou, that that Son of man must be lift up? Who is that Son of man?

35 1Then Jesus said unto them, Yet a little while is 1the light with you: walk while ye have that light, lest the darkness come upon you: for he that walketh in the dark, knoweth not whither he goeth.

36 While ye have that light, believe in that light, that ye may be the 1children of the light. These things spake Jesus, and departed, and hid himself from them.

37 1And though he had done so many miracles before them, yet believed they not on him.

38 That the saying of Isaiah the Prophet might be... fulfilled, that he said, Lord, who believed our report?
and to whom is the 'arm of the Lord revealed?
39 Therefore could they not believe, because that Isaiah saith again,
40 He hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their heart, that they should not see with their eyes, nor understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them.
41 These things said Isaiah when he saw his glory, and spake of him.
42 Nevertheless, even among the chief rulers, many believed in him: but because of the Pharisees they did not confess him, lest they should be cast out of the Synagogue.
43 For they loved the praise of men, more than the praise of God.
44 And Jesus cried, and said, He that believeth in me, believeth not in me, but in him that sent me.
45 And he that seeth me, seeth him that sent me.
46 I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth in me, should not abide in darkness.
47 And if any man hear my words, and believe not, I judge him not: for I came not to judge the world, but to save the world.
48 He that refuseth me, and receiveth not my word, hath one that judgeth him:
49 For I have not spoken of myself: but the Father which sent me, he gave me a commandment what I should say, and what I should speak.
50 And I know that his commandment is life eternal: the things therefore that I speak, I speak them so as the Father said unto me.

13 4 Christ rising from supper. 14 to command humility to his Apostles, washeth their feet. 21 He noteoth the traitor Judas, 26 with an evident token. 34 He commendeth charity. 37, 38 He foretellleth Peter of his denial.

1 Now before the feast of the Passover, when Jesus knew that his hour was come, that he should depart out of this world unto the Father, forasmuch as he loved his own which were in the world, unto the end he loved them.
2 And when supper was done (and that the devil had now put in the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, to betray him.)
3 Jesus knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he was come forth from God, and went to God, 4 He riseth from Supper, and layeth aside his upper garments, and took a towel, and girded himself.
5 After that, he poured water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel, wherewith he was girded.
6 Then came he to Simon Peter, who said to him,
Lord, dost thou wash my feet?
7 Jesus answered and said unto him, What I do, thou knowest not now: but thou shalt know it hereafter.
8 Peter said unto him, Thou shalt never wash my feet. Jesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou shalt have no part with me.
9 Simon Peter said unto him, Lord, not my feet only, but also the hands and the head.
10 Jesus said to him, He that is washed, needeth to wash his feet, but is clean every whit: and ye are clean, but not all.
11 For he knew who should betray him: therefore said he, Ye are not all clean.
12 ¶ So after he had washed their feet, and had taken his garments, and was set down again, he said unto them, Know ye what I have done to you?
13 Ye call me Master, and Lord, and ye say well:
for so am I.
14 If I then your Lord, and Master, have washed your feet, ye also ought to wash one another's feet.
15 For I have given you an example, that ye should do, even as I have done to you.
16 Verily, verily I say unto you, The servant is not greater than his master, neither the ambassador was at hand, using the sign of washing the feet, doth partly thereby give an example of singular modesty, and his great love toward his Apostles in this notable act, being like very shortly to depart from them: and partly witnesseth unto them, that it is he only which washeth away the filth of his people, and that by little and little, in their time and season.
2 Them of his household, that is, his Saints.
13:3 1 Into his power.
13:4 1 In that he is said to rise, it argueth that there was a space between the ceremonies of the Passover, and this washing of feet, at what time it seemeth that the Supper was instituted.
13:8 1 Unless thou suffer me to wash thee, thou shalt have no part in the kingdom of heaven.
13:16 1 The word signifieth an Apostle which is anyone that is sent from another.
14:6  He comforteth his disciples, 2, 7 declaring his divinity and the fruit of his death. 16 promising the comforter, 17 even the holy Spirit, 26 whose office he setteth out. 27 He promiseth his peace.

1  Let 'not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me.
2  In my Father's house are many dwelling places: if it were not so, I would have told you: I go to prepare a place for you.
3  And if I go to prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself, that where I am, there may ye be also.
4  And whither I go, ye know, and the way ye know.
5  Thomas said unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest: how can we then know the way?
6  Jesus said unto him, I am 'that Way, and that son of man glorified, and God is glorified in him.

17 If ye know these things, blessed are ye if ye do them.
18 ¶ I speak not of you all: I know whom I have chosen: but it is that the Scripture might be fulfilled, 4 § He eateth bread with me, hath lift up his heel against me.
19 From henceforth tell I you before it come, that when it is come to pass, ye might believe that I am he.
20 ¶ Verily, verily I say unto you, If I send any, he that receiveth him, receiveth me, and he that receiveth me, receiveth him that sent me.
21 When Jesus had said these things, he was troubled in the Spirit, and testified, and said, Verily, verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.
22 Then the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake.
23 Now there was one of his disciples, which leaned on Jesus' bosom, whom Jesus loved.
24 To him beckoned therefore Simon Peter, that he should ask who it was of whom he spake.
25 He then as he leaned on Jesus' breast, said unto him, Lord, who is it?
26 Jesus answered, He it is, to whom I shall give a sop, when I have dipped it: and he wet a sop, and gave it to Judas Iscariot, Simon's son.
27 And after the sop, Satan entered into him. Then said Jesus unto him, That thou dost, do quickly.
28 But none of them that were at table, knew, for what cause he spake it unto him.
29 For some of them thought because Judas had the bag, that Jesus had said unto him, Buy those things that we have need of against the feast: or that he should give something to the poor.
30 As soon then as he had received the sop, he went immediately out, and it was night.
31 ¶ When he was gone out, Jesus said, 2 'Now is the son of man glorified, and God is glorified in him.

14:4 1 The betraying of Christ was not casual, or a thing that happened by chance, but the Father so ordained the cause of our salvation, to reconcile us unto himself in his Son, and the Son did willingly and voluntarily obey the Father.
14:21 1 He affirmed it openly, and sealed it.
14:23 1 John's leaning was such, that sitting down in his bed, his head was toward Jesus' head: so that it was an easy matter for him to touch Jesus' bosom: for it is certain that in old time men used not to sit at the table, but to lie down on the one side.
14:31 1 We have to consider the glorifying of Christ in his ignominy.
2 This verse and the next following, are a most plain and evident testimony of the divinity of Christ.
14:33 1 The eternal glory shall flow by little and little from the head into the members. But in the meantime, we must take good heed that we pass over the race of this life in brotherly love.
14:36 1 An heavy example of rash trust and confidence.
14:1 1 He believeth in God that believeth in Christ, and there is no other way to confirm our minds in greatest distresses.
14:2 1 That is, if it were not so as I tell you, to wit, unless there were place enough not only for me, but for you also in my father's house; I would not thus deceive you with a vain hope, but I would have told you so plainly.

2 All the speech is by way of an allegory, whereby the Lord comforteth his own, declaring unto them his departure into heaven, which is, not to reign there alone, but to go before, and prepare a place for them.
14:3 1 Christ went not away from us: to the end to forsake us, but rather that he might at length take us up with him into heaven.
14:4 1 These words are to be referred to the whole Church, and therefore the Angels said to the disciples when they were astonished, What stand you gazing up into heaven? This Jesus shall so come as you saw him go up, Acts 1:11, and in all places of the Scripture, the full comfort of the Church is referred to that day when God shall be all in all, and is therefore called the day of redemption.
14:5 1 Christ only is the way to true and everlasting life, for he it is in whom the Father hath revealed himself.
14:6 1 This saying sheweth unto us both the nature, the will and office of Christ.
John 14:7

14:7 1 It is plain by this place, that to know God, and to see God, is one all one: Now whereas he said before, that no man saw God at any time, that it is to be understood thus, without Christ: or were it not through Christ, no man could ever see, nor saw God at any time: for as Chrysostom saith, the Son is a very short and easy setting forth of the Son of God.

14:10 1 The majesty of God showeth itself most evidently, both in Christ's doctrine and deeds.

14:12 1 The approving of the virtue of Christ is not included within his own person, but it is spread through the body of his whole Church.

14:15 1 He loveth Christ aright, which obeyeth his commandments: and because the same is accompanied with an infinite sort of miseries, although he be absent in body, yet doth he comfort his with the present virtue of the holy Ghost, whom the world despiseth, because it knoweth him not.

14:17 1 The holy Ghost is called the Spirit of truth, of the effect which he worketh, because he inspireth the truth into us, whereas otherwise he hath truth in himself.

2 Worldly men.

14:20 1 The Son is in the Father after such sort, that he is of one self-same substance with the Father, but he is in his disciples in a certain respect as an aider and helper of them.

14:21 1 He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them: is he that loveth me: and he that loveth me, shall be loved of my Father: and I will love him, and will 1 show mine own self to him.

14:22 1 Judas said unto him, (not Iscariot) Lord, what is the cause that thou wilt show thyself unto us, and not unto the world?

14:23 Jesus answered, and said unto him, If any man love me, he will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and will dwell with him.

14:24 He that loveth me not, keepeth not my words, and the word which ye hear, is not mine, but the Father's which sent me.

14:25 1 These things have I spoken unto you, being present with you.

14:26 1 But the Comforter, which is the holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my Name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, which I have told you.

14:27 1 Peace I leave with you: my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, nor fear.

14:28 1 Ye have heard how I said unto you, I go away, and will come unto you. If ye loved me, ye would verily rejoice, because I said, I go unto the Father: for the Father 2 is greater than I.

14:29 And now have I spoken unto you, before it come, that when it is come to pass, ye might believe.

14:30 1 Hereafter will I not speak many things unto you: for the prince of this world cometh, and hath no more, but ye shall see me: because I live, ye shall live also.

14:31 At that day shall ye know that I am 1 in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you.

14:32 1 He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them: is he that loveth me: and he that loveth me, shall be loved of my Father: and I will love him, and will 1 show mine own self to him.

CHAPTER 15
1 By the parable of the vine, 2 and the branches, 5, 6 he declareth how the disciples may bear fruit. 12, 17 He commendeth mutual love. 18 He exhorteth them to bear afflictions patiently. 20 by his own example.

1 I am that true vine, and my Father is that husbandman.
2 Every branch that beareth not fruit in me, he taketh away: and everyone that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit.
3 Now are ye clean through the word, which I have spoken unto you.
4 Abide in me, and I in you: as the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine, no more can ye, except ye abide in me.
5 I am that vine: ye are the branches: he that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me can ye do nothing.
6 If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and withereth: and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they burn.
7 If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ask what ye will, and it shall be done to you.
8 Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit, and be made my disciples.
9 As the father hath loved me, so have I loved you: continue in that my love.
10 If ye shall keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love, as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love.
11 These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full.
12 This is my commandment, that ye love one another, as I have loved you.
13 Greater love than this hath no man, when any man bestoweth his life for his friends.
14 Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you.
15 Henceforth call I you not servants: for the servant knoweth not what his master doeth: but I have called you friends: for all things that I have heard of my Father, have I made known to you.
16 Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye go and bring forth fruits, and that your fruit remain, that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my Name, he may give it you.
17 These things command I you, that ye love one another.
18 If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before you.
19 If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you.
20 Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his master, If they have persecuted me, they will persecute you also: if they have kept my word, they will also keep yours.
21 But all these things will they do unto you for my Name's sake, because they have not known him that sent me.
22 If I had not come and spoken unto them, they should not have had sin: but now have they no cloak for their sin.
23 He that hateth me, hateth my Father also.
24 If I had not done works among them which none other man did, they had not had sin: but now have they both seen, and have hated both me, and

2 As who would say, Satan will by and by set upon me with all the might he can, but he hath no power over me, neither shall he find any such thing in me as he thinketh he shall.
15:1 1 We are of nature dry and fit for nothing but the fire: Therefore that we may live and be fruitful, we must first be grafted into Christ, as it were into a vine by the Father's hand: and then be daily shed with a continual meditation of the word and the cross; otherwise it shall not avail any man at all to have been grafted, unless he cleave fast unto the vine, and so draw juice out of it.
15:3 1 He abideth in Christ, which resteth in his doctrine, and therefore bringeth forth good fruit: And the Father will deny such an one nothing.
15:8 1 As who would say, Heren shall my Father be glorified, and herein also shall you be my disciples, if you bring forth much fruit.
15:9 1 The love of the Father towards the Son, and of the Son towards us, and ours towards God and our neighbor, are joined together with an inseparable knot: and there is nothing more sweet and pleasant than it is. Now this love showeth itself by its effects: a most perfect example whereof Christ himself exhibited unto us.

Parts 15:15 1 The doctrine of the Gospel (as it is uttered by Christ's own mouth) is a most perfect and absolute declaration of the counsel of God, which pertaineth to our salvation, and is committed unto the Apostles.
15:16 1 Christ is the author and preserver of the ministry of the Gospel, even to the world's end, but the ministers have above all things need of prayer and brotherly love.
2 This place teacheth us plainly, that our salvation cometh from the only favor and gracious goodness of the everlasting God towards us, and of nothing that we do or can deserve.
15:18 1 It ought not only not to fear, but rather confirm the faithful ministers of Christ, when they shall be hated of the world as their Master was.
15:21 1 The hatred that the world beareth against Christ, proceedeth of the blockishness of the mind, which notwithstanding is voluntary blind, so that the world can pretend no excuse to cover their fault.
15:22 1 As who would say, If I had not come, these men would not have stuck to have said still before God's judgment seat, that they are religious, and void of sin: but seeing I came to them, and they clean refuse me, they can have no cloak for their wickedness.

my Father.
25 But it is that the word might be fulfilled, that is written in their 'Law.' They hated me without a cause.
26 'But when that Comforter shall come, whom I will send unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth of the Father, he shall testify of me.
27 And ye shall witness also, because ye have been with me from the beginning.

16 1 He foretelleth the disciples of persecution. 7 He promiseth the Comforter, and declareth his of-

1 These 'things have I said unto you, that ye should not be offended.
2 They shall excommunicate you; yea the time shall come, that whosoever killeth you, will think that he doeth God service.
3 And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me.
4 'But these things have I told you, that when the hour shall come, ye might remember, that I told you them. And these things said I not unto you from the beginning, because I was with you.
5 But now I go my way to him that sent me, and none of you asketh me, Whither goest thou?
6 But because I have said these things unto you, your hearts are full of sorrow.
7 'Yet I tell you the truth, It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, that Comforter will not come unto you: but if I depart, I will send him unto you, 21 A woman when she travaileth hath sorrow, but your sorrow shall be turned to joy.
22 And ye now therefore are in sorrow: but I will see you again, and your hearts shall rejoice, and your joy shall no man take from you.
23 And in that day shall ye ask me nothing. Verily, verily I say unto you, whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my Name, he will give it you.
24 Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my Name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full.
25 These things have I spoken unto you in parables: but the time will come, when I shall no more speak to you in parables: but I shall show you plainly of the Father.
26 At that day shall ye ask in my Name, and I say not unto you, that I will pray unto the Father for you:
27 For the Father himself loveth you, because ye have loved me, and have believed that I came out from God.
28 I am come out from the Father, and came into the world: again I leave the world, and go to the Father.
29 His disciples said unto him, Lo, now speakest thou plainly, and thou speakest no parable.
30 Now know we that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should ask thee. By this we believe, that thou art come out from God.
31 Jesus answered them, Do you believe now?
32 Behold, the hour cometh, and is already come, that ye shall be scattered every man into his own, and shall leave me alone: But I am not alone: for the Father is with me.
33 These things have I spoken unto you, that ye might have peace: in the world ye shall have affliction, but be of good comfort: I have overcome the world.

17 1 Christ prayeth that his glory together with his Father's may be made manifest. 9 He Prayeth for his Apostles. 20 and for all believers.
1 These things spake Jesus, and lift up his eyes to heaven, and said, 2 Father, that hour is come: glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee, 2 As thou hast given him power over all flesh, that he should give eternal life to all them that thou hast given him.
3 And this is life eternal, that they know thee to be the only very God, and whom thou hast sent, Jesus Christ.
4 I have glorified thee on the earth: I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do.
5 And now glorify me, thou Father, with thine owne self, with the glory which I had with thee before the world was.
6 I have declared thy Name unto the men which thou gavest me out of the world: thine they were, and thou gavest them me, and they have kept thy word.
7 Now they know that all things whatsoever thou hast given me, are of thee.
8 For I have given unto them the words which thou gavest me, and they have received them, and have known surely that I came out from thee, and have believed that thou hast sent me.
9 I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast given me: for they are thine.
10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.

11 And now am I no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keep them in thy Name, even them whom thou hast given me, that they may be 'one as we are.'

12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy Name: those that thou gavest me, have I kept, and none of them is lost, but the child of perdition, that the Scripture might be fulfilled.

13 And now come I to thee, and these things speak I in the world, that they might have my joy fulfilled in themselves.

14 I have given them thy word, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

15 I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou keep them from evil.

16 They are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

17 'Sanctify them with thy truth: thy word is truth.

18 'As thou didst send me into the world, so have I sent them into the world.

19 And for their sakes sanctify myself, that they also may be sanctified through the 'truth.

20 'I pray not for these alone, but for them also which shall believe in me, through their word, 21 That they all may be one, as thou, O Father, art in me, and I in thee; even that they may be also one in us, that the world may believe that thou hast sent me.

22 And the glory that thou gavest me, I have given them, that they may be one, as we are one,

23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them as thou hast loved me.

24 'Father, I will that they which thou hast given me, be with me even where I am, that they may behold that my glory, which thou hast given me: for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world.

25 O righteous Father, the world also hath not known thee, but I have known thee, and these have known, that thou hast sent me.

26 'And I have declared unto them thy Name, and will declare it, that the love wherewith thou hast loved me, may be in them, and I in them.

18 By Christ's power, whom Judas betrayeth, 6 the soldiers are cast down to the ground. 13 Christ is led to Annas, and from him to Caiaphas. 22, 23 His answer to the officer that smote him with a rod. 28 Being delivered to Pilate, 36 he declareth his kingdom.

1 When 1Jesus had spoken these things, he went forth with his disciples over the brook 'Kidron, where was a garden, into the which he entered, and his disciples.

2 And Judas which betrayed him knew also the place: for Jesus oftentimes resorted therither with his disciples.

3 Then Judas, after he had received a band of men and officers of the high Priests, and of the Pharisees, came thither with lanterns and torches, and weapons.

4 Then Jesus, knowing all things that should come unto him, went forth and said unto them, Whom seek ye?

5 They answered him, Jesus of Nazareth. Jesus said unto them, I am he. Now Judas also which betrayed him, stood with them.

6 As soon then as he had said unto them, I am he, they went away backwards, and fell to the ground.

7 Then he asked them again, Whom seek ye? And they said, Jesus of Nazareth.

8 Jesus answered, I said unto you, that I am he: therefore if ye seek me, let these go their way.

9 This was that the word might be fulfilled which he spake, 'Of them which thou gavest me, have I lost none.'
10 1Then Simon Peter having a sword, drew it, and smote the high Priest's servant, and cut off his right ear. Now the servants name was Malchus.
11 Then said Jesus unto Peter, Put up thy sword into the sheath: shall I not drink of the cup which my Father hath given me?
12 Then the band and the captain, and the officers of the Jews took Jesus, and bound him.
13 And led him away to Annas first (for he was father-in-law to Caiaphas, which was the high Priest that same year.)
14 And Caiaphas was he, that gave counsel to the Jews, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.
15 ¶ Now Simon Peter followed Jesus, and another disciple, and that disciple was known of the high Priest: therefore he went in with Jesus into the hall of the high Priest.
16 But Peter stood at the door without. Then went out the other disciple which was known unto the high Priest, and spake to her that kept the door, and brought in Peter.
17 Then said the maid that kept the door, unto Peter, Art thou not also one of this man's disciples? He said, I am not.
18 And the servants and officers stood there, which had made a fire of coals: for it was cold, and they warmed themselves. And Peter also stood among them, and warmed himself.
19 ¶ 'The high Priest then asked Jesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine, 20 Jesus answered him, I spake openly to the world: I ever taught in the Synagogue and in the Temple, whither the Jews resort continually, and in secret have I said nothing.
21 Why askest thou me? ask them which heard me what I said unto them: behold, they know what I said.
22 When he had spoken these things, one of the officers which stood by, smote Jesus with his rod, saying, Answrest thou the high Priest so?
23 Jesus answered him, If I have evil spoken, bear witness of the evil: but if I have well spoken, why smitest thou me?
24 ¶ Now Annas had sent him bound unto Caiaphas the high Priest.
25 And Simon Peter stood and warmed himself, and they said unto him, Art not thou also of his disciples? He denied it, and said, I am not.
26 One of the servants of the high Priest, his cousin whose ear Peter smote off, said, Did not I see thee in the garden with him?
27 Peter then denied again, and immediately the cock crew.
28 Then led they Jesus from Caiaphas into the common hall. Now it was morning, and they themselves went not into the common hall, lest they should be defiled, but that they might eat the Passover.
29 Pilate then went out unto them, and said, What accusation bring ye against this man?
30 They answered, and said unto him, If he were not an evil doer, we would not have delivered him unto thee.
31 Then said Pilate unto them, Take ye him, and judge him after your own Law. Then the Jews said unto him, 'It is not lawful for us to put any man to death.
32 It was that the word of Jesus 'might be fulfilled which he spake, 'signifying what death he should die.
33 'So Pilate entered into the common hall again, and called Jesus, and said unto him, Art thou the King of the Jews?
34 Jesus answered him, Sayest thou that of thyself, or did others tell it thee of me?
35 Pilate answered, Am I a Jew? Thine own nation, and the high Priest have delivered thee unto me. What hast thou done?
36 'Jesus answered, My kingdom is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, my servants would surely fight, that I should not be delivered to the Jews: but now is my kingdom not from hence.
37 Pilate then said unto him, Art thou a King then? Jesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a King: for this cause am I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth: everyone that is of the truth, heareth my voice.

18:10 1 We ought to contain the zeal we bear to God, within the bounds of our vocation.
18:13 1 Christ is brought before an earthly high Priest to be condemned for our blasphemies, that we might be acquitted of the everlasting high Priest himself.
18:15 1 A lively example of the fragility of man even in the best, when they be once left to themselves.
18:25 1 After that men have once fallen, they cannot only not lift themselves by their own strength, but also they fall more and more into worse, until they be raised up again, by a new virtue of God.
18:28 1 The Son of God is brought before the judgment seat of an earthly and profane man, in whom there is found much less wickedness, than in the princes of the people of God. A lively image of the wrath of God against sin, and therewithal of his great mercy, and least of all, of his most severe judgment against the stubborn contempters of his grace when it is offered unto them.
18:31 1 For judgments of life and death were taken from them forty years before the destruction of the temple.
19 Pilate, when Christ was scourged, and crowned with thorns, was desirous to let him loose: but being overcome with the outrage of the Jews, he delivered him to be crucified. 26 Jesus committed his mother to the disciple. 30 Having tasted vinegar, he dieth: 34 and being dead, his side is pierced with a spear. 40 He is buried.

1 Then Pilate took Jesus and scourged him. 2 And the soldiers platted a crown of thorns, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment. 3 And said, Hail King of the Jews. And they smote him with their rods. 4 Then Pilate went forth again, and said unto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know, that I find no fault in him at all. 5 Then came Jesus forth wearing a crown of thorns, and a purple garment. And Pilate said unto them, Behold the man. 6 Then when the high Priests and officers saw him, they cried, saying, Crucify, crucify him. Pilate said unto them, Take ye him, and crucify him: for I find no fault in him. 7 The Jews answered him, We have a law, and by our law he ought to die, because he made himself the Son of God. 8 ¶ When Pilate then heard that word, he was the more afraid. 9 And went again into the common hall, and said unto Jesus, Whence art thou? But Jesus gave him none answer. 10 Then said Pilate unto him, Speakest thou not unto me? Knowest thou not that I have power to crucify thee, and have power to loose thee? 11 Jesus answered, Thou couldest have no power at all against me, except it were given thee from above: therefore he that delivered me unto thee, hath the greater sin. 12 From thenceforth Pilate sought to loose him, but the Jews cried, saying, If thou deliver him, thou art not Caesar's friend; for whosoever maketh himself a King, speaketh against Caesar. 13 ¶ When Pilate heard this word, he brought Jesus forth, and sat down in the judgment seat in a place called the pavemcnt, and in Hebrew, Gabbatha. 14 And it was the Preparation of the Passover, and about the sixth hour: and he said unto the Jews, Behold your King. 15 But they cried, Away with him, away with him, crucify him. Pilate said unto them, Shall I crucify your King? The high Priests answered, We have no King but Caesar. 16 ¶ Then delivered he him unto them, to be crucified. 4 And they took Jesus, and led him away. 17 And he bare his own cross, and came into a place named dead men's skulls, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha:

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Jesus in the midst. 19 ¶ And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the cross, and it was written, JESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEWS. 20 This title then read many of the Jews: for the place where Jesus was crucified, was near to the city: and it was written in Hebrew, Greek, and Latin. 21 Then said the high Priests of the Jews to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Jews, but that he said, I am the King of the Jews. 22 Pilate answered, What have I written, I have written. 23 ¶ Then the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took his garments (and made four parts, to every soldier a part) and his coat: and the coat was without seam woven from the top throughout. 24 ¶ Therefore they said one to another, Let us not divide it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be.
19:25 1 Christ is a perfect example of all righteousness, not only in the keeping of the first, but also of the second table.

19:28 1 Christ, when he hath taken the vinegar, yeideth up the Ghost, drinking up indeed that most bitter and sharp cup of his Father's wrath in our name.

19:29 1 Galatinus witnesseth out of the book called Sanhedrin, that the Jews were wont to give them that were executed; vinegar mixed with frankincense to drink, to make their brains somewhat troubled: so charitably the Jews provided for the poor men's consciences which were executed.

19:31 1 The body of Christ which was dead for a season (because it so pleased him) is wounded, but the least bone of it is not broken: and such is the state of his mystical body.

19:34 1 Christ being dead upon the cross, witnesseth by a double sign, that he only is the true satisfaction, and the true washing for the believers.

20:7 1 Mary bringeth word that Christ is risen: 3 Peter and John 4 ran to see it. 15 Jesus appeareth to Mary. 19 and to the disciples that were together in the house. 25 Thomas, before faithless. 29 now believest.

1 Now 1 the first day of the week came Mary Magdalene, early when it was yet dark, unto the sepulcher, and saw the stone taken away from the tomb.

2 Then she ran, and came to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple, whom Jesus loved, and said unto them, They have taken away the Lord out of the sepulcher, and we know not where they have laid him.

3 Peter therefore went forth, and the other disciple, and they came unto the sepulcher.

4 So they ran both together, but the other disciple did outrun Peter, and came first to the sepulcher.

5 And he stooped down, and saw the linen clothes lying: yet went he not in.

6 Then came Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulcher, and saw the linen clothes lie,

7 And the kerchief that was upon his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by itself.

19:38 k 1 And after these things, Joseph of Arimathea (who was a disciple of Jesus, but secretly for fear of the Jews) besought Pilate that he might take down the body of Jesus. And Pilate gave him license. He came then and took Jesus' body.

19:39 And there came also Nicodemus (which first came to Jesus by night) and brought of myrrh and aloes mingled together about an hundred pounds.

20:4 Then took they the body of Jesus, and wrapped it in linen clothes with the odors, as the manner of the Jews is to bury.

41 And in that place where Jesus was crucified, was a garden, and in the garden a new sepulcher, wherein was 'never man yet laid.

42 There then laid they Jesus, because of the Jews' Preparation day, for the sepulcher was near.

20:1 Thomas, before faithless.
Then went in also the other disciple, which came first to the sepulcher, and he saw it, and believed.

For as yet they knew not the Scripture, That he must rise again from the dead.

And the disciples went away again unto their own home.

But Mary stood without at the sepulcher weeping: and as she wept, she bowed herself into the sepulcher,

And saw two Angels in white, sitting, the one at the head, and the other at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain.

And they said unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She said unto them, They have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him.

When she had thus said, she turned herself back, and saw Jesus standing, and knew not that it was Jesus.

Jesus saith unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She supposing that he had been the gardener, said unto him, Sir, if thou hast borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.

Jesus saith unto her, Mary. She turned herself, and said unto him, Rabboni, which is to say, Master.

Jesus saith unto her, Touch me not: for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but go to my brethren, and say unto them, I ascend unto my Father, and to your Father, and to my God, and your God.

Mary Magdalene came and told the disciples that she had seen the Lord, and that he had spoken these things unto her.

The same day then at night, which was the first day of the week, and when the doors were shut, the disciples were assembled for fear of the Jews, came Jesus and stood in the midst, and said to them, Peace be unto you.

And when he had so said, he showed unto them his hands, and his side. Then were the disciples glad when they had seen the Lord.

1 Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father sent me, so send I you.

And when he had said that, he breathed on them, and said unto them, Receive the holy Ghost.

Whosoever's sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them: and whosoever's sins ye retain, they are retained.

But Thomas one of the twelve, called Didymus, was not with them when Jesus came.

The other disciples therefore said unto him, We have seen the Lord: but he said unto them, Except I see in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and put mine hand into his side, I will not believe it.

And eight days after, again his disciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Jesus, when the doors were shut, and stood in the midst, and said, Peace be unto you.

After said he to Thomas, Put thy finger here, and see mine hands, and put forth thine hand, and put it into my side, and be not faithless, but faithful.

Then Thomas answered, and said unto him, Thou art my Lord, and my God.

Jesus said unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen me, thou believest: blessed are they that have not seen, and have believed.

And many other signs also did Jesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this book.

But these things are written that ye might believe, that Jesus is that Christ that Son of God, and that in believing ye might have life through his Name.

1 Jesus appeareth to his disciples as they were fishing. 6, 7 whom they know by a miraculous draught of fishes. 15 He commandeth the charge of the sheep to Peter. 18 and foretelleth him of the manner of his death.

1 After these things, Jesus showed himself again to his disciples at the sea of Tiberias: and thus Simon Peter, Simon the son of Jonah, loveth thou me more than these? He said unto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I love thee. He said unto him, Feed my lambs.

16 He said to him again the second time, Simon the son of Jonah, loveth thou me? He said unto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I love thee. He said unto him, Feed my sheep.

17 He said unto him the third time, Simon the son of Jonah, loveth thou me? Peter was sorry because he said to him the third time, Lovest thou me? and said unto him, Lord, thou knowest all things: thou knowest that I love thee. Jesus said unto him, Feed my sheep.

18 Verily, verily I say unto thee, When thou wast young, thou girdedst thyself, and walkest whither thou wouldest: but when thou shalt be old, thou shalt stretch forth thine hands, and another shall gird thee, and lead thee without thou wouldest not.

19 And this spake he signifying by what death he should glorify God. And when he had said this, he said to him, Follow me.

20 Then Peter turned about, and saw the disciple whom JESUS loved, following, which had also leaned on his breast at supper, and had said, Lord, which is he that betrayeth thee?

21 When Peter therefore saw him, he said to Jesus, Lord, what shall this man do?

22 Jesus said unto him, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is it to thee? follow thou me.

23 Then went this word abroad among the brethren, that this disciple should not die. Yet Jesus said not to him, He shall not die; but if I will that he tarry till I come, what is it to thee?

24 This is that disciple, which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things, and we know that his testimony is true.

25 Now there are also many other things which Jesus did, the which if they should be written every one, I suppose the world could not contain the books that should be written, Amen.

21:2 It was a linen garment, which could not let his swimming.

21:15 Peter by his triple confession is restored into his former degree from whence he fell by his triple denial; and therewithal is advertised, that he is indeed a pastor, which showeth his love to Christ in feeding his sheep.

21:17 It was meet that he that had denied him thrice, should confess him thrice, that Peter might neither doubt of the forgiveness of his so grievous a sin, nor of his restoring to the office of the Apostleship.

21:18 The violent death of Peter is foretold.

21:19 That is, that Peter should die by a violent death.

21:20 We must take heed, that while we cast our eyes upon others, we neglect not that which is enjoined us.

21:24 The history of Christ is true and warily written: not for the curiosity of men, but for the salvation of the godly.

1 Luke tethis history to his Gospel. 9 Christ being taken into heaven. 10 The Apostles. 11 being warned by the Angels, 12 to return. 14 and give themselves to prayer. 15 By Peter’s motion, 18 into Judas the traitor’s place. 26 Matthias is chosen.

1 I have made the former treatise, O Theophilus, of all that Jesus began to do and teach,

2 Until the day that he was taken up, after that he through the holy Ghost, had given commandments unto the Apostles, whom he had chosen:

3 To whom also he presented himself alive after that he had suffered, by many infallible tokens, being seen of them by the space of forty days, and speaking of those things which appertained to the kingdom of God.

4 And when he had gathered them together, he commanded them that they should not depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for the promise of the Father, which said he, ye have heard of me.

5 For John indeed baptized with water, but ye shall be baptized with the holy Ghost within these few days.

6 When they therefore were come together they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at this time restore the kingdom to Israel?

7 And he said unto them, It is not for you to know the times, or the seasons, which the Father hath put in his own power.

8 But ye shall receive power of the holy Ghost, when he shall come on you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.

9 And when he had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken up: for a cloud took him up out of their sight.

10 And while they looked steadfastly toward heaven, as he went, behold, two men stood by them in white apparel.

11 Which also said, Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing into heaven? This Jesus which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come, as ye have seen him go into heaven.

12 ¶ Then returned they unto Jerusalem from the mount that is called the mount of Olives, which is near to Jerusalem, being from it a Sabbath day’s journey.

13 And when they were come in, they went up into an upper chamber, where abode both Peter and James, and John, and Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartholomew, and Matthew, James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon Zealot, and Judas James’s brother.

14 These all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication with the women, and Mary the Lord hath appointed to bring things to pass in.

1:1 A passing over from the history of the Gospel, that is, from the history of the sayings and doings of Christ, unto the acts of the Apostles.

1:2 The acts of Jesus are the miracles and doings which showed his Godhead, and his most perfect holiness and example of his doctrine.

1:3 Christ did not straightway ascend into heaven after his resurrection: because he would thoroughly prove his resurrection: and with his presence confirm his Apostles in the doctrine, which they had heard.

1:4 He calleth those infallible tokens, which are otherwise termed necessary: now in that Christ spake, and walked, and ate, and was felt of many, these are sure signs and tokens that he truly rose again.

1:5 They were dispersed here and there, but he gathereth them together that they might altogether be witnesses of his resurrection.

1:6 We must fight before we triumph: and we ought not curiously to search after those things, which God hath not revealed.

1:7 That is, the fit occasions that serve to doing of matters which the Lord hath appointed to bring things to pass in.

1:9 After that Christ had promised the full virtue of the holy Ghost, wherewith he would govern his Church, although he should be absent in body, he took up his body from us into heavenly tabernacles, there to continue until the latter day of judgment, as the Angels witness.

1:11 That is, out of your sight.

1:12 About two miles.

1:13 Ecclesiastical assemblies to hear the word, and to make common prayer, were first instituted and kept in private houses by the Apostles.

1:14 The Greek word signified an invincible constancy, and steadiness.

2 It is to good purpose, that this concord is mentioned: for those prayers are most acceptable to God which are made with agreeing minds and wills.

2 The disciples prayed for the sending of the holy Ghost, and also to be delivered from present dangers wherewith they were beset.

4 For it was behooveable to have the wives confirmed, who were afterward to be partakers of the dangers with their husbands.
mother of Jesus, and with his brethren.

15 And in those days Peter stood up in the midst of the disciples, and said (now the number of names that were in one place were about an hundred and twenty."

16 Ye men and brethren, this scripture must needs have been fulfilled, Which the holy Ghost by the mouth of David spake before of Judas, which was surnamed Iscariot, who gave him to eat.

17 For he was numbered with us, and had obtained a part in the apostleship from the beginning.

18 For it is written in the book of Psalms, Let his habitation be void, and let no man dwell therein: also, Let another take his charge.

19 And it is known unto all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, insomuch, that that field is called in their own language, Akel Dama, that is, The field of blood.

20 For it is written in the book of Psalms, Let his habitation be void, and let no man dwell therein: also, Let another take his charge.

21 Wherefore these men which have companied with us, all the time that the Lord Jesus was conversant among us, 22 Beginning from the baptism of John unto the day that he was taken up from us, must one of them be made a witness with us of his resurrection.

23 And they presented two, Joseph called Barsabas, whose surname was Justus, and Matthias.

24 And they prayed, saying, Thou Lord, which knowest the hearts of all men, shew whether of these two thou hast chosen,

25 That he may take the room of this ministra-

26 Then they gave forth their lots: and the lot fell on Matthias, and he was by a common consent counted with the eleven Apostles.

27 The Apostles filled with the holy Ghost speak with divers tongues: 12 They are thought to be drunk, but Peter disprove that. 34 He teacheth that Christ is the Messiah: 37 And seeing the hearers astonished, 38 he exhorted them to repentance.

1 And when the day of Pentecost was come, they were all with one accord in one place.

2 And suddenly there came a sound from heaven, as of a rushing and mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they sat.

3 And there appeared unto them cloven tongues, like fire, and it sat upon each of them.

4 And they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

5 And there were dwelling at Jerusalem Jews, men that feared God, of every nation under heaven.

6 Now when this was noised, the multitude came together of every nation, and heard a noise, as it had been heard in the field; for the sound thereof reached even unto them that dwelt in Jerusalem.

7 And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and spake with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

8 And there was one Barnabas, a good man, and full of the Holy Ghost and faith: which also were by the way side and entered into the house where they sat.

9 And beholding a Spirit descending, like a dove, and it abiding upon him, 10 Said, With other tongues will I speak unto this people.

11 And surnamed him John.

12 And when they were Desire them to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

13 And it came to pass, that while Peter spake these words, the Holy Ghost fell on all them which heard the word.

14 And they that believed were baptized: and the day of Pentecost was in the second day after the Lord ascended up on high.

15 But Peter and John laid hold on the apostles, and said, Ye men of Israel, why look ye so earnestly on us, as if by our own power or holiness we had made this man to walk?
together and were astonished, because that every man heard them speak his own language.

7 And they wondered all, and marvelled, saying among themselves, Behold, are not all these which speak, of Galilee?

8 1How then hear we every man our own language, wherein we were born?

9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Mesopotamia, and of Judea, and of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Asia,

10 And of Phrygia, and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the parts of Libya, which is beside Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, and 1Jews, and Proselytes, 11 Crete, and Arabians: we heard them speak in our own tongues the wonderful works of God.

12 They were all then amazed, and doubted, saying one to another, What may this be?

13 And others mocked, and said, They are full of new wine.

14 But Peter standing with the eleven, lifted up his voice, and said unto them, Ye men of Judea, and ye all that inhabit Jerusalem, this is known unto you, and hearken unto my words.

15 For these are not drunken, as ye suppose, since it is but the third hour of the day.

16 But this is that, which was spoken by the Prophet Joel, 17 And it shall be in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh, and your sons shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams.

18 And on my servants, and on mine handmaids I will pour out of my Spirit in those days, and they shall prophesy.

19 And I will show wonders in heaven above, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and the vapors of smoke.

20 The Sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come.

21 And it shall be, that whosoever shall call on the Name of the Lord, shall be saved.

22 Ye men of Israel, hear these words, JESUS of Nazareth, a man approved of God among you with great works, and wonders, and signs, which God did by him in the midst of you, as ye yourselves also know;

23 Him, I say, being delivered by the determinate counsel, and foreknowledge of God, after you had taken, with wicked hands ye have crucified and slain.

24 Whom God hath raised up, and loosed the sorrows of death, because it was impossible that he should be holden of it.

25 For David saith concerning him, I beheld the Lord always before me: for he is at my right hand, that I should not be shaken.

26 Therefore did mine heart rejoice, and my tongue was glad, and moreover also my flesh shall rest in hope, 27 Because thou wilt not leave my soul in grave, neither wilt suffer thine Holy one to see corruption.

28 Thou hast showed me the ways of life, and

2:8 1 Not that they spake with one voice, and many languages were heard, but that the Apostles spake with strange tongues: for else the miracle had rather been in the hearers, whereas now it is in the speakers, Nazianzen in his oration of Whitsunday.

2:10 1 By Jews, he meaneth them that were both Jews by birth, and Jews by profession of religion though they were born in other places: and they were Proselytes, which were Gentiles born and embraced the Jews religion.

2:12 1 God's word pierceth some so, that it driveth them to seek out the truth, and it doth so choke others, that it forceth them to be witnesses of their own impudence.

2:13 1 The word which he useth here, signifieth such a kind of mocking which is reproachful and contemptuous: And by this reproachful mocking we see, that there is no miracle so great and excellent, which the wickedness of man dareth not speak evil.

2:14 1 Peter's boldness is to be marked, wherein the grace of the holy Ghost is to be seen, even straight after the beginning.

2:15 1 After the sun rising, which may be about seven or eight of the clock with us.

2:16 1 There is nothing that can dissolve questions and doubts, but testimonies taken out of the Prophets: men's reasons may be overthrown, but God's voice cannot be overthrown.

2:17 1 Peter setting the truth of God against the false accusations of men, shoveth in himself and in his fellows, that that is fulfilled which Joel spake concerning the full giving of the holy Ghost in the latter days: which grace also is offered to the whole Church, to their certain and undoubted destruction, which do contain it.

2:21 1 All without exception, both upon the Jews and Gentiles.

2:22 1 That is, men.

2:23 1 The chiefest use of all the gifts of the holy Ghost, is to bring men to salvation by faith.

2:24 1 This word, Call on, signifieth in holy Scriptures, an earnest praying and craving for help at God's hand.

2:25 1 Christ being innocent, was by God's providence crucified of wicked men.

2:26 1 Who is by those works which God wrought by him, so manifestly approved and allowed of, that no man can gainsay him.

2:27 1 God's everlasting knowledge going before, which can neither be separated from his determinate counsel, as the Epicureans say, neither yet be the cause of evil: for God in his everlasting and unchangeable counsel, appointed the wicked act of Judas to an excellent end: and God doeth that well which the instruments do ill.

2:28 1 God's counsel doth not excuse the Jews, whose hands were wicked.

2:29 1 The fault is said to be theirs, by whose counsel and egging forward it is done.

2:30 1 Christ (as David foretold) did not only rise again, but also was in the grave void of all corruption.

2:31 1 The dead that was full of sorrow both of body and mind: therefore when death appeared conqueror and victor over those sorrows, Christ is rightly said to have overcome those sorrows of death, when as being dead, he overcame death, to live forever with his Father.

2:32 1 Thou wilt not suffer me to remain in grave.

2:33 1 Thou hast opened me the way to the true life.
shalt make me full of joy with thy countenance.

29 Men and brethren, I may boldly speak unto you of the Patriarch David, that he is both dead and buried, and his sepulcher remaineth with us unto this day.

30 Therefore, seeing he was a Prophet, and knew that God had sworn with an oath to him, that of the fruit of his loins he would raise up Christ concerning the flesh, to set him upon his throne.

31 He knowing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christ, that ‘his soul should not be left in grave, neither his flesh should see corruption.

32 This Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses.

33 Since then that he by the right hand of God hath been exalted, and hath received of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, he hath shed forth

34 For David is not ascended into heaven, but he saith, ‘The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool.

35 Until I make thine enemies thy footstool.

36 Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a surety, that God hath made him both Lord, and Christ, this Jesus, I say, whom ye have crucified.

37 Now when they heard it, they were pricked in their hearts, and said unto Peter and the other Apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we do?

38 Then Peter said unto them, Amend your lives, and be baptized every one of you in the Name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins: and ye shall receive the gift of the holy Ghost.

39 For the promise is made unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call.

40 And with many other words he besought and exhorted them, saying, Save yourselves from this往来] generation.

41 Then they that gladly received his word, were baptized, and the same day there were added to the Church about three thousand souls.

42 And they continued in the Apostles’ doctrine, and fellowship, and breaking of bread, and prayers.

43 ¶ And fear came upon every soul: and many wonders and signs were done by the Apostles.

44 And all that believed, were in one place, and had all things common.

45 And they sold their possessions, and goods, and parted them to all men, as everyone had need.

46 And they continued daily with one accord in the Temple, and breaking bread at home, did eat their meat together with gladness and singleness of heart, 47 Praising God, and had favor with all the people: and the Lord added to the Church from day to day, such as should be saved.

3 1 Peter goeth into the Temple with John, 2 healeth the cripple. 9 To the people gathered together to see the miracle, 12 he expoundeth the mystery of our salvation through Christ, 14 accusing their ingratitude, 19 and requiring the repentance.

1 Now Peter and John went up together into the Temple, at the ninth hour of prayer.

2 And a certain man which was a cripple from his mother’s womb was carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the Temple called Beautiful, to ask alms of them that entered into the Temple.

3 Who seeing Peter and John, that they would enter into the Temple, desiring to receive an alms.

4 And Peter earnestly beholding him with John, said, Look on us.

5 And he gave heed unto them, trusting to receive some thing of them.

2:30 1 Had sworn solemnly.
2:32 1 Peter witnesseth that Jesus Christ is the appointed everlasting king, which he proveth manifestly by the gifts of the holy Ghost, and the testimony of David.
2:33 1 Might and power of God.
2:36 1 Christ is said to be made, because he was advanced to that dignity: and therefore it is not spoken of his nature, but of his state and dignity.
2:38 1 Repentance and remission of sins in Christ, are two principles of the Gospel, and therefore of our salvation: and they are obtained by the promises apprehended by faith, and are ratified in us by Baptism, wherewith is joined the virtue of the holy Ghost.
2:39 1 The word that is used here, giveth us to understand that it was a free gift.
2:40 1 He is truly joined to the Church which separateth himself from the wicked.
2:41 1 A notable example of the virtue of the holy Ghost: but such as are of age, are not baptized before they make confession of their faith.
2:42 1 The marks of the true Church of the doctrine of the Apostles, the duties of charity, the pure and simple administration of the Sacraments, and true invocation used of all the faithful.
2:43 1 Communicating of goods, and all other duties of charity, as is showed afterward.
2:44 1 The Jews used thin loaves, and therefore they did rather brake them than cut them. So by breaking of bread, they understood that living together and the banquets which they used to keep. And when they kept their love feasts, they used to celebrate the Lord’s Supper, which even in these days began to be corrupted, and Paul amendeth it, 1 Cor. 11.
2:45 1 So oft as the Lord thinketh it expedient, he bridlett the rage of strangers that the Church may be planted, and have some refreshing.
2:47 1 Charity maketh all things common concerning the use, according as necessity requirith.
3:1 1 Christ in healing a man that was born lame, and well known to all men, both in place and time very famous, by the hands of his Apostles, doth partly confirm them which believed, and partly also calleth others to believe.
3:5 1 Both with heart and eyes.
Then said Peter, Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have, that give I thee: In the Name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk.

And he took him by the right hand, and lifted him up, and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength.

And he leaped up, stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking and leaping, and praising God.

And all the people saw him walk, and praising God.

And they knew him, that it was he which sat for the alms at the Beautiful gate of the Temple: and they were amazed, and sore astonied at that which was come unto him.

And as the cripple which was healed, held Peter and John, all the people ran amazed unto them in the porch which is called Solomon's.

So when Peter saw it, he answered unto the people, Ye men of Israel, why marvel ye at this? or why look ye so steadfastly on us, as though by our own power or godliness, we had made this man go?

The God of Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, the God of our fathers hath glorified his Son Jesus, whom ye betrayed, and denied in the presence of Pilate, when he had judged him to be delivered.

But ye denied the Holy one and the just, and desired a murderer to be given you,

And killed the Lord of life, whom God hath raised from the dead, whereof we are witnesses.

His Name hath made this man sound, whom ye see and know, through faith in his Name: and the faith which is by him, hath given to him this perfect health of his whole body in the presence of you all.

And now brethren, I know that through your iniquities ye did it, as did also your governors.

But those things, which God before had showed by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Christ should suffer, he hath thus fulfilled.

Amend your lives therefore, and turn, that your sins may be put away, when the time of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord.

And he shall send Jesus Christ, which before was preached unto you.

Whom the heaven must contain until the time that all things be restored, which God had spoken by the mouth of all his holy Prophets since the world began.

For Moses said unto the Fathers, The Lord your God shall raise up unto you a Prophet, even of your brethren, like unto me; ye shall hear him in all things whatsoever he shall say unto you.

For it shall be that every person which shall not hear that Prophet, shall be destroyed out of the people.

Also all the Prophets from Samuel, and thenceforth as many as have spoken, have likewise foretold of these days.

Ye are the children of the Prophets, and of the covenant, which God hath made unto our fathers, saying to Abraham, Even in thy seed shall all the kindreds of the earth be blessed.

First unto you hath God raised up his Son Jesus, and him he hath sent to bless you, in turning everyone of you from your iniquities.

1 Peter and John, are taken and brought before the council. 7 And 19 They speak boldly in Christ's cause. 24 The disciples pray unto God. 32 Many sell their possessions. 36 Of whom Barnabas is one.

And as they spake unto the people, the Priests and the Captain of the Temple, and the Sadducees came upon them.
2 Taking it grievously that they taught the people, and preached in Jesus’ Name the resurrection from the dead.
3 And they laid hands on them, and put them in hold, until the next day, for it was now eventide.
4 Howbeit many of them which heard the word, believed, and the number of the men was about five thousand.
5 ¶ And it came to pass on the morrow, that their rulers, and Elders, and Scribes, were gathered together at Jerusalem,
6 And Annas the chief Priest, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the kindred of the high Priest.
7 ¶ And when they had set them before them, they asked, By what power, or in what Name have ye done this?
8 Then Peter full of the holy Ghost, said unto them, Ye rulers of the people, and Elders of Israel, 9 ¶ For as much as we this day are examined, of the good deed done to the impotent man, to wit, by what means he is made whole.
10 ¶ Be it known unto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the Name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye have crucified, whom God raised again from the dead, even by him doth this man stand here before you, whole.
11 ¶ This is the stone cast aside of you builders, which is become the head of the corner.
12 Neither is there salvation in any other: for as much as we this day are examined, of the number of the men was about five thousand.
13 ¶ Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and understood that they were unlearned men yet thus much good that such as lay hid under a wizard of zeal, do at length bewray themselves to be indeed wicked men.

4:24 1 While they thought to diminish the number, they increased them.
2 The word used here, is Idiot, which being spoken in comparison to a Magistrate, betokeneth a private man, but when we speak of sciences and studies, it signifieth one that is unlearned: and in hold, until the next day, for it was now eventide.
3 Anywhere: and this setteth forth unto us the largeness of Christ’s kingdom.
4:13 ¶ The good liberty and boldness of the servants of God doeth and without knowledge, they marveled, and knew them, that they had been with Jesus:
4:14 And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they had nothing to say against it.
4:15 Then they commanded them to go aside out of the Council, and conferred among themselves,
4:16 ¶ Saying, What shall we do to these men? for surely a manifest sign is done by them, and it is openly known to all them that dwell in Jerusalem: and we cannot deny it.
4:17 But that it be noised no farther among the people, let us threaten and charge them, that they speak henceforth to no man in this Name.
4:18 So they called them, and commanded them, that in no wise they should speak or teach in the Name of Jesus.
4:19 ¶ But Peter and John answered unto them, and said, Whether it be right in the sight of God, to obey you rather than God, judge ye.
4:20 For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard.
4:21 ¶ So they threatened them, and let them go, and found nothing how to punish them, because of the people: for all men praised God for that which was done.
4:22 For the man was above forty years old, on whom this miracle of healing was showed.
4:23 ¶ Then as soon as they were let go, they came to their fellows, and showed all that the high Priests and Elders had said unto them.
4:24 ¶ And when they heard it, they lifted up their voices to God with one accord, and said, O Lord, thou art the God which had made the heaven, and the earth, the sea, and all things that are in them.

25 Which by the mouth of thy servant David hast said, 'Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vain things?

26 The kings of the earth assembled, and the rulers came together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

27 For doubtless, against thine holy Son Jesus, whom thou hast anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the people of Israel gathered themselves together.

28 To 'do whatsoever thine hand, and thy counsel had determined before to be done.

29 And now, O Lord, behold their threatenings, and grant unto thy servants with all boldness to speak thy word, 30 So that thou stretch forth thine hand that healing, and signs, and wonders may be done by the Name of thine holy Son Jesus.

31 'And when as they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God boldly.

32 'And the multitude of them that believed, were of one heart, and of one soul: neither any of them said, that anything of that which he possessed, was his own, but they had all things common.

33 And with great power gave the Apostles witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus: and great grace was upon them all.

34 'Neither was there any among them, that lacked: for as many as were possessors of lands or houses, sold them, and brought the price of the things that were sold,

35 And laid it down at the Apostles' feet, and it was distributed unto every man, according as he had need.

36 Also Joses which was called of the Apostles, Barnabas (that is by interpretation, the son of consolation) being a Levite, and of the country of Cyprus, 37 Where as he had land, sold it, and brought the money, and laid it down at the Apostles' feet.

5 1 Ananias for his deceit in keeping back part of price, 5 falleth down dead, 10 and likewise Sapphira his wife. 12 Through divers the Apostles' miracles, 14 the faith is increased. 18 The Apostles that were imprisoned, 19 are delivered by an Angel, 26 and being before the Synod of the Priests, 36 through Gamaliel's counsel they are kept alive, 40 and beaten: 41 They glorify God.

1 But a certain man named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession,

2 And kept away part of the price, his wife also being of counsel, and brought a certain part, and laid it down at the Apostles' feet.

3 Then said Peter, Ananias, why hast Satan filled thine heart, that thou shouldest lie unto the holy Ghost, and keep away part of the price of this possession?

4 While it remained, appertained it not unto thee? and after it was sold, was it not in thine own power? how is it that thou hast conceived this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied unto men, but unto God.

5 Now when Ananias heard these words, he fell down, and gave up the ghost. Then great fear came on all them that heard these things.

6 And the young men rose up, and took him up, and carried him out, and buried him.

7 And it came to pass about the space of three hours after, that his wife came in, ignorant of that which was done.

8 And Peter said unto her, Tell me, sold ye the land for so much? And she said, Yea, for so much.

9 Then Peter said unto her, Why have ye agreed together, to tempt the Spirit of the Lord? behold, the feet of them which have buried thine husband, are at the door, and shall carry thee out.

10 Then she fell down straightway at his feet, and 1 filled thine heart, that thou shouldest lie unto the holy Ghost, and keep away possession?

4:27 1 Although the people of Israel was but one people, yet the plural number is here used, not so much for the twelve tribes, every one of which made a people, as for the great multitude of them, as though many nations had assembled themselves together, as Judg. 5:14.

4:28 1 The wicked execute God's counsel, though they think nothing of it, but they are not therefore without fault.

2 Thou hadst determined of thine absolute authority and power.

4:31 1 God witnesseth to his Church by a visible sign, that it is he that will establish it by shaking the powers both of heaven and earth.

4:32 1 An example of the true Church, wherein there is consent as well in doctrine as in charity one towards another: And the Pastors determine true doctrine both sincerely, and constantly.

2 They agreed both in counsel, will, and purposes.

4:34 1 True charity helpeth the necessity of the poor with its own loss: but so, that all things be done well and orderly.

5:1 1 Luke sheweth by contrary examples, how great a sin hypocrisy is, especially in them which under a false pretence and cloak of zeal would seem to shine and be chief in the Church.

52 1 Craftily took away.

53 1 Fully possessed.

2 For when they had appointed that farm or possession for the Church, they stuck not at it to keep away a part of the price, as though they had had to do with men, and not with God, and therefore he saith afterward that they tempted God.

54 1 Hereby is declared an advised and purpose deceit, and the fault of the man in admitting the devil's suggestions.

59 1 Look how oft men do things with an evil conscience; so oft they pronounce sentence against themselves, and as much as in them lieth, provoke God to anger, as of set purpose, minding to try whether he be just and almighty or no.

2 Are at hand.
yielded up the ghost: and the young men came in, and found her dead, and carried her out, and buried her by her husband.

11 1 And great fear came on all the Church, and on as many as heard these things.

12 2 Thus by the hands of the Apostles were many signs and wonders showed among the people (and they were all with one accord in Solomon's porch).

13 And of the other durst no man join himself to them: nevertheless the people 1magnified them.

14 Also the number of them that believed in the Lord, both of men and women, grew more and more)

15 Insomuch that they brought the sick into the streets, and laid them on beds and couches, that at the lastway the shadow of Peter, when he came by, might shadow some of them.

16 There came also a multitude out of the cities round about unto Jerusalem, bringing sick folks, and them which were vexed with unclean spirits, who were all healed.

17 ¶ 1 Then the chief Priest rose up, and all they that were with him (which was the 3sect of the Sad­ducees) and were full of indignation, 18 And laid hands on the Apostles, and put them in the common prison.

19 But the Angel of the Lord by night opened the prison doors, and brought them forth, and said, 20 Go your way, and stand in the Temple, and teach the people, all the 2words of this life.

21 So when they heard it, they entered into the Temple early in the morning, and taught. And the chief Priest came, and they that were with him, and called the Council together, and all the Elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison, to cause them to be brought.

22 But when the officers came, and found them not in the prison, they returned and told it, 23 Saying, Certainly we found the prison shut as sure as was possible, and the keepers standing without, before the doors: but when we had opened, we found no man within.

24 Then when the chief Priest and the captain of the Temple, and the high Priests heard these things, they doubted of them, whereunto this would grow.

25 Then came one and showed them, saying, Behold, the men that ye put in prison, are standing in the Temple, and teach the people.

26 Then went the captain with the officers, and brought them without violence (for they feared the people, lest they should have been stoned.)

27 And when they had brought them, they set them before the Council, and the chief Priest asked them, 28 Saying, Did we not straitly command you, that ye should not teach in this name? and behold, ye have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and ye would 2bring this man's blood upon us.

29 Then Peter and the Apostles answered, and said, We ought rather to obey God than men.

30 The God of our fathers hath raised up Jesus whom ye slew, and hanged on a tree.

31 Him hath God lifted up with his right hand, to be a Prince and a Savior, to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins.

32 And we are his witnesses concerning these things which we say: yea, and the holy Ghost, whom God hath given to them that obey him.

33 Now when they heard it, they 1brast for anger, and consulted to slay them.

34 Then stood there up in the Council a certain Pharisee named Gamaliel, a doctor of the Law, honored of all the people, and commanded to put the Apostles forth a little space.

35 And said unto them, Men of Israel, take heed to yourselves, what ye intend to do touching these men.

5:11 1 The Lord by his marvelous virtue bridled such, that they may not hurt the Church: other somen he awe and fear: and other somen he allur eth unto him.

5:13 1 Highly praised them.

5:17 1 The more that the Church increaseth, the more increaseth the rage of Satan, and therefore they proceed from threatenings, to prisoning.

5:18 The word which is used here, is Heresy, which signifies a choice, and so is taken for a right form of learning, of faction, or study and course of life, which the Latins call a sect: at the first this word was indifferent ly used, but at length, it came to be taken only in evil part, whereupon came the name of Heretic, which is taken for one that goeth astray from sound and wholesome doctrine after such sort, that he settes light by the judgment of God and his Church, and continueth in his opinion, and breaketh the peace of the Church.

5:19 1 Angels are made servants of the servants of God.

5:20 1 God doth therefore deliver his, that they may more stoutly provoke his enemies.

5:31 1 Words, whereby the way unto life is showed.

5:21 1 God mocketh his enemies' attempts from above.

5:25 1 The more openly that Christ's virtue showeth itself, the more increaseth the madness of his enemies which conspire against him.

5:26 1 Tyrants which fear not God, are constrained to fear his servants.

5:28 1 It is the property of tyrants to set out their own commandments as right and reason, be they never so wicked.

5:29 1 Make us guilty of murdering, that man whom yet they will not vouchsafe to name.

5:30 1 We ought to obey no man, but so far forth as obeying him, we may obey God.

5:30 1 Christ is appointed and indeed declareth Prince and preserver of his Church in despite of his enemies.

5:31 1 It is not sufficient for us that there is a right end, but we must also according to our vocation go on forward till we come unto it.

5:33 1 This reckoneth that they were in a most vehement rage, and marvelously disequitied in mind, for it is a borrowed kind of speech taken from them which are harrishly cut in sunder with a saw.

5:34 1 Christ findeth defenders of his cause even in the very routs of his enemies, so oft as he thinketh it needful.
36 For before these times, rose up Theudas boasting himself, to whom resorted a number of men, about a four hundred, who was slain: and they all which obeyed him were scattered, and brought to naught.

37 After this man, arose up Judas of Galilee, in the days of the tribute, and drew away much people after him: he also perished, and all that obeyed him, were scattered abroad.

38 And now I say unto you, Refrain yourselves from these men, and let them alone: for if this counsel, or this work be of men, it will come to naught:

39 But if it be of God, ye cannot destroy it, lest ye be found even fighters against God.

40 And to him they agreed, and called the Apostles: and when they had beaten them, they commanded that they should not speak in the Name of Jesus, and let them go.

41 So they departed from the Council, rejoicing, that they were counted worthy to suffer rebuke for his Name.

42 And daily in the Temple, and from house to house they ceased not to teach, and preach Jesus Christ.

6 And in those days, as the number of the disciples was multiplied in Jerusalem greatly, they ceased not to teach, and preach Jesus Christ.
12 Thus they moved the people and the Elders, and the Scribes: and running upon him, caught him, and brought him to the Council.
13 And set forth false witnesses, which said, This man ceaseth not to speak blasphemous words against this holy place, and the Law.
14 For we have heard him say, that this Jesus of Nazareth shall destroy this place, and shall change the ordinances which Moses gave us.
15 And as all that sat in the Council looked steadfastly on him, they saw his face as it had been the face of an Angel.

7 Then saith he,
1 And said unto him, Come out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and come into the land which I shall show thee.
2 Then said he, I will go out of my country, and from my kindred, and I will go into a strange land.
3 And he said unto him, Come out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and come into the land which I shall show thee.
4 And he said, I will go out of my country, and from my kindred, and I will go into a strange land.
5 And he said unto him, Come out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and come into the land which I shall show thee.
6 But God spake thus, that his seed should be a sojourner in a strange land: and that they should keep it in bondage, and entreat it evil four hundred years.
7 But the nation to whom they shall be in bondage, will I judge, saith God: and after that, they shall come forth and serve me in this place.
8 And when they were in Egypt, they multiplied and waxed strong: and, being provoked, they multiplied greater and greater.
9 And when they were in Egypt, they multiplied and waxed strong: and, being provoked, they multiplied greater and greater.
10 And when they were in Egypt, they multiplied and waxed strong: and, being provoked, they multiplied greater and greater.
11 And when they were in Egypt, they multiplied and waxed strong: and, being provoked, they multiplied greater and greater.
12 And when they were in Egypt, they multiplied and waxed strong: and, being provoked, they multiplied greater and greater.
13 And when they were in Egypt, they multiplied and waxed strong: and, being provoked, they multiplied greater and greater.
14 And when they were in Egypt, they multiplied and waxed strong: and, being provoked, they multiplied greater and greater.
15 And when they were in Egypt, they multiplied and waxed strong: and, being provoked, they multiplied greater and greater.
16 And when they were in Egypt, they multiplied and waxed strong: and, being provoked, they multiplied greater and greater.
17 And when they were in Egypt, they multiplied and waxed strong: and, being provoked, they multiplied greater and greater.
18 And when they were in Egypt, they multiplied and waxed strong: and, being provoked, they multiplied greater and greater.
19 And when they were in Egypt, they multiplied and waxed strong: and, being provoked, they multiplied greater and greater.
20 And when they were in Egypt, they multiplied and waxed strong: and, being provoked, they multiplied greater and greater.

6:12 The first bloody persecution of the Church of Christ began and sprang from a Council of Priests by the suggestion of the University doctors.
6:13 An example of cavillers or false accusers, which gather false conclusions of things that are well uttered and spoken.
6:15 Hereby it appeareth that Stephen had an excellent and goodly countenance, having a quiet and settled mind, a good conscience, and sure persuasion that his cause was just: for seeing he would give it to him for a possession, and to his seed after him, when as yet he had no child.
7:1 Stephen is admitted to plead his cause, but to this end and purpose, that under a cloak, and color of Law, he might be condemned.
7:2 Stephen witnesseth unto the Jews, that he acknowledged the true fathers, and the only true God: and sheweth moreover, that they are more ancient than the Temple, with all that service appointed by the Law, and therefore they ought to lay another foundation of true religion, that is to say, the free covenant that God made with the fathers.
7:3 When he saith afterward, verse 4, that Abraham came out of Chaldea, it is evident that Mesopotamia contained Chaldea which was near unto it, and bordering upon it, and so writeth Plinius, book 6, chap. 27.
7:5 Not so much ground as to set his foot upon.
7:6 The promise of the possession was certain and belonged to Abraham, though his posterity enjoyed it a great while after his death: and this is the figure Synecdoche.
7:6 There are reckoned four hundred years, from the beginning of Abraham's progeny, which was at the birth of Isaac: and four hundred and thirty years which are spoken of by Paul, Gal. 3:17, from the time that Abraham and his father departed together out of Ur of the Chaldeans.
7:9 Stephen reckoneth up diligently the horrible mischiefs of some of the Fathers, to teach the Jews that they ought not rashly to rest in the authority or examples of the Fathers.
7:10 Give him favor in Pharaoh's sight for his wisdom.
7:16 The Patriarchs the sons of Jacob, though there be mention made of no more than Joseph, Josh. 24:32.
19 'The same 1dealt subtly with our kindred, and evil entreated our fathers, and made them to cast out their young children, that they should not remain alive.

20 'The same time was Moses born and was 1acceptable unto God: which was nourished up in his father's house three months.

21 And when he was cast out, Pharaoh's daughter took him up, and nourished him for her own son.

22 And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds.

23 Now when he was full forty years old, it came into his heart to visit his brethren, the children of Israel.

24 'And when he saw one of them suffer wrong, he defended him, and avenged his quarrel that had the harm done to him, and smote the Egyptian.

25 For he supposed his brethren would have understood, that God by his hand should give them deliverance: but they understood it not.

26 'And the next day, he showed himself unto them as they strove, and would have set them at one again, saying, Sirs, ye are brethren: why do ye wrong one to another?

27 But he that did his neighbor wrong, thrust him away, saying, Who made thee a prince, and a judge over us?

28 Wilt thou kill me, as thou didst the Egyptian yesterday?

29 Then fled Moses at that saying, and was a stranger in the land of Midian, where he begat two sons.

30 And when forty years were expired, there appeared to him in the wilderness of mount Sinai, an 1Angel of the Lord in a flame of fire, in a bush.

31 And when Moses saw it, he wondered at the sight: and as he drew near to consider it, the voice of the Lord came unto him, saying, 32 I am the God of thy fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.

33 Then Moses trembled, and durst not behold it.

34 I have seen, I have seen the affliction of my people, which is in Egypt, and I have heard their groaning, and am come down to deliver them: and now come, and I will send thee into Egypt.

35 This Moses whom they forsook, saying, Who made thee a prince and a judge? the same God sent for a prince, and a deliverer by the 1hand of the Angel which appeared to him in the bush.

36 He brought them out, doing wonders, and miracles in the land of Egypt, and in the Red Sea, and in the wilderness forty years.

37 'This is that Moses, which said unto the children of Israel, 'A Prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you, even of your brethren, like unto me: him shall ye hear.

38 'This is he that was in the Congregation, in the wilderness with the Angel, which spake to him in mount Sinai, and with our fathers, who received the lively oracles to give unto us.

39 To whom our fathers would not obey, but refused, and in their hearts turned back again into Egypt.

40 Saying unto Aaron, 'Make us gods that may go before us: for we know not what is become of this Moses that brought us out of the land of Egypt.

41 And they made a 1calf in those days, and offered sacrifice unto the idol, and rejoiced in the works of their own hands.

42 Then God turned himself away, and 'gave them up to serve the 2host of heaven, as it is written in the book of the Prophets, 'O house of Israel, have ye offered to me slain beasts and sacrifices by the space of forty years in the wilderness?

43 And ye 'took up the Tabernacle of Moloch, and the star of your god Remphan, figures, which ye made to worship them: therefore I will carry you away beyond Babylon.

44 'Our fathers had the Tabernacle of 2witness in the wilderness, as he had appointed, speaking unto 3Moses, that he should make it according to the fashion that he had seen.

45 Which tabernacle also our fathers 1received, and brought in with Jesus into the possession of the Gentiles, which God drove out 3before our fathers,

7:41 1 This was the superstitious of the Egyptians' idolatry: for they worshipped Aps a strange and marvelous calf, and made goodly images of Kine, Herodias, lib. 2.

7:42 2 By the host of heaven, here he meaneth not the Angels, but the moon and sun and other stars.

7:43 1 You took it upon your shoulders and carried it.

7:44 1 Moses indeed erected a Tabernacle, but that was to call them back to that form which he had seen in the mountain.

7:45 1 Delivered from hand to hand.
unto the days of David:

46 ♦Who found favor before God, and desired that he might find a tabernacle for the God of Jacob.

47 1But Solomon built him a house.

48 Howbeit the most High dwelleth not in temples made with hands, as saith the Prophet, 49 ♦Heaven is my throne, and earth is my footstool: what house will ye build for me, saith the Lord? or what place is it that I should rest in?

50 Hath not mine hand made all these things?

51 1Ye stiff-necked and of uncircumcised hearts and ears, ye have always resisted the holy Ghost: as your fathers did, so do you.

52 Which of the Prophets have not your fathers persecuted? and they have slain them, which showed before of the coming of that Just, of whom ye are now the betrayers and murderers, 53 ♦Which have received the law by the ordinance of Angels, and have not kept it.

54 But when they heard these things, their hearts brast for anger, and they gnashed at him with their teeth.

55 ♦But he being full of the holy Ghost, looked steadfastly into heaven, and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God, 56 And said, Behold, I see the heavens open, and the Son of man standing at the right hand of God.

57 Then they gave a shout with a loud voice, and stopped their ears, and ran upon him violently all at once, 58 And cast him out of the city, and stoned him: and the witnesses laid down their clothes at a young man's feet, named Saul.

59 And they stoned Stephen, who called on God, and said, Lord Jesus receive my spirit.

60 ♦And he kneeled down, and cried with a loud voice, Lord, lay not this sin to their charge. And when he had thus spoken, he slept.

8 2 The godly make lamentation for Stephen. 3 Saul maketh havoc of the Church. 5 Philip preacheth Christ at Samaria. 9 Simon Magus. 13 his covetousness reproved. 26 Philip 27 cometh to the Ethiopian Eunuch. 38 and baptizeth him.

1 And Saul consented to his death. And at that time, there was a great persecution against the Church which was at Jerusalem, and they were all scattered abroad throughout the regions of Judea and of Samaria, except the Apostles.

2 ♦Then certain men fearing God, carried Stephen among them, to be buried, and made great lamentation for him.

3 ♦But Saul made havoc of the Church, and entered into every house, and drew out both men and women, and put them into prison.

4 Therefore they that were scattered abroad, went to and fro preaching the word.

5 ♦Then came Philip into the city of Samaria, and preached Christ unto them.

6 And the people gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, with one accord, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.

7 For unclean spirits crying with a loud voice, came out of many that were possessed of them: and many taken with palsy, and that halted, were healed.

2 By the figure Metonymy, for the countries which the Gentiles possessed.

3 God drove them out, that they should yield up the possession of those countries to our fathers, when they entered into the land.

7:47 1 Solomon built a Temple, according to God's commandment, but not with any such condition, that the Majesty of God should be enclosed therein.

7:51 1 Stephen moved with the zeal of God, at length judgeth his own judges.

7:53 1 By the ministry of Angels.

7:54 1 The more Satan is pressed, the more he brasteth out into an open rage.

7:55 1 The nearer that the Martyrs approach to death, the nearer they beholding Christ, do rise up even into heaven.

7:57 1 The zeal of hypocrites and superstitious people, breaketh out at length into most open madness.

2 This was done in a rage and fury: for at that time the Jews could put no man to death by law, as they confess before Pilate, saying that it was not lawful for them to put any man to death, and therefore it is reported by Josephus, lib. 20, that Ananus a Sadducee slew James the brother of the Lord, and for so doing, was accused before Albinus the President of the country.

7:58 ♦It was appointed by the Law, that the witnesses should cast the first stones, Deut. 17:7.

7:60 ♦Faith and charity never forsake the true servants of God, even to the last breath.

2 The word which he useth here noteth out such a kind of imputing or laying to one's charge, as remaineth firm, and steady forever, never to be remitted.

3 See 1 Thess. 4:13.

8:1 ♦Christ useth the rage of his enemies to the spreading forth and enlarging of his kingdom.

8:2 ♦The godly mourn for Stephen after his death, and bury him, showing therein an example of singular faith and charity: but no man prayeth to him.

2 Amongst all the duties of charity which the godly use, there is no mention made of shrining up of relics.

8:3 ♦The dispersion or scattering abroad of the faithful, is the joining together of Churches.

8:5 ♦Philip, who was before a Deacon in Jerusalem, is made of God extraordinarily an Evangelist.
ACTS 8:8

8 And there was great joy in that city.
9 And there was before in the city, a certain man called Simon, which used 1witchcraft, and 3bewitched the people of Samaria, saying that he himself was some great man,
10 To whom they gave heed from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is that great power of God.
11 And they gave heed unto him, because that of long time he had bewitched them with sorceries.
12 But as soon as they believed Philip, which preached the things that concerned the kingdom of God, and the Name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized both men and women.
13 Then Simon himself believed also, and was baptized, and continued with Philip, and wondered, when he saw the signs and great miracles which were done.
14 ¶ Now when the Apostles, which were at Jerusalem, heard say, that Samaria had received the word of God, they sent unto them Peter and John.
15 Which when they were come down, prayed for them, that they might receive the 2holy Ghost.
16 (For as yet he was fallen down on none of them, but they were baptized only in the Name of the Lord Jesus.)
17 Then laid they their hands on them, and they received the holy Ghost.
18 'And when Simon saw that through laying on of the Apostles' hands the holy Ghost was given, he offered them money, 19 Saying, Give me also this power, that on whomsoever I lay the hands, he may receive the holy Ghost.
20 'Then said Peter unto him, Thy money perish 1with thee, because thou thinkest that the gift of God may be obtained with money.

21 Thou hast neither part nor fellowship in this 1business: for thine heart is not 2right in the sight of God.
22 'Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and pray God, that it if be possible, the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee.
23 For I see that thou art in the 1gall of bitterness, and in the 2bond of iniquity.
24 Then answered Simon, and said, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of these things which ye have spoken, come upon me.
25 ¶ So they, when they had testified and preached the word of the Lord, returned to Jerusalem, and preached the Gospel in many towns of the Samaritans.
26 Then the Angel of the Lord spake unto Philip, saying, Arise, and go toward the South unto the way that goeth down from Jerusalem unto Gaza, which is waste.
27 And he arose and went on: and behold, a certain Eunuch of Ethiopia, Candace the Queen of the Ethiopians' 1chief Governor, who had the rule of all her treasure, and came to Jerusalem to worship.
28 And as he returned sitting in his chariot, he read Isaiah the Prophet.
29 Then the Spirit said unto Philip, Go near and join thyself to yonder chariot.
30 And Philip ran thither, and heard him read the Prophet Isaiah, and said, But understandest thou what thou readest?
31 And he said, How can I, except I had 1a guide? And he desired Philip, that he would come up and sit with him.
32 ¶ Now the place of the Scripture which he read, was this, 'He was lead as a sheep to the slaughter: and like a lamb dumb before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth.'

8:9 1 Christ overcometh Satan so oft as he listeth, and calleth him about as it were in a triumph in the sight of them, whom he deceived and bewitched.
2 The word which is used in this place was at the first taken in good part, and is borrowed out of the Persians' language, who call their wise men by that name, but afterward it was taken in evil part.
3 Entangled in the bonds of iniquity.
8:11 1 He had so allured the Samaritans with his witchcrafts, that as blind and mad harebrains they were wholly addicted to him.
8:13 1 The wicked and the very reprobate are constrained oftentimes to taste of the good gift of God, but they cast it up again forthwith.
8:14 1 Peter not chief, but as an ambassador sent from the whole company of the Apostles, and John his companion according to the authority which was committed unto them, confirm and build up the Churches of Samaria, whose foundation had been laid afore by Philip.
8:15 1 Those excellent gifts, which are necessary, especially for them that were to be appointed rulers and governors of the Church.
8:18 1 Ambition and covetousness do at length pluck the hypocrites out of their dens.
8:20 1 They are the successors of Simon Magus, and not of Simon Peter, which either buy or sell holy things.
8:21 1 In this doctrine which I preach.
2 1 Not upright in deed, and without dissembling.
8:22 1 We must hope well even of the vilest sinners, so long and so far forth as we may.
8:23 1 He calleth the inward malice of the heart, and that venomous and devilish wickedness wherewith this Magician was wholly replenished, the gall of bitterness: and he is said to be in the gall as though he were wholly overwhelmed with gall, and buried in it.
2 Entangled in the bonds of iniquity.
8:26 1 Christ who calleth freely whom he listeth, doth now use Philip who thought on no such matter, to instruct and baptize the Eunuch at Caesarea, and by this means extendeth the limits of his kingdom even into Ethiopia.
8:27 1 A man of great wealth and authority with Candace: Now this word Candaces is a common name to all the Queens of Ethiopia.
8:31 1 To show me the way how to understand it.
8:32 1 Those things which seem most to come by chance or fortune (as men term it) are governed by the secret providence of God.
33 In his humility his judgment hath been exalted: but who shall declare his generation? for his life is taken from the earth.
34 Then the Eunuch answered Philip, and said, I pray thee, of whom speaketh the Prophet this? of himself, or of some other man?
35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same Scripture, and preached unto him Jesus.
36 And as they went on their way, they came unto a certain water, and the Eunuch said, See, here is water: what doth let me be baptized?
37 And Philip said unto him, If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest. Then he answered, and said, I believe that that Jesus Christ is that Son of God.
38 Then he commanded the chariot to stand still: and they went down both into the water, both Philip and the Eunuch, and he baptized him.
39 And as soon as they were come up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the Eunuch saw him no more: so he went on his way rejoicing.
40 But Philip was found at Azotus, and he walked to and fro preaching in all the cities, till he came to Caesarea.

9:16 Now as he journeyed, it came to pass that as he was come near to Damascus, suddenly there shined round about him a light from heaven.
9:17 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying to him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?
9:18 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest: it is hard for thee to kick against pricks.
9:19 Then the Lord said both trembling and astonied, said, Lord, what wilt thou that I do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou shalt do.
9:20 The men also which journeyed with him, stood amazed, hearing his voice, but seeing no man.
9:21 And Saul arose from the ground, and opened his eyes, but saw no man. Then led they him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus, 9:22 Where he was three days without sight, and neither ate nor drank.
9:23 And there was a certain disciple at Damascus named Ananias, and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here Lord.
9:24 Then the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the street which is called Straight, and seek in the house of Judas after one called Saul of Tarsus: for behold, he prayeth.
9:25 (And he saw in a vision a man named Ananias, and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias.)
9:26 And there was a certain disciple at Damascus named Ananias, and he said, Lord, what wilt thou that I do? Then said he, Arise, and go into the street which is called Straight, and seek in the house of Judas after one called Saul of Tarsus: for behold, he prayeth.
9:27 And the Eunuch answered Philip, and said, See, here is water: what doth let me be baptized?
9:28 And Philip said unto him, If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest. Then he answered, and said, I believe that that Jesus Christ is that Son of God.
9:29 And Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same Scripture, and preached unto him Jesus.
9:30 And as they went on their way, they came unto a certain water, and the Eunuch said, See, here is water: what doth let me be baptized?
9:31 And Philip said unto him, If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest. Then he answered, and said, I believe that that Jesus Christ is that Son of God.
9:32 And Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same Scripture, and preached unto him Jesus.
9:33 Then the Lord said unto him, Go thy way: for he is a chosen vessel unto me, to bear my Name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Israel.
9:34 For I will show him, how many things he must suffer for the Name of my Father.

8:33 1 The Hebrew text readeth it thus, Out of a narrow strait, and out of judgment was he taken: whereby the narrow strait, he meaneth the grave and the very bands of death, and by judgment, the punishment which was laid upon him, and the miserable state which Christ took upon him for our sakes, in bearing his Father’s wrath.
8:34 2 How long his age shall last: for Christ having once risen from the dead, dieth no more, Rom. 6:9.
8:37 1 Profession of faith is requisite in baptism of them which are even by the mouth of God appointed an Apostle, and is confirmed by the ministry and witness of Ananias.
8:38 2 This is a token that Saul’s stomach boiled and cast out great threatenings to murder the disciples.
9:2 1 Any trade of life which a man taketh himself unto, the Jews call a sort, to wit, that they heard a sound of a voice, but no perfect voice.
9:5 1 This is a proverb which is spoken of them that through their own stubbornness hurt themselves.
9:7 2 Stood still and could not go one step forward, but abide amazed as if they had been very stones.
9:9 1 Tarsus was a city of Cilicia near unto Anchiala, which two cities Sardanapalus is said to have built in one day.
9:13 1 To bear my name in.
suffer for my Name’s sake.

17 Then Ananias went his way, and entered into that house, and put his hands on him, and saith, Brother Saul, the Lord hath sent me (even Jesus that appeared unto thee in the way as thou camest) that thou mightest receive thy sight, and be filled with the holy Ghost.

18 And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had been scales, and suddenly he received sight, and arose, and was baptized, 19 And received meat, and was strengthened. So was Saul certain days with the disciples which were at Damascus.

20 ‘And straightway he preached Christ in the Synagogues, that he was that Son of God.

21 So that all that heard him were amazed, and said, Is not this he, that made havoc of them which called on this Name in Jerusalem, and came hither for that intent, that he should bring them bound unto the high Priest?

22 ‘But Saul increased the more in strength, and confounded the Jews which dwelt at Damascus, confirming that this was that Christ.

23 ‘And after that many days were fulfilled, the Jews took counsel to kill him, 24 But their laying await was known of Saul: now they watched the gates day and night, that they might kill him.

25 ‘Then the disciples took him by night, and put him through the wall, and let him down by a rope in a basket.

26 ‘And when Saul was come to Jerusalem, he assayed to join himself with the disciples: but they were all afraid of him, and believed not that he was a disciple.

27 But Barnabas took him, and brought him to the Apostles, and declared to them, how he had seen the Lord in the way, and that he had spoken unto him, and how he had spoken boldly at Damascus in the Name of Jesus.

28 ‘And he was conversant with them at Jerusalem,

29 And spake boldly in the Name of the Lord Jesus, and spake and disputed against the ‘Grecians: but they went about to slay him.

30 ‘But when the brethren knew it, they brought him to Caesarea, and sent him forth to Tarsus.

31 ‘Then had the Churches rest through all Judea, and Galilee, and Samaria, and were edified, and walked in the fear of the Lord, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghost.

32 ‘And it came to pass, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, he came also to the saints which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certain man named Aeneas, which had kept his couch eight years, and was sick of the palsy.

34 ‘Then said Peter unto him, Aeneas, Jesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise and truss thy couch together. And he arose immediately.

35 ‘And all that dwelt at ‘Lydda and Sharon, saw him, and turned to the Lord.

36 ‘There was also at Joppa a certain woman, a disciple named Tabitha (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) she was full of good works and alms which she did.

37 And it came to pass in those days, that she was sick and died: and when they had washed her, they laid her in an upper chamber.

38 Now forasmuch as Lydda was near to Joppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent unto him two men, desiring that he would not delay to come unto them.

39 Then Peter arose and came with them: and when he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber, where all the widows stood by him weeping, and showing the coats and garments, which Dorcas made, while she was with them.

9:17 ‘Into Judas’s house.

9:20 ‘Paul beginneth straightways to execute the office which was enjoined him, never consulting with flesh and blood.

9:22 ‘Paul striveth not with his own authority alone, but with the testimonies of the Prophets.

2 By conferring places of the Scripture together, as cunning crafts­man do, when they make up anything, they use to gather all parts together, to make them agree fifty one with another.

9:23 ‘Paul, who was before a persecutor, hath now persecution laid before himself, but yet afar off.

9:25 ‘We are not forbidden to avoid and eschew the dangers and conspiracies that the enemies of God lay for us, so that we swerve not from our vocation.

9:26 ‘In ancient times no man was rashly or lightly received into the number of and amongst the sheep of Christ, much less to be a pastor.

9:28 ‘The constant servants of God must look for danger after danger; yet God watcheth for them.
40 But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled down, and prayed, and turned him to the body, and said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter, sat up.
41 Then he gave her the hand and lifted her up, and called the Saints and widows, and restored her alive.
42 And it was known throughout all Joppa, and many believed in the Lord.
43 And it came to pass, that he tarried many days in Joppa with one Simon a Tanner.

10 1 Cornelius at the Angels commandment, sendeth for Peter. 11 Who also by a vision, 15, 20 is taught not to despise the Gentiles. 14 He preacheth the Gospel to Cornelius and his household. 45 Who having received the holy Ghost, 47 are baptized.

1 Furthermore there was a certain man in Caesarea called Cornelius, a captain of the band called the Italian band,
2 A devout man, and one that feared God with all his household, which gave much alms to the people, and prayed God continually.
3 He saw in a vision evidently (about the ninth hour of the day) an Angel of God coming in to him, and saying unto him, Cornelius.
4 But when he looked on him, he was afraid, and said, What is it, Lord? and he said unto him, Thy prayers and thine alms are come up into remembrance before God.
5 Now therefore send men to Joppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.
6 He lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whose house is by the sea side: he shall tell thee what thou oughtest to do.
7 And when the Angel which spake unto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his servants, and a soldier that feared God, one of them that waited on him,
8 And told them all things, and sent them to Joppa.

10:1 1 Peter consecrateth the firstfruits of the Gentiles to God by the means of two miracles.
10:2 1 So that he worshipped one God, and was no idolater, and neither could be void of faith in Christ, because he was a devout man but as yet he knew not that he was come.
10:4 1 What wilt thou with me, Lord? for he settleth himself to hear.
10:5 1 This is a borrowed kind of speech, which the Hebrews use very much, taken from sacrifices, and applied to prayers: for it is said of whole burnt sacrifices, that the smoke and savour of them goeth up into God’s nostrils: so do our prayers as a sweet-smelling sacrifice which the Lord taketh great pleasure in.
10:9 1 On the morrow as they went on their journey, and drew near unto the city, Peter went up upon the house to pray, about the sixth hour.
10:10 1 Then waxed he an hungered, and would have eaten: but while they made something ready, he fell into a trance.
10:11 1 And he saw heaven opened, and a certain vessel come down unto him, as it had been a great sheet, knit at the four corners, and was let down to the earth.
10:12 1 Wherein were all manner of four footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts and creeping things, and fowls of the heaven.
10:13 1 And there came a voice to him, Arise, Peter: kill, and eat.
10:14 1 But Peter said, Not so, Lord: for I have never eaten anything that is polluted, or unclean.
10:15 1 And the voice spake unto him again the second time, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.
10:16 1 This was so done thrice: and the vessel was drawn up again into heaven.
10:17 ¶ Now while Peter doubted in himself what this vision which he had seen, meant, behold, the men which were sent from Cornelius, had inquired for Simon’s house, and stood at the gate,
10:18 ¶ And called, and asked, whether Simon, which was surnamed Peter, were lodged there.
10:19 ¶ And while Peter thought on the vision, the Spirit said unto him, Behold, three men seek thee.
10:20 ¶ Arise therefore, and get thee down, and go with them, and doubt nothing: For I have sent them.
10:21 ¶ Then Peter went down to the men, which were sent unto him from Cornelius, and said, Behold, I am he whom ye seek: what is the cause wherefore ye are come?
10:22 ¶ And they said, Cornelius the captain, a just man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among all the nation of the Jews, was warned from heaven by an holy Angel to send for thee into his house, and to hear thy words.
23 Then called he them in, and lodged them: and the next day, Peter went forth with them, and certain brethren from Joppa accompanied him.

24 ¶ And the day after, they entered into Caesarea, Now Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinsmen, and special friends.

25 ¶ And it came to pass as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fell down at his feet, and worshipped him.

26 But Peter took him up, saying, Stand up: for even I myself am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together.

28 And he said unto them, Ye know that it is an unlawful thing for a man that is a Jew, to company, or come unto one of another nation: but God hath showed me, that I should not call any man polluted, or unclean.

29 Therefore came I unto you without saying nay, when I was sent for. I ask therefore, for what intent have ye sent for me?

30 Then Cornelius said, Four days ago, about this hour, I fasted, and at the ninth hour I prayed in mine house, and behold, a man stood before me in bright clothing, 31 And said, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine alms are had in remembrance in the sight of God.

32 ¶ Send therefore to Joppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter (he is lodged in the house of Simon a Tanner by the Seaside) who when he cometh, shall speak unto thee.

33 Then sent I for thee immediately, and thou hast well done to come. Now therefore are we all here present before God to hear all things that are commanded thee of God.

34 ¶ Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive, that God is no respecter of persons.

10:25 1 Religious adoration or worship agreeeth only to God: but civil worship is given to the Ministers of the word, although not without danger.

10:30 1 He meaneth not the selfsame hour, but the like, that is, about nine of the clock the other day, as it was then nine when he spake to Peter.

10:31 1 Cornelius's faith showeth forth itself by prayer and charity.

10:32 1 As faith cometh by hearing, so is it nourished and groweth up by the same.

10:34 1 Distinction of nations is taken away by the coming of Christ: And it is evidently seen by faith and righteousness, who is agreeable to him, or whom he accepteth.

10:35 1 By the fear of God, the Hebrews understand the whole service of God: whereby we perceive that Cornelius was not void of faith, no more than they which were lived before Christ's time: and therefore they deal foolishly, which build preparative works and free will upon this place.

10:36 1 God gave the Israelites to understand, that whosoever liveth godly, is acceptable to God, of what nation soever he be, for he preached peace to men through Jesus Christ, who is Lord not of one nation only, that is, of the Jews, but of all.

10:37 1 The sum of the Gospel (which shall be made manifest at the latter day when Christ himself shall sit as judge both of the quick and the dead) is this, that Christ promised to the Fathers, and exhibited in his time with the mighty power of God, (which was by all means showed) and at length crucified to reconcile us to God, did rise again the third day, that whosoever believeth in him should be saved through the remission of sins.

10:38 1 This style is taken from an old custom of the Jews, who used to anoint their Kings and Priests, whereupon it grew, to call them anointed, upon whom God bestowed gifts and virtues.

10:41 1 This choosing of the Apostles is properly given to God: for though God be president in the lawful election of ministers, yet there is in this place a secret opposition and setting of God's choosing, and men voice the one against the other, for the Apostles are immediately appointed of God, and the Church Ministers by means.

10:44 1 The Spirit of God sealeth that in the heart of the hearers, which the minister of the word speaketh by the commandment of God, as it appeareth by the effects.

10:47 1 Baptism doth not sanctify or make them holy which receive it, but sealeth up and confirmeth their sanctification.
CHAPTER 11

2 Peter being accused for going to the Gentiles, 5 defends himself. 22 Barnabas is sent to Antioch, 26 where the disciples are called Christians: 28 and there Agabus foretelleth a famine to come.

1 Now the Apostles and the brethren that were in Judea, heard, that the Gentiles had also received the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come up to Jerusalem, they of the circumcision contended against him,

3 Saying, Thou wentest into men uncircumcised, and hast eaten with them.

4 Then Peter began, and expounded the thing in order to them, saying,

5 I was in the city of Joppa, praying, and in a trance

6 I saw a great sheet, let down from heaven, by the four corners, and it came to me,

7 Toward the which when I had fastened mine eyes, I considered, and saw four footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts, and creeping things, and fowls of the heaven.

8 Also I heard a voice, saying unto me, Arise, Peter: slay and eat.

9 But the voice answered me the second time, saying, Arise again, and I shall show thee what thou must do.

10 And this was done three times, and all were taken up again into heaven.

11 Then behold, immediately there were three men already come unto the house where I was, sent from Caesarea unto me.

12 And the Spirit said unto me, that I should go with them, without doubting: moreover these six brethren came with me, and we entered into the man’s house.

13 And he showed us, how he had seen an Angel in his house, which stood and said to him, Send men to Joppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

14 He shall speak words unto thee, whereby both thou and all thine house shall be saved.

15 And as I began to speak, the holy Ghost fell on them, even as upon us at the beginning.

16 Then I remembered the word of the Lord, how he said, John baptized with water, but ye shall be baptized with the holy Ghost.

17 For as much then as God gave them a like gift, as he did unto us, when we believed in the Lord Jesus Christ, who was I, that I could let God?

18 ¶ When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance unto life.

19 ¶ And they which were scattered abroad because of the affliction that arose about Stephen, went throughout till they came unto Phönicia and Cyprus, and Antioch, preaching the word to no man, but unto the Jews only.

20 ¶ Now some of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antioch, spake unto the Grecians, and preached the Lord Jesus.

21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, so that a great number believed and turned unto the Lord.

22 ¶ Then tidings of those things came unto the ears of the Church, which was in Jerusalem, and they sent forth Barnabas, that he should go unto Antioch.

23 Who when he was come and had seen the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpose of heart they would continue in the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost, and faith and much people joined themselves unto the Lord.

25 ¶ Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus to seek Paul:

26 And when he had found him, he brought him unto Antioch: and it came to pass that a whole year they were conversant with the Church, and taught much people, insomuch that the disciples were first called Christians in Antioch.

27 ¶ In those days also came Prophets from Jerusalem unto Antioch.

28 And there stood up one of them named Agabus, and signified by the Spirit, that there should be great famine throughout all the world, which also came to pass under Claudius Caesar.

29 ¶ Then the disciples every man according to his 12 Now about that time, Herod the king stretched forth his hand to vex certain of the Church, and killed James the brother of John with the sword.

2 And he killed James the brother of John with the sword.

3 And when he saw that it pleased the Jews, he proceeded further, to take Peter also (then were the days of unleavened bread.)

4 And when he had caught him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to four quaternions of soldiers to be kept, intending after the Passover to bring him forth to the people.

5 So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer was made of the Church unto God for him.

6 And when Herod would have brought him out unto the people, the same night slept Peter between two soldiers, bound with two chains, and the keepers before the door, kept the prison.

7 And behold the Angel of the Lord came upon him, and smote Peter on the side, and raised him up, saying, Arise quickly. And his chains fell off from his hands.

8 And the Angel said unto him, Gird thyself, and bind on thy sandals. And so he did. Then he said unto him, Cast thy garment about thee, and follow me.

9 So Peter came out and followed him, and knew not that it was true, which was done by the Angel, but thought he had seen a vision.

10 Now when they were past the first and the second watch, they came unto the iron gate that leadeth unto the city, which opened to them by its own accord, and they went out, and passed through one street, and by and by the Angel departed from him.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to himself, he said, Now I know for a truth, that the Lord hath sent his Angel, and hath delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the waiting for of the people of the Jews.

12 ¶ And as he considered the thing, he came to the house of Mary, the mother of John, whose surname was Mark, where many were gathered together, and prayed.

13 ¶ And when Peter knocked at the entry door, a maid came forth to hearken, named Rhoda.

14 But when she knew Peter’s voice, she opened not the entry door for gladness, but ran in, and told how Peter stood before the entry.

15 But they said unto her, Thou art mad. Yet she affirmed it constantly, that it was so. Then said they, It is his Angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened it, and saw him, they were astonished.

17 ¶ And he beckoned unto them with the hand, to hold their peace, and told them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, Go show these things unto James and to the brethren: and he departed and went into another place.

18 ¶ Now as soon as it was day, there was no small trouble among the soldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, and commanded them to be led to be punished. And he went down from Judea to Caesarea, and there abode.

20 ¶ Then Herod was angry with them of Tyre and Sidon, but they came all with one accord unto him, and persuaded Blastus the King’s Chamberlain, and they desired peace, because their country was nourished by the King’s land.

21 And upon a day appointed, Herod arrayed himself to go into the city.
himself in royal apparel, and sat on the judgment seat, and made an oration unto them.

22 1 And the people gave a shout, saying, The voice of God, and not of man.
23 1 But immediately the Angel of the Lord smote him, because he 2 gave not glory unto God, so that he was eaten of worms, and gave up the ghost.
24 1 And the 2 word of God grew, and multiplied.
25 So Barnabas and Saul returned from Jerusalem, when they had fulfilled their office, and took with them John, whose surname was Mark.

13 2 The holy Ghost commandeth that Paul and Barnabas be separated unto him. 6 At Paphos, 8 Elymas the sorcerer 11 is stricken blind: 14 From whence being come to Antioch, 17 They preach the Gospel, 45 the Jews vehemently withstanding them.

1 1 There 1 were also in the Church that was at Antioch, certain Prophets and teachers, as Barnabas, and Simeon called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manaen (which had been brought up with 2 Herod the Tetrarch) and Saul.
2 1 Now as they 1 ministered to the Lord, and fasted, the holy Ghost said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the work whereunto I have 2 called them.
3 1 Then fasted they and prayed, and laid their hands on them, and let them go.
4 1 And they after they were sent forth of the holy Ghost, came down unto 2 Seleucia, and from thence they sailed to Cyprus.

5 And when they were at Salamis, they preached the word of God in the Synagogues of the Jews: and they had also John to 2 their minister.

12:22 1 The flattery of the people, maketh fools faint.
12:23 1 God resisteth the proud.
2 Josephus recordeth, that this king did not repress those flatterers’ tongues, and therefore at his death he complained and cried out of their vanity.
12:24 1 Tyrants build up the Church by plucking it down.
2 They that heard the word of God.
13:1 1 Paul with Barnabas is again the second time appointed Apostle of the Gentiles, not of man, neither by man, but by an extraordinary commandment of the holy Ghost.
2 The same was Antipas, which put John Baptist to death.
13:2 1 While they were busy doing their office, that is, as Chrysostom expoundeth it, while they were preaching.
2 The Lord is said to call (whereof this word (calling) cometh, which is usual in the Church) when he causeth that to be, which was not, whether you refer it to the matter itself or to any quality or thing about the matter: and it growtheth of this, because when things begin to be, then they have some name: as God’s mighty power is also declared thereby, who spake the word, and things were made.
13:3 1 Fast, and solemn prayers were used before the laying on of hands.
13:4 1 Paul and his companions do at the first bring Cyprus to the subjection and obedience of Christ.
2 Seleucia was a city of Cilicia, so called of Seleucus one of Alexander’s successors.

13:8 1 The devil maketh the conquest of Christ more glorious, in that that he setteth himself against him.
13:10 1 The sorcerer which was stricken of Paul with a corporal punishment (although extraordinarily) sheweth an example to lawful magistrates, how they ought to punish them which wickedly and obstinately hinder the course of the Gospel.
2 He noteth out such a fault, as whoso hath it, runneth headlong and with great desire to all kinds of wickedness with the least motion in the world.
13:11 1 His power which he sheweth in striking and beating down his enemies.
13:13 1 An example in one and the same company both of singular constancy, and also of great weakness.
13:14 1 This putteth a difference betwixt it, and Antioch which was in Syria.
13:15 1 In the Synagogue of the Jews (according to the pattern whereof Christian Congregations were instituted) first the Scriptures were read, then such as were learned were licensed by the rulers of the Synagogue to speak and expound.
2 Word for word. If there be any word in you: and this is a kind of speech taken from the Hebrews, whereby is meant, that the gifts of God’s grace are in us, as it were in treasure houses, and that they are not ours, but God’s: In like sort saith David, Thou hast put a new song in my mouth, Ps. 40:1.
exhortation for the people, say on.

16 Then Paul stood up and beckoned with the hand, and said, Men of Israel, and ye that fear God, hearken.

17 The God of this people of Israel chose our fathers, and exalted the people when they dwelt in the land of Egypt, and with an high arm brought them out thereof.

18 And about the time of forty years, suffered he their manners in the wilderness.

19 And he destroyed seven nations in the land of Canaan, and divided their land to them by lot.

20 Then afterward he gave unto them Judges about four hundred and fifty years, unto the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 So after that, they desired a King, and God gave unto them Saul, the son of Cis, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, by the space of forty years.

22 And after he had taken him away, he raised up David to be their King, of whom he witnessed, saying, I have found David the son of Jesse, a man after mine own heart, which will do all things that I will.

23 Of this man’s seed hath God, according to his promise raised up to Israel, the Savior Jesus:

24 When John had first preached before his coming the baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel.

25 And when John had fulfilled his course, he said, Whom ye think that I am, I am not he: but behold, there cometh one after me, whose shoe of his feet I am not worthy to loose.

26 Ye men and brethren, children of the generation of Abraham, and whosoever among you feareth God, to you is the word of this salvation sent.

27 For the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and their rulers, because they knew him not, nor yet the words of the Prophets, which are read every Sabbath day, they have fulfilled them in condemning him.

28 And though they found no cause of death in him, yet desired they Pilate to kill him.

29 And when they had fulfilled all things that were written of him, they took him down from the tree, and put him in a sepulcher.

30 But God raised him up from the dead.

31 And he was seen many days of them, which came up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem, which are his witnesses unto the people.

32 And we declare unto you, that touching the promise made unto the fathers, 33 God hath fulfilled it unto us their children, in that he raised up Jesus, even as it is written in the second Psalm, Thou art my Son: this day have I begotten thee.

34 Now as concerning that he raised him up from the dead, no more to return to corruption, he hath said thus, I will give you the holy things of David, which are faithful.

35 Wherefore he saith also in another place, Thou wilt not suffer thine holy one to see corruption.

36 Howbeit, David after he had served his time among the prophets, and was advanced and brought to honor.

37 Of this man’s seed hath God, according to his promise raised up to Israel, the Savior Jesus:

38 Be it known unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins.

39 And from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the Law of Moses, by him everyone... that believeth, is justified.
40 1Beware therefore lest that come upon you, which is spoken of in the Prophets,
41 1Behold, ye despisers, and wonder, and vanish away: for I work a work in your days, a work which ye shall not believe, if a man would declare it you.
42 1And when they were come out of the Synagogue of the Jews, the Gentiles besought, that they would preach these words to them the next Sabbath day.
43 Now when the congregation was dissolved, many of the Jews and 1Proselytes that feared God, followed Paul and Barnabas, which spake unto them, and exhorted them to continue in the grace of God.
44 And the next Sabbath day came almost the whole city together, to hear the word of God.
45 1But when the Jews saw the people, they were full of envy, and spake against those things, which were spoken of Paul, contrarying them, and railing on them.
46 1Then Paul and Barnabas spake boldly, and said, It was necessary that the word of God should first have been spoken unto you; but seeing ye put it from you, and judge yourselves unworthy of everlasting life, lo, we turn to the Gentiles.
47 For so hath the Lord commanded us, saying, 1I have made thee a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be the salvation unto the end of the world.
48 And when the Gentiles heard it, they were glad, and glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were 1ordained unto eternal life, believed.
49 1Thus the word of the Lord was published throughout the whole country.
50 1But the Jews stirred certain 2devout and honorable women, and the chief men of the city, and raised persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coasts.

13:40 1The benefits of God turn to the utter undoing of them that content them.
13:41 1The Gentiles go before the Jews into the kingdom of heaven.
13:43 1Which had forsaken their heathenish religion, and embraced the religion set forth by Moses.
13:45 1The favor of one selfsame Gospel is unto the reprobate and unbelievers, death, and to the elect and such as believe, life.
13:46 1The Gospel is published to the Gentiles by the express commandment of God.
2By this your doing you do as it were, pronounce sentence against yourselves, and judge yourselves.
13:48 1Therefore either all were not appointed to everlasting life, or else all should have believed: but because that is not so, it followed, that some certain were ordained, and therefore God did not only foreknow, but also foreordain, that neither faith nor the effects of faith should be the cause of his ordaining or appointment, but his ordaining the cause of faith.
13:50 1Such is the craft and subtlety of the enemies of the Gospel, that they abuse the simplicity of some which are not altogether evil men, to execute their cruelty.

1 Hab. 15
4 Isa. 49:6
2Matt. 20:14
Luke 9:5
Acts 18:6

51 1But they shook off the dust of their feet against them, and came unto Iconium.
52 And the disciples were filled with joy, and with the holy Ghost.

14 1Paul and Barnabas 5 are persecuted at Iconium: 6 At Lystra Paul 10 healed a cripple: 13 They are about to do sacrifice unto them, 18 but they forbad it. 19 Paul by the persuasion of certain Jews, is stoned: 23 From thence passing through divers Churches, 26 They return to Antioch.
1 And 4it came to pass in 2Iconium, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Jews, and so spake, that a great multitude both of the Jews and of the Grecians believed.
2 And the 4unbelieving Jews stirred up, and corrupted the minds of the Gentiles against the brethren.
3 1So therefore they abode there a long time, and spake boldly in the Lord, which gave testimony unto the word of his grace, and caused signs and wonders to be done by their hands.
4 But the multitude of the city was divided: and some were with the Jews, and some with the Apostles.
5 And when there was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and of the Jews with their rulers, to do them violence, and to stone them,
6 They were ware of it, and 4fled unto Lystra, and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and unto the region round about,
7 And there preached the Gospel.
8 4Now there sat a certain man at Lystra, impotent in his feet, which was a cripple from his mother’s womb, who had never walked.
9 He heard Paul speak: who beholding him and perceiving that he had faith to be healed,
10 Said with a loud voice, Stand upright on thy legs.

51:2 Such as embraced Moses’ Law.
13:51 1The wickedness of the world cannot let God to gather his Church together, and to foster and cherish it, when it is gathered together.
14:1 1We ought to be no less constant in preaching of the Gospel, than the perverseness of the wicked is obstinate in persecuting of it.
14:2 1Which obeyed not the doctrine.
14:3 1We ought not to leave our places and give place to threatenings, neither to open rage, but when there is no other remedy, and that not for our own quietness sake, but that the Gospel of Christ may be spread further abroad.
14:4 1It is lawful sometimes to flee dangers, in time convenient.
14:8 1It is an old subtlety of the devil, either to cause the faithful servants of God to be banished at once, or to be worshipped for idols: and that chiefly taking occasion by miracles wrought by them.
11
 Then when the people saw what Paul had done, they lifted up their voices, saying in the speech of Lycaonia, Gods are come down to us in the likeness of men.

12 And they called Barnabas, Jupiter: and Paul Mercurius, because he was the chief speaker.

13 Then Jupiter's Priest, which was before their city, brought bulls with garlands unto the gates, and would have sacrificed with the people.

14 But when the Apostles, Barnabas and Paul heard it, they rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, crying,

15 And saying, O men, why do ye these things? We are even men subject to the like passions that ye be, and preach unto you, that ye should turn from these vain things unto the living God, which made heaven and earth, and the sea, and all things that are in them are:

16 Who in times past suffered all the Gentiles to walk in their own ways.

17 Nevertheless, he left not himself without witness, in that he did good and gave us rain from heaven, and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with food, and gladness.

18 And speaking these things, scarce appeased they the multitude, that they had not sacrificed unto them.

19 Then there came certain Jews from Antioch and Iconium, which when they had persuaded the people, stoned Paul, and drew him out of the city, supposing he had been dead.

20 Howbeit, as the disciples stood round about him, he arose up, and came into the city, and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 And after they had preached the glad tidings of the Gospel to that city, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antioch.

22 Confirming the disciples hearts, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, affirming that we must through many afflictions enter into the kingdom of God.

23 And when they had ordained them Elders by election in every Church, and prayed, and fasted, they commended them to the Lord in whom they believed.

24 Thus they went throughout Pisidia, and came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had preached the word in Perga, they came down to Attalia.

26 And thence sailed to Antioch, from whence they had been commended unto the grace of God, to the work, which they had fulfilled.

27 And when they were come and had gathered the Church together, they rehearsed all the things that God had done by them, and how he had opened the door of faith unto the Gentiles.

28 So there they abode a long time with the disciples.

15 Certain go about to bring in circumcision at Antioch: About which matter the Apostles consult: And what must be done they declare by letters. Paul and Barnabas are at great variance.

1 Then came down certain from Judea, and taught the brethren, saying, Except ye be circumcised after the manner of Moses, ye cannot be saved.

2 And when there was great dissension, and disputation by Paul and Barnabas against them, they ordained that Paul and Barnabas, and certain others of them, should go up to Jerusalem unto the Apostles and Elders about this question.

3 Thus being brought forth by the Church, they passed through Phoenicia and Samaria, declaring the conversion of the Gentiles, and they brought great joy unto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Jerusalem, they were received of the Church, and of the Apostles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them.

5 But said they, certain of the sect of the Pharisees, which did believe, rose up, saying that it was needful to circumcise them, and to command them to keep the Law of Moses.

6 Then the Apostles and Elders came together to look to this matter.

7 And when there had been great disputation, Peter rose up, and said unto them, 1Ye men and brethren, ye know that a good while ago, among us God chose our me, that the Gentiles by my mouth should hear the word of the Gospel, and believe.

8 And God which knoweth the hearts, bare them witness, in giving unto them the holy Ghost even as he did unto us.

9 And he put no difference between us and them, after that by faith he had purified their hearts.

10 Now therefore, why tempt ye God, as though he could not save by faith?

11 But we believe, through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ to be saved, even as they do.

12 Then all the multitude kept silence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which told what signs and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

13 And when they had their peace, James answered, saying, Men and brethren, hearken unto me.

14 Simeon hath declared, how God first did visit the Gentiles, to take of them a people unto his Name.

15 And to this agree the words of the Prophets, as it is written,

16 After this I will return, and will build again the Tabernacle of David, which is fallen down, and the ruins thereof will I build again, and I will set it up.

17 That the residue of men might seek after the Lord, and all the Gentiles upon whom my Name is called, saith the Lord which doeth all these things.

18 From the beginning of the world, God knoweth all his works.

19 Wherefore my sentence is, that we trouble not them of the Gentiles that are turned to God, 20 But that we send unto them, that they abstain themselves from filthiness of idols, and fornication, and that is strangled, and from blood.

21 For Moses of old time hath in every city them that preach him, seeing he is read in the Synagogues every Sabbath day.

22 Then it seemed good to the Apostles and Elders with the whole Church to send chosen men of their own company to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas: to wit, Judas whose surname was Barsabas, and Silas, which were chief men among the brethren.

23 And wrote letters by them after this manner, THE APOSTLES, and the Elders, and the brethren, Unto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antioch and in Syria, and in Cilicia, send greeting.

24 Forasmuch as we have heard, that certain which went out from us, have troubled you with words, and cumbered your minds, saying, Ye must be circumcised and keep the Law: to whom we gave no such commandment,

25 It seemed therefore good to us, when we were come together with one accord, to send chosen men

15:6 1 The matter is first handled, both parts being heard in the assembly of the Apostles and ancients, and after is communicated with the people.

15:7 1 God himself in calling of the Gentiles which are uncircumcised, did teach that our salvation doth consist in faith without the worship appointed by the Law.

2 Word for word, of old time, that is, even from the first time that we were commanded to preach the Gospel, and straightways after that the holy Ghost came down upon us.

15:9 1 He put no difference between us and them, as touching the benefit of his free favor.

15:10 1 Christ pronounceth them Blessed, which are pure of heart: and here we are plainly taught that men are made such by faith.

15:10 2 Peter passing from the Ceremonies to the Law itself in general, showeth that none could be saved, if salvation were to be sought for by the Law, and not by grace only in Jesus Christ: because that no man could ever fulfill the Law, neither Patriarch, nor Apostle.

2 Why tempt ye God, as though he could not save by faith?

15:12 1 A true pattern of a lawful Council, where God’s truth only reigneth.

15:13 1 The son of Alphaeus, who is called the Lord’s brother.

15:14 1 James confirmeth the calling of the Gentiles, out of the word of God, therein agreeing to Peter.

15:18 1 And therefore nothing cometh to pass by fortune, but by God’s appointment.

15:19 1 In matters indifferent we may so far bear with the weakness of our brethren, as they may have time to be instructed.

15:20 1 From sacrifices or from feasts which were kept in idols’ Temples.

15:22 1 In a lawful Synod, neither they which are appointed and chosen Judges, appoint and determine anything tyrannously or upon a coldness, neither doth the common multitude set themselves tumultuously against them, which sit as Judges by the word of God: as the like order also is held in publishing and ratifying those things which have been so determined and agreed upon.

15:24 1 The Council of Jerusalem concludeth, that they trouble men’s consciences, which teach us to seek salvation in any other means than in Christ only, apprehended by faith, from whencesoever they come, and whomsoever they pretend to be author of their vocation.

2 From our congregation.

3 A borrowed kind of speech taken of them which pull down that which was built up: and it is a very usual metaphor in the Scriptures: to say the Church is built, for, the Church is planted and stablished.
unto you, with our beloved Barnabas and Paul.

26 Men that have given up their lives for the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

27 We have therefore sent Judas and Silas, which shall also tell you the same things by mouth.

28 For it seemed good to the holy Ghost, and to us, to lay no more burden upon you, than these necessary things.

29 That is, that ye abstain from things offered to idols, and blood, and that that is strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keep yourselves, ye shall do well. Fare ye well.

30 Now when they were departed, they came to Antioch, and after that they had assembled the multitude, they delivered the Epistle, 31 And when they had read it, they rejoiced for the consolation.

32 And Judas and Silas being Prophets, exhorted the brethren with many words, and strengthened them.

33 And after they had tarried there a space, they were let go in peace of the brethren unto the Apostles.

34 Notwithstanding Silas thought good to abide there still.

35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antioch, teaching and preaching with many others the word of the Lord.

36 ¶ But after certain days, Paul said unto Barnabas, Let us return and visit our brethren in every city, where we have preached the word of the Lord, and see how they do.

37 And Barnabas counseled to take with them John, called Mark.

38 But Paul thought it not meet to take him unto their company, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the work.

39 Then were they so stirred, that they departed asunder one from the other, so that Barnabas took Mark, and sailed unto Cyprus.

40 And Paul chose Silas and departed, being commended of the brethren unto the grace of God.

41 And he went through Syria and Cilicia, establishing the Churches.

16 1 Paul having circumcised Timothy, 12 being at Philippi, 14 instructed Lydia in the faith. 16 The spirit of divination, 18 is by him cast out: 20 and for that cause 22 they are whipped, 24 and imprisoned. 26 Through an earthquake, 27 the prison doors are opened. 31, 32 The Gaoler receiveth the faith.

1 Then came he to Derbe and to Lystra: and behold, a certain disciple was there, named Timothy, a woman's son, which was a Jewess and believed, but his father was a Grecian,

2 Of whom the brethren which were at Lystra and Iconium, reported well.

3 Therefore Paul would that he should go forth with him, and took and circumcised him, because of the Jews, which were in those quarters: for they knew all that his father was a Grecian.

4 And as they went through the cities, they delivered them the decrees to keep, ordained of the Apostles and Elders which were at Jerusalem.

5 And so were the Churches established in the faith, [and] increased in number daily.

6 ¶ Now when they had gone throughout Phrygia and the region of Galatia, they were forbidden of the holy Ghost, to preach the word in Asia.

7 Then came they to Mysia, and sought to go into Bithynia: but the Spirit suffered them not.
8 Therefore they passed through Mysia, and came down to Troas,
9 Where a vision appeared to Paul in the night. There stood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come into Macedonia, and help us.
10 And after he had seen the vision, immediately we prepared to go into Macedonia, being assured that the Lord had called us to preach the Gospel unto them.
11 Then went we forth from Troas, and with a straight course came to Samothrace, and the next day to Neapolis.
12 And from thence to Philippi, which is the chief city in the parts of Macedonia, and whose inhabitants came from Rome to dwell there: and we were in that city abiding certain days.
13 And on the Sabbath day we went out of the city, besides a river, where they were wont to pray; and we sat down, and spake unto the women, which were come together.
14 And a certain woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of the Thyatirians, which worshipped God, heard us: whose heart the Lord opened, that she attended unto the things, which Paul spake.
15 And when she was baptized, and her household, she besought us, saying, If ye have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into mine house, and abide there: and she constrained us.
16 And it came to pass as we went to prayer, a certain maid having a spirit of divination, met us, which gat her masters much vantage with her divining.
17 She followed Paul and us, and cried, saying, These men are the servants of the most high God, by whom he helpeth persons in the Gospel.
18 And this did she many days: but Paul being grieved, turned about, and said to the spirit, I command thee in the Name of Jesus Christ, that thou come out of her. And he came out the same hour.
19 Now when her masters saw that the hope of their gain was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drew them into the marketplace unto the Magistrates.
20 And brought them to the governors, saying, These men which are Jews trouble our city, 21 And preach ordinances, which are not lawful for us to receive, neither to observe, seeing we are Romans.
22 The people also rose up together against them, and the governors rent their clothes, and commanded them to be beaten with rods.
23 And when they had beaten them sore, they cast them into prison, commanding the Gaoler to keep them surely.
24 Who having received such commandment, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feet fast in the stocks.
25 Now at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sung Psalms unto God: and the prisoners heard them.
26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundation of the prison was shaken: and by and by all the doors opened, and every man's bands were loosed.
27 Then the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleep, and when he saw the prison doors open, he drew out his sword and would have killed himself, supposing the prisoners had been fled.
28 But Paul cried with a loud voice, saying, Do thyself no harm: for we all are here.
29 Then he called for a light, and leaped in, and came trembling, and fell down before Paul and Silas.
30 And brought them out, and said, Sirs, what must I do to be saved?
31 And they said, Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thine household.
32 And they preached unto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in the house.
33 Afterward he took them the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized with all that belonged unto him straightway.
34 And when he had brought them into his house, he set meat before them, and rejoiced that he with all his household believed in God.
35 And when it was day, the governors sent the sergeants, saying, Let those men go.
36 Then the keeper of the prison told these words unto Paul, saying, The governors have sent to loose you: now therefore get you hence, and go in peace.
37 Then said Paul unto them, After that they have beaten us openly uncondemned, which are Romans, they have cast us into prison, and now would they put us out privily? nay verily: but let them come and bring us out.
38 And the sergeants told these words unto the governors, who feared when they heard that they were Romans.
39 Then came they and prayed them, and brought them out, and desired them to depart out of the city.
40 And they went out of the prison, and entered into the house of Lydia: and when they had seen the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

17 1 Paul at Thessalonica 3 preaching Christ, 6, 7 is entertained of Jason: 10 He is sent to Berea: 15 from thence coming to Athens, 19 in Mars’ street 23 he preacheth the living God to them unknown, 34 and so many are converted unto Christ.
1 Now as they passed through Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagogue of the Jews.
2 And Paul, as his manner was, went in unto them, and three Sabbath days disputed with them by the Scriptures,
3 Opening, and alleging that Christ must have suffered, and risen again from the dead, and this is Jesus Christ, whom said he, I preach to you.
4 And some of them believed, and joined in company with Paul and Silas: also of the Grecians that feared God a great multitude, and of the chief women not a few.
5 But the Jews which believed not, moved with envy, took unto them certain vagabonds and wicked fellows, and when they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the city, and made assault against the house of Jason, and sought to bring them out to the people.
6 But when they found them not, they drew Jason and certain brethren unto the heads of the city, crying, These are they which have subverted the state of the world, and here they are,
7 Whom Jason hath received, and these all do against the decrees of Caesar, saying, that there is another King one Jesus.
8 Then they troubled the people, and the heads of the city, when they heard these things.
9 Notwithstanding when they had received sufficient assurance of Jason and of the others, they let them go.
10 And the brethren immediately sent away Paul and Silas by night unto Berea, which when they were come thither, entered into the Synagogue of the Jews.
11 These were also more noble men than they which were at Thessalonica, which received the word with all readiness, and searched the Scriptures daily, whether those things were so.
12 Therefore many of them believed, and of honest women, which were Grecians, and men not a few.
13 ¶ But when the Jews of Thessalonica knew, that the word of God was also preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also, and moved the people.
14 But by and by the brethren sent away Paul to 16:33 1 God with one selfsame hand woundeth and healeth, when it pleaseth him.

16:35 1 Shame and confusion is in process of time, the reward of wicked and unjust Magistrates.
16:37 1 We must not render injury for injury, and yet notwithstanding it is lawful for us to use such helps as God giveth us, to bridle the outrageousness of the wicked, that they hurt not others in like sort.
16:38 1 The wicked are not moved with the fear of God, but with envying, taking unto them certain vagabonds and wicked fellows, and when they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the city, and made assault against the house of Jason, and sought to bring them out to the people.
16:39 1 But the Jews which believed not, moved with envy, took unto them certain vagabonds and wicked fellows, and when they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the city, and made assault against the house of Jason, and sought to bring them out to the people.
17:1 1 Into what country and place soever they come, they cause sedition and tumult.
17:6 1 When Jason had put them in good assurance that they should appear.
17:9 1 The casting out of Silas and Paul, was the saving of many others.
17:13 1 The Lord setteth out in one moment, and in one people, divers examples of his unsearchable wisdom, to cause them to fear him.
17:14 1 There is neither counsel, nor fury, nor madness, against the Lord.
And they that did conduct Paul, brought him unto Athens: and when they had received a commandment unto Silas and Timothy that they should come to him at once, they departed.

Now while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirit was stirred in him, when he saw the city subject to idolatry.

Therefore he disputeth in the Synagogue with the Jews, and with them that were religious, and in the market daily with whomsoever he met.

Then certain Philosophers of the Epicureans, and of the Stoics, disputed with him, and some said, What will this babble say? Others said, He seemeth to be a setter forth of strange gods (because he preached unto them Jesus, and the resurrection.)

And they took him, and brought him into Mars' street, saying, May we not know, what this new doctrine, whereof thou speakest, is?

For thou bringest certain strange things unto our ears: we would know therefore what these things mean.

For all the Athenians and strangers which dwelt there, gave themselves to nothing else, but either to tell, or to hear some news.

Then Paul stood in the midst of Mars' street, and said, Ye men of Athens, I perceive that in all things ye are too superstitious.

For as I passed by, and beheld your devotions, and said, Ye men of Athens, I perceive that in all, there is a certain narrow place whereunto the city is dedicated, and an altar wherein is written, UNTO THE UNKNOWN GOD. Whom ye then ignorantly worship, him show I unto you.

God that made the world, and all things that are therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands.

Neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though he needed anything, seeing he giveth to all life and breath and all things,

And hath made of one blood all mankind, to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath assigned the seasons which were ordained before, and the bounds of their habitation,

That they should seek the Lord, if so be they might have groped after him, and found him, though doubtless he be not far from every one of us.

For in him we live, and move, and have our being, as also certain of your own Poets have said: For we are also his generation.

Forasmuch then, as we are the generation of God, we ought not to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone graven by art and the invention of man.

And the time of this ignorance God regarded not: but now he admonisheth all men everywhere to repent.

Because he hath appointed a day in the which he will judge the world in righteousness, by that man whom he hath appointed, whereof he hath given an assurance to all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead.
ACTS 17:32

18 As Paul at Corinth 6 taught the Gentiles, 9 the Lord comforted him. 12 He is accused before Gallio, 16 but in vain: 18 From thence he sailed to Syria, 19 and so to Ephesus. 23 At Galatia and Phrygia he strengtheneth the disciples. 24 Apollos being more perfectly instructed by Aquila, 28 preacheth Christ with great efficacy.

1 After these things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinth,

2 And found a certain Jew named Aquila, born in Pontus, lately come from Italy, and his wife Priscilla (because that Claudius had commanded all Jews to depart from Rome) and he came unto them.

3 And because he was of the same craft, he abode with them and wrought (for their craft was to make tents.)

4 1And he disputed in the Synagogue every Sabbath day, and exhorted the Jews, and the Grecians.

5 Now when Silas and Timothy were come from Macedonia, Paul, 4forced in spirit, testified to the Jews that Jesus was the Christ.

6 1And when they resisted and blasphemed, he shook his raiment, and said unto them, Your blood be upon your own head: I am clean: from henceforth will I go unto the Gentiles.

7 So he departed thence, and entered into a certain man's house, named Justus, a worshipper of God, whose house joined hard to the Synagogue.

32 1Now when they had heard of the resurrection from the dead, some mocked, and others said, We will hear thee again of this thing.

33 And so Paul departed from among them.

34 Howbeit certain men clave unto Paul, and believed: among whom was also Dionysius Areopagite, and a woman named Damaris, and others with them.

8 And Crispus the chief ruler of the Synagogue, believed in the Lord with all his household: and many of the Corinthians hearing it, believed and were baptized.

9 1Then said the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Fear not, but speak, and hold not thy peace.

10 For I am with thee, and no man shall lay hands on thee to hurt thee: for I have much people in this city.

11 So he continued there a year and six months, and taught the word of God among them.

12 ¶ Now when Gallio was deputy of Achaia, the Jews arose with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the judgment seat.

13 Saying, This fellow persuadeth men to worship God otherwise than the Law appointeth.

14 And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said unto the Jews, If it were a matter of wrong, or an evil deed, O ye Jews, I would according to reason maintain you.

15 But if it be a question of words and names, and of your Law, look ye to it yourselves: for I will be no judge of those things.

16 And he drove them from the judgment seat.

17 Then took all the Grecians Sosthenes the chief ruler of the Synagogue, and beat him before the judgment seat: but Gallio cared nothing for those things.

18 But when Paul had tarried there yet a good while, he took leave of the brethren, and sailed into Syria, (and with him Priscilla and Aquila) after that he had shorn his head in Cenchrea: for he had made a vow.

19 Then he came to Ephesus, and left them there: but he entered into the Synagogue and disputed with the Jews.
ACTS 19:14

19:1 Certain disciples at Ephesus, having only received John's baptism, and know not the visible gifts of the holy Ghost, wherewith God had beautified his Son's kingdom. 2 And they which had the gift of working miracles, and laid their hands on them that were possessed with devils, were also so strengthened in the Name of God: and in the beginning of the Church, there were not many that did exercise this power. 3 But there were certain sons of Sceva a Jew, and mighty in the Scriptures. 4 And when he had come down to Caesarea, he parted, and went through the country of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples. 5 And when he came down to Mysia, he came to Ephesus, and found certain disciples; 6 And they which had the gift of working miracles, and laid their hands on them that were possessed with devils, were also so strengthened in the Name of God: and in the beginning of the Church, there were not many that did exercise this power. 7 But there were certain sons of Sceva a Jew, and mighty in the Scriptures. 8 And when he had tarried there a while, he departed, and went through the country of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples. 9 And when he was minded to go into Achaia, he came to Ephesus, and found certain disciples; 10 And he began to speak boldly in the Synagogue. 11 And God wrought no small miracles by the hands of Paul, 12 So that from his body were brought unto the sick, kerchiefs, or handkerchiefs, and the diseases were cured. 13 The Jewish exorcists were burnt. 14 And he began to speak boldly in the Synagogue. 15 And a certain Jew named Apollos, born at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and mighty in the Scriptures. 16 So Paul laid his hands upon them, and expounded unto him the way of God more perfectly. 17 And when he had come down to Caesarea, he parted, and went through the country of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples. 18 And when he was minded to go into Achaia, he came to Ephesus, and found certain disciples; 19 And he began to speak boldly in the Synagogue. 20 And when he had tarried there a while, he departed, and went through the country of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples. 21 But bade them farewell, saying, I must needs keep this feast that cometh, in Jerusalem: but I will return again unto you, if God will. So he sailed from Ephesus.

22 ¶ And when he came down to Caesarea, he went up to Jerusalem: and when he had saluted the Church, he went down unto Antioch. 23 Now when he had tarried there a while, he departed, and went through the country of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples. 24 And when he was minded to go into Achaia, he came to Ephesus, and found certain disciples; 25 And he began to speak boldly in the Synagogue. Whom when Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they took him unto them, and expounded unto him the way of God more perfectly. 26 And when he was minded to go into Achaia, he brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to come unto him. And when he came down to Caesarea, he parted, and went through the country of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples. 27 And when he was minded to go into Achaia, he brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to come unto him. And when he came down to Caesarea, he parted, and went through the country of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples. 28 For mightily he confuted publicly the Jews, and showed by the Scriptures, that Jesus was that Christ. 29 And saying unto them, Have ye received the holy Ghost since ye believed? And they said unto him, We have not so much as heard whether there be an holy Ghost. 30 And he said unto them, Unto what were ye then baptized? And they said, Unto John's baptism. 31 Then said Paul, John verily baptized with the baptism of repentance, saying unto the people, that they should believe in him, which should come after him, that is, in Christ Jesus.

32 And when he had heard it, they were baptized in the Name of the Lord Jesus. 33 So Paul laid his hands upon them, and the holy Ghost came on them, and they spake the tongues, and prophesied. 34 And all the men were about twelve. 35 Moreover he went into the Synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three months, disputing and exhorting to the things that appertain to the kingdom of God. 36 But when certain were hardened, and disobeyed, speaking evil of the way of God before the multitude, he departed from them, and separated the disciples, and disputed daily in the school of one Tyranus. 37 And this was done by the space of two years, so that all they which dwelt in Asia, heard the word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Grecians. 38 And God wrought no small miracles by the hands of Paul, 39 So that from his body were brought unto the sick, kerchiefs, or handkerchiefs, and the diseases departed from them, and the evil spirits went out of them. 40 Then certain of the vagabond Jews, exorcists took in hand to name over them which had evil spirits, the name of the Lord Jesus, saying, We adjure you by Jesus, whom Paul preacheth. 41 And there were certain sons of Sceva a Jew, who had possessed a devil, and were not able to master him. 42 And they called over them in the name of Jesus whom Paul preacheth. 43 And the evil spirit answered and said, I know him whom Paul preacheth. 44 But I resist thee, Jesus, and by no means thou shalt cast me out. 45 And Jesus answered and said, I sent thee not that I should cast out devils; but that thou shouldest be testified in Israel. 46 And they began to call them, The Holy And they began to call them, The Holy Club, or The Free Club. 47 And the multitude of those that believed was at first much. 48 But the Jews which dwelt at Ephesus had much content. 49 And they called over them in the name of Jesus whom Paul preacheth. 50 And the evil spirit answered and said, I know him whom Paul preacheth. 51 But I resist thee, Jesus, and by no means thou shalt cast me out. 52 And Jesus answered and said, I sent thee not that I should cast out devils; but that thou shouldest be testified in Israel. 53 And they began to call them, The Holy Club, or The Free Club. 54 And the multitude of those that believed was at first much. 55 But the Jews which dwelt at Ephesus had much content.

ACTS 19:15

15 And the evil spirit answered, and said, Jesus I acknowledge, and Paul I know: but who are ye?
16 And the man in whom the evil spirit was, ran on them, and overcame them, and prevailed against them, so that they fled out of that house, naked and wounded.
17 And this was known to all the Jews and Grecians also which dwelt at Ephesus, and fear came on them all, and the Name of the Lord Jesus was magnified, 18 And many that believed, came and confessed, and showed their works.
19 Many also of them which used curious arts, brought their books, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it fifty thousand pieces of silver.
20 So the word of God grew mightily, and prevailed.
21 Now when these things were accomplished, Paul purposed by the Spirit to pass through Macedonia and Achaia, and to go to Jerusalem, saying, After I have been there, I must also see Rome.
22 So sent he into Macedonia two of them that ministered unto him, Timothy, and Erastus, but he remained in Asia for a season.
23 And the same time there arose no small trouble about that way.
24 For a certain man named Demetrius a silversmith, which made silver temples of Diana, brought great gains unto the craftsmen,
25 Whom he called together, with the workmen of like things, and said, Sirs, ye know that by this craft we have our goods:
26 Moreover ye see and hear, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul hath persuaded, and turned away much people, saying, That they be not Gods which are made with hands.
27 So that not only this thing is dangerous unto us, that this our portion shall be reproved, but also that the temple of the great goddess Diana should be nothing esteemed, and that it would come to pass that her magnificence, which all Asia and the world worshippeth, should be destroyed.
28 Now when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cried out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.
29 And the whole city was full of confusion, and they rushed into the common place with one assent, and caught Gaius, and Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, and Paul's companions of his journey.
30 And when Paul would have entered in unto the people, the disciples suffered him not.
31 Certain also of the chief of Asia, which were his friends, sent unto him, desiring him that he would not present himself in the Common place.
32 Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assembly was out of order, and the more part knew not wherefore they were come together.
33 And some of the company drew forth Alexander, the Jews thrusting him forwards. Alexander then beckoned with the hand, and would have excused the matter to the people.
34 But when they knew that he was a Jew, there arose a shout almost for the space of two hours, of all men, crying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.
35 Then the town clerk when he had stayed the people, said, Ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the city of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great goddess Diana, and of the image, which came down from Jupiter?
36 Seeing then that no man can speak against these things, ye ought to be appeased, and to do nothing rashly.
37 For ye have brought hither these men, which have neither committed sacrilege, neither do blaspheme your goddess.
38 Wherefore, if Demetrius and the craftsmen which are with him, have a matter against any man, the law is open, and there are Deputies: let them come to nought.

19:16 1 He prevailed against them, though they strove never so much.
19:18 2 Conjuring and sorcery is condemned by open testimony, and by the authority of the Apostle.
19:19 1 They that make the least value of it, reckon it to be about eight hundred pounds English.
19:21 2 By the motion of God's Spirit: therefore we may not say that Paul ran hand over head to death, but as the Spirit of God led him.
19:23 1 Gain cloaked with a show of religion is the very cause wherefore idolatry is stoutly and stubbornly defended.
19:24 1 These were certain counterfeit temples with Diana's picture in them which they bought that worshipped her.
19:27 1 As if he said, If Paul go on thus as he hath begun to confute the opinion which men have of Diana's image, all this our gain will come to nought.
19:31 1 There ought to be in all Christians and especially in the Ministers, an invincible constancy, which may not by any storms or assaults be overcome, which notwithstanding must suffer itself modestly to be governed by wisdom.
19:34 1 Instead of reason, the idolaters are sufficiently contented with their own madness and outcries, and those are the greatest defenses that they have.
19:35 1 An example of a political man who redeemeth peace and quietness with lies, which Paul would never have done.
19:38 1 Have ought to accuse any man of.
2 Corinthians 1:14
  1:14 The Ephesians believed superstitiously, that the image of Diana should be nothing esteemed, and that it would come to pass that her magnificence, which all Asia and the world worshippeth, should be destroyed.
accuse one another.

39 But if ye inquire anything concerning other matters, it may be determined in a lawful assembly.

40 For we are even in jeopardy to be accused of this day's sedition, forasmuch as there is no cause, whereby we may give a reason of this concourse of people.

41 And when he had thus spoken, he let the assembly depart.

20 1Paul appointed to go to Macedonia: 7 In Troas preaching until midnight,  9 Eutychus fell down dead out of a window. 10 he raised him to life: 15 At Miletus, 17 Having called the Elders of Ephesus together, 23 he declarèth what things shall come upon himself. 28 and others,

1 Now after the tumult was appeased, Paul called the disciples unto him, and embraced them, and departed to go into Macedonia.

2 And when he had gone through those parts, and had exhorted them with many words, he came into Greece.

3 And having tarried there three months, because the Jews laid wait for him, as he was about to sail into Syria, he purposed to return through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Asia, Sopater of Berea, and of them of Thessalonica, Aristarchus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timothy, and of them of Asia, Tychicus, and Trophimus.

5 These went before, and tarried us at Troas.

6 And we sailed forth from Philippi, after the days of unleavened bread, and came unto them to Troas in five days, where we abode seven days.

7 And the first day of the week, the disciples being come together to break bread, Paul preached unto them, ready to depart on the morrow, and continued the preaching unto midnight.

8 And there were many lights in an upper chamber, where they were gathered together.

9 And there sat in a window a certain young man, named Eutychus, fallen into a dead sleep:

10 But Paul went down, and laid himself upon him, and embraced him, saying, Trouble not yourselves: for his life is in him.

11 Then when Paul was come up again, and had broken bread, and eaten, having spoken a long while till the dawning of the day, he so departed.

12 And they brought the boy alive, and they were not a little comforted.

13 ¶ Then we went before to ship, and sailed unto the city Assos, that we might receive Paul there: for so had he appointed, and would himself go afoot.

14 Now when he was come unto us to Assos, and we had received him, we came to Mitylene.

15 And we sailed thence, and came the next day over against Chios, and the next day we arrived at Samos, and tarried at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletus.

16 ¶ For Paul had determined to sail by Ephesus, because he would not spend the time in Asia: for he hasted to be, if he could possible, at Jerusalem, at the day of Pentecost.

17 ¶ Wherefore from Miletus, he sent to Ephesus, and called the Elders of the Church.

18 Who when they were come to him, he said unto them, Ye know from the first day that I came into Asia, after what manner I have been with you at all seasons,

19 Serving the Lord with all modesty, and with many tears, and temptations, which came unto me by the layings await of the Jews,

20 And how I kept back nothing that was profitable, but have showed you, and taught you openly and throughout every house.

21 Witnessing both to the Jews, and to the Grecians the repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ.

22 1And now behold, I go bound in the Spirit... unto Jerusalem, and know not what things shall come unto me there.

23 Save that the holy Ghost witnesseth in every city, saying, that bonds and afflictions abide me.

24 But I pass not at all, neither is my life dear unto myself, so that I may fulfill my course with joy, and the ministration which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the Gospel of the grace of God.

25 And now behold, I know that henceforth ye all, through whom I have gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more.

26 Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men.

27 For I have kept nothing back, but have showed you all the counsel of God.

28 Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, wherein ye have imparted in me, and that I may be a countenance not to you, but to them which are absent, and have left them to see your face with joy.

29 For I know this, that after my departing shall another pastor arise, and it shall grieve my heart when I remember thee.

30 Moreover of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw disciples after them.

31 Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn everyone, both night and day with tears.

32 And now I commit you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build up and to give you an inheritance, among all them that are sanctified.

33 I have coveted no man's silver, nor gold, nor apparel.

34 Yea, ye know, that these hands have ministered unto you all and to your necessities, and to them that were with me.

35 I have showed you all things, how that so laboring, ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how that he said, It is a blessed thing to give, rather than to receive.

36 And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled down, and prayed with them all.

37 Then they wept all abundantly, and fell on Paul's neck, and kissed him.

38 Being chiefly sorry for the words which he spake, That they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him unto the ship.

21 Paul goeth toward Jerusalem:

1 As we launched forth, and were departed from them, we came with a straight course unto Cos, and the day following unto the Rhodes, and from thence unto Patara.

2 And we found a ship that went over unto Phocinia, and went aboard, and set forth.

3 And when we had discovered Cyprus, we left it on the lefthand, and sailed toward Syria, and arrived at Tyre: for there the ship unladed the burden.

4 And when we had found disciples, we tarried there seven days. And they told Paul through the Spirit, that he should not go up to Jerusalem.

5 But when the days were ended, we departed and went our way, and they all accompanied us with their wives and children, even out of the city: and we kneeled down on the shore, prayed.

6 Then when we had embraced one another, we took ship, and they returned home.

7 And when we had ended the course from Tyre, we arrived at Ptolemais, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.

8 And the next day, Paul and we that were with him, departed, and came unto Caesarea: and we entered into the house of Philip the Evangelist, which was one of the seven Deacons, and abode with him.
9 Now he had four daughters, virgins, which did prophesy.
10 And as we tarried there many days, there came a certain Prophet from Judea, named Agabus.
11 And when he was come unto us, he took Paul's girdle, and bound his own hands and feet, and said, Thus saith the holy Ghost, So shall the Jews at Jerusalem bind the man that oweth this girdle, and shall deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles.
12 And when we had heard these things, both we and others of the same place besought him that he would not go up to Jerusalem.
13 Then Paul answered, and said, What do ye weeping and breaking mine heart? For I am ready not to be bound only, but also to die at Jerusalem for the Name of the Lord Jesus.
14 So when he would not be persuaded, we ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be done.
15 And after those days we trusted up our fardels, and went up to Jerusalem.
16 There went with us also certain of the disciples of Caesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an old disciple, with whom we should lodge.
17 And when we were come to Jerusalem, the brethren received us gladly.
18 And the next day Paul went in with us unto James: and all the Elders were there assembled.
19 And when he had embraced them, he told by order all things, that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministration.
20 So when they heard it, they glorified God, and said unto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousand Jews there are which believe, and they are zealous of the Law:
21 Now they are informed of thee, that thou teakest all the Jews, which are among the Gentiles, to forsake Moses, and sayest that they ought not to circumcise their sons, neither to live after the customs.
22 What is then to be done? the multitude must needs come together: for they shall hear that thou art come.
23 Do therefore this that we say to thee. We have four men, which have made a vow,
24 Them take, and purify thyself with them, and contribute with them, that they may shave their heads: and all shall know, that those things, whereof they have been informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thyself also walkest and keepest the Law.
25 For as touching the Gentiles, which believe, we have written, and determined that they observe no such thing, but that they keep themselves from things offered to idols, and from blood, and from that which is strangled, and from fornication.
26 Then Paul took the men, and the next day was purified with them, and entered into the Temple, declaring the accomplishment of the days of the purification, until that an offering should be offered for everyone of them.
27 And when the seven days were almost ended, the Jews which were of Asia (when they saw him in the Temple) moved all the people, and laid hands on him.
28 Crying, Men of Israel, help: this is the man that teacheth all men everywhere against the people, and the Law, and this place: moreover, he hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place.
29 For they had seen before Trophimus an Ephesian with him in the city, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the Temple.
30 Then all the city was moved, and the people ran together: and they took Paul, and drew him out of the Temple, and forthwith the doors were shut.
31 But as they went about to kill him, tidings came unto the chief captain of the band, that all Jerusalem was on an uproar.
32 Who immediately took soldiers and Centurions, and ran down unto them: and when they saw the chief captain and the soldiers, they left beating of Paul.
33 Then the chief Captain came near and took him, and commanded him to be bound with two chains, and demanded who he was, and what he had done.
34 And one cried this, another that, among the people. So when he could not know the certainty for the tumult, he commanded him to be led into the castle.
35 And when he came unto the greekes, it was so unclear, but of such as were subject to the vow of the Nazarites.
24 Then Paul took the men, and purify thyself with them, and contribute with them, that they may shave their heads: and all shall know, that those things, whereof they have been informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thyself also walkest and keepest the Law.
25 For as touching the Gentiles, which believe, we have written, and determined that they observe no such thing, but that they keep themselves from things offered to idols, and from blood, and from that which is strangled, and from fornication.
26 Then Paul took the men, and the next day was purified with them, and entered into the Temple, declaring the accomplishment of the days of the purification, until that an offering should be offered for everyone of them.
27 And when the seven days were almost ended, the Jews which were of Asia (when they saw him in the Temple) moved all the people, and laid hands on him.
28 Crying, Men of Israel, help: this is the man that teacheth all men everywhere against the people, and the Law, and this place: moreover, he hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place.
29 For they had seen before Trophimus an Ephesian with him in the city, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the Temple.
30 Then all the city was moved, and the people ran together: and they took Paul, and drew him out of the Temple, and forthwith the doors were shut.
31 But as they went about to kill him, tidings came unto the chief captain of the band, that all Jerusalem was on an uproar.
32 Who immediately took soldiers and Centurions, and ran down unto them: and when they saw the chief captain and the soldiers, they left beating of Paul.
33 Then the chief Captain came near and took him, and commanded him to be bound with two chains, and demanded who he was, and what he had done.
34 And one cried this, another that, among the people. So when he could not know the certainty for the tumult, he commanded him to be led into the castle.
35 And when he came unto the greekes, it was so Francesco,
24 Then Paul took the men, and purify thyself with them, and contribute with them, that they may shave their heads: and all shall know, that those things, whereof they have been informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thyself also walkest and keepest the Law.
25 For as touching the Gentiles, which believe, we have written, and determined that they observe no such thing, but that they keep themselves from things offered to idols, and from blood, and from that which is strangled, and from fornication.
26 Then Paul took the men, and the next day was purified with them, and entered into the Temple, declaring the accomplishment of the days of the purification, until that an offering should be offered for everyone of them.
27 And when the seven days were almost ended, the Jews which were of Asia (when they saw him in the Temple) moved all the people, and laid hands on him.
28 Crying, Men of Israel, help: this is the man that teacheth all men everywhere against the people, and the Law, and this place: moreover, he hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place.

32 Who immediately took soldiers and Centurions, and ran down unto them: and when they saw the chief captain and the soldiers, they left beating of Paul.
33 Then the chief Captain came near and took him, and commanded him to be bound with two chains, and demanded who he was, and what he had done.
34 And one cried this, another that, among the people. So when he could not know the certainty for the tumult, he commanded him to be led into the castle.
35 And when he came unto the greekes, it was so that he was borne of the soldiers, for the violence of the people.
36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.
37 And as Paul should have been led into the castle, he said unto the chief captain, May I speak unto thee? Who said, Canst thou speak Greek?
38 Art not thou the Egyptian who before these days raised a sedition, and led out into the wilderness four thousand men that were murderers?
39 Then Paul said, Doubtless, I am a man which am a Jew, and citizen of Tarsus, a famous city of Cilicia, and I beseech thee, suffer me to speak unto the people.
40 And when he had given him license, Paul stood on the grieues, and beckoned with the hand unto the people, and when there was made great silence, he spake unto them in the Hebrew tongue, saying,

22 1 Paul yieldeth a reason of his faith, 22 and the Jews heard him awhile: 23 But so soon as they cried out, 24 He is commanded to be scourged and examined, 27 and so declareth that he is citizen of Rome.

1 Ye men, brethren and fathers, hear my defense now towards you.
2 (And when they heard that he spake in the Hebrew tongue to them, they kept the more silence, and he said,)
3 I am verily a man, which am a Jew, born in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought up in this city at the feet of Gamaliel, and instructed according to the perfect manner of the Law of the fathers, and was zealous toward God, as ye all are this day.
4 And I persecuted this way unto the death, binding and delivering into prison both men and women.
5 As also the chief Priest doth bear me witness, and all the company of the Elders: of whom also I received letters unto the brethren, and went to Damascus to bring them which were there, bound unto Jerusalem, that they might be punished.
6 ¶ And so it was, as I journeyed, and was come near unto Damascus about noon, that suddenly there shone from heaven a great light round about me.
7 So I fell unto the earth, and heard a voice, saying unto me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?
8 Then I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And he said to me, I am Jesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest.
9 Moreover they that were with me, saw indeed a light and were afraid: but they heard not the voice of him that spake unto me.
10 Then I said, What shall I do, Lord? And the Lord said unto me, Arise, and go into Damascus: and there it shall be told thee of all things, which are appointed for thee to do.
11 So when I could not see for the glory of that light, I was led by the hand of them that were with me, and came into Damascus.
12 And one Ananias a godly man, as pertaining to the Law, having good report of all the Jews which dwelt there, 13 Came unto me, and stood, and said unto me, Brother Saul, receive thy sight: and that same hour I looked upon him.
14 And he said, The God of our fathers hath appointed thee, that thou shouldst know his will, and shouldest see that Just one, and shouldest hear the voice of his mouth.
15 For thou shalt be his witness unto all men, of the things which thou hast seen and heard.
16 Now therefore why tarriest thou all men, of the things which thou hast seen and heard.
17 ¶ And it came to pass, that when I was come again to Jerusalem, and prayed in the Temple, I was in a trance, 18 And saw him, saying unto me, Make haste, and get thee quickly out of Jerusalem: for they will not receive thy witness concerning me.
19 Then I said, Lord, they know that I prisoned, and beat in every Synagogue them that believed in thee.
20 And when the blood of thy martyr Stephen was shed, I also stood by, and consented unto his death, and kept the clothes of them that slew him.
21 Then he said unto me, Depart: for I will send thee far hence unto the Gentiles.
22 ¶ And they heard him unto this word, but then they lifted up their voices, and said, Away with such a fellow from the earth: for it is not meet that he should live.
23 And as they cried and cast off their clothes, and threw dust into the air, 24 ¶The chief captain commanded him to be led of cutthroats, not by order of justice, but by open force for at that time the Jews could not put any man to death by Law.
21:38 1 Touching this Egyptian which assembled thirty thousand men, read Josephus, book 2, chap. 12.
22:3 That is, his daily hearer: the reason of this speech is this: for that they which teach, sit commonly in the higher place speaking to their scholars which sit upon forms beneath: and therefore he saith, at the feet of Gamaliel.
22:20 1 This is properly spoken: for Stephen was murdered of a sort of cutthroats, not by order of justice, but by open force for at that time the Jews could not put any man to death by Law.
22:25 1 And as they bound him with thongs, Paul said unto the Centurion that stood by, Is it lawful for you to scourge one that is a Roman, and not condemned?

22:26 1 Now when the Centurion heard it, he went, and told the chief captain, saying, Take heed what thou doest: for this man is a Roman.

22:27 1 Then the chief captain came, and said to him, Tell me, art thou a Roman? And he said, Yea.

22:28 1 And the chief captain answered, With a great sum obtained I this freedom. Then Paul said, But I was so born.

22:29 1 Then straightway they departed from him, which should have examined him: and the chief captain also was afraid, after he knew that he was a 1 Roman, and that he had bound him.

22:30 1 On the next day, because he would have known the certainty wherefore he was accused of the Jews, he loosed him from his bonds, and commanded the high Priests and all their Council to come together: and he brought Paul, and set him before them.

23:1 1 As Paul pleaded his cause, 2 Ananias commanded them to smite him. 7 Dissension among his accusers. 11 God encourageth him. 14 The Jews laying wait for Paul, 17 is declared unto the chief captain. 24 He sendeth him to Felix the Governor.

1 1 And 1 Paul beheld earnestly the Council, and said, Men and brethren, I have in all good conscience served God until this day.

2 1 Then the high Priest Ananias commanded them that stood by, to smite him on the mouth.

3 1 Then said Paul to him, God 2 will smite thee, thou 1 whitened wall: for thou sittest to judge me according to the Law, and 4 transgressing the Law, commandest thou me to be smitten?

4 1 And they that stood by, said, Revilest thou God's high Priest?

5 1 Then said Paul, I knew not brethren, that he was the high Priest: for it is written, 1 Thou shalt not speak evil of the ruler of thy people.

6 1 But when Paul perceived that the one part were of the Sadducees, and the other of the Pharisees, he cried in the Council, Men and brethren, 1 I am a Pharisee, the son of a Pharisee: I am accused of the hope and resurrection of the dead.

7 1 And when he had said this, there was a dissension between the Pharisees and the Sadducees, so that the multitude was divided.

8 1 For the Sadducees say that there is no resurrection, neither 2 Angel, nor spirit: but the Pharisees confess both.

9 1 Then there was a great cry: and the 2 Scribes of the Pharisees' part rose up, and strove, saying, We find none evil in this man: but if a spirit or an Angel hath spoken to him, let us not fight against God.

10 1 And when there was a great dissension, the chief captain, fearing lest Paul should have been pulled in pieces of them, commanded the soldiers to go down, and take him from among them, and to bring him into the castle.

11 1 Now the night following, the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good courage, Paul, for as thou hast testified of me in Jerusalem, so must thou bear witness also at Rome.

12 1 And when the day was come, certain of the Jews made an assembly, and bound themselves with a curse, saying, that they would neither eat nor drink till they had killed Paul.

13 1 And they were more than forty, which had made this conspiracy.

14 1 And they came to the chief Priests and Elders, and said, We have bound ourselves with a solemn curse, that we will eat nothing, until we have slain him.

23:5 1 We must willingly and from the heart give honor to Magistrates, although they be tyrants.

23:6 1 We may lawfully sometimes set the wicked together by the ears, that they may leave off to assault us, so that it be with no hindrance of the truth.

23:7 1 The concord of the wicked is weak although they conspire together to oppress the truth.

23:8 1 It is an old heresy of the Sadducees, to deny the substance of Angels and souls, and therewithall the resurrection of the dead.

23:9 1 The Lord when he pleaseth him, findeth defenders of his cause, even amongst his enemies.

23:10 1 God will not forsake his to the end.

23:11 1 Such as are carried away with a foolish zeal, think that they may lie and murder, and do whatsoever mischief they list.

23:14 2 They cursing and banning themselves, promised.
ACTS 23:15

Paul.

15 Now therefore, ye and the Council, signify to the chief captain, that he bring him forth unto you tomorrow, as though you would know something more perfectly of him, and we, or ever he come near will be ready to kill him.

16 But when Paul's sister's son heard of their laying await, he went, and entered into the castle, and told Paul.

17 And Paul called one of the Centurions unto him, and said, Take this young man hence unto the chief captain: for he hath a certain thing to show him.

18 So he took him, and brought him to the chief captain, and said, Paul the prisoner called me unto him, and prayed me to bring this young man unto thee, which hath something to say unto thee.

19 Then the chief captain took him by the hand, and went apart with him alone, and asked him, What hast thou to show me?

20 And he said, The Jews have conspired to desire thee, that thou wouldest bring forth Paul tomorrow into the Council, as though they would inquire somewhat of him more perfectly:

21 But let them not persuade thee: for there lie in wait for him of them, more than forty men, which have bound themselves with a curse, that they will neither eat nor drink, till they have killed him: and now are they ready, and wait for thy promise.

22 The chief captain then let the young man depart, after he had charged him to utter it to no man, that he had showed him these things.

23 And he called unto him two certain Centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred soldiers, that they may go to Caesarea, and horsemen threescore and ten, and two hundred with darts, at the third hour of the night:

24 And let them make ready an horse, that Paul being set on, may be brought safe unto Felix the governor.

25 And he wrote an Epistle in this manner:

26 Claudius Lysias unto the most noble governor Felix.

27 As this man was taken of the Jews, and should have been killed of them, I came upon them with a garrison, and rescued him, perceiving that he was a Roman.

28 And when I would have known the cause wherefore they accused him, I brought him forth into their Council.

29 There I perceived that he was accused of questions of their Law, but had no crime worthy of death, or of bonds.

30 And when it was showed me, how that the Jews laid wait for the man, I sent him straightway to thee, and commanded his accusers to speak before thee the things that they had against him.

31 Then the soldiers as it was commanded them, took Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 And the next day, they left the horsemen to go with him, and returned into the Castle.

33 Now when they came to Caesarea, they delivered the Epistle to the governor, and presented Paul also unto him.

34 So when the Governor had read it, he asked of what province he was: and when he understood that he was of Cilicia, 35 I will hear thee, said he, when thine accusers also are come, and commanded him to be kept in Herod's judgment hall.

24 2 Tertullus accuseth Paul: 10 He answereth for himself: 21 He preacheth Christ to the governor and his wife. 26 Felix hopeth, but in vain, to receive a bribe. 27 who going from his office, leaveth Paul in prison.

1 Now after five days, Ananias the high Priest came down with the Elders, and with Tertullus a certain orator, which appeared before the governor against Paul.

2 And when he was called forth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that we have obtained great quietness through thee, and that many worthy things are done unto this nation through thy providence,

3 We acknowledge it wholly, and in all places, most noble Felix, with all thanks.

4 But that I be not tedious unto thee, I pray thee, that thou wouldest hear us of thy courtesy a few words.

5 Certainly we have found this man a pestilent fellow, and a mover of sedition among all the Jews throughout the world, and a chief maintainer of the sect of the Nazarenes:

23:15 1 Ye and the Senate requiring the same to be done, lest that the Tribune should think that it was demanded of him at some private man's suit.

23:17 1 The wisdom of the Spirit must be joined with simplicity.

23:22 1 There is no counsel against the Lord and his servants.

23:26 1 Lyasias is suddenly made by the Lord Paul's patron.

24:1 1 Hypocrites, when they cannot do what they would do by force and deceit, at length they go about to compass it by a show of Law.

24:2 1 Felix ruled that province with great cruelty and covetousness, and yet Josephus recordeth that he did many worthy things, as that he took Eleazar the captain of certain cutthroats, and put that deceiving wretch the Egyptian to flight, which caused great troubles in Judea.

24:5 1 Word for word, a plague.

24:6 1 As you would say, a ringleader, or ensign bearer.

24:7 1 So they called the Christians scoffingly of the town's name where they thought that Christ was born, whereupon it came that Julian the Apostate called him Galilean.
6 And hath gone about to pollute the Temple: therefore we took him, and would have judged him according to our Law:
7 But the chief captain Lysias came upon us, and with great violence he took out of our hands,
8 Commanding his accusers to come to thee: of whom thou mayest (if thou wilt inquire) know all these things whereof we accuse him.
9 And the Jews likewise affirmed, saying that it was so.
10 Then Paul, after that the governor had beckoned unto him that he should speak, answered, I do the more gladly answer for myself, forasmuch as I know that thou hast been oft many years a judge unto this nation,
11 Seeing that thou mayest know, that there are but twelve days since I came up to worship in Jerusalem.
12 And they neither found me in the Temple, disputing with any man, neither making uproar among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the city.
13 Neither can they prove the things, whereof they now accuse me.
14 But this I confess unto thee, that after the way (which they call heresy) so worship I the God of my fathers, believing all things which are written in the Law and the Prophets,
15 And have hope towards God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselves look for also, shall be both of just and unjust.
16 And herein I endeavor myself to have always a clear conscience toward God and toward men.
17 Now after many years, I came and brought alms to my nation and offerings, 18 At what time, certain Jews of Asia found me purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult.
19 Who ought to have been present before thee, and accuse me, if they had ought against me.
20 Or let these themselves say, if they have found any unjust thing in me, while I stood in the Council, 21 Except it be for this one voice, that I cried standing among them, Of the resurrection of the dead am I accused of you this day.
22 Then when Felix heard these things, he deferred them, and said, When I shall more perfectly know the things which concern this way, by the coming of Lysias the chief Captain, I will decide your matter.
23 Then he commanded a Centurion to keep Paul, and that he should have ease, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister unto him, or to come unto him.
24 ¶ And after certain days, came Felix with his wife Drusilla, which was a Jewess, and he called forth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Christ.
25 And as he disputed of righteousness and temperance, and of the judgment to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time, and when I have convenient time, I will call for thee.
26 He hoped also that money should have been given him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore he sent for him the oftener, and communed with him.
27 When two years were expired, Porcius Festus came into Felix's room, and Felix willing to get favor of the Jews, left Paul bound.

24:22 ¶ The Judge suspendeth his sentence, because the matter is doubtful.
24:23 ¶ God is a most faithful keeper of his servants, and the force of the truth is wonderful, even amongst men which are otherwise profane.
24:24 ¶ This Drusilla was Agrippa's sister, of whom Luke speaketh afterward, a very harlot and licentious woman, and being the wife of Azesus king of the Emesens, who was circumcised, departed from him, and went to Felix, the brother of one Pallas, who was sometime Nero's bondman.
24:27 ¶ In a naughty mind that is guilty to itself, although, sometimes there be some show of equity, yet by and by, it will be extinguished: but in the mean season we have need to patience, and that continual.
2 For whereas he had behaved himself very wickedly in the province, had it not been for favor of his brother Pallas, he should have died for it: so that we may gather hereby why he would have pleased the Jews.
yet confirm the Church of God. 25:1

1 When Festus was then come into the province, after three days he went up from Caesarea unto Jerusalem. 2 Then the high Priest, and the chief of the Jews appeared before him against Paul; and they besought him, 3 And desired favor against him, that he would send for him to Jerusalem: and they laid wait to kill him by the way. 4 But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Caesarea, and that he himself would shortly depart thither. 5 Let them therefore, said he, which among you are able, come down with us: and if there be any wickedness in the man, let them accuse him. 6 But now when he had tarried among them no more than ten days, he went down to Caesarea, and the next day sat in the judgment seat, and commanded Paul to be brought. 7 And when he was come, the Jews which were come from Jerusalem, stood about him and laid many and grievous complaints against Paul, whereof they could make no plain proof. 8 Forasmuch as he answered, that he had neither offended anything against the law of the Jews, neither against the temple, nor against Caesar. 9 Yet Festus willing to get favor of the Jews, answered Paul and said, Wilt thou go up to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these things before me? 10 Then said Paul, I stand at Caesar's judgment seat, where I ought to be judged: to the Jews I have done no wrong, as thou very well knowest. 11 For if I have done wrong, or committed anything worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things, whereof they accuse me, no man, to pleasure them, can deliver me to them: I appeal unto Caesar. 12 Then when Festus had spoken with the Council, he answered, Hast thou appealed unto Caesar? unto Caesar shalt thou go. 13 ¶ And after certain days, King Agrippa and Bernice came down to Caesarea to salute Festus. 14 And when they had remained there many days, Festus declared Paul's cause unto the king, saying, There is a certain man left in prison by Felix. 15 Of whom when I came to Jerusalem, the high Priests and Elders of the Jews informed me, and desired to have judgment against him. 16 To whom I answered, that it is not the manner of the Romans for favor to deliver any man to the death, before that he which is accused, have the accusers before him, and have place to defend himself, concerning the crime. 17 Therefore when they were come hither, without delay the day following I sat on the judgment seat, and commanded the man to be brought forth. 18 Against whom when the accusers stood up, they brought no crime of such things as I supposed: 19 But had certain questions against him of their own superstitions, and of one Jesus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be alive. 20 And because I doubted of such manner of question, I asked him whether he would go to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these things. 21 But because he appealed to be reserved to the examination of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept, till I might send him to Caesar. 22 Then Agrippa said unto Festus, I would also hear the man myself. Tomorrow, said he, thou shalt hear him. 23 And on the morrow when Agrippa was come, and Bernice with great pomp, and were entered into the Common hall with the chief captains and chief men of the city, at Festus's commandment Paul was brought forth. 24 And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men which are present with us, ye see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Jews have called upon me, both at Jerusalem, and here, crying, that he ought not to live any longer. 25 Yet have I found nothing worthy of death, that he hath committed: nevertheless, seeing that he hath appealed to Augustus, I have determined to send him.
Of whom I have no certain thing to write unto my Lord: wherefore I have brought him forth unto you, and especially unto thee, King Agrippa, that after examination had, I might have somewhat to write.

For me thinketh it unreasonalbe to send a prisoner, and not to show the causes which are laid against him.

Then Agrippa said unto Paul, Thou art permitted to speak for thyself. So Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himself.

I think myself happy, King Agrippa, because I shall answer this day before thee of all the things whereof I am accused of the Jews:

Chiefly, because thou hast knowledge of all customs, and questions which are among the Jews: wherefore I beseech thee to hear me patiently.

As touching my life from my childhood, and what it was from the beginning among mine own nation at Jerusalem, know all the Jews,

Which knew me heretofore, even from my Elders (if they would testify) that after the most straight sect of our religion, I lived a Pharisee.

And now I stand and am accused for the hope of the promise made of God unto our fathers.

Whereunto our twelve tribes instantly serving God day and night, hope to come: for the which hope's sake, O King Agrippa, I am accused of the Jews.

Why should it be thought a thing incredible unto you, that God should raise again the dead?

Also verily thought in myself, that I ought to do many contrary things against the Name of Jesus of Nazareth.

Which thing I also did in Jerusalem: for many of the Saints I shut up in prison, having received authority of the High Priests, and when they were put to death, I gave my sentence.

And I punished them throughout all the Synagogues, and compelled them to blaspheme and being more mad against them, I persecuted them, even unto strange cities.

At which time, even as I went to Damascus with authority, and commission from the high Priests,

At midday, O King, I saw in the way a light from heaven passing the brightness of the sun, shine round about me, and them which went with me.

So when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voice speaking unto me, and saying in the Hebrew tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kick against pricks.

Then I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest.

But rise and stand up on thy feet: for I have appeared unto thee for this purpose to appoint thee a minister and a witness, both of the things which thou hast seen, and of the things in the which I will appear unto thee,

Delivering thee from this people, and from the Gentiles, unto whom now I send thee,

To open their eyes, that they may turn from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them, which are sanctified by faith in me.

Wherefore, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision,

But showed first unto them of Damascus, and at Jerusalem, and throughout all the coasts of Judea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turn to God, and do works worthy amendment of life.

For this cause the Jews caught me in the Temple, and went about to kill me.

Nevertheless, I obtained help of God, and continue unto this day, witnessing both to small and great, saying none other things, than those which the Prophets and Moses did say should come.

To wit, that Christ should suffer, and that he 26:24 And as he thus answered for himself, Festus said with a loud voice, Paul, thou art beside thyself, much learning doth make thee mad.

26:25 But he said, I am not mad, O noble Festus, but I speak the words of truth, and soberness.

26:26 For the king knoweth of these things, before whom also I speak boldly: for I am persuaded that none of these things are hidden from him: for this thing was not done in a corner.

26:27 O King Agrippa, believest thou the Prophets? I know that thou believest.

26:28 Then Agrippa said unto Paul, Almost thou persuadest me to become a Christian.

26:29 Then Paul said, I would to God that not only almost, but thoroughly and altogether such as I am, except these bonds.

26:30 And when he had thus spoken, the king rose up, and the governor, and Bernice, and they that sat with them.

26:31 And when they were gone apart, they talked between themselves, saying, This man doeth nothing worthy of death, nor of bonds.

26:32 Then said Agrippa unto Festus, This man might have been loosed, if he had not appealed unto Caesar.

26:24 1And the next day we arrived at Sidon: and Julius courteously entreated Paul, and gave him liberty to go unto his friends, that they might refresh him.

26:25 And from thence we launched, and sailed hard by Cyprus, because the winds were contrary.

26:26 Then sailed we over the sea by Cilicia, and Pamphilia, and came to Myra, a city in Lycia.

26:27 And there the Centurion found a ship of Alexandria, sailing into Italy, and put us therein.

26:28 And when we had sailed slowly many days, and scarce were come against Cnidus, because the wind suffered us not, we sailed hard by Candia, near to

26:29 Salmone,

26:30 And with much ado sailed beyond it, and came unto a certain place called the Fair Havens, near unto the which was the city Lasca.

26:31 So when much time was spent, and sailing was now jeopardous, because also the Fast was now passed, Paul exhorted them, 26:32 And said unto them, Sirs, I see that this voyage will be with hurt, and much damage, not of the lading and ship only, but also of our lives.

26:33 Nevertheless the Centurion believed rather the governor and the master of the ship, than those things which were spoken of Paul.

26:34 And because the haven was not commodious to winter in, many took counsel to depart thence, if by any means they might attain to Phoenix, there to winter, which is an haven of Crete, and lieth toward the South west and by West, and Northwest and by West.

26:35 And when the Southern wind blew softly, they assuming to attain their purpose, loosed nearer, and sailed by Crete.

26:36 But anon after, there arose by it a stormy wind called Euroclydon.

26:37 And when the ship was caught, and could not resist the wind, we let her go, and were carried away.

26:38 And we ran under a little Isle named Claudia, and had much ado to get the boat.

17 Which they took up and used all help, undergirding the ship, fearing lest they should have fallen into Syrtis, and they strake sail, and so were carried.

18 1The next day when we were tossed with an exceeding tempest, they lightened the ship.

19 And the third day we cast out with our own hands the tackling of the ship.

20 And when neither sun nor stars in many days appeared, and no small tempest lay upon us, all hope that we should be saved, was then taken away.

21 1But after long abstinence, Paul stood forth in the midst of them, and said, Sirs, ye should have hearkened to me, and not have loosed from Candia: so should ye have gained this hurt and loss.

22 But now I exhort you to be of good courage: for there shall be no loss of any man's life among you, save of the ship only.

23 For there stood by me this night the Angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serve.

24 Saying, Fear not, Paul: for thou must be brought before Caesar: and lo, God hath given unto thee all that sail with thee.

25 1Wherefore, Sirs, be of good courage: for I believe God, that it shall be so as it hath been told me.

26 Howbeit, we must be cast into a certain island.

27 1And when the fourteenth night was come, as we were carried to and fro in the 2Adriatic sea about midnight, the shipmen deemed that some country 3approached unto them.

28 And sounded, and found it twenty fathoms: and when they had gone a little further, they sounded again, and found fifteen fathoms.

29 Then fearing lest they should have fallen into some rough places, they cast four anchors out of the stern, and wished that the day were come.

30 1Now as the mariners were about to flee out of the ship, and had let down the boat into the sea under a color as though they would have cast anchors out of the foreship.

31 1Paul said unto the Centurion and the soldiers, Except these abide in the ship, ye cannot be safe.

32 Then the soldiers cut off the ropes of the boat, and let it fall away.

33 1And when it began to be day, Paul exhorted them all to take meat, saying, This is the fourteenth day that ye have tarried, and continued fasting, receiving nothing:

34 Wherefore I exhort you to take meat: for this is for your safeguard: for there shall not an 1hair fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when he had thus spoken, he took bread, and gave thanks to God in presence of them all, and brake it, and began to eat.

36 Then were they all of good courage, and they also took meat.

37 Now we were in the ship in all two hundred threescore and sixteen souls.

38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wheat into the sea.

39 1And when it was day, they knew not the country, but they spied a certain 2creek with a bank, into the which they were minded (if it were possible) to thrust in the ship.

40 So when they had taken up the anchors, they committed the ship unto the sea, and loosed the rudder bonds, and hoisted up the main sail to the wind, and drew to the shore.

41 And when they fell into a place, where 1two seas met, they thrust in the ship: and the forecast part was broken with the violence of the waves.

42 1Then the soldiers' counsel was to kill the prisoners, lest any of them, when he had swum out, should flee away.

43 1But the Centurion willing to save Paul, stayed them from this counsel, and commanded that they that could swim, should cast themselves first into the sea, and go out to land:

27:18 1The end proveth that none provide worse for themselves, than they which commit themselves to be governed only by their own wisdom.

27:21 1God spareth the wicked for a time, for his elect and chosen's sake.

27:25 1The promise is made effectual through faith.

27:27 1We attain and come to the promised and sure salvation through the midst of tempests and death itself.

2 For Prolemy writeth, that the Adriatic Sea beateth upon the East shore of Cilicia.

3 That they drew near to some country.

27:30 1There is none so foul an act, whereupon distrust and an evil conscience do not enforce men.

27:31 1Although the performing of God's promises doth not simply depend upon second causes, yet they make themselves unworthy of God's bountifulness, which do not embrace those means which God offereth them, either upon rashness or distrust.

27:33 1When the world trembleth, the faithful alone be not only quiet, but confirm others by their example.

27:34 1This is a proverb which the Hebrews use, whereby is meant, that they shall be safe, and not one of them perish.

27:39 1Then are tempests most of all to be feared and looked for, when the port or haven is nearest.

2 A creek is a sea within land, as the Adriatic Sea, and the Persian Sea.

27:41 1So is Isthmus called, because the sea toucheth it on both sides.

27:42 1There is nowhere more unfaithfulness and unthankfulness than in unbelievers.

27:43 1God findeth even amongst his enemies them whose help he useth to preserve his.
44 1 And the others, some on boards, and some on certain pieces of the ship: and so it came to pass, that they came all safe to land.

28 2 The Barbarians' courtesy towards Paul and his company. 3 A viper on Paul's hand: 6 He shook it off without harm: 8 Publius. 9 and others are by him healed. 11 They depart from Malta. 16 and come to Rome. 17 Paul openeth to the Jews. 20 the cause of his coming. 22 He preacheth Jesus. 30 two years.

1 And when they were come safe, then they knew that the Isle was called 'Malta.

2 And the Barbarians showed us no little kind-ness, for they kindled a fire, and received us everyone, because of the present shower, and because of the cold.

3 1And when Paul had gathered a number of sticks, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heat, and leaped on his hand.

4 Now when the Barbarians saw the worm hang on his hand, they said among themselves, This man surely is a murderer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet vengeance hath not suffered to live.

5 But he shook off the worm into the fire, and felt no harm.

6 Howbeit they waited when he should have 1swollen, or fallen down dead suddenly: 2but after they had looked a great while, and saw no inconve-nience come to him, they changed their minds, and said, That he was a God.

7 1In the same quarters, the chief man of the Isle (whose name was Publius) had possessions: the same received us, and lodged us three days courteously.

8 And so it was, that the father of Publius lay sick of the fever, and of a bloody flux: to whom Paul prayed, he laid his hands on him, and healed him.

9 1When this then was done, others also in the Isle, which had diseases, came to him, and were healed.

10 1Which also did us great honor: and when we departed, they laded us with things necessary.

11 ¶ After three months we departed in a ship of Alexandria, which had wintered in the Isle, whose badge was Castor and Pollux.

12 And when we came at Syracuse, we tarried there three days.

13 And from thence we set a compass, and came to Rhegium: and after one day, the South wind blew, and we came the second day to Puteoli:

14 Where we found brethren, and were desired to tarry with them seven days, and so we went toward Rome.

15 ¶ And from thence when the brethren heard of us, they came to meet us at the Market of Appius, and at the three taverns, whom when Paul saw, he thanked God, and waxed bold.

16 So when we came to Rome, the Centurion delivered the prisoners to the general Captain: but Paul was suffered to dwell by himself with a soldier that kept him.

17 1And the third day after, Paul calleth the chief of the Jews together, and when they were come, he said unto them, Men and brethren, though I have committed nothing against the people, or Laws of the fathers, yet was I delivered prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans.

18 Who when they had examined me, would have let me go, because there was no cause of death in me.

19 1But when the Jews spake contrary, I was constrained to appeal unto Caesar, not because I had ought to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause therefore have I called for you to see you, and to speak with you: for that hope of Israel's sake, I am bound with this chain.

21 Then they said unto him, We neither received letters out of Judea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that showed or spake any evil 22 But we will hear of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this sect, we know that everywhere it is spoken against.

23 And when they had appointed him a day, there came many unto him into his lodging, to whom he expounded, testifying the kingdom of God, and persuading them those things that concern Jesus, both out of the Law of Moses, and out of the Prophets, from morning to night.

24 And some were persuaded with the things which were spoken, and some believed not.

25 Therefore when they agreed not among themselves, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one word, to wit, Well spake the holy Ghost by Isaiah the Prophet unto our fathers, 26 Saying, Go unto this people, and say, By hearing ye shall hear, and shall not understand, and seeing ye shall see, and not perceive.

27 For the heart of this people is waxed fat, and their ears are dull of hearing, and with their eyes have they winked, lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their hearts, and should return that I might heal them.

28 Be it known therefore unto you, that this salvation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they shall hear it.

29 And when he had said these things, the Jews departed, and had great reasoning among themselves.

30 And Paul remained two years full in an house hired for himself, and received all that came in unto him, 31 Preaching the kingdom of God, and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, with all boldness of speech, without let.

28:23 The law and the Gospel agree well together.
28:24 The Gospel is a savor of life to them that believe, and a savor of death to them that be disobedient.
28:26 The unbelievers do willingly resist the truth, and yet not by chance.
28:27 They made as though they saw not that which they saw against their wills: yea they did see, but they would not see.
28:28 The unbelief of the reprobate and castaways cannot cause the truth of God to be of none effect.
28:29 Not the Gospel, but the contempt of the Gospel is the cause of strife and debate.
28:30 The word of God cannot be bound.
THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE
PAUL TO THE ROMANS

1 1 He first showeth on what authority his Apostleship standeth. 15 Then he commendeth the Gospel, by which God setteth out his power to those that are saved.
17 by faith. 21 but were guilty of wicked unthankfulness to God: 26 For which his wrath was worthily powered on them, so that they ran headlong to all kinds of sin.

1 PAUL, a servant of JESUS Christ called to be an Apostle, put apart to preach the Gospel of God,
2 (Which he had promised afore by his Prophets in the holy Scriptures)
3 Concerning his Son Jesus Christ our Lord (which was made of the seed of David according to the flesh,
4 And declared mighty to be the Son of God, touching the Spirit of sanctification by the resurrection from the dead)
5 By whom we have received grace and Apostleship (that obedience might be given unto the faith) for his name among all the Gentiles,
6 Among whom ye be also the called of Jesus Christ:
7 To all you that be at Rome beloved of God, called to be Saints: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.
8 First I thank my God through Jesus Christ for you all, because your faith is published throughout the whole world.
9 For God is my witness (whom I serve in my spirit in the Gospel of his Son) that without ceasing I make mention of you.
10 Always in my prayers, beseeching that by some means, one time or other I might have a prosperous journey by the will of God, to come unto you.
11 For I long to see you, that I might bestow among you some spiritual gift, that you might be strengthened:
12 That is, that I might be comforted together with you, through our mutual faith, both yours and mine.
13 Now my brethren, I would that ye should not be ignorant, how that I have oftentimes purposed to come unto you (but have been let hitherto) that I might have some fruit also among you, as I have among the other Gentiles.
14 I am debtor both to the Grecians, and to the Barbarians, both to the wise men and to the unwise.
15 Therefore, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the Gospel to you also that are at Rome.
16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth, to the Jew first, and also to the Greek.
17 For by it the righteousness of God is revealed from faith to faith: as it is written, The just shall live by faith.
18 For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness, and unrighteousness of men, which withhold the truth in unrighteousness.
19 Forasmuch as that, which may be known of God, is manifest in them, for God hath showed it unto them.
20 For the invisible things of him, that is, his eternal power and Godhead, are seen by the creation of the world, being considered in his works, to the intent that they should be without excuse:
21 Because that when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful, but became vain in their thoughts, and their foolish heart was full of darkness.
22 When they professed themselves to be wise, they became fools.
23 For they turned the glory of the incorruptible God to the similitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of birds, and four footed beasts, and of creeping things.
24 Wherefore also God gave them up to their hearts lusts, unto uncleanness, to defile their own bodies between themselves:
25 Which turned the truth of God unto a lie, and worshipped and served the creature, forsaking the Creator which is blessed forever, Amen.
26 For this cause God gave them up to vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature.
27 And likewise also the men left the natural use of the woman, and were burned in their lust one toward another, and man with man wrought filthiness, and received in themselves such recompense of their error, as was meet.
28 For as they regarded not to acknowledge God, even so God delivered them up unto a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient,
29 Being full of all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, malice, envy, murder, strife, deceitful practices, enmity, malice, and as the whole of it is, without natural affection, seeing it is the similitude of the image of a corruptible man.
30 For to this they are inclined, and are stretched forth, as it is written, When they say in their hearts, There is no God.
31 Which men, though they knew the Law of God, how that they which commit such things are worthy of death, yet not only do the same, but also consent with them that do amiss.

1:15 1 He meanteth all them that dwelt in Rome, though some of them were not Romans, see the end of the Epistle.
1:16 1 The second part of the Epistle unto the beginning of Chap. 9. Now the whole end and purpose of the disputation is this: that is to say: to show that there is but one way to attain unto salvation (which is set forth unto us of God in the Gospel, without any difference of nations) and that is Jesus Christ apprehended by faith.
1:17 2 God's mighty and effectual instrument to save men by:
1:18 3 When this word Grecian, is set against this word Jew, then doth it signify a Gentile.
1:19 1 The confirmation of the former proposition: we are taught in the Gospel that we are justified before God by faith which increaseth daily: and therefore also saved.
1:20 2 From faith which increaseth daily.
1:21 3 The proof as well of the first as the second proposition, out of Habakkuk, who attributeth and giveth unto faith both justice and life before God.
1:22 1 Another confirmation of that principal question: All men being considered in themselves or without Christ, are guilty both of ungodliness, and also unrighteousness, and therefore are subject to condemnation: Therefore must they needs seek righteousness in some other.
1:23 2 Against all kinds of ungodliness.
1:24 3 If they would have been as God intended (as he himself proveth), in that by a large rehearsal of many kinds of wickedness, from which (if not from all, yet at the least from many of them) no man is altogether free.
1:25 1 Into a mad and froward mind, whereby it cometh to pass, that the conscience being once put out, and having almost no more remorse of sin, men run headlong into all kinds of mischief.
1:26 1 Unmindful of their covenants and bargains.
1:27 2 By the Law of God he meaneth that which the Philosophers called the Law of nature, and the Lawyers themselves termed the Law of nations.
1:28 3 Are fellows and partakers with them in their wickedness, and besides that, commend them which do amiss.
2:1 He convinceth them which would seem to be exempt out of the number of other men, because they reprehend other men's faults, and saith that they are least of all to be excused, for if they were well and narrowly searched (as God surely doth) they themselves would be found guilty in those things which they reprehend, and punish in others: so that to condemning others they pronounce sentence against themselves.

2:2 Paul allegeth no places of Scripture, for he reasoneth generally against all men: but he bringeth such reasons as every man is persuaded of in his mind, so that the devil himself is not able to pluck them clean out.

2:3 Considering and judging things aright, and not by any outward show.

2:4 A vehement and grievous crying out against them that please themselves, because they see more than others do, and yet are no whit better than others are.

2:5 Whilst thou givest thyself to pleasures, thinking to increase thy goods, thou shalt find God's wrath.

2:6 The ground of the former disputation, That both the Jews and Gentiles have together need of righteousness.

2:7 Glory which followeth good works, which he layeth not out before us, as though there were any that could attain to salvation by his own strength, but, by laying this condition of salvation before us, which no man can perform, to bring men to Christ, who alone justified the believers, as he himself concludeth, Rom. 2:11-22, following.

2:8 By truth, he meaneth that knowledge which we have of nature.

2:9 God's indignation against sinners, which shall quickly be kindled.

2:10 God doth not measure men either by their blood, or by their country, either to receive them, or to cast them away.

2:11 He convinceth them which would seem to be exempt out of the number of other men, because they reprehend other men's faults, and saith that they are least of all to be excused, for if they were well and narrowly searched (as God surely doth) they themselves would be found guilty in those things which they reprehend, and punish in others: so that to condemning others they pronounce sentence against themselves.

2:12 He applieth that general accusation of mankind particularly both to the Gentiles, and to the Jews.

2:13 He preventeth an objection which might be made by the Jews, whom the Law doth not excuse, but condemns, because that not the hearing of the Law, but the keeping of the Law doth justify.

2:14 He preventeth an objection which might be made by the Gentiles, who although they have not the Law of Moses, yet they have no reason whereby they may excuse their wickedness in that they have somewhat written in their hearts instead of a Law, as men that forbid, and punish some things as wicked, and command and commend other some as good.

2:15 This knowledge is a natural knowledge.

2:16 God deferreth many judgments, which notwithstanding he will execute at their convenient time by Jesus Christ, with a most straight examination, not only of words and deeds, but of thoughts also, be they never so hidden or secret.

2:17 As this my doctrine witnesseth, which I am appointed to preach.

2:18 Canst try and discern what things swerve from God's will.

2:19 Or allowest the things that are excellent.
the Law:
19 And persuadest thyself that thou art a guide of the blind, a light of them which are in darkness,
20 An instructor of them which lack discretion, a teacher of the unlearned, which hast the 'form' of knowledge, and of the truth in the 'law.'
21 'Thou therefore, which teachest another, teachest thou not thyself? thou that preachest, A man should not steal, dost thou steal?
22 'Thou that sayest, A man should not commit adultery, dost thou commit adultery? thou that abhorrest idols, committest thou sacrilege?
23 'Thou that gloriest in the Law, through breaking the Law, dishonest thou God?
24 For the Name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, 'as it is written. '
25 'For circumcision verily is profitable, if thou do the Law: but if thou be a transgressor of the Law, thy circumcision is made uncircumcision.
26 'Therefore 'if the uncircumcision keep the ordinances of the Law, shall not his 'uncircumcision be counted for circumcision?
27 And shall not 'uncircumcision which is by nature (if it keep the Law) condemn thee which by the 'letter and circumcision art a transgressor of the Law?
28 For he is not a Jew, which is one 'outward: neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh:
29 But he is a Jew which is one within, and the circumcision is of the heart, in the 'spirit, not in the letter, whose praise is not of men, but of God.

3 1 He giveth the Jews some 2 preferment, for the covenant's sake. 4 but yet such, as wholly dependeth on God's mercy. 9 That both Jews and Gentiles are sinners. 11 be proved by Scriptures: 19 and showing the use of the Law. 28 he concludes that we are justified by faith.

1 What 'is then the preferment of the Jew? or what is the profit of circumcision?
2 Much every manner of way: for 'chiefly, because unto them were of credit committed the 'oracles of God.
3 For what, though some did not 'believe? shall their unbelief make the 'faith of God without effect?
4 God forbid: yea, let God be true, and every man a liar, as it is written, That thou mightest be 'justified in thy words, and overcome, 'when thou art judged.
5 'Now if our 'unrighteousness commend the righteousness of God, what shall we say? is God unrighteous which punisheth? (I speak as 'a man.)
6 God forbid: (else how shall God judge the world?)
7 'For if the 'verity of God hath more abounded through my lie unto his glory, why am I yet condemned as a sinner?
8 And (as we are blamed, and as some affirm, that we say) why do we not evil, that good may come thereof? whose damnation is just.

2:20 1 The way to teach and frame others in the knowledge of the truth.
2 As though he said, that the Jews under a color of an outward serving of God, challenged all to themselves, when as indeed, they did nothing less than observe the Law.
2:25 1 He precisely preventeth their objection, which set an holiness in circumcision, and the outward observation of the Law: So that he showeth that the outward circumcision, if it be separated from the inward, doth not only not justify, but also condemns them that are indeed circumcised, of whom requireth that, which is signifieth, that is to say, clearness of the heart and the whole life, according to the commandment of the Law, so that if there be a man uncircumcised according to the flesh, who is circumcised in heart, he is far better and more to be more accounted of, than any Jew that is circumcised according to the flesh only.
2:26 1 This is the figure Metonymy, for, if the uncircumcised.
2 The state and condition of the uncircumcised.
2:27 1 He which is uncircumcised by nature and blood.
2 Paul useth oftentimes to set the letter against the Spirit: but in this place, the circumcision which is according to the letter, is the cutting off of the foreskin, but the circumcision of the Spirit, is the circumcision of the heart, that is to say, the spiritual end of the ceremony, is true holiness and righteousness whereby the people of God is known from profane and heathenish men.
2:28 1 By the outward ceremony only.
2:29 1 Whose force is inward, and in the heart.
3:1 1 The first meeting with, or preventing an objection of the Jews: what then, have the Jews no more preffermnt than the Gentiles? yes,
9 1What then? are we more excellent? No, in no wise: for we have already proved, that all, both Jews and Gentiles are \textit{under sin},

10 As it is written, \textit{There is none righteous no not one.}

11 There is none that understandeth: there is none that seeketh God.

12 They have all gone out of the way: they have been made altogether unprofitable: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

13 Their throat is an open sepulcher: they have used their tongues to deceit: \textit{the poison of asps is under their lips.}

14 Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness.

15 Their feet are swift to shed blood.

16 Destruction and calamity are in their ways:

17 And the \textit{way of peace they have not known.}

18 The fear of God is not before their eyes.

19 Now we know that whatsoever the \textit{law saith, it saith it to them which are under the law, that \textit{every mouth may be stopped, and all the world be \textit{subject to the judgment of God.}

20 Therefore by the \textit{works of the Law shall no flesh be justified in his \textit{righteousness: for by the Law cometh the knowledge of sin.}

21 But now is the righteousness of God made manifest without the Law, having witness of the Law, and of the Prophets,

22 \textit{To wit, the righteousness of God by the faith of \textit{Jesus Christ, unto all, and upon all that believe.}

23 For there is no difference: for all have sinned, and are deprived of the \textit{glory of God,}

24 \textit{And are justified \textit{freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus,}

25 \textit{Whom God hath set forth to be a reconciliation through faith in his \textit{blood to declare his righteousness, by the forgiveness of the sins that \textit{are passed,}

26 \textit{Through the \textit{patience of God, to show at this time his righteousness, that he might be \textit{just, and a \textit{justifier of him which is of the \textit{faith of Jesus.}

27 \textit{Where is then the rejoicing? It is excluded. By what \textit{Law? of works? Nay: but by the Law of faith.}

28 Therefore we conclude, that a man is justified by faith, without the works of the Law.
29 1 God, is he the God of the Jews only, and not of the Gentiles also? Yes, even of the Gentiles also.
30  For it is one God, who shall justify circumcision of faith, and uncircumcision through faith.
31 1 Do we then make the Law of none effect through faith? God forbid: yea, we establish the Law.

4  1 He proveth that which he said before of faith, by the example of Abraham, 3, 6 and the testimony of the Scripture: and ten times in the Chapter he beateth upon this word, Imputation.

1 What shall we say then, that Abraham our father hath found concerning the flesh?
2 1 For if Abraham were justified by works, he hath wherein to rejoice, but not with God.
3 1 For what saith the Scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted to him for righteousness.
4 1 Now to him that worketh, the wages is not counted by favor, but by debt:
5  But to him that worketh not, but believeth in him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness.
6 1 Even as David declareth the blessedness of the man, unto whom God imputeth righteousness without works, saying,

7  Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered.
8  Blessed is the man to whom the Lord imputeth not sin.
9 1 Came this blessedness then upon the circumcision only, or upon the uncircumcision also? For we say, that faith was imputed unto Abraham for righteousness.
10 1 How was it then imputed? when he was circumcised, or uncircumcised? not when he was circumcised, but when he was uncircumcised.
11 1 After, he received the sign of circumcision, as the seal of the righteousness of the faith which he had, when he was uncircumcised, that he should be the father of all them that believe, not being circumcised, that righteousness might be imputed to them also.
12 1 And the father of circumcision, not unto them only which are of the circumcision, but unto them also that walk in the steps of the faith of our father Abraham which he had when he was uncircumcised.
13 1 For the promise that he should be the heir of the world, was not given to Abraham, or to his seed, through the Law, but through the righteousness of faith.
14 For if they which are of the Law be heirs, faith is made void, and the promise is made of none effect.
15 For the Law causeth wrath: for where no Law is, there is no transgression.
16 Therefore it is by faith, that it might come by grace, and the promise might be sure to all the seed, not to that only which is of the Law: but also to that which is of the faith of Abraham who is the father of us all.
17 (As it is written, I have made thee a father of many nations) proceedeth of faith, which layeth not hold on the promise made unto Abraham, and which promise Abraham received, and clave those things which be not, as though they were.
18 Which Abraham above hope, believed under hope, that he should be the father of many nations: according to that which was spoken to him, So shall thy seed be.
19 And he not weak in the faith, considered not his own body, which was now dead, being almost an hundred years old, neither the deadness of Sarah's womb.
20 Neither did he doubt of the promise of God through unbelief, but was strengthened in the faith, and gave glory to God, 21 Being fully assured that he which had promised, was also able to do it.
22 And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousness.
23 Now is it not written for him only, that it was imputed to him for righteousness,
24 But also for us, to whom it shall be imputed for righteousness, which believe in him that raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead,
25 Who was delivered to death for our sins, and is risen again for our justification.

4:14 1 A double confirmation of that reason: the one is, that the promise cannot be apprehended by the Law: and therefore it should be frustrated: the other, that the condition of faith should be joined in vain to that promise which should be apprehended by works.
2 If they be heirs which have fulfilled the Law.
4:15 1 A reason of the first confirmation, why the promise cannot be apprehended by the Law: because that the Law doth not reconcile God and us, but rather denounceth his anger against us, forsomuch as no man can observe it.
4:16 1 The conclusion of this argument. The salvation and justification of all the posterity of Abraham (that is, of the Church which is gathered together of all people) proceedeth of faith, which layeth hold on the promise made unto Abraham, and which promise Abraham himself first of all laid hold on.
2 To all the believers.
3 That is to say, not only of them which believe and are also circumcised according to the Law, but of them also which without circumcision, and in respect of faith only, are counted amongst the children of Abraham.
4:17 1 This fatherhood is spiritual, depending only upon the virtue of God, who made the promise.
2 Before God: that is, by a spiritual kindred, which had place before God, and maketh us acceptable to God.
3 Who restored to life.
4 With whom these things are already, which as yet are not in deed, as he that can with a word make what he will of nothing.
4:18 1 A description of true faith, wholly resting in the power of God, and his good will, set forth in the example of Abraham.
4:19 1 Very strong and constant.
2 Void of strength, and unmeet to get children.
4:20 1 Acknowledged and praised God, as most gracious and true.
4:21 1 A description of true faith.
4:23 1 The rule of justification is always one, both in Abraham and in all the faithful: that is to say, faith in God, who after that there was made a full satisfaction for our sins in Christ our mediator, raised him from the dead, that we also being justified, might be saved in him.
4:25 1 To pay the ransom for our sins.
5:1 1 Another argument taken of the effects: we are justified with that, which truly appeaseth our conscience before God but faith in Christ doth appease our conscience, and not the Law, as it was before said, therefore by faith we are justified, and not by the Law.
5:2 1 Whereas quietness of conscience is attributed to faith, it is to be referred to Christ, who is the giver of faith itself, and in whom faith itself is effectual.
3 We must here know, that we have yet still this same effect of faith.
4 By which grace, that is, by which gracious love and good will, or that state whereunto we are graciously taken.
5 We stand steadfast.
2 A preventing of an objection against them which beholding the daily miseries and calamities of the Church, think that the Christians dream, when they brag of their felicity: to whom the Apostle answereth, that their felicity is laid up under hope of another place: which hope is so certain and sure, that they do not less rejoice for that happiness, than if they did presently enjoy it.
3 Our minds are not only quiet and settled, but also we are marvellously glad and conceive great joy for that heavenly inheritance which waiteth for us.
5:3 1 Tribulation itself giveth us divers and sundry ways occasion to rejoice, much less doth it make us miserable.
2 Afflictions accustom us divers and sundry ways occasion to rejoice, much less doth it make us miserable.
5:5 1 The ground of hope is an assured testimony of the conscience, by the gift of the holy Ghost, that we are beloved of God, and this is nothing else but that which we call faith: whereof it followeth, that through faith our consciences are quieted.
6 For Christ, when we were yet of no strength, at his time died for the ungodly.
7 Doubtless one will scarce die for a righteous man: but yet for a good man it may be that one dare die.

8 But God seth out his love towards us, seeing that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.
9 Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him.
10 For if when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life.
11 And not only so, but we also rejoice in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement.
12 Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin, and so death went over all men: in whom all have sinned.
13 For unto the time of the Law was sin in the world, but sin is not imputed, while there is no law.
14 But death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over them also that sinned not after the like manner of the transgression of Adam, which was the figure of him that was to come.
15 But yet the gift is not so as is the offense: for if through the offense of that one, many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Jesus Christ, hath abounded unto many.
16 Neither is the gift so, as that which entered in by one that sinned: for the fault came of one offense unto condemnation: but the gift is of many offenses to justification.
17 For if by the offense of one, death reigned through one, much more shall they which receive that abundance of grace, and of that gift of that righteousness, reign in life through one, that is, Jesus Christ.
18 Likewise then, as by the offense of one, the fault came on all men to condemnation, so by the.
justifying of one, the benefit abounded toward all men to the justification of life.
19 1 For as by one man’s disobedience many were made sinners, so by that obedience of that one, shall many also be made righteous.

20 2 Moreover, the Law entered thereupon, that the offense should abound: nevertheless, where sin abounded, there grace abounded much more:
21 That as sin had reigned unto death, so might grace also reign by righteousness unto eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

6 1 He cometh to sanctification, without which, that no man putteth on Christ’s righteousness, he proveth 4 by an argument taken of Baptism, 12 and thereupon exhorteth to holiness of life, 16 briefly making mention of the Law transgressed.

1 What shall we say then? Shall we continue still in sin, that grace may abound? God forbid.
2 How shall we, that are dead to sin, live yet therein?
3 Know ye not, that all we which have been baptized into Jesus Christ, have been baptized into his death?
4 We are buried then with him by baptism into his death, that like as Christ was raised up from the dead to the glory of the Father, so also we should walk in newness of life.

5 2 For if we be planted with him to the similitude of his death, even so shall we be to the similitude of his resurrection.

6 Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin,
7 For he that is dead, is freed from sin.
8 Wherefore, if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall live also with him,
9 Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead, dieth no more: death hath no more dominion over him.
10 For in that he died, he died once to sin: but henceforth we walk in newness of life;
11 Likewise think ye also, that ye are dead to sin, but are alive to God in Jesus Christ our Lord.
12 1 Let not sin reign therefore in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof:

To the end that growing up in one with him, we should receive his strength to quench sin in us, and to make us new men.
64 1 That Christ himself being discharged of his infirmity and weakness, might live in glory with God forever.
2 And we which are his members rise for this end, that being made partakers of the selfsame virtue, we should begin to lead a new life, as though we were already in heaven.
65 1 The death of sin and the life of righteousness, or our ingrafting into Christ, and growing up into one with him, cannot be separated by any means, neither in death nor life, whereby it followeth, that no man is sanctified, which lived still to sin, and therefore is no man made partaker of Christ by faith, which repenteth not, and turneth not from his wickedness: for as he said before, the Law is not subverted, but established by faith.
3 Insomuch as by the means of the strength which cometh from him to us, we so die to sin as he is dead.
4 For we become every day more perfect than others: for we shall never be perfectly sanctified, as long as we live here.
66 1 All our whole nature, as we are conceived and born into this world with sin, which is called old, partly by comparing that old man with Christ, and partly also in respect of the deformation of our corrupt nature, which we change with a new.
2 Our corrupt nature is attributed to Christ, not in deed, but by imputation.
3 That naughtiness which sticketh fast in us.
4 The end of sanctification which we shoot at, and shall at length come to, to wit when God shall be all in all.
67 1 He proveth it by the effects of death, using a comparison of Christ the head with his members.
6:10 1 Once for all.
2 With God.
6:12 1 An exhortation to contend and strive with corruption and all the effects thereof.
2 By reigning, Saint Paul meaneth that chiefest and high rule, which no man striveth against, and if any do, yet it is in vain.
13 Neither give ye your members, as weapons of unrighteousness unto sin: but give yourselves unto God, as they that are alive from the dead, and give your members as weapons of righteousness unto God.

14 For sin shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the Law, but under grace.

15 What shall we say then? Shall we continue in sin, the contrary ends of both, being set down before us.

16 Know ye not, that to whomsoever ye give yourselves as servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey, whether it be of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?

17 But God be thanked, that ye have been the servants of sin, but ye have obeyed from the heart unto the form of the doctrine, whereunto ye were delivered.

18 Being then made free from sin, ye are made the servants of righteousness.

19 I speak after the manner of man, because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as ye have given your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquity, to commit iniquity, so now give your members servants unto righteousness in holiness.

20 For when ye were the servants of sin, ye were freed from righteousness.

21 What fruit had ye then in those things, whereof ye are now ashamed? For the end of those things is death.

22 But now being freed from sin, and made servants unto God, ye have your fruit in holiness, and the end, everlasting life.

23 For the wages of sin is death: but the gift of God is eternal life, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

8 But sin took an occasion by the commandment, and wrought in me all manner of concupiscence: for without the Law sin is dead.

9 For I was once alive, without the Law: but when the commandment came, sin revived, and I died.

10 But sin, it died; and the same commandment which was ordained unto life, was found to be unto me unto death.

11 For sin took occasion by the commandment, and deceived me, and thereby slew me.

12 Wherefore the Law is holy, and that commandment is holy, and just, and good.

13 Was that then which is good, made death unto me? God forbid: but sin, that it might appear sin, wrought death in me by that which is good, that sin might be out of measure sinful by the commandment.

14 For we know that the Law is spiritual, but I am carnal, sold under sin.

15 For I allow not that which I do: for what I would, that I do not; but what I hate, that do I.

16 If I do then that which I would not, I consent to the Law, that it is good.

17 Now then, it is no more I, that do it, but sin that dwelleth in me.

18 For I know, that in me, that is, in my flesh, dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me; but to find no means to perform that which is

7:6 1 As if he said, The bond which bound us, is dead, and vanished away, insomuch, that sin which held us, hath not now wherewith to hold us.

2 For this husband is within us.

3 Satan is an unjust possessor, for he brought us in bondage of sin and himself deceitfully: and yet notwithstanding so long as we are sinners, we sin willingly.

4 As becometh them, which after the death of their old husband are joined to the spirit: as whom the spirit of God hath made new men.

5 By the letter he meaneth the law, in respect of that old condition: for before that our will be framed by the holy Ghost, the law speaketh for before that our will be framed by the holy Ghost, the law speaketh for before that our will be framed by the holy Ghost, the law speaketh.

6 But to deaf men, and therefore it is dumb and dead to us, as touching the fulfilling of it.

7:7 1 An objection: what then? are the law and sin all one, and do they agree together? nay, saith he: Sin is repoved and condemned by the law. But because sin cannot abide to be reproved, and was not in a manner felt until it was provoked and stirred up by the law, it taketh occasion thereby to be more outrageous, and yet by no fault of the law.

2 By the word, Lust, in this place he meaneth not evil lusts themselves, but the fountain from whence they spring: for the very heathen philosophers themselves condemned wicked lusts, though somewhat darkly, but as for the fountain of them, they could not so much as suspect it, and yet it is the very seat of the natural and unclean spot and filth.

7:8 1 Though sin be in us, yet it is not known for sin, neither doth it so rage, as it raged after that the law was known.

2 For this husband is within us.

3 Satan is an unjust possessor, for he brought us in bondage of sin and himself deceitfully: and yet notwithstanding so long as we are sinners, we sin willingly.

4 As becometh them, which after the death of their old husband are joined to the spirit: as whom the spirit of God hath made new men.

5 By the letter he meaneth the law, in respect of that old condition: for before that our will be framed by the holy Ghost, the law speaketh for before that our will be framed by the holy Ghost, the law speaketh for before that our will be framed by the holy Ghost, the law speaketh.

6 But to deaf men, and therefore it is dumb and dead to us, as touching the fulfilling of it.

7:9 1 He setteth himself before us for an example, in whom all men may behold, first what they are of nature before they earnestly think upon the law of God: to wit, blockish, and ready to sin and wickedness, without all true sense and feeling of sin, then what manner of persons they become, when their conscience is reproved by the testimony of the law.

2 When I knew not the law, then me thought I lived in deed: for my conscience never troubled me, because it knew not my disease.

3 When I began to understand the commandment.

7:10 1 In sin, or by sin.

2 Touching not coveting.

7:11 1 The conclusion: That the law of itself is holy, but all the fault is in us which abuse the law.

2 Touching not coveting.

7:12 1 The proposition: That the Law is not the cause of death, but our corrupt nature, being therewith not only discovered, but also

7:13 1 The proposition: That the Law is not the cause of death, but our corrupt nature, being therewith not only discovered, but also stirred up, and took occasion thereby to rebel, as which, the more that things are forbidden it, the more it desireth them, and from hence cometh guiltiness, and occasion of death.

2 Beareth it the blame of my death?

3 That sin might show itself to be sin, and bewray itself to be that, which is in deed.

4 As evil as it could, showing all the venom it could.

7:14 1 The cause of this matter, is this: Because that the Law requireth a heavenly pureness, but men, such as they be born, are bondslaves of corruption, which they willingly serve.

7:15 1 He setteth himself, being regenerate, before us, for an example, in whom may easily appear the strife of the Spirit and the flesh, and therefore of the Law of God, and our wickedness. For since that the Law in a man not regenerate bringeth forth death only, therefore in him it may easily be accused: but seeing that in a man which is regenerate, it bringeth forth good fruit, it doth better appear that evil actions proceed not from the Law, but from sin, that is, from our corrupt nature: And therefore the Apostle teacheth also, what the true use of the Law is, in reproving sin in the regenerate, unto the end of the chapter, as a little before (to wit, from the seventh verse unto this fifteenth) he declared the use of it in them which are not regenerate.

2 The deeds of my life, saith he, answer not, nay they are contrary to my will: Therefore by the consent of my will with the Law, and repugnancy with the deeds of my life, it appeareth evidently, that the Law and a right ruled do persuade one thing, but corruption which hath her seat also in the regenerate, another thing.

3 It is to be noted, that one selfsame man is said to will and not to will, in divers respects: to wit, he is said to will, in that, that he is regenerate by grace: and not to will, in that, that he is not regenerate, or in that, that he is such an one as he was born: But because the part which is regenerate, at length becometh conqueror; therefore Paul sustaining the part of the regenerate, speaketh in such sort as if the corruption which sineth willingly, were something without a man: although afterward he granteth that this evil is in his flesh, or in his members.

7:17 1 That natural corruption, which cleaveth fast even to them that are regenerate, and not clean conquered.

7:18 1 This vice, or sin, or law of sin, doth wholly possess those men which are not regenerate, and hindeth them or holdeth them back that are regenerate.

2 This doth indeed agree to that man, whom the grace of God hath made a new man: for where the Spirit is not, how can there be any strife there.
good,
  19 For I do not the good thing, which I would, but the evil, which I would not, that do I.
  20 Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that do it, but the sin that dwelleth in me.
  21 I find then that when I would do good, I am thus yoked, that evil is present with me.
  22 For I delight in the Law of God, concerning the inner man.
  23 But I see another Law in my members, rebelling against the law of my mind, and leading me captive unto the law of sin, which is in my members.
  24 O wretched man that I am, who shall deliver me from the body of this death?
  25 I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord. Then I myself in my mind serve the Law of God, but in my flesh the law of sin.

7:21  The conclusion: As the Law of God exhorteth to goodness, so doth the Law of sin (that is, the corruption wherein we are born) force us to wickedness: but the Spirit, that is, our mind, in that it is regenerate, consenteth with the Law of God: but the flesh, that is, the whole natural man, is bondservant to the Law of sin. Therefore to be short, wickedness and death are not of the Law, but of sin, which reigneth in them that are not regenerate: for they neither will, nor do good, but will, and do evil: But in them that are regenerate, it striveth against the Spirit or law of the mind, so that they cannot either live so well as they would, or be so void of sin as they would.

8:1  He concludes that there is no condemnation to them, who are grafted in Christ through his Spirit. 3 For whatsoever they be as yet burdened with sins: 9 For they live through that Spirit, 14 Whose testimony, 15 driveth away all fear, 28 and releaveth our present miseries.

1  Now there is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus, which walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.
  2  For the Law of the Spirit of life which is in Christ Jesus, hath set me free from the Law of sin and of death.
  3  For (that that was impossible to the Law, inasmuch as it was weak, because of the flesh) God sending his own Son, in the similitude of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh, 4  That righteousness of the Law might be fulfilled in us, which walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.

5 1 For they that are after the flesh, savor the things of the flesh: but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.

6 1 For the wisdom of the flesh is death: but the wisdom of the Spirit is life and peace,

7 1 Because the wisdom of the flesh is enmity against God: 2 for it is not subject to the Law of God, neither indeed can be.

8 1 So then they that are in the flesh, cannot please God.

9 1 Now ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, because the spirit of God dwelleth in you: but if any man hath not the Spirit of Christ, the same is not his.

10 1 And if Christ be in you, the body is dead, because of sin: but the Spirit is life for righteousness sake.

11 1 But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead, dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead, shall also quicken your mortal bodies, by his Spirit that dwelleth in you.

8:5 1 A reason why to walk after the flesh, agree not to them which are grafted in Christ, but to walk after the spirit agreeeth and is meet for them: because, saith he, that they which are after the flesh, savor the things of the flesh, but they that are after the spirit, the things of the spirit.

2 They that live as the flesh leadeth them.

8:6 1 He proveth the consequent: because that whatsoever the flesh savoreth, that engendereth death: and whatsoever the spirit savoreth, that tendeth to joy and life everlasting.

8:7 1 A reason and proof, why the wisdom of the flesh is death: because, saith he, it is the enemy of God.

2 A reason why the wisdom of the flesh is enemy to God: because it neither can be subject to him. And by flesh he meaneth a man not regenerate.

8:8 1 The conclusion: therefore they that walk after the flesh, cannot please God: whereby it followeth, that they are not ingrafted into Christ.

8:9 1 He cometh to the others, to wit, to them which walk after the spirit, of whom we have to understand contrary things to the former: and first of all he defineth what it is to be in the spirit, or to be sanctified to wit, to have the spirit of God dwelling in us; then he declareth, that sanctification is so joined and knit to our grafting in Christ, that it can by no means be separated.

8:10 1 He confirmineth the faithful against the relics of flesh and sin, granting that they are yet (as appeareth by the corruption which is in them) touching one of their parts (which he calleth the body, that is to say, a lump) which is not yet purged from the earthly filthiness in death: but therewithal willing them to doubt nothing of the happy success of their combat, because that even the little spark of the Spirit (that is, of the grace of regeneration) which appeareth to be in them by the fruits of righteousness, is the seed of life.

2 The flesh, or all that which as yet sticketh fast in the clefs of sin, and death.

8:11 1 A confirmation of the former sentence. You have the selfsame Spirit, which Christ hath: Therefore at length it shall die the same in you, that it did in Christ, to wit, when all infirmities being utterly laid aside, and death overcome, it shall clothe you with heavenly glory.

2 By the virtue and power of it, which showed the same might first in our head, and daily worketh in his members.

8:12 1 An exhortation to oppress the flesh daily more and more by the virtue of the Spirit of regeneration, because (saith he) you are debtors unto God, forsomuch as you have received so many benefits of him.

8:13 1 Another reason of the profit that ensueth: for such as strive and fight valiantly, shall have everlasting life.

8:14 1 A confirmation of this reason: they be the children of God, which are governed by his Spirit, therefore shall they have life everlasting.

8:15 1 He declareth and expoundeth by the way, in these two verses, by what right this name, to be called the children of God, is given to the believers: because saith he, they have received the grace of the Gospel, wherein God sheweth himself, not (as in the beginning of the Law) terrible and fearful, but a most benign and loving father in Christ, so that with great boldness we call him Father, that holy Ghost sealing this adoption in our hearts by faith.

2 By the Spirit is meant the holy Ghost, whom we are said to receive, when he worketh in our minds.

3 Which fear is stirred up in our minds, by the preaching of the Law.

4 Which sealeth our adoption in our minds, and therefore openeth our mouths.

8:17 1 A proof of the consequent of the confirmation: because that he which is the Son of God, doth enjoy God with Christ.

2 Partakers of our Father’s goods, and that freely, because we are children by adoption.

3 Now Paul teacheth by what way the sons of God do come to that felicity, to wit, by the cross, as Christ himself did: and therewithal openeth unto them fountains of comfort: as first, that we have Christ a companion and fellow of our afflictions: secondly, that we shall be also his followers in that everlasting glory.

8:18 1 Thirdly that this glory which we look for, doth cover a thousand parts surmount the misery of our afflictions.

2 All being well considered, I gather.

8:19 1 Fourthly, he plainly teacheth us that we shall certainly be renewed from that confusion and horrible deformation of the whole world, which cannot be continual, as it was not at the beginning: But as it had a beginning by the sin of man, for whom it was made by the ordinance of God, so shall it at length be restored with the elect.

2 All this world.
when the sons of God shall be revealed,
20. Because the creature is subject to 1vanity, not of its 2own will, but by reason 3of him, which hath subdued it under 4hope.
21. Because the creature also shall be delivered from the 1bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the sons of God.
22. For we know that every creature groaneth with us also, and 1travaileth in pain together unto this present.
23 1And not only the creature, but we also which have the firstfruits of the Spirit, even 3the redemption of our body.
24. For we are saved by hope: but 8hope that is seen, is not hope: for how can a man hope for that which he seeth?
25. But if we hope for that we see not, we do with patience abide for it.
26. Likewise the Spirit also 2helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what to pray as we ought: but the Spirit itself maketh 3request for us with sighs, which cannot be expressed.
27. But he that searcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the 4meaning of the Spirit: for he maketh request for the Saints, 4according to the will of God.

8:20 1Subject to a vanishing and flitting state.
2 Not by their natural inclination.
3 That they should obey the Creator's commandment, whom it pleased to show by their sickle estate, how greatly he was displeased with man.
4 God would not make the world subject to everlasting curse, for the sin of man, but gave it hope that it should be restored.
8:21 1From the corruption which they are now subject to, they shall be delivered and changed into that blessed state of incorruption, which shall be revealed when the sons of God shall be advanced to glory.
8:22 1By this word is meant, not only exceeding sorrow, but also the fruit that followeth of it.
8:23 1Fifthly, if the rest of the world looks for a restoring, groaning as it were for it, and that not in vain, let it not grieve us also to sigh, yea, let us be more certainly persuaded of our redemption to come, forasmuch as we have the firstfruits of the Spirit.
3 Even from the bottom of our hearts.
That last restoring, which shall be the accomplishment of our adoption.
8:24 1Sixthly, hope is necessarily joined with faith: seeing then that we believe those things, which we are not yet in possession of, and hope respected not the thing that is present, we must therefore hope and patiently wait for that which we believe shall come to pass.
2 This is spoken by the figure Metonymy: Hope, for that which is hoped for.
8:26 1Seventhly, There is no cause why we should faint under the burden of afflictions, seeing that prayers minister unto us a most sure help, which cannot be frustrated, seeing they proceed from the spirit of God which dwelleth in us.
2 Beareth our burden, as it were that we faint not under it.
3 Provoketh us to prayers, and telleth us as it were within, what we shall say, and how we shall groan.
8:27 1What sobs and sighs proceed from the instinct of his Spirit.

28. Also we know that 2all things work together for the best unto them that love God, even to them that are called of his 3purpose.
29. For those which he knew before, he also predestinated to be made like to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren.
30. Moreover, whom he 2predestinated, them also he called, and whom he called, them also he justified, and whom he justified, them also glorified.
31 1What shall we then say to these things? If God be on our side, who can be against us?
32. Who spared not his own Son, but gave him for us all to death, how shall he not with him 1give us all things also?
33 1Who shall lay anything to the charge of God's chosen? it is 2God that justifieth.
34. Who shall condemn? it is Christ which is dead: yea, or rather, which is risen again, who is also at the right hand of God, and maketh request also for us.
35. Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?
36. As it is written, 1For thy sake are we killed all day long: we are counted as sheep for the slaughter:
37. 1Nevertheless, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us.

28 1Because he teacheth the godly to pray according to God's will.
8:28 1Eighthly, we are not afflicted, either by chance or to our harm, but by God's providence for our great profit, who as he chose us from the beginning, so hath he predestined us to be made like to the image of his Son: and therefore will bring us in his time, being called and justified, to glory, by the cross.
2 Not only afflictions, but whatsoever else.
3 He calleth that, Purpose, which God hath from everlasting appointed with himself according to his good will and pleasure.
8:30 1He useth the time past, for the time present, as the Hebrews use, who sometimes set down the thing that is to come, by the time that is past, to signify the certainty of it: and he hath also regard to God's continual working.
8:31 1Ninethly, we have no cause to fear that the Lord will not give us whatsoever is profitable for us, seeing that he hath not spared his own Son to save us.
8:32 1Give us freely.
8:33 1A most glorious and comfortable conclusion of the whole second part of this Epistle, that is, of the treatise of justification. There are no accusers that we have need to be afraid of before God, seeing that God himself absolveth us as just: and therefore much less need we to fear damnation, seeing that we rest upon the death and resurrection, the almighty power and defense of Jesus Christ. Therefore what can there be so weighty in this life, or of so great force and power, that might seize us, as though we might fall from the love of God, wherewith he loveth us in Christ. Surely nothing. Seeing that it is in itself most constant and sure, and also in us being confirmed by steadfast faith.
2 Who pronounceth us not only guiltless, but also perfectly just in his Son.
8:35 1Wherewith Christ loveth us.
8:37 1We are not only not overcome with so great and many miseries and calamities, but also more than conquerors in all of them.
38 For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,
39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

9 1 He answereth an objection, that might be brought on the Jew's behalf. 7 and telleth of two sorts of Abraham's children, 15 and that God worketh all things in this matter according to his will, 20 even as the potter doth. 24, 30 He proveth as well the calling of the Gentiles, 31 as also the rejecting of the Jews, 25, 27 by the testimony of the Prophets.

1 I say the truth in Christ, I lie not, my conscience bearing me witness in the holy Ghost,
2 That I have great heaviness, and continual sorrow in mine heart.
3 For I would wish myself to be separate from Christ, for my brethren that are my kinsmen according to the flesh,
4 Which are the Israelites, to whom pertaineth the adoption, and the 1glory, and the 2Covenants, and the giving of the 1Law, and the 2service of God, and the 2promises.

5 Of whom are the fathers, and of whom concerning the flesh, Christ came, who is 1God over all, blessed forever, Amen.
6 1Notwithstanding it cannot be that the word of God should take none effect: for all they are not Israel, which are of Israel:
7 Neither are they all children, because they are the seed of Abraham; 11but, In 1Isaac shall thy seed be called:
8 1That is, they which are the children of the flesh, are not the children of God: but the 1children of the 2promise, are counted for the seed.
9 1For this is a word of promise, 1In this same time will I come, and Sarah shall have a son.
10 1Neither be he only felt this, but also 1Rebecca, when she had conceived by one, even by our father Isaac.
11 For ere the children were born, and when they had neither done good nor evil (that the 1purpose of God might remain according to election, not by works, but by him that calleth.)
12 1It was said unto her, 1The Elder shall serve the younger.
13 As it is written, 1I have loved Jacob, and have hated Esau.

9:1 1 The third part of this Epistle, even to the twelfth Chapter, wherein Paul ascendeth to the higher causes of faith: and first of all because he purposed to speak much of the casting off of the Jews, he useth an insinuation, declaring a double or triple oath, and by witnessing of his great desire towards their salvation, his singular love towards them, and therewithal granting unto them all their prerogatives.
9:2 1 The Apostle loved his brethren so entirely, that if it have been possible he would have been ready to have redeemed the casting away of the Israelites, with the loss of his own soul forever: for this word separate, betokeneth as much in this place.
9:3 1 Being brethren by flesh, as of one nation and country.
9:4 1 The ark of the covenant, which was a token of God's presence.
9:5 1 Of the Jewish Law.
9:6 1 The ceremonial Law.
9:7 1 Which were made to Abraham and to his posterity.
9:8 1 A most manifest testimony of the Godhead and divinity of Christ.
9:9 1 He entereth into the handling of predestination by a kind of preventing an objection: How may it be, that Israel is cast off, but that therewithall we must also make the covenant which God made with Abraham and his seed, frustrate and void? He answereth therefore, that God's word is true, although that Israel be cast off, therefore neither any goodness of Jacob's might be thought to be the cause of his election, neither any wickedness of Esau, of his casting away.
9:10 1 A reason of that application: Because that Isaac was born by the virtue of the promise, and therefore he was not chosen, nay he was not at all, but by the free will of God: whereby it followeth that the promise is the fountain of predestination, and not the flesh from which promise the particular election proceedeth: that is, that the elect be born elect: and not that they be first born and then afterward elected, in respect of God who doth predestinate.
9:11 1 God's decree, which proceedeth of his mere good will, whereby he pleased him to choose one, and refuse the other.
9:12 1 Paul saith not, might be made, but being made, might remain. Therefore they are deceived which make foreseen faith the cause of election, and foreknown infidelity, the cause of reprobation.
9:13 1 He proveth the casting away of Esau by that, that he was made servant to his brother: and proveth the choosing of Jacob by that that he was made Lord of his brother, although his brother were the first begotten. And lest that any man might take this saying of God, and refer it to external things, the Apostle sheweth out of Malachi, who is a good interpreter of Moses, that the servitude of Esau was joined with the hatred of God, and the Lordship of Jacob with the love of God.
14 1What shall we say then? Is there 2unrighteousness with God? God forbid.

15 1For he saith to Moses, I will 2have mercy on him, to whom I will show mercy: and will have 3compassion on him, on who I will have compassion.

16 1So then it is not in him that 2willeth, nor in him that runneth, but in God that showeth mercy.

17 1For the 2Scripture saith unto Pharaoh, 3Therefore shall the 4thing formed say to him that formed it, Why hast thou made me thus? For the same purpose have I stirred thee up, that I might 2show my power in thee, and that my Name might be declared throughout all the earth.

18 1Therefore he hath mercy on whom he 2will, and whom he will he hardeneth.

19 1Thou wilt say then unto me, Why doth he yet complaint, who for hath resisted his will?

20 1But, O man, who art thou which pleadest against God? 2shall the 3thing formed say to him that formed it, Why hast thou made me thus?

21 1Hath not the potter power of the clay to make of the same lump one 2vessel to 3honor, and another unto 4dishonor?
22 1What and if God would, to show his wrath, and to make his power known, suffer with long patience the vessels of wrath, prepared to 2destruction? 23 And that he might declare the riches of his glory upon the vessels of mercy, which he hath prepared unto glory? 24 Even us whom he hath called, not of the Jews only, but also of the Gentiles. 25 As he saith also in Hosea, 1I will call them, My people, which were not my people: and her, Beloved, which was not beloved. 26 And it shall be in the place where it was said unto them, 1Ye are not my people, that there they shall be called, The children of the living God. 27 Also Isaiah crieth concerning Israel, Though the number of the children of Israel were as the sand of the sea, yet shall 1but a remnant be saved. 28 For he will make his account, and gather it into a 1short sum with righteousness: for the Lord will make a short count in the earth. 29 And as Isaiah said before, Except the Lord of hosts had left us a 1seed, we had been made as Sodom, and had been like to Gomorrah. 30 What shall we say then? That the Gentiles which followed not righteousness, have attained unto righteousness, even the righteousness which is of faith. 31 But Israel which followed the Law of righteousness, could not attain unto the Law of righteousness. 32 Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the works of the Law: for they have stumbled at the stumbling stone. 33 As it is written, 1Behold, I lay in Zion a stumbling stone, and a rock to make men fall: and everyone that believeth in him, shall not be ashamed.

9:22 1The second answer is this, that God, moreover and besides that he doth justly decree whatsoever he doth decree, useth that moderation in executing of his decrees, as declareth his singular leniency even in the reprobate in that, that he suffereth them a long time, and permitteth them to enjoy many and singular benefits, until at length he justly condemneth them: and that to good end and purpose, to wit, to show himself to be an enemy and revenger of wickedness, that it may appear what power he is of by these severe judgments, and finally by comparison of contraries to set forth indeed, how great his mercy is towards the elect. 2 By vessels, the Hebrews understand all kinds of instruments. 3 Therefore again, we may say with Paul that some men are made God the Creator to destruction.

9:23 1The unmeasurable and marvelous greatness. 9:24 1Having established the doctrine of the eternal predestination of God on both parts: that is, as well of the reprobate, as of the elect, he cometh now to show the use of it, teaching us that we ought not to seek the testimony of it in the secret counsel of God, but by the vocation which is made manifest and set forth in the Church, propounding unto us the example of the Jews and Gentiles, that the doctrine may be better perceived. 2 He saith not that all and every one of the Jews are called, but some of the Jews, and some of the Gentiles. 9:25 1Our vocation or calling is free and of grace, even as our predestination is: and therefore there is no cause why either our own unworthiness, or the unworthiness of our ancestors should cause us to think that we are not the elect and chosen of God, if we be called of him, and so embrace through faith the salvation that is offered us. 9:27 1Contrariwise, Neither any outward general calling, neither any worthiness of our ancestors is a sufficient witness of election, unless by faith and belief we answer God's calling: which thing came to pass in the Jews, as the Lord had forewarned. 9:28 1God purposeth to bring the unkind and unthankful people to an extreme fewness. 9:29 1Armies, by which word the chiepest power that is, is given to God. 2 Even a very few.

9:30 1The declaration and manifestation of our election, is our calling apprehended by faith, as it came to pass in the Gentiles. 2 So then, the Gentiles had no works to prepare and procure God's mercy beforehand: and as for that, that the Gentiles attained to that which they sought not for, the mercy of God is to be thanked for: and in that the Jews attained not that which they sought after, they can thank none for it but themselves, because they sought it not aright. 9:31 1The pride of men is the cause that they condemn vocation, so that the cause of their damnation need not to be sought for any other where but in themselves. 9:32 1Seeking to come by righteousness, they followed the Law of righteousness. 10:1 1Purposing to set forth in the Jews an example of marvelous obstinacy, he useth an insinuation. 10:3 1The first entrance into the vocation unto salvation, is to renounce our own righteousness: the next is, to embrace that righteousness by faith, which God freely offereth us the Gospel. 2 The ignorance of the Law which we ought to know, excuseth none before God, especially it excuseth not them that are of his household. 3 Ignorance hath always pride joined with it. 10:4 1The proof: The Law itself hath respect unto Christ, that such as believe in him should be saved. Therefore the calling to salvation by the works of the law is vain and foolish, but Christ is offered for salvation to every believer. 2 The end of the Law is to justify them that keep the Law: but seeing we do not observe the Law through the fault of our flesh, we attain not unto this end: but Christ saveth this disease, for he fulfilled the Law for us. 3 Not only to the Jews, but also to the Gentiles.
5 For Moses thus describeth the righteousness which is of the Law. 6 That the man which doeth these things, shall live thereby.

6 But the righteousness which is of faith, speaketh on this wise. 7 Say not in thine heart, Who shall ascend into heaven? (that is to bring Christ from above.)

7 Or, Who shall descend into the deep? (that is to bring Christ again from the dead.)

8 But what saith it? The word is near thee, even in thy mouth, and in thine heart. This is the word of faith which we preach.

9 For if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart, that God raised him up from the dead, thou shalt be saved:

10 For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness, and with the mouth man confesseth to salvation.

11 For the Scripture saith, Whosoever believeth in him, shall not be ashamed.

12 For there is no difference between the Jew and the Grecian: for he that is Lord over all, is rich unto all that call on him.

13 For whosoever shall call upon the Name of the Lord, shall be saved.

14 But how shall they call on him, in whom they have not believed? and how shall they believe in him, of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without a preacher?

15 And how shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, How beautiful are the feet of them which bring glad tidings of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!

16 But they have not all obeyed the Gospel: for Isaiah saith, Lord, who hath believed our report? 17 Then faith is by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.

18 But I demand, Have they not heard? No doubt their sound went out through all the earth, and their words into the ends of the world.

19 But I demand, Did not Israel know God? First Moses saith, I will provoke you to envy by a nation that is not my nation, and by a foolish nation I will anger you.

20 And Isaiah is bold, and saith, I was found of them that sought me not, and have been made manifest to them that asked not after me.

21 And unto Israel he saith, All the day long have I stretched forth mine hand unto a disobedient, and gainsaying people.
CHAPTER 11

11:1 1 Now the Apostle sheweth how this doctrine is to be applied to others, abiding still in his propounded cause. Therefore he teacheth us that all the Jews in particular are not cast away, and therefore we ought not to pronounce rashly of private persons, whether they be of the number of the elect or not.

2 The first proof, I am a Jew, and yet elected, therefore we may and ought fully to resolve upon our election, as hath been before said: but of another man's we cannot be so certainly resolved, and yet ours must take heed, that we think not that the whole race and offspring of the number of the elect or not.

11:2 1 The second proof: Because that God is faithful in his league or Covenant, although men be unfaithful: So then seeing that God hath said, that he will be the God of his unto a thousand generations, we must take heed, that we think not that the whole race and offspring is cast off, by reason of the unbelief of a few, but rather, that we hope and put our trust of election in God, which hath given us the knowledge of the Gospel.

3 Which he loved and chose from everlasting.

4 The third proof, taken from the answer that was made to Elijah: even then also, when there appeared openly to the face of the world no elect, yet God knew his elect and chosen, and of them also good store and number. Whereupon this also is concluded, that we ought not rashly to pronounce of any man as of a reprobate, and therefore seeing that the Church is oftentimes brought to that state, that even the most watchful and sharp-sighted pastors think it to be clean extinct and put out.

11:4 1 He speaketh of remnant, and preserved reserve of people which were chosen from everlasting, and not of remnants that should be chosen afterward: for they are not chosen, because they were not idolaters, but therefore they were not idolaters, because they were chosen and elect.

2 Baal signifieth as much as Master or patron, or one in whose power another is, which name the idolaters at this day give their idols, naming them patrons, and patronesses or Ladies.

11:5 1 The election of grace, is not whereby men chose grace, but whereby God chose us of his grace and goodness.

11:6 1 Although that all be not elect and chosen, yet let them that are elected, remember that they are freely chosen, and let them that stubbornly refuse the grace and free mercy of God, impute it unto themselves.

2 This saying beateth down flat to the ground all the doctrine of all kinds and manner of works, whereby our justifiers of themselves do teach, that works are either wholly or partly the cause of our justification.

11:7 1 See Mark 3:5.

11:8 1 And yet this hardness of heart cometh not but by God's just decree and judgment, and yet without fault, whom as he so puniseth the unthankful, and they seeking life, to wit, the Law of God, for the preposterous which they sought life, to wit, the Law of God, for the preposterous spirit of slumber: eyes that they should not see, and ears that they should not hear unto this day.

9 And David saith, 2Let their table be made a snare, and a net, and a stumbling block, even for a recompense unto them.

10 Let their eyes be darkened that they see not, and bow down their back always.

11 1 I demand then, Have they stumbled, that they should fall? God forbid: but through their fall, salvation cometh unto the Gentiles, to provoke them to follow them.

12 Wherefore if the fall of them be the riches of the world, and the diminishing of them the riches of the Gentiles, how much more shall their abundance be?

13 1 For in that I speak to you Gentiles, inasmuch as I am the Apostle of the Gentiles, I magnify mine
11:15 1 It shall come to pass that when the Jews come to the Gospel, the world shall as it were come quacken again, and rise up from death to life.

11:16 1 The nation of the Jews being considered in their stock and root, that is, in Abraham, is holy, although that many of the branches be cut off. Therefore in judging of our brethren, we must not stick in their unworthiness, to think that they are at once all cast off, but we must mark here, that he speaketh not of the election of every private man, which remaineth steadfast forever, but of the election of the whole nation.

11:17 1 There is no cause why the Gentiles which have obtained mercy, should triumph over the Jews which condemn the grace of God, seeing they are grafted into the Jews' ancestors. But let them rather take heed that also be not found in them which is worthyly condemned in the Jews. And hereof also this general doctrine may be gathered and proved hereof in ourselves.

11:18 1 Boast not thyself against the branches: and if thou boast thyself, thou bearest not the root, but the root thee.

11:19 Thou wilt say then, The branches are broken off, that I might be grafted in.

11:20 Well: through unbelief they are broken off, and thou standest by faith: be not high-minded, but fear.

11:21 For if God spared not the natural branches, take heed, lest he also spare not thee.

11:22 Behold therefore the bountfulness, and severity of God: toward them which have fallen, severity: but toward thee, bountfulness, if thou continue in his bountfulness: or else thou shalt also be cut off.

11:23 1 And they also, if they abide not still in unbelief, shall be grafted in: for God is able to graft them in again.

11:24 For if thou wast cut out of the Olive tree, which was wild by nature, and was grafted contrary to nature in a right Olive tree, how much more shall they that are by nature, be grafted in their own Olive tree?

11:25 1 For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this secret (lest ye should be arrogant in yourselves) that partly obstinacy is come to Israel, until the fullness of the Gentiles be come in.

11:26 And so all Israel shall be saved, as it is written, The deliverer shall come out of Zion, and shall turn away the ungodliness from Jacob.

11:27 And this is my covenant to them, When I shall take away their sins.

11:28 1 As concerning the Gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the election, they are beloved for the fathers' sakes.

29 1For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance.

30 1For even as ye in times past have not believed God, yet have now obtained mercy through their unbelief:

31 Even so now have they not believed by the mercy showed unto you, that they also may obtain mercy.

32 For God hath shut up 1all in unbelief, that he might have mercy on all.

33 'O the deepness of the riches, both of the wisdom, and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!

34 2For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who was his counselor?

35 Or who hath given unto him 1first, and he shall be recompensed?

36 For of him, and through him, and for 1him are all things: to him be glory forever. Amen.

11:29 1 The reason or proof: because the covenant made with that nation of life everlasting, cannot be frustrate and vain.

11:30 1 Another reason, because that although that they which are hardened, are worthy punished, yet hath not this stubbornness of the Jews so come to pass properly for an hatred to that nation, but that an entry might as it were be opened to bring in the Gentiles, and afterward the Jews being inflamed with emulation of this mercy which is showed to the Gentiles, might themselves also be partakers of the same benefit, and so it might appear that both Jews and Gentiles are saved, only by the free mercy and grace of God, which could not have been so manifest, if at the beginning, God had brought all together into the Church, or if he had saved the nation of the Jews without this interruption.

11:32 1 Both Jews and Gentiles.

11:33 1 The Apostle crieth not as astonished with this wonderful wisdom of God, which he teacheth us, ought to be religiously reverenced, and not curiously and profanely to be searched beyond the compass of that God hath revealed unto us.

2 The course that he holdeth in governing all things both generally and particularly.

3 The order of his counsels and doings.

11:34 1 He bridleth three manner of ways, the wicked boldness of man: first, because that God is above all, most wise, and therefore it is very absurd, and plainly godless to measure him by our folly. Moreover, because he is debtor to no man, and therefore no man can complain of injury done unto him. Thirdly, because all things are made for his glory, and therefore we must refer all things to his glory, and therefore we must refer all things to his glory, and therefore we must refer all things to his glory.

11:35 1 This saying overthroweth the doctrine of foreseen works and merits.

11:36 1 To wit, for God, to whose glory all things are referred, not only things that were made, but especially his new works which he worketh in his elect.

12:1 1 The fourth part of this Epistle, which after the finishing of the chief points of Christian doctrine, consisteth in declaring of precepts of Christian life. And first of all he giveth general precepts and grounds: the chiefest whereof is this that every man consecrate himself wholly to the spiritual service of God, and do as it were sacrifice his own self, trusting to the grace of God.

2 By this preface he sheweth that God's glory is the utmost end of all our doings.

3 In times past the sacrifices were presented before the altar, but now the altar is everywhere.

4 Or who was his counselor?

5 Or who hath given unto him 1first, and he shall be recompensed?

6 So we being many, are one body in Christ, and every one, one another's members.
6 Seeing then that we have gifts that are divers, according to the grace that is given unto us, whether we have prophecy, let us prophesy according to the portion of faith.

7 Or an office, let us wait on the office: or he that teacheth, on teaching:

8 Or he that exhorteth, on exhortation: he that distributeth, let him do it with simplicity: he that ruleth, with diligence: he that showeth mercy, with cheerfulness.

9 Let love be without dissimulation. Abhor that which is evil, and cleave unto that which is good.

10 Be affectioned to love one another with brotherly love. In giving honor, go one before another.

11 Not slothful to do service, fervent in spirit serving the Lord.

12 Rejoicing in hope, patient in tribulation, continuing in prayer.

13 Distributing unto the necessities of the Saints: giving yourselves to hospitality.

14 Bless them which persecute you: bless, I say, and curse not.

15 Rejoice with them that rejoice, and weep with them that weep.

16 Be like affectioned one towards another: be not high-minded: but make yourselves equal to them of lower sort: be not wise in yourselves.

17 Recompense to no man evil for evil: procure things honest in the sight of all men.

18 If it be possible, as much as in you is, have peace with all men.

19 Dearly beloved,厉害 not yourselves, but give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine: I will repay, saith the Lord.

20 Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him: if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head.

21 Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with goodness.

13 1 He willeth that we submit ourselves to Magistrates: 8 To love our neighbor: 13 To love uprightly. 14 and to put on Christ.

1 Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers: for there is no power but of God: and the powers that be, are ordained of God.

2 Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist, shall receive to themselves condemnation.

3 For Magistrates are not to be feared for good works, but for evil. Wilt thou then be without fear of high powers?
of the power? do well: so shalt thou have praise of the same.

4 For he is the minister of God for thy wealth: but if thou do evil, fear: for he beareth not the sword for nought: for he is the minister of God to take vengeance on him that doeth evil.

5 Wherefore ye must be subject, not because of wrath only, but also for conscience sake.

6 For, for this cause ye pay also tribute: for they are God’s ministers, applying themselves for the same thing.

7 Give to all men therefore their duty: tribute, to whom ye owe tribute: custom, to whom custom: fear, to whom 1fear: honor, to whom ye owe 2honor.

8 Owe nothing to any man, but to love one another: for he that loveth another, hath fulfilled the 1Law.

9 For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet: and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, even in this, 2Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

10 Love doeth not evil to his neighbor: therefore is love the fulfilling of the Law.

11 And that, considering the season, that it is now time that we should arise from sleep: for now is our salvation nearer, than when we believed it.

12 The night is past, and the day is at hand, let us therefore cast away the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light.

13 So that we walk honestly, as in the day: not in sluttiness, and drunkenness, neither in chambering and wantonness, nor in strife and envying.

14 But put ye on the Lord JESUS CHRIST, and take no thought for the flesh, to fulfill the lust of it.

14:1 He willeth that we so deal with the weak in faith, that through our fault they be not offended. 2 And on the other side he commandeth them not rashly to judge of the stronger: 19 That within the bounds of edification and charity. 22 Christian liberty may conflict.

1 Him 1that is weak in the faith, 2 receive unto you, but not for 3controversies of disputations.

2 One 1believeth that he may eat of all things: another, which is weak, eath herbs.

3 Let not him that eateth, despise him that eateth not: and let not him which eateth not, condemn him that eateth: for 2God hath received him.

4 3Who art thou that condemnest another man’s servant? he standeth or falleth to his own master: if he do it not in the service of Christ, he that doeth so sinneth.

134 1 God hath armed the Magistrate even with a revenging sword. 2 By whom God revengeth the wicked.

135 1 The conclusion: We must obey the magistrate, not only for fear of punishment, but much more because that (although the Magistrate have no power over the conscience of man, yet seeing he is God’s minister) he cannot be resisteth by any good conscience.

2 So far as lawfully we may: for if unlawful things be commanded us, we must answer as Peter teacheth us, It is better to obey God than men.

136 He reckoneth up the chiefest things wherein consisteth the obedience of subjects.

137 Obedience, and that from the heart.

2 Reverence, (which as reason is) we must give to the Magistrate.

138 He sheweth how very few judgments need to be executed, to wit, if we so order our life, as no man may justly require anything of us, besides that only that we owe one to another, by the perpetual law of charity.

3 He commendeth charity, as an abridgement of the whole Law.

4 He hath not only done one commandment, but performed generally that which the Law commandeth.

139 For the whole Law commandeth nothing else, but that we love God and our neighbor. But seeing Paul speaketh here of the duties we owe one to another, we must restrain this word, Law to the second Table.

13:11 An application taken of the circumstance of the time: which also itself putth us in mind of our duty, seeing that this remineth after that the darkness of ignorance and wicked affections by the knowledge of God’s truth be driven out of us, that we order our life according to that certain and sure rule of all righteousness and honesty, being fully grounded upon the virtue of the Spirit of Christ.

13:12 In other places we are said to be in the light, but yet so, that it appeareth not as yet what we are, for as yet we see but as it were in the twilight.

2 That kind of life, which they lead, that fleethe light.
yea, he shall be established: for God is able to make him stand.

5 1This man esteemeth one day above another day, and another man counteth every day alike: 2let every man be fully persuaded in his mind.

6 1He that observeth the day, observeth it to the Lord: and he that observeth not the day, observeth it not to the Lord. He that eateth, eateth to the Lord: 2for he giveth God thanks: and he that eateth not, eateth not to the Lord, and giveth God thanks.

7 1For none of us liveth to himself, neither doth any die to himself.

8 For whether we live, we live unto the Lord: or whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lords.

9 For Christ therefore died and rose again, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and the quick.

10 1But why dost thou condemn thy brother? or why dost thou despise thy brother? 2for we shall all appear before the judgment seat of Christ.

11 For it is written, 1I live, saith the Lord, and every knee shall bow to me, and all tongues shall confess unto God.

12 So then everyone of us shall give accounts of himself to God.

13 1Let us not therefore judge one another anymore: but use your judgment rather in 2this that no man put an occasion to fall, or a stumbling block before his brother.

14 1I know, and am persuaded through the 2Lord Jesus, that there is nothing unclean of itself: but unto him that judgeth anything to be unclean, to him it is unclean.

15 But if thy brother be grieved for the meat, now walkest thou not charitably: 2destroy not him with thy meat, for whom 3Christ died.

14:15 1 We must not stick, saith he, in the meat itself, but in the use of the meat, so that he is justly to be reprehended that liveth so, that he casteth not his eyes upon God. For both our life and our death is dedicated to him, and for this cause Christ hath properly died, and not simply, that we might eat this meat or that.

2 Hath respect to himself only, which the Hebrews utter after this sort, Doeth well to his own soul.

14:10 1 The conclusion: we must leave to God his right: and therefore in matters, which according as the conscience if afflicted, are either good or evil, the strong must not despise their weak brethren, much less condemn them. But this consequent cannot be taken of equal force in the contrary, to wit, that the weak should not judge the strong, because the weak do not know, that they which do not observe a day and eat, observe it not to the Lord, and eat to the Lord, as the strong men know, that the weak which observe a day and eat not, observe the day to the Lord, and eat not to the Lord.

14:11 1 This is a form of an oath, proper to God only, for he and none but he liveth, and hath his being of himself.

2 Shall acknowledge me from God.

14:13 1 After that he hath concluded what is not to be done, he showeth what is to be done: to wit, we must take heed that we do not utterly cast down with abusing our liberty, our brother who is not yet strong.

2 He rebuketh by this way, these malicious judgers of others, which occupy their heads about nothing, but to find fault with their brethren's life, whereas they should rather bestow their wits upon this, that they do not with their disdainfulnes either cast their brethren clean down, or give them some offense.

14:14 1 The preventing of an objection: It is true that the schoolmastership of the Law is taken away by the benefit of Christ, to such as know it, but yet notwithstanding we have to consider in the use of this liberty what is expedient, that we may have regard of our weak brother, seeing that our liberty is not lost thereby.

14:15 1 It is the part of a cruel mind to make more account of meat, than of our brother's salvation. Which thing they do, that presume to eat with offense of any brother, and so give him occasion to go back from the Gospel.

2 Another argument: We must follow Christ's example: who was so far from destroying the weak with meat, that he gave his life for them.
15:1 1 The stronger must employ their strength to strengthen the weak.  5 By Christ’s example,  7 who received not only the Jews, 10 but also the Gentiles.  15 The cause why he wrote this Epistle.

1  We 1 which are strong, ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to 2please ourselves.

2  Therefore let every man please his neighbor in that that is 3good to edification.

15:2 1 He that doubteth, is condemned if he eat, because 2eateth not of faith: and whatsoever is not of faith, is sin.

15:3 1 For Christ also would not please himself, but as it is written, 1The rebukes of them which rebuke thee, fell on me.

4 1 For whatsoever things are written aforetime, are written for our learning, that we through patience, and comfort of the 2Scriptures might have hope.

5 1 Now the God of patience and consolation give you that ye be 3like-minded one towards another, according to Christ Jesus,

6  That ye with one mind, and with one mouth may praise God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

7  Wherefore receive ye one another, as Christ also 1received us to the glory of God.

8 1 Now I say, that Jesus Christ was a minister of the 2circumcision, for the 3truth of God, to confirm the promises made unto the fathers.

9 1 And let the Gentiles praise God, for bis mercy, as it is written, 1For this cause I will 2confess thee among the Gentiles, and sing unto thy Name.

10  And again he saith, 1Rejoice, ye Gentiles with his people.

11  And again, 1Praise the Lord, all ye Gentiles, and laud ye him all people together.

12  And again Isaiah saith, 1There shall be a root of Jesse, and he that shall rise to reign over the Gentiles, in him shall the Gentiles trust.

13 1 Now the God of 1hope fill you with 2all joy, and peace in believing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the holy Ghost.

14 And I myself also am persuaded of you, my brethren, that ye also are full of goodness, and filled with all knowledge, and are able to admonish one another.

15 Nevertheless, brethren, I have somewhat boldly after a sort written unto you, as one that putteth you in remembrance, through the grace that is given me of God,

16 That I should be the minister of Jesus Christ toward the Gentiles, ministering the Gospel of God, that the offering up of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified by the holy Ghost.

17 I have therefore whereof I may rejoice in Christ Jesus in those things which pertain to God.

18 For I dare not speak of anything, which Christ hath not wrought by me, to make the Gentiles obedient in word and deed, 19 With the power of signs and wonders, by the power of the spirit of God: so that from Jerusalem, and round about unto Illyricum, I have caused to abound the Gospel of Christ.

20 Yea, so I enforced myself to preach the Gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should have built on another man's foundation.

21 But as it is written, To whom he was not spoken of, they shall see him, and they that heard not, shall understand him.

22 Therefore also I have been oft let to come unto you:

23 But now seeing I have no more place in these quarters, and also have been desirous many years agone to come unto you,
Saints, and that ye assist her in whatsoever business she needeth of your aid: for she hath given hospitality unto many, and to me also.

3 Greet Priscilla, and Aquila, my fellow helpers in Christ Jesus.

4 (Which have for my life laid down their own neck. Unto whom not I only give thanks, but also all the Churches of the Gentiles.)

5 Likewise greet the Church that is in their house. Salute my beloved Epaphroditus, which is the firstfruits of Achaia in Christ.

6 Greet Mary which bestowed much labor on us.

7 Salute Andronicus and Junia, your companions which are notable among the Apostles, and were in Christ before me.

8 Greet Amplias my beloved in the Lord.

9 Salute Urbanus our fellow helper in Christ, and Stachys my beloved.

10 Salute Apelles approved in Christ. Salute them which are of Aristobulus’ friends.

11 Salute Herodion my kinsman. Greet them which are of the friends of Narcissus which are in the Lord.

12 Salute Tryphena and Tryphosa, which women labor in the Lord. Salute the beloved Persis, which woman hath labored much in the Lord.

13 Salute Rufus chosen in the Lord, and his mother and mine.

14 Greet Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Mercurius, and the brethren which are with them.

15 Salute Philip and Julia, Nereus, and his sister, and Olympas and all the Saints which are with them.

16 Salute one another with an holy kiss. The Churches of Christ salute you.

16:25 ¶ Now I beseech you brethren, mark them diligently which cause division and offenses, contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned, and avoid them. For they that are such, serve not the Lord Jesus Christ but their own bellies, and with fair speech and flattering deceive the hearts of the simple.

16:26 ¶ For your obedience is come abroad among all: I am glad therefore of you: but yet I would have you wise unto that which is good, and simple concerning evil.

16:27 The God of peace shall tread Satan under your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

21 Timothy my helper, and Lucius and Jason, and Sosipater my kinsmen, salute you.

22 I Tertius, which wrote out this Epistle, salute you in the Lord.

23 Gaius my host, and of the whole Church salute you. Erastus the steward of the city salute you, and Quartus a brother.

24 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

25 To him now that is of power to establish you according to my Gospel, and preaching of Jesus Christ, by the revelation of the mystery, which was kept secret since the world began:

26 (But now is opened, and published among all nations by the Scriptures of the Prophets, at the commandment of the everlasting God for the obedience of faith.)

27 To God, I say, only wise, be praise through Jesus Christ for ever. Amen.

Written to the Romans from Corinth, and sent by Phoebe, servant of the Church which is at Cenchrea.

165 1 The company of the faithful, for in so great a city as that was, there were divers companies.

2 For he was the first of Achaia that believed in Christ: and this kind of speech is an allusion to the ceremonies of the Law.

167 1 Ingrained by faith.

16:16 1 He calleth that an holy kiss, which proceedeth from an heart that is full of that holy love: now this is to be referred to the manner used in those days.

16:17 1 As by namely describing them, which were worthy of commendation, he sufficiently declared when they ought to hear and follow; so doth he now point out unto them whom they ought to take heed of, yet he nameth them not, for that it was not needful.

2 Warnly and diligently, as though you should scout out for your enemies in a watch tower.

16:18 1 The word which he useth, signifieth a promising which performeth nothing, and if thou hearest any such, thou mayest assure thyself that he that promiseth thee is more careful of thy matters, than of his own.

16:19 1 Simplicity must be joined with wisdom.

2 Furnished with the knowledge of the truth, and wisdom, that you may embrace good things, and eschew evil, beware of the deceits and snares of false prophets, and resist them openly: and this place doth plainly destroy the Papists’ faith of credit, whereas they maintain it to be sufficient for one man to believe as another man believeth, without further knowledge, or examination what the matter is, or what ground it hath: using these daily speeches, We believe as our fathers believed, and we believe as the Church believeth, without further knowledge, or examination what the matter is, or what ground it hath: using these daily speeches, We believe as our fathers believed, and we believe as the Church believeth.

3 As men that know no way to deceive, much less to deceive in deed.

16:20 1 We must fight, with a certain hope of victory.

16:21 1 He annexeth salutations, partly to renew mutual friendship, and partly to the end that this Epistle might be of some weight with the Romans, having the confirmation of so many that subscribed unto it.

16:22 1 Wrote it as Paul uttered it.

16:24 1 Now taking his leave of them this third time, he wisheth that unto them, whereupon dependeth all the force of the former doctrine.

16:25 1 He setteth forth the power and wisdom of God with great thanksgiving, which especially appears in the Gospel, and maketh mention also of the calling of the Gentiles to confirm the Romans in the hope of this salvation.

16:26 1 Offered and exhibited to all nations to be known.
1 After the salutation, 10 which in effect is an exhortation. 12 He reprehended the Corinthians’ sects and divisions, 17 and calleth them from pride to humility: 20 For overthrowing all worldly wisdom. 23, 25 he advancest only the preaching of the cross.

1 Paul called to be an Apostle of Jesus Christ, through the will of God, and our brother Sosthenes,

2 Unto the Church of God, which is at Corinth, to them that are sanctified in Christ Jesus, Saints by calling, with all that call on the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ in every place, both their Lord, and ours:

3 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

4 I thank my God always on your behalf for the evidence of your faith in doing such wonderful works through your love to all the saints;

5 That in all things ye are made rich in him in all knowledge:

6 As the testimony of Jesus Christ hath been confirmed in you:

7 So that ye are not destitute of any gift: waiting for the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ.

8 Who shall also confirm you unto the end, that ye may be blameless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 God is faithful, by whom ye are called unto the fellowship of his son Jesus Christ our Lord.

10 Now I beseech you, brethren, by the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak one thing, and that there be no dissensions among you: but be ye knit together in one mind, and in one judgment.

11 For it hath been declared unto me, my brethren, of you by them that are of the house of Chloe, that... there are contentions among you.
12 Now this I say, that every one of you saith, I am Paul's, and I am Apollo's, and I am Cephas's and I am Christ's.
13 1Is Christ divided? was Paul crucified for you? either were ye baptized into the name of Paul?
14 4I thank God, that I baptized none of you, but 1Crispus, and 2Gaius, 15 5Lest any should say, that I had baptized into mine own name.
16 I baptized also the household of Stephanas; furthermore know I not, whether I baptized any other.
17 6For CHRIST sent me not to baptize, but to an objection: for that be understood by good witnesses, that there were many factions among them. And therewithall he openeth the cause of dissensions, because that some did hang on one doctor, some on another, and some were so addicted to themselves, that they neglected all doctors and teachers, calling themselves the disciples of Christ only, shutting forth their teachers.

1:12 1  The matter I would say to you, is this.
1:13 1  The first reason why schisms ought to be eschewed: because Christ forsoth by that means, to be divided and torn in pieces, who cannot be the head of two divers and disagreeing bodies, being himself one.
2 Another reason: Because they cannot without great injury to God so hang of men as of Christ: which thing no doubt they do, which allow whatsoever some man speaketh, even for his person's sake: as these men allowed one selfsame Gospel being uttered of one man, and did loathe it being uttered of another man. So that these factions were called by the names of their teachers. Now Paul setteth down his own name not only to grieve no man, but also to sheweth it he pleaded not his own cause.
3 The third reason taken of the form and end of Baptism, wherein we make a promise to Christ, calling on also the Name of the Father and the holy Ghost. Therefore although a man does not fall from the doctrine of Christ, yet if he hang upon some certain teachers, and despise others, he forsaketh Christ: for if he hold Christ his only master, he would hear him, teaching by whomsoever.
1:14 1  He protesteth that he speaketh so much the more boldly of these things, because that though God's providence he is void of all suspicion of challenging disciples unto himself, and taking them from others. Whereby we may understand that not the scholars only, but the teachers also are here reprehended, which gathered themselves flocks apart.
1:17 1  The taking away of an objection: that he gave not himself to baptize many amongst them: not for the contempt of Baptism, but because he was chiefly occupied in delivering the doctrine, and committed them that received his doctrine to others to be baptized, whereof he had store. And so he declared sufficiently how far he was from all ambition: whereas on the other side they whom he reprehended, as though they gathered disciples unto themselves and not to Christ, bragged most ambitiously of numbers, which they had baptized.
2 Now he turneth himself to the doctors themselves, which pleased themselves in brave and ambitious eloquence, to the end that they might draw more disciples after them. He confesseth plainly that he was unlike unto them, opposing gravely as it became an Apostle, his example against their perverse judgments: So that this is another place of this Epistle, touching the observing of a godly simplicity, both in words and sentences in teaching of the Gospel.
3 With eloquence: which Paul casteth off from him not only, as not necessary, but also as flat contrary to the office of his Apostleship and yet had Paul his kind of eloquence, but it was heavenly, not of man, and void of painted words.
4 The reason why he used not the pomp of words and painted speech: because it was God's will to bring the world to his obedience by that way, whereby the most idots amongst men might understand, that this work was done of God himself without the art of man. Therefore as salvation is set forth unto us in the Gospel by the cross of Christ, then which nothing is more contemptible, and more far from life, so God would have the manner of the preaching of the cross most different from those means, with which men do use to draw and entice others, either to hear or believe: therefore it pleased him by a certain kind of most wise folly, to triumph over the most foolish wisdom of the world, as he had said before by Isaiah: that he would. And hereby this we may gather, that both those doctors which were puffed up with ambitious eloquence, and also their hearers stayed far away from the end and mark of their vocation.
1:18 1  The preaching of Christ crucified, or the kinds of speech which we use.
2 It is that wherein he declareth his marvelous power in saving his elect, which would not so evidently appear, if it hanged upon any help of man: for so man might attribute that to himself, which is proper only to the cross of Christ.
1:19 1  The Apostle proveth that this ought not only to seem strange, seeing that it was foretold so long before, but declareth further, that God is wont to punish the pride of the world in such sort, which so pleaseth itself in its own wisdom: and therefore that is vain, yea a thing of nothing, and such as God rejecteth as unprofitable, which they so carefully laboured for, and made so great account of.
1:20 1  Where art thou, O thou learned fellow, and thou that spendest thy days in turning thy books?
2 Thou that spendest all thy time in seeking out the secret things of this world, and in expounding all hard questions: and thus triumphest he against all the men of this world, for there was not one of them that could so much as dream upon this secret and hidden mystery.
1:21 1  He sheweth that the pride of men was worthy punished of GOD, because they would not behold God, as meet was they should; in the most clear glass of the wisdom of the world, which is the workmanship of the world.
2 By the world he meaneth all men which are not born anew, but remain as they were, when they were first born.
3 In the workmanship of this world, which hath the marvelous wisdom of God engraved in it, so that every man may behold it.
4 The goodness of God is wonderful, for while he goeth about to punish the pride of the world, he is very provident and careful, for the salvation of it, and teacheth men to become fools, that they may be wise to God.
God is made unto us wisdom and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption.

1 That, according as it is written, 2 that rejoiceth, let him rejoice in the Lord.

1 Cor. 1:28

1 After that kind of wisdom which men make account of, as though there were none else: who because they are carnal, know not spiritual wisdom.

1:28 2 To show that they are vain and unprofitable, and nothing worth, see Rom. 3:31.

1:29 3 Which in man's judgment are almost nothing.

1:28 1 A declaration of that which he said that the preaching of the Gospel, is foolish. It is foolish, saith he, to them whom God had not endued with new light, that is to say, to all men, being considered in themselves: for the Jews require miracles, and the Greeks arguments, which they may comprehend by their wit and wisdom: and therefore they do not only not believe the Gospel, but also they mock at it. Notwithstanding in this foolish preaching, there is the great virtue and power, and sanctification, and redemption.

1:24 3 For brethren, you see your calling, how that neither charge God with folly, than acknowledge their own and crave pardon for it.

1:26 1 A confirmation taken of those things which came to pass at Corinth, where the Church especially consisted of the basest and common people, insomuch that the philosophers of Greece were driven to shame, when they saw that they could do nothing with their wisdom and eloquence, in comparison of the Apostles, whom notwithstanding they called idiots and unlearned. And herewithal doth he beat down their pride, for God did not prefer them before those noble and wise men because they should be proud, but that they might thereby know manifestly, that the Gospel was base in respect of man's wisdom, but noble in respect of the spiritual power and efficacy.

1:24 2 For brethren, you see your calling, how that neither charge God with folly, than acknowledge their own and crave pardon for it.

1:25 3 For the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.

1:26 3 And he telleth the Corinthians, that he did it for their great profit, because they might thereby know manifestly, that the Gospel was from heaven. Therefore he privately rebuketh them, because in seeking vain ostentation, they willingly deprived themselves of the greatest help of their faith.

1:28 3 After that kind of wisdom which men make account of, as though there were none else: who because they are carnal, know not spiritual wisdom.

1:29 1 Whom he cast down before, now he lifteth up, yea, higher than all men: yet so, that he showeth them all their worthiness is without themselves, that is, standeth in Christ, and that of God.

2:2 1 I purposed not to profess any other knowledge, but the knowledge of Christ and him crucified.

2:3 1 He teacheth that especially and above all things, the Gospel ought not to be condemned, seeing it containeth the chiefest things that are to be desired, to wit, true wisdom, the true way to obtain righteousness, the true way to live honestly and godly, the true deliverance from all miseries and calamities.

2:6 1 And we speak wisdom among them that are wise, to confound the wise, and God hath chosen the weak things of the world, to confound the mighty things.

2:6 1 He setteth down a platform of his preaching, which was base in respect of man's wisdom.

2:14 And so concludes that flesh and blood cannot rightly judge thereof.

2:6 2 That your faith should not be in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.

2:1 And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of words, or of wisdom, showing unto you the testimony of God.

2:2 And I was among you in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling.

2:4 Neither stood my word, and my preaching in the enticings of man's wisdom, but in plain evidence of the Spirit and of power.

2:5 That your faith should not be in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.

2:6 And we speak wisdom among them that are wise, to confound the wise, and God hath chosen the weak things of the world, to confound the mighty things.

2:4 Neither stood my word, and my preaching in the enticings of man's wisdom, but in plain evidence of the Spirit and of power.

2:5 That your faith should not be in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.

2:6 And we speak wisdom among them that are wise, to confound the wise, and God hath chosen the weak things of the world, to confound the mighty things.

2:1 And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of words, or of wisdom, showing unto you the testimony of God.

2:2 And I was among you in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling.

2:4 Neither stood my word, and my preaching in the enticings of man's wisdom, but in plain evidence of the Spirit and of power.

2:5 That your faith should not be in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.

2:6 And we speak wisdom among them that are wise, to confound the wise, and God hath chosen the weak things of the world, to confound the mighty things.
2:7 1But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hid wisdom, which God had determined before the world, unto our glory.

8 1Which none of the princes of this world hath known: for had they known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.

9 1But as it is written, The things which eye hath not seen, neither ear hath heard, neither came into man's heart, are, which God hath prepared for them that love him.

10 1But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God.

11 1For what man knoweth the things of a man, save by a making common of things belonging to someone, with other to whom they do not belong.

2:8 1He taketh away another objection: why then, how cometh it to pass that so few allow these things? This is not to be marred, lest that any man should separate the Spirit from the preaching of the word and Christ: or should think that those fantastical men are governed by the Spirit of God, which wandering besides the word, thrust upon us their vain imaginations for the secrets of God.

2:9 1Another objection: But how could it be that those witty men could not perceive this wisdom? Paul answereth: because they know not Christ such as he was.

2:10 1A question: if it surmount the capacity of men, how can it be understood of any man, or how can you declare and preach it? by a peculiar lightening by God's Spirit, wherewith whosoever is inspired, he can enter even to the very secrets of God.

2:11 1He setteth that forth by a similitude, which he spake of the inspiration of the Spirit. As the force of man's wit searcheth out things pertaining to man, so doth our mind by that power of the holy Ghost, understand heavenly things.

2:12 1The Spirit which we have received, doth not teach us things of this world, but lifteth us up to God, and this place teacheth us against the Papists, what faith is, from whence it cometh, and what force it is of.

2:13 1But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God.
that he might instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ.

3 1 He yieldeth a reason why he preached small matters unto them: 4 He showeth how they ought to esteem of Ministers: 6 The minister's office. A true form of edifying. 16 He warneth the Corinthians, that they be not drawn away to profane things, 18 through the proud wisdom of the flesh.

1 And I could not speak unto you, brethren, as unto spiritual men, but as unto carnal, even as unto babes in Christ.

2 I gave you milk to drink, and not meat: for ye were not able to bear it, neither yet now are ye able.

3 For ye are yet carnal: for whereas among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are ye not carnal, and walk as men?

4 For when one saith, I am Paul's, and another, I am Apollos's, are ye not carnal?

2 Lay his head to his, and teach him what he should do.

3 We are endued with the Spirit of Christ, who openeth unto us those secrets, which by all other means are unsearchable, and also all truth whatsoever.

3:1 1 Having declared the worthiness of heavenly wisdom, and of the Gospel, and having generally condemned the blindness of man's mind, now at length he applieth it particularly to the Corinthians, calling them carnal, that is, such in whom as yet the flesh prevaleth against the spirit. And he bringeth a double testimony of it: first, for that he had proved them to be such, insomuch that he dealt with them no otherwise than with ignorant men, and such as are almost babes in the doctrine of godliness; and secondly, because they showed indeed by these disensions, which sprang up by reason of them, and much less may we divide, or set them apart, (as these factious men did) seeing that all of them labor in God's business, and in such sort, that they serve to finish one selfsame work.

3:2 2 To be fed by me with substantial meat: therefore as the Corinthians grew up in age, so the Apostle nourished them by teaching first with milk, then with strong meat, which difference was only but in the manner of teaching.

3:3 1 By the square and compass of man's wit and judgment.

3:4 1 After that he hath sufficiently reprehended ambitious teachers, and their foolish esteemers, now he showeth how the true ministers are to be esteemed, that we attribute not unto them, more or less than we ought to do. Therefore he teacheth us, that they are he that he hath proved them to be such, insomuch that he dealt with them no otherwise than with ignorant men, and such as are almost babes in the doctrine of godliness; and secondly, because they showed indeed by these disensions, which sprang up by reason of the ignorance of the virtue of the Spirit, and heavenly wisdom, that they had profited very little or nothing.

2 He calleth them carnal, which are as yet ignorant, and therefore to express it the better, he termeth them babes.

3:5 1 Substantial meat, or strong meat.

2 To be fed by me with substantial meat: therefore as the Corinthians grew up in age, so the Apostle nourished them by teaching first with milk, then with strong meat, which difference was only but in the manner of teaching.

3:6 1 By the square and compass of man's wit and judgment.

3:7 1 After that he hath sufficiently reprehended ambitious teachers, and their foolish esteemers, now he showeth how the true ministers are to be esteemed, that we attribute not unto them, more or less than we ought to do. Therefore he teacheth us, that they are he that he hath proved them to be such, insomuch that he dealt with them no otherwise than with ignorant men, and such as are almost babes in the doctrine of godliness; and secondly, because they showed indeed by these disensions, which sprang up by reason of the ignorance of the virtue of the Spirit, and heavenly wisdom, that they had profited very little or nothing.

2 He calleth them carnal, which are as yet ignorant, and therefore to express it the better, he termeth them babes.

3:8 1 Substantial meat, or strong meat.

2 To be fed by me with substantial meat: therefore as the Corinthians grew up in age, so the Apostle nourished them by teaching first with milk, then with strong meat, which difference was only but in the manner of teaching.

3:9 1 Serving under him: Now they which serve under another, do nothing by their own strength, but as it is given them by grace, which grace maketh them fit to that service. See 1 Cor. 15:10; 2 Cor. 3:6, and all the increase that cometh by their labor, doth so proceed from God, that no part of the praise of it may be given to the under servant.

3:10 1 Now he speaketh to the teachers themselves, who succeeded him in the Church of Corinth, and in their person, to all that were after or shall be Pastors of Congregations, seeing that they succeed into the labor of the Apostles, which were planters and chief builders. Therefore he warneth them first, that they persuade not themselves that they may build after their own fantasy, that is, that they may propound and set forth anything in the Church, either in matter, or in kind of teaching, different from the Apostles which were the chief builders.

3:11 1 Moreover, he showeth what this foundation is, to wit, Christ Jesus, from which they may not turn away one iota in the building up of this building.

3:12 1 Thirdly, he showeth that they must take heed that the upper part of the building be answerable to the foundation, that is, that admonitions, exhortations, and whatsoever pertaineth to the edifying of the flock, be answerable to the doctrine of Christ, as well in matter as in form: which doctrine is compared to gold, silver, and precious stones: of which matter, Isaiah also and John in the Revelation build the heavenly city. And to these are opposite, wood, hay, stubble, that is to say, curious and vain questions or decrees: and besides to be short, all that kind of teaching which serveth to ostentation. For false doctrines, wherof he speaketh not here, are not said properly to be built upon this foundation, unless peradventure in show only
13. Every man's work shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by the fire: and the fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is.

14. If any man's work be not made manifest in that fire, it shall be consumed, as was said of wood, hay, and stubble.

15. If any man's work abide which he hath built in the Lord shall not be blotted out.

16. Know ye not that ye are the temple of God? who shall not the Spirit of God dwell in you?

17. If any man destroy the temple of God, him shall God destroy: for the temple of God is holy, which is the Church.

18. Let no man deceive himself: If any man among us seem to be wise in this world, let him be a fool, that he may be wise.

19. For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God: for it is written, He catcheth the wise in their own craftiness.

20. And again, The Lord knoweth that the thoughts of the wise be vain.

21. Therefore let no man rejoice in men: for all things are yours.

22. Whether it be Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, whether they be things present, or things to come, even all are yours,

23. And ye Christ's, and Christ God's.

4. 1 Bringing in the definition of a true Apostle, 7 be showed that humility ought rather to be an honor than a shame unto him. 9 He bringeth in proof, whereby it may evidently appear, 10 that he neither had care of glory. 11 nor of his belly. 17 He commendeth Timothy.

1. Let a 2 man so think of us, as of the ministers of Christ, and disposers of the secrets of God: 2. 1And as for the rest, it is required of the disposers, that every man be found faithful.

3. 1 As touching me, I pass very little to be judged of you, 2 or of man's 3 judgment: no, 4 I judge not mine own self.

4. For I know nothing by myself, yet am I not God hath appointed to be ministers, and not lords of their salvation, which thing they do, that depend upon men, and not upon God, that speaketh by them. 2 Please himself. 3 Helps, appointeth for your benefit.

3:22 1 He passeth from the persons to the things themselves, that his argument may be more forcible, yea, he ascendeth from Christ to the Father, to show us that we rest ourselves not in Christ himself, in that that he is man, but because he carrieth us up even to the Father, as Christ witnesseth of himself everywhere, that he was sent of his Father, that by this band we may be all knit with God himself.

4:1 1 He concludeth the duty of the hearers towards their ministers: that they esteem them not as lords: and yet notwithstanding, that they give ear unto them, as to them that are sent from Christ, sent I say to this end and purpose, that they may receive as it were at their hands, the treasure of salvation which is drawn out of the secrets of God.

2. Every man.

4:2 1 Last of all, he warneth the ministers that they also behave themselves not as lords, but as faithful servants, because they must render an account of their stewardship unto God.

4:3 1 Because in reprehending others, he set himself for an example, he useth a preoccupation or preventing of an objection, and using the gravity of an Apostle, he sheweth that he careth not for the contrary judgments that they have of him, in that they esteemed him as a vile person, because he did not set forth himself as they did. And he bringeth good reasons why he was nothing moved with the judgments which they had of him.

4:4 1 First, because that which men judge in these cases of their own business, is no more to be accounted of, than when the unlearned do judge of wisdom.

4:5 1 Word for word, Day, after the manner of speech of the Cilicians.

4:6 2 Secondly, saith he, how can you judge how much or how little I am to be accounted of, seeing that I myself which know myself better than you do, and which dare profess that I have walked in my vocation with a good conscience, dare not yet notwithstanding challenge anything to myself? for I know that I am not unblamable, all this notwithstanding: much less therefore should I please myself as you do.
thereby justified: but he that judgeth me, is the 1Lord.

5 1Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who will lighten things that are hid in darkness, and make the counsels of the hearts manifest: and then shall every man have 2praise of God.

6 1Now these things, brethren, I have figuratively applied unto mine own self and Apollos, for your sakes, that ye might learn 3by us, that no man presume above that which is written, that one swallow not against another for any man's cause.

7 1For who separatest thee? and what hast thou, that thou hast not received? if thou hast received it, why rejoicest thou, as though thou hadst not received it?

8 1Now ye are full: now ye are made rich: ye reign over kings, and ye are honorable, and ye are despised.

10 1We are fools for Christ's sake, and ye are wise in Christ: we are weak, and ye are strong; ye are honorable, and we are despised.

11 Unto this hour we both hunger, and thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and have no certain dwelling place, 12 1And labor, working with our own hands: we bless: we are persecuted, and yet we bless: we are persecuted, and suffer it.

4:13 1We are evil spoken of, and we pray: we are made as the 2filth of the world, the offscouring of all things, unto this time.

4:14 1I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloved children I admonish you.

4:15 For though ye have ten thousand instructors in Christ, yet have ye not many fathers: for in Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the Gospel.

4:16 Wherefore, I pray you, be followers of me.

4:17 For this cause have I sent unto you Timothy, which is my beloved son, and faithful in the Lord, which shall put you in remembrance of my 2ways in Christ as I teach everywhere in every Church.

4:18 Some are puffed up as though I would not come unto you.

4:19 But I will come to you shortly, 2if the Lord will, and I will know, not the 2words of them which are puffed up, but the power.

4:20 For the kingdom of God is not in word, but in power.

5:1 1What will ye? shall I come unto you with a rod, or in love, and in the 2spirit of meekness?

5:1 1That they have woked at him who committed incest with his mother-in-law. 2, 6 He showeth should cause them rather to be ashamed, than to rejoice: 10 Such kind of wickedness is to be punished with excommunication. 12 lest others be infected with it.

5:1 1It is heard certainly that there is fornication among you: and such fornication as is not once named among the Gentiles, that one should have his father's wife.

4:4 1I permit myself to the Lord's judgment.

4:5 1A third reason proceeding of a conclusion as it were, out of the former reasons. It is God's office, to esteem every man according to his value, because he knoweth the secrets of the heart, which men for the most part are ignorant of. Therefore this judgment pertaineth not to you.

2 One could not be praised above the rest, but the other should be blamed: and he mentioneth praise rather than dispraise, for that the beginning of this sore was this, that they gave more to some than to others.

4:6 1Having rejected their judgment, he setteth forth himself again as a singular example of modesty, as one which concealing in this latter kind of eloquence, as in the former, maketh no figure of those factious teacher's names, doubted not to put down his own name and Apollos' in their place, and took upon him, as it were, their shame: so far was he from preferring himself to any.

2 By our example, which chose rather to take other men's faults upon us, than to carpe any by name.

4:7 He showeth a good means to bridle pride: first, if thou consider how rightly thou esteemest thyself out of the number of others, seeing thou art a man thyself again, if thou consider that although thou have something more than other men have, yet thou hast it not but by God's bountifulness. And what wise man is he that will brag of another's goodness, and that against God? 2 There is nothing then in us of nature, that is worthy of commendation: but all that we have, we have it of grace, which the Pelagians and half Pelagians will not confess.

4:8 1He descendeth to a most grave mock, to cause these amiotic threats, to vanish as they were, in respect of others, yet mighty by the efficacy of God's Spirit, as they had trial thereof in themselves.

4:9 1He that will take a right view how like Paul and the Pope are, who lyingly boasteth that he is his successor, let him compare the delicate of the Popish court with Saint Paul's state, as we see it here.

4:10 1Moderating the sharpness of his mock, he putteth them in mind to remember of whom they were begotten in Christ, and that they should not doubt to follow him for an example, although he seem vile according to the outward show, in respect of others, yet mighty by the efficacy of God's Spirit, as they had trial thereof in themselves.

4:11 Such as by sweeping is gathered together.

4:12 Last of all he descendeth also to Apostolic threatenings, but in the form of a gentle rebuke, that he may set them in a right frame of mind, whereby they may perceive the true and effectual spirit of Paul.

4:13 1By words, he meaneth their painted and colored kind of eloquence, set forth the Church of God to be mocked and scorned as contemptible, and half Pelagians will not confess.

4:14 1I permit myself to the Lord's judgment.

4:15 1A third reason proceeding of a conclusion as it were, out of the former reasons. It is God's office, to esteem every man according to his value, because he knoweth the secrets of the heart, which men for the most part are ignorant of. Therefore this judgment pertaineth not to you.

2 One could not be praised above the rest, but the other should be blamed: and he mentioneth praise rather than dispraise, for that the beginning of this sore was this, that they gave more to some than to others.

4:16 Last of all he descendeth also to Apostolic threatenings, but in the form of a gentle rebuke, that he may set them in a right frame of mind, whereby they may perceive the true and effectual spirit of Paul.
2 1And ye are puffed up, and have not rather sorrowed, that which hath done this deed, might be put from among you.
3 1For I verily as absent in body, but present in spirit, have determined already as though I were present, that he that hath thus done this thing.
4 When ye are gathered together, and my spirit, in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that such one, I say, by the power of our Lord Jesus Christ, 5 Be delivered unto Satan, for the destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus.
6 1Your rejoicing is not good: know ye not that a little leaven leaveth the whole lump?
7 Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened: for Christ our Passover is sacrificed for us.
8 Therefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither in the leaven of maliciousness and wickedness: but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.
9 1I wrote unto you in an Epistle, that ye should not company together with fornicators,
10 And not altogether with the fornicators of this world, or with the covetous, or with extortioners, or with idolaters: for then ye must go out of the world.
11 But now I have written unto you, that ye company not together: if any that is called a brother, be a fornicator, or covetous, or an idolater, or a raider, or a drunkard, or an extortioner, with such one eat not.
12 1For what have I to do to judge them also which are without? do ye not judge them that are within?
13 But God judgeth them that are without. Put away therefore from among yourselves that wicked man.

5:2 1 There are none more proud, than they that least know themselves.
5:3 1 Excommunication ought not to be committed to one man's power, but must be done by the authority of the whole Congregati­on: after that the matter is diligently examined.
5:4 1 Calling upon Christ his Name.
5:5 1 The excommunicate is delivered to the power of Satan, in that, that he is cast out of the house of God.
5:6 1 Another end of excommunication is, that others be not infected, and therefore it must of necessity be retained in the Church, that the one be not infected by the other.
5:7 1 By alluding to the ceremony of the Passover, he exhorteth them to cast out that unclean person from amongst them. In times past, saith he, it was not lawful for them which did celebrate the Passover, to eat leavened bread; insomuch that he was held as unclean and unworthy to eat the Passover, whosoever had but tasted of leaven. Now our whole life must be as it were the feast of unleavened bread, wherein all they that are partakers of that immaculate Lamb which is slain, must cast out both of themselves, and also out of their houses and Congregations all impurity.
5:8 1 Let us lead our whole life, as it were a continual feast, honestly and uprightly.
5:9 1 Now he speaketh more generally; and that which he spake before of the incestuous person, he showeth that it pertaineth to others, which are known to be wicked, and such as through their naughty life are a slander to the Church, which ought also by lawful order be cast out of the community of the Church. And making mention of eating meat, either he meaneth those feasts of love whereat the Supper of the Lord was received, or else their common usage and manner of life which is rightly to be taken, lest any man should think that either matrimony were broken by excommunication, or such duties hindered and cut off thereby, as we owe one to another: children to their parents, subjects to their rulers, servants to their masters, and neighbor to neighbor, to win one another to God.
5:10 1 If you should utterly abstain from such men's company, you should go out of the world: therefore I speak of them which are in the very bosom of the Church, which must be called home by discipline, and not of them which are without, with whom we must labor by all means possible, to bring them to Christ.
5:12 1 Such as are false brethren, ought to be cast out of the Congregation: as for them which are without, they must be left to the judgment of God.
5:13 1 Dare any of you, having business against another, be judged under the unjust, and not under the Saints?
2 1Do ye not know that the Saints shall judge the world? If the world then shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge the smallest matters?
3 Know ye not that we shall judge the Angels also, how much more things that pertain to this life?
4 If then ye have judgments of things pertaining to this life, set them up which are least esteemed in the Church.
5 I speak it to your shame. Is it so that there is not a wise man among you, no, not one, that can judge between his brethren?
6 But a brother goeth to law with a brother, and that under the infidels.
7 Now therefore there is altogether infirmity in you, that ye go to law one with another: why rather suffer ye not wrong? why rather sustain ye not harm?
8 Nay, ye yourselves do wrong, and do harm, and that to your brethren.
9 Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor even idolaters, nor fornicators, nor unclean persons, nor slanderers, nor fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor covetous persons shall inherit the kingdom of God.
10 Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extortioners shall inherit the kingdom of God.
11 And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified, in the Name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God.

6:12 ¶ All things are lawful unto me, but all things are not profitable. I may do all things, but will not be brought under the power of anything.
13 Meats are ordained for the belly, and the belly for meats: but God shall destroy both it, and them.
14 And God hath also raised up the Lord, and shall raise us up by his power.
15 Know ye not, that your bodies are members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.
16 Do ye not know, that he which couplement himself with anothermans flesh, is become one with him?

6:13 Secondly, because they counted many things for indifferent, which were of themselves unlawful, as fornication, which they numbered amongst mere natural and lawful desires, as well as meat and drink. Therefore the Apostle sheweth, that they are utterly unlike: for meats, saith he, were made for the necessary use of man’s life, which is not perpetual. For both meats, and all this manner of nourishing are quickly abolished. But we must not so think of the uncleanness of fornication, for which the body is not made, but on the contrary side is ordained to pureness, as appeareth by this, that is consecrated to Christ, even as Christ also is given us of his Father, to quicken our bodies. For God hath also raised up the Lord, and shall raise us up by his power.

6:14 And God hath also raised up the Lord, and shall raise us up by his power.

6:15 A declaration of the former argument by contraries, and the applying of it.
with an harlot, is one body? for two, saith he, shall be one flesh.
17 But he that is joined unto the Lord, is one spirit.
18 Flee fornication: every sin that a man doeth, is without the body: but he that committeth fornication, sinneth against his own body.
19 Know ye not, that your body is the temple of the holy Ghost, which is in you, whom ye have of God? and ye are not your own.
20 For ye are bought for a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit: for they are God's.

7 Entreating here of marriage. 4 which is a remedy against fornication, 10 and may not be broken.
18, 20 He willeth every man to live contented with his lot.
25 He showeth what the end of virginity should be. 35 and who ought to marry.

1 Now concerning the things whereof ye wrote unto me, It were good for a man not to touch a woman.
2 Nevertheless, to avoid fornication, let every man have his wife, and let every woman have her own husband.
3 Let the husband give unto the wife due benevolence, and likewise also the wife unto the husband.
4 The wife hath not the power of her own body, but the husband: and likewise also the husband hath not the power of his own body, but the wife.
5 Defraud not one another, except it be with consent for a time, that ye may give yourselves to fasting and prayer, and again come together, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinency.
6 But I speak this by permission, not by commandment.
7 For I would that all men were even as I myself am: but every man hath his proper gift of God, one after this manner, and another after that.
8 Therefore I say unto the unmarried, and unto the widows, It is good for them if they abide even as I do.
9 But if they cannot abstain, let them marry: for it is better to marry than to burn.
10 And unto the married I command, not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband.
11 But and if she depart, let her remain unmarried, or be reconciled unto her husband, and let not the husband put away his wife.
12 But to the remnant I speak, and not the Lord.

13 And the woman which hath an husband that believeth not, if he be content to dwell with her, let her not forsake him.

6:16 2 Moses doth not speak these words of fornication, but of marriage: but seeing that fornication is the corrupting of marriage, and both of them is a carnal and fleshly copulation, we cannot say that the Apostle abuseth his testimony. Again, Moses hath not this word (Two) but it is very well expresseth both here and in Matt. 295, because he speaketh only but of man and wife whereupon the opinion of them that vouch it to be lawful to have many wives, is beaten down: for he that companieh with many, is sundered as it were into many parts.
6:18 1 Another argument why fornication is to be eschewed, because it defileth the body with a peculiar kind of filthiness.
6:19 1 The third argument: Because a fornicator is sacrilegious, for that our bodies are consecrate to God.
2 The fourth argument: Because we are not our own men, to give ourselves to any other, much less to Satan and the flesh, seeing that God himself hath bought us, and that with a great price, to the end that both in body and soul, we should serve to his glory.
7:1 1 He teacheth concerning marriage, that although a single life hath his commodities, which he will declare afterwards, yet that marriage is necessary for the avoiding of fornication: but so that neither one man may have many wives, or any wife many husbands.
2 Touching those matters whereof you wrote unto me.
3 Commodious, and (as we say) expedient. For marriage bringeth many griefs with it, and that by reason of the corruption of our first estate.
7:3 1 Secondly, he showeth that the parties married, must with singular affection entirely love one the other.
2 This word (due) containeth all kind of benevolence, though he speak more of one sort than of the other, in that that followeth.
7:4 1 Thirdly, he warneth them that they are each in other's power, as touching the body, so that they may not defraud one another.
7:5 1 He addeth an exception: unless the one abstain from the other by mutual consent, that they may the better give themselves to prayer, wherein notwithstanding, he warneth them to consider what is expedient, lest by this long breaking off as it were from marriage, they bestirred up to incontinency.
2 Do nothing else.
7:6 1 Filthily, he teacheth that marriage is not simply necessary for all men, but for them which have not the gift of continency, and this gift is by a peculiar grace of God.
7:7 1 I wish.
7:8 1 Sixthly, he giveth the selfsame admonition touching the second marriage, to wit, that a single life is to be allowed, but for such as have the gift of continency: otherwise they ought to marry again, that their conscience may be at peace.
2 This whole place is flat against them which condemn second marriages.
7:9 1 So to burn with lust, that either the will yieldeth to the temptation, or else we cannot call upon God with a quiet conscience.
7:10 1 Seventhly, he forbiddest contentions and the publishing of divorces (for he speaketh not here of the fault of whom soever, which was then death even by the law of the Romans also) whereby he affirmeth that the hand of marriage is not dissolved, and that from Christ's mouth.
7:12 1 Eighthly, he affirmeth that those marriages which are already contracted between a faithful and an unfaithful or infidel, are firm, so that the faithful may not forsake the unfaithful.
14 1 For the unbelieving husband is sanctified to the wife, and the unbelieving wife is sanctified to the husband, else were your children unclean: but now are they holy.

15 1 But if the unbelieving depart, let him depart: a brother or a sister is not in subjection in such things: but God hath called us in peace.

16 For what knowest thou, O wife, whether thou shalt save thine husband? Or what knowest thou, O man, whether thou shalt save thy wife?

17 1 But as God hath distributed to every man, as the Lord hath called every one, so let him walk: and so ordain I in all Churches.

18 1 Is any man called being circumcised? let him not gather his uncircumcision: is any called uncircumcised? let him not be circumcised.

19 Circumcision is nothing, and uncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandments of God.

20 1 Let every man abide in the same vocation wherein he was called.

21 Art thou called being a servant? care not for it: but if yet thou mayest be free, use it rather.

22 For he that is called in the Lord, being a servant, is the Lord’s freeman: likewise also he that is called being free, is Christ’s servant.

23 Ye are bought with a price: be not the servants of men.

24 Brethren, let every man wherein he was called, therein abide with the Lord.

25 Now concerning virgins, I have no commandment of the Lord: but I give mine advice, as one that hath obtained mercy of the Lord to be faithful.

26 I suppose then this to be good for the present necessity: I mean that it is good for a man so to be.

27 Art thou bound unto a wife? seek not to be loosed: art thou loosed from a wife? seek not a wife.

28 But if thou takest a wife, thou sinnest not: and if a virgin marry, she sinneth not: nevertheless, such shall have trouble in the flesh: but I spare you.

29 And this I say, brethren, because the time is not in them, and therefore these are no hindrance to obey God.

30 1 He is said to gather his uncircumcision, who by the help of a Chirurgeon recovereth an upper skin: which is done by the drawing the skin with an instrument, to make it to cover the nut. Celsus in book 7, chapter 25.

7:14 1 He answereth an objection: But the faithful is defiled by the society of the unfaithful. The Apostle denieth that, and proveth that the faithful man with good conscience may use the vessel of his unfaithful wife, by this that their children which are born of them, are accounted holy (that is, contained within the promise) for it is said to all the faithful, I will be thy God, and the God of thy seed.

2 The godliness of the wife is of more force, to cause their coupling together to be accounted holy, than the infidelity of the husband is, to profane the marriage.

3 The infidel is not sanctified or made holy in his own person, but in respect of his wife, he is sanctified to her.

4 To the faithful husband.

5 This place destroyeth the opinion of them that would not have children to be baptized, and their opinion also, that make baptism the very cause of salvation. For the children of the faithful are holy, by virtue of the covenant, even before Baptism, and baptism is added as the seal of that holiness.

6 He answereth a question: what if the unfaithful forsake the faithful? then is the faithful free, saith he, because he is forsaken of the unfaithful.

7 When any such thing falleth out.

8 Let any man upon pretence of this liberty should give occasion to the unfaithful to depart, he giveth to understand, that marriage contracted with an infidel, ought peaceably to be kept, that if it be possible the infidel may be won to the faith.

7:17 1 Taking occasion by that which he said of the bondage and liberty of marriage, he digresseth to a general doctrine concerning the outward state and condition of man’s life, as Circumcision and uncircumcision, servitude and liberty: warning every man generally to live with a contented mind in the Lord, what state or condition forever he be in, because that those outward things, as to be circumcised or uncircumcised, to be bond or free, are not of the substance (as they term it) of the kingdom of heaven.

2 Hath bound him to a certain kind of life.

7:18 1 Notwithstanding he giveth us to understand, that in these examples all are not like sort: because that circumcision is not simply of itself to be desired, but such as are bound may desire to be free. Therefore herein only they are equal, that the kingdom of God consisteth not in them, and therefore these are no hindrance to obey God.

2 He is said to gather his uncircumcision, who by the help of a Chirurgeon recovereth an upper skin: which is done by the drawing the skin with an instrument, to make it to cover the nut. Celsus in book 7, chapter 25.

7:21 1 As though this calling were too unworthy a calling for Christ.

7:22 1 He that is in state of a servant, and is called to be a Christian.

7:23 1 He showeth the reason of the unlikeness, because that he that desireth to be circumcised, maketh himself subject to man’s tradition, and not to God. And this may be much more understood of superstitions, which some do foolishly accomplish for things indifferent.

7:24 1 A repetition of the general doctrine.

2 So purely and from the heart, that your doings may be approved before God.

7:25 1 He enjoineth virginity to no man, yet he persuadeth and praiseth it for another respect, to wit, both for the necessity of the present time, because the faithful could scarce abide in any place, and use the commodities of this present life, and therefore such as were not troubled with families, might be the reader: and also for the cares of this life, which marriage draws with it necessity, so that they cannot but have their minds distracted: and this hath place in women especially.

3 The circumstances considered, this I counsel you.

4 It is I that speak this which I am minded to speak: and the truth is, I am a man, but yet worthy credit, for I have obtained of the Lord to be such an one.

7:26 1 To remain a virgin.

2 For the necessity which the Saints are daily subject unto, who are continually tossed up and down, so that their estate may seem most unfit for marriage, were it not that the weakness of the flesh enforced them to it.

7:28 1 By the (flesh) he understandeth what things forever belong to this present life, for marriage bringeth with it many commoditities: so that he bendeth more to a sole life, not because it is a service more agreeable to God than marriage is, but for those commodities, which (if it were possible) he would wish all men to be void of, that they might give themselves to God only.

3 I would your weakness were provided for.
1 CORINTHIANS 7:30

1 short, hereafter that both they which have wives, be as though they had none:
30 And they that weep, as though they wept not: and they that rejoice, as though they rejoiced not: and they that buy, as though they possessed not:
31 And they that use this world, as though they used it not: for the fashion of this world goeth away.
32 And I would have you without care. The unmarried careth for things of the Lord, how he may please the Lord.
33 But he that is married, careth for the things of the world, how he may please his wife.
34 There is difference also between a virgin and a wife: the unmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy, both in body and in spirit: but she that is married, careth for the things of the world, how she may please her husband.
35 And this I speak for your own commodiety, not to tangle you in a snare, but that ye follow that which is honest, and that ye may cleave fast unto the Lord without separation.
36 But if any man think that it is uncomely for his virgin, if she pass the flower of her age, and need so require, let him do what he will, he sinneth not: let them be married.
37 Nevertheless, he that standeth firm in his heart, that he hath no need, but hath power over his own will, and hath so decreed in his heart, that he will keep his virgin, he doeth well.
38 So then he that giveth her to marriage, doeth well, but he that giveth her not to marriage, doeth better.
39 The wife is bound by the law, as long as her husband liveth: but if her husband be dead, she is at liberty to marry with whom she will, only in the Lord.
40 But she is more blessed, if she so abide in my judgment: and I think that I have also the Spirit of God.

8 1 From this place unto the end of the tenth Chapter, he wills them not to be at the Gentiles' profane banquets. 13 He restraineth the abuse of Christian liberty, and showeth that knowledge must be tempered with charity.

1 And as touching things sacrificed unto idols, we know that we all have knowledge: knowledge puffeth up, but love edifieth.
2 Now, if any man think that he knoweth anything, he knoweth nothing, yet as he ought to know.
3 But if any man love God, the same is known of him.
4 Concerning therefore the eating of things sacrificed unto idols, we know that an idol is nothing in the world, and that there is none other God but one.

7:29 1 For we are now in the latter end of the world.
7:30 1 By weeping, the Hebrews understand all adversity, and be joy, all prosperity.
7:31 1 Those things which God giveth us here.
2 The guise, the shape, and fashion: whereby he sheweth us, that there is nothing in this world that continueth.
7:33 1 They that are married, have their wits drawn hither and thither, and therefore if any man have the gift of continency, it is more commodious for him to live alone: but they that are married may care for the things of the Lord also, Clement, Strom. 3.
7:34 1 Mind.
7:35 1 He meaneth that he will enforce no man either to marry or not to marry, but to show them barely what kind of life is most commodious.
7:36 1 Now he turneth himself to the Parents, in whose power and authority their children are, warning them that according to the former doctrine they consider what is meet and convenient for their children, that they neither deprive them of the necessary remedy against incontinency, nor constrain them to marriage, whereas neither their will doth lead them, nor any necessity urgeth them. And again he praiseth virginity, but of itself, and not in all.
2 He doeth well for so he expoundeth it verse 38.
7:37 1 Resolved with himself.
2 That the weakness of his daughter enforceth him not, or any other matter, that that he may safely keep her a virgin still.
7:38 1 Provideth more commodiously for his children, and that not simply, but by reason of such conditions as are before mentioned.
7:39 1 That which he spake of a widower, he speaketh now of a widow, to wit, that she may marry again, so that she do it in the fear of God: and yet he dissembleth not, but saith, that if she remain still a widow, she shall be void of many cares.

8:4 1 Concerning therefore the eating of things sacrificed unto idols, I grant, saith he that an idol is indeed a vain imagination, and that there is but one God and Lord, therefore that meat cannot be made holy or profane by the idol: but it followeth not therefore that a man may without respect use those meats as any other.
2 This word (idol) in this place is taken for an image which is made to present some godhead, that worship might be given unto it: whereupon came the word ( idolatry) that is to say, Image service.

1 By the law of marriage.
2 Religiously, and in the fear of God.
8:1 1 He entereth to entreat of another kind of things indifferent, to wit, of things offered to idols, or the use or flesh so offered and sacrificed. And first of all he removeth all those things which the Corinthians pretended in using things offered to idols without any respect. First of all they affirmed that this difference of meats was for unskillful men, but as for them, they knew well enough the benefit of Christ, which causeth all these things to be clean to them that are clean. Be it so saith Paul: be it that we are all sufficiently instructed in the knowledge of Christ. I say notwithstanding that we must not simply rest in this knowledge. The reason is that unless our knowledge be tempered with charity, it doth not only not avail, but also doth much hurt, because it doth not so much as discern the name of godly knowledge, if it be separate from the love of God and therefore from the love of our neighbor.

3 This general word is to be abridged as appeareth verse 7, for there is a kind of taunt in it, as we may perceive by the next verse.
4 Ministereth occasion of vanity and pride, because it is void of charity.

3 Instructed our neighbor.
8:4 1 The application of that answer to things offered to idols: I grant, saith he that an idol is indeed a vain imagination, and that there is but one God and Lord, therefore that meat cannot be made holy or profane by the idol: but it followeth not therefore that a man may without respect use those meats as any other.

2 This word (idol) in this place is taken for an image which is made to present some godhead, that worship might be given unto it: whereupon came the word ( idolatry) that is to say, Image service.
3 It is a vain dream.
5 For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven, or in earth (as there be many gods, and many lords.)

6 Yet unto us there is but one God, which is that Father, of whom are all things, and we in him, and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by him.

7 But every man hath not that knowledge: for many having conscience of the idol, until this hour, eat as a thing sacrificed unto the idol, and so their conscience being weak, is defiled.

8 But meat maketh us not acceptable to God, for neither if we eat, have we the more: neither if we eat not, have we the less.

9 But take heed lest by any means this power of yours be an occasion of falling: to them that are weak.

10 For if any man see thee which hast knowledge, sit at table in the idols' temple, shall not the thing which is clean contrary, to wit, so to use it, as in using of it we have commendation before God consisteth not in meats: but to use our knowledge to the ignorance of your brethren.

11 And through thy knowledge shall the weak brother perish, for whom Christ died.

12 Now when ye sin so against the brethren, and wound their weak conscience, ye sin against Christ.

13 Wherefore if meat offend my brother, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, that I may not offend my brother.

8:6 1 When the Father is distinguished from the Son, He is named the beginning of all things.

2 We have our being in him.

3 But as the Father is called Lord, so is the Son, God therefore this word (One) doth not respect the persons, but the natures.

4 This word (By) doth not signify the instrumental cause, but the efficient: For the Father and the Son work together, which is not so to be taken, that we make two causes, seeing they have both but one nature though they be distinct persons.

8:7 1 The reason why that followeth not, is this: because there are many men which do not know that which you know. Now the judgments of outward things depend not only upon your conscience, but upon the conscience of them that behold you, and therefore your actions must be applied not only to your knowledge, but also to the ignorance of your brethren.

2 An applying of the reason, There are many which cannot eat of things offered to idols, but with a warranting conscience, because they think them to be unclean: therefore if by thy example they enterprise to do that which inwardly they thinketh displeaseth God, their conscience is defiled with this eating, and thou hast been the occasion of this mischief.

3 By conscience of the idol, he meaneth the secret judgment that they had within themselves, whereby they thought all things unclean, that were offered to idols, and therefore they could not use them with good conscience. For this force hath conscience, that if it be good, it maketh things indifferent good, and if it be evil, it maketh them evil.

8:8 1 A preventing of an objection: Why then, shall we therefore be deprived of our liberty? Nay saith the Apostle, you shall lose no part of Christianity although you abstain for your brethren's sake, as also if you receive the meat, it maketh you no whit the more holy, for our commendation before God consisteth not in meats: but to use our liberty with offense of our brethren, is an abuse of liberty, the true use whereof is clean contrary, to wit, so to use it, as in using of it we have consideration of our weak brethren.

8:10 1 Another plainer explication of the same reason, propounding the example of the sitting down at the table in the idol's temple, which thing the Corinthians did evil accompt of among things indifferent, because it is simply forbidden for the circumstance of the place, although offense do cease, as it shall be declared in his place.
4 'Have we not power to eat and to drink?
5 Or have we not power to lead about a wife being a sister, as well as the rest of the Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?
6 Or I only and Barnabas, have not we power 'not to work?
7 'Who goeth a warfare any time at his own cost? who planteth a vineyard, and eateth not of the fruit thereof? or who feedeth a flock, and eateth not of the milk of the flock?
8 'Say I these things according to man? saith not the Law the same also?
9 For it is written in the Law of Moses, 'Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn: doth God take care for oxen?
10 Either saith he it not altogether for our sakes? For our sakes no doubt it is written, that he which eateth not the same cometh not into the church of God?
11 If we have sown unto you spiritual things, is it a great thing if we reap your carnal things?
12 If others with you be partakers of this power, are we not rather? nevertheless, we have not used this power: but suffer all things, that we should not hinder the Gospel of Christ.
13 Do ye not know, that they which minister about the holy things, eat of the things of the Temple? and they which wait at the altar, are partakers with the altar?

14 So also hath the Lord ordained, that they which preach the Gospel, should live of the Gospel.
15 But I have used none of these things: 'neither wrote I these things, that it should be so done unto me: for it would be better for me to die, than that any man should make my rejoicing vain.
16 For though I preach the Gospel, I have nothing to rejoice of: for necessity is laid upon me, and woe is unto me, if I preach not the Gospel.
17 For if I do it willingly, I have a reward, but if I do it against my will, notwithstanding the dispensation is committed unto me.
18 What is my reward then? verily that when I preach the Gospel, I make the Gospel of Christ free, that I abuse not mine authority in the Gospel.
19 For though I be free from all men, yet have I made myself servant unto all men, that I may win the more.
20 'And unto the Jews, I become as a Jew, that I may win the Jews: to them that are under the Law, as though I were under the Law, that I may win them that are under the Law:
21 To them that are without Law, as though I were without Law, (when I am not without Law as pertaining to God, but am in the Law through Christ) that I may win them that are without Law:
22 'To the weak I become as weak, that I may win the weak: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some.

9:21 To them that are without Law, as though I were without Law, (when I am not without Law as pertaining to God, but am in the Law through Christ) that I may win them that are without Law:

9:14 'Because they preach the Gospel. It followed by this place, that Paul gat no living, neither would have any other man get, by any commodity of masses, or any other such superstitious trumperies.

9:15 'He taketh away occasion of suspicion by the way, that it might not be thought that he wrote this as though he challenged his wages that was not paid him. Nay saith him, I had rather die, than not continue in this purpose to preach the Gospel freely. For I am bound to preach the Gospel, seeing that the Lord hath enjoined me this office: but unless I do it willingly and for the love of God, nothing is to be allowed that I do. If I had rather that the Gospel should be evil spoken of, than that I should not require my wages, then would it appear that I took these pains not so much for the Gospel’s sake, as for my gains and advantages. But I say, this were not to use, but abuse my right and liberty. Therefore not only in this thing, but also in all others (as much as I could) I am made all things to all men, that I might win them to Christ, and might together with them be won to Christ.

9:16 'By taking nothing of them to whom I preach it.

9:20 'The word (Law) in this place, must be restrained to the ceremonial Law.

9:22 'In matters that are indifferent, which may be done or not done with a good conscience: as if he said, I changed myself into all fashions, that by all means, I might save some.
23 And this I do for the Gospel’s sake, that I might be partaker thereof with you.
24 Know ye not, that they which run in a race, run all, yet one receiveth the prize? so run that ye may obtain.
25 And every man that proveth masteries, abstaineth from all things; and they do it to obtain a corruptible crown: but we for an incorruptible.
26 I therefore so run, not as uncertainly: so fight I, not as one that beareth the air.
27 But I beat down my body, and bring it into subjection, lest by any means after that I have preached to others, I myself should be reproved.

10 1 If God spared not the Jews, neither will he spare those who are of like condition, 3, 4 touching the outward signs of his grace. 14 That it is absurd, that such should be partakers of the table of the devils, who are partakers of the Lord’s Supper. 24 To have consideration of our neighbor in things indifferent.
1 Moreover, brethren, I would not that ye should be ignorant, that all our fathers were under that cloud, and all passed through that sea,
2 And were all baptized unto Moses, in that cloud, and in that sea, as appertaineth to 'man: and God is faithful, which will not suffer you to be tempted above that you be able, but will even 'give the issue with the temptation, that ye may be able to bear it.

14 Wherefore my beloved, flee from idolatry.
15 'I speak as unto them which have understandings: judge ye what I say.

16 The cup of 'blessing which we bless, is it not the 'communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?

17 For we that are many, are one bread and one body, because we all are partakers of one bread.

18 Behold Israel, which is after the 'flesh: are not they which eat of the sacrifices 'partakers of the Altar?

19 What say I then? that the idol is anything? or that that which is sacrificed to idols, is anything?

20 Nay, but that the things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to devils, and not unto God: and I would not that ye should have 'fellowship with the devils.

21 Ye cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the 'cup of the devils. Ye cannot be partakers of the Lord's table, and of the table of the devils.

22 Do we provoke the Lord to anger? are we stronger than he?

23 All things are lawful for me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawful for me, but all things edify not.

24 Let no man seek his own, but every man another's wealth.

25 'Whosoever is sold in the 'shambles, eat ye, and ask no question for conscience sake.

26 'For the earth is the Lord's, and all that therein is.

27 If any of them which believe not, call you to a feast, and if ye will go, whatsoever is set before you, eat, asking no question for conscience sake.

28 But if any man say unto you, This is sacrificed unto idols, eat it not, because of him that showed it, and for the conscience (for the earth is the Lord's, and all that therein is.)

29 And the conscience, I say, not thine, but of that other: 'for why should my liberty be condemned of another man's conscience?

30 For if I through God's 'benefit be partaker, why am I evil spoken of, for that wherefore I give thanks?

31 Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God.

32 Give none offence, neither to the Jews, nor to the Grecians, nor to the Church of God:

33 Even as I please all men in all things, not seeking mine own profit, but the profit of many, that they might be saved.

11 1 He blameth the Corinthians for that in their holy assemblies, 4 men do pray having their heads covered, 6 and women bareheaded: and because their meetings tended to evil, 21 who mingled profane banquets with the holy Supper of the Lord, 23 which he required to be celebrated according to Christ's institution.

1  Be ye followers of me, even as I am of Christ:
2  Now brethren, I commend you, that ye remember all my things, and keep the ordinances, as I delivered them to you.
3  But I will that ye know, that Christ is the 4head of every man: and the man is the woman's head: and God is 5Christ's head.
4  Every 4man praying or prophesying having anything on his head, dishonoreth his head.
5  But every woman that prayeth or prophesieth bareheaded, dishonoreth her head: 4for it is even one very thing, as though she were shaven.
6  Therefore if the woman be not covered, let her also be shorn: and if it be shame for a woman to be

11:2 1 The fifth treatise of this epistle concerning the right ordering of public assemblies, containing three points, to wit, of the comely apparel of men and women, of the order of the Lord's supper, and of the right use of spiritual gifts. But going about to reprehend certain things, he beginneth notwithstanding with a general praise of them, calling those particular laws of comeliness and honesty, which belong to the ecclesiastical policy, traditions: which afterward they called Canons.

11:3 1 He setteth down God, in Christ our mediator, for the end and mark not only of doctrine, but also of ecclesiastical comeliness. Then applying it to the question proposed, touching the comely apparel both of men and women in public assemblies, he declareth that the woman is one degree beneath the man by the ordinance of God, and that the man is so subject to Christ, that the glory of God ought to appear in him for the preeminence of the sex.
2  In that, that Christ is our mediator.

11:4 1 Hereof he gathreth that if men do either pray or preach in public assemblies having their heads covered (which was then a sign of subjection) they did as it were spoil themselves of their dignity, against God's ordinance.
2  It appeareth that this was a political law serving only for the circumstances of the time that Paul lived in, by this reason, because in these our days for a man to speak bareheaded in an assembly, is a sign of subjection.
3  And in like sort he concludeth, that women which show themselves in public and ecclesiastical assemblies without the sign and token of their subjection, that is to say, uncovered, shame themselves.
2  The first argument taken from the common sense of man, forso much as nature teacheth women, that it is dishonest for them to come abroad bareheaded, seeing that they have given them thick and long hair, which they do so diligently trim and deck, that they can in no wise abide to have it shaven.

11:7 1 The taking away of an objection: Have not men also hair given to them? I grant, saith the Apostle, but there is another matter in it: For man was made to this end and purpose, that the glory of God should appear in his rule and authority: but the woman was made, that by profession of her obedience, she might more honor her husband.

11:8 1 He proveth the inequality of the woman, by that, that the man is the matter whereof woman was first made.
11:9 1 Secondly, by that, that the woman was made for man, and not the man for the woman's sake.
11:10 1 The conclusion: Women must be covered, to show by this external sign their subjection.
2  A covering which is a token of subjection.
3  What this meaneth, I do not yet understand.

11:11 1 A digression which the Apostle useth, lest that which he spake of the superior tie of men, and the lower degrees of women in consideration of the policy of the Church, should be so taken as though there were no measure of this inequality. Therefore he teacheth that men have in such sort the preeminence, that God made them not alone, but women also: and woman was so made of man, that men also are born by the means of women, and this ought to put them in mind to observe the degree of every sex, in such sort that mutual conjunction may be cherished.
2  By the Lord.
3  He urgeth the argument taken from the common sense of nature.

11:13 1 He passeth now to the next treatise concerning the right administration of the Lord's Supper. And the Apostle useth this sharper preface that the Corinthians might understand, that whereas they observed generally the Apostle's commandments, yet they foully neglected them in a matter of greatest importance.
that ye come together, not with profit, but with hurt.

18 1 For first of all, when ye come together in the Church, I hear that there are dissensions among you: and I believe it to be true in some part.

19 1 For there must be heresies even among you, that they which are approved among you, might be known.

20 When ye come together therefore into one place, this is not to eat the Lord's Supper.

21 For every man when they should eat, taketh his own supper afore, and one is hungry, and another is drunken.

22 1 Have ye not houses to eat and to drink in? despise ye the Church of God, and shame them that have not? what shall I say to you? shall I praise you in this? I praise you not.

23 1 For I have received of the Lord that which I also have delivered unto you, to wit, That the Lord Jesus in the night when he was betrayed, took bread.

24 And when he had given thanks, he brake it, and said, Take, eat: this is my body, which is broken for you: this do ye in remembrance of me.

25 After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the New Testament in my blood: this do as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me.

26 For as often as ye shall eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye show the Lord's death till he come.

11:18 1 To celebrate the Lord's Supper aright, it is required that there be not only consent of doctrine, but also of affections, that it be not profaned.

11:19 1 Although that schisms and heresies proceed from the devil, are evil, and yet they come not by chance, nor without cause, and they turn to the profit of the elect.

2 Whom experience hath taught to be of sound Religion and godliness.

11:20 1 This is an usual kind of speech, whereby the Apostle denieth that flattery, which many did not well.

11:21 1 Eateth his meat and tarrieth not till other come.

11:22 1 The Apostle thinketh it good to take away the love feasts, for their abuse, although they had been a long time, and with commendation used in Churches, and were appointed and instituted by the Apostles.

11:23 1 We must take a true form of keeping the Lord's Supper, out of the institution of it, the parts whereof are these, touching the Pastors, to show forth the Lord's death, by preaching his word: to bless the bread and the wine by calling upon the name of God, and together with prayers to declare the institution thereof, and finally to deliver the bread broken to be eaten, and the cup received to be drunk with thanksgiving. And touching the flock, that every man examine himself, that is to say, to prove both his knowledge, and also faith and repentance: to show forth the Lord's death, that is, in true faith to yield unto his word and institution: and last of all, to take the bread at the Minister's hand, and to eat it and to drink the wine, and give God thanks: This was Paul's and the Apostles' manner of ministering.

11:24 1 This word (Broken) noteth out unto us Christ his manner of death, for although his legs were not broken, as the thieves legs were, yet was his body very sore tortured, and torn, and bruised. 11:27 1 Whoever contemn the holy Sacrament: that is, use them not aright, are guilty not of the bread and wine, but of the thing itself, that is of Christ, and shall be grievously punished for it.

2 Otherwise then meet is such mysteries should be handled.

11:28 1 The examination of a man's self, is of necessity required in the Supper and therefore they ought not to be admitted unto it, which cannot examine themselves: as children, furious and mad men, also such as either have no knowledge of Christ, or not sufficient, although they profess Christian Religion: and others such like.

2 This place beateth down the faith of credit, or unwrapped faith, which the Papists maintain.

11:29 1 He is said to discern the Lord's body, that hath consideration of the worthiness of it, and therefore cometh to eat of this meat with great reverence.

11:30 1 The profaning of the body and blood of the Lord in his mysteries is sharply punished of him, and therefore such a mischief ought diligently to be prevented by judging and correcting of a man's self.

11:31 1 Try and examine ourselves, by faith and repentance, separating yourselves from the wicked.

11:33 1 The Supper of the Lord is a common action of the whole Church, and therefore there is no place, for private suppers.

11:34 1 The Supper of the Lord was instituted not to feed the belly but to feed the soul with the communion of Christ, and therefore it ought to be separate from common banquets.

2 Such things as pertain to order, as place, time, form of prayers, and other such like, the Apostle took order for in Congregations according to the consideration of times, places and persons.
1 Now concerning spiritual gifts, brethren, I would not have you ignorant.
2 Ye know that ye were Gentiles, and were carried away unto the dumb idols, as ye were led.
3 Wherefore I declare unto you, that no man speaking by the spirit of God, calleth Jesus execrable: also no man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost.
4 Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit.
5 And there are diversities of administrations, but the same Lord.
6 And there are diversities of operations, but God is the same which worketh all in all.
7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man, to profit withal.
8 For to one is given by the Spirit the word of wisdom; and to another the word of knowledge, by the same Spirit:
9 And to another is given faith by the same Spirit; and to another the gifts of healing, by the same Spirit:
10 And to another the operations of great works: and to another, prophecy: and to another, the discerning of spirits: and to another, diversities of tongues: and to another, the interpretation of tongues.
11 All these things worketh one and the selfsame Spirit, distributing to every man severally as he will.
12 For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the body, which is one, though they be many, yet are but one body: even so is Christ.
13 For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond, or free, and have been all made to drink into one Spirit.
14 For the body also is not one member, but many.
15 If the foot would say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

12:1 Now he entereth into the third part of this treatise, touching the right use of spiritual gifts, wherein he giveth the Corinthians plainly to understand that they abused them: for they that excelled, bragged ambiguously of them, and so robbed God of the praise of his gifts: and having no consideration of their brethren abused to a vain ostentation, and so robbed the Church of the use of those gifts. On the other side, the inferior sort envied the better, and went about to make a departure, so that all that body was as it were scattered and rent in pieces. So then he going about to remedy these abuses, will them first to consider diligently, that they have not these gifts of themselves, but from the free grace and liberality of God, to whose glory they ought to bestow them all.
2 Ignorant to what purpose those gifts are given you.
12:2 He proveth the same by comparing their former state with that wherein they were at this time endued with those excellent gifts.
3 As touching God's service and the Covenant, mere strangers.
12:3 The conclusion: Know you therefore, that you cannot so much as move your lips to honor Christ withall, but by the grace of the holy Ghost.
4 Doth curse him, only any means whatsoever diminish his glory.
12:4 In the second place, he layeth another foundation, to wit, that these gifts are divers, as the functions also are divers, and their offices divers, but that one selfsame Spirit Lord and God is the giver of all these gifts, and that to one end, to wit, for the profit of all.
5 The Spirit is plainly distinguished from the gifts.
12:5 So Paul endeth that inward force which cometh from the holy Ghost, and maketh men fit to wonderful things.
6 The holy Ghost openeth and showeth himself freely in giving of these gifts.
7 To the use and benefit of the Church.
12:8 He declareth this manifold diversity, and reckoneth up the chiefest gifts, beating that into their heads, which he said before, to wit, that all these things proceeded from one selfsame Spirit.
8 Wisdom is a most excellent gift, very requisite, not only for them which teach, but also for them that exhort and comfort, which thing is proper to the Pastor's office, as the word of knowledge agreeeth to the Doctors.
12:9 By operation he meaneth those great workings of God's mighty power, which pass and excel amongst his miracles, as the delivery of his people Israel by the hand of Moses: that which he did by Elijah against the Priests of Baal, in sending down fire from heaven to consume his sacrifice: and that which he did by Peter in the matter of Ananias and Sapphira.
2 Foretelling of things to come.
3 Whereby false prophets are known from true, wherein Peter passed Philip in discovering Simon Magus, Acts 8:20.
12:10 He addeth moreover something else, to wit, that although these gifts are unequal, yet they are most wisely divided, because the will of the Spirit of God is the rule of this distribution.
12:11 He setteth forth his former saying by a similitude taken from the body: This saith he, is manifestly seen in the body, whose members are divers, but yet so knit together, that they make but one body.
2 The applying of the similitude. So must we also think, saith he, of the mystical body of Christ: for all we that believe, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, are by one selfsame Baptism joined together with his Church.
3 To become one body with Christ.
12:12 By one quickening drink of the Lord's blood, we are made partakers of his only Spirit.
2 By one quenching drink of the Lord's blood, we are made partakers of his only Spirit.
12:13 He amplifieth that which followed of the similitudes, as if he should say, The unity of the body is not only not left by this diversity of members, but also it could not be a body, if it did not consist of many, and those were divers members.
12:14 Now he buildeth his doctrine upon the foundations which he had laid: and first of all he continueth in his purpose similitude, and afterward he goeth to the matter barely and simply. And first of all he speaketh unto them which would have separated themselves from those whom they envied, because they had not such excellent gifts as they: now this is, saith he, as if the foot should say it were not of the body, because it is not the hand; or the ear, because it is not the eye. Therefore all parts ought rather to defend the unity of the body, being coupled together to serve one the other.
16 And if the ear would say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?
17 If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling?
18 But now hath God disposed the members every one of them in the body at his own pleasure.
19 For if they were all one member, where were the body?
20 But now are there many members, yet but one body.
21 And the eye cannot say unto the hand, I have no need of thee: nor the head again to the feet, I have no need of you.
22 Yea, much rather those members of the body, which seem to be more feeble, are necessary.
23 And upon those members of the body, which we think most unhonest, we put more honesty on: and our uncomely parts have more comeliness on.
24 For our comely parts need it not: but God hath tempered the body together: and hath given the more honor to that part which lacked,
25 Lest there should be any division in the body: but that the members should have the same care one for another.
26 Therefore if one member suffer, all suffer with it: if one member be in honor, all the members rejoice with it.

27 Now ye are the body of Christ, and members for your part.
28 And God hath ordained some in the Church: as first Apostles, secondly Prophets, thirdly teachers, then them that do miracles: after that, the gifts of healing: helpers, governors, diversity of tongues.
29 Are all Apostles? are all Prophets? are all teachers?
30 Are all doers of miracles? have all the gifts of healing? do all speak with tongues? do all interpret?
31 But desire ye the best gifts, and I will yet show you a more excellent way.

13 1 He showeth that there are gifts so excellent, which in God's sight are not corrupt, if Charity be away: and therefore be digressed unto the commendation of it.
2 Though I speak with the tongues of men and Angels, and have not love, I am as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal.
3 And though I had the gift of prophecy, and knew all secrets and all knowledge, yea, if I had all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and had not love, I were nothing.
3 And though I feed the poor with all my goods, and though I give my body, that I be burned, and have not love, it profiteth me nothing.
4 Love suffereth long: it is bountiful; love envieth not: love doth not boast itself: it is not puffed up:
5 It doth 'no uncomely thing: it seeketh not her own thing: it is not provoked to anger: it thinketh no evil:
6 It rejoiceth not in iniquity, but 'rejoiceth in the truth:
7 It suffereth all things: it believeth all things: it hopeth all things: it endureth all things.
8 'Love doth never fall away, though that prophesysings be abolished, or the tongues cease, or 'knowledge vanish away.
9 'For we know in 'part, and we prophesy in part.
10 But when that which is perfect, is come, then that which is in part shall be abolished.
11 'When I was a child, I spake as a child: I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.
12 'For 'now we see through a glass darkly: but then shall we see face to face. Now I know in part:

135 1 It is not contumelious.
136 1 Rejoice that righteousness is in the righteous. For the Hebrews mean by truth, righteousness.
138 1 Again he commendeth the excellency of charity, in that it shall never be abolished in the Saints, whereas the other gifts which are necessary for the building up of the Church, so long as we live here, shall have no place in the world to come.
2 The way to get knowledge by prophesying.
139 1 The reason: Because we are now in the state, that we have need to learn daily, and therefore we have need of those helps, to wit, of the gift of tongues, and knowledge, and also of those that teach them. But to what purpose serve they then, when we have obtained and gotten the full knowledge of God, which serve now but for them which are imperfect, and go by degrees to perfection?
2 We learn imperfectly.
1311 1 He setteth forth that he said, by an excellent similitude, comparing this life to our infancy or childhood, wherein we stagger and stammer rather than speak, and think and understand but childish things, and therefore have need of such things as may form and frame our tongue and mind: But when we become men, to what purpose should we desire that stammering, those childish toys, and think and understand but childish things, and stammer rather than speak, and therefore have need of such things as may form and frame our tongue and mind: But when we become men, what purpose should we desire that stammering, those childish toys, and such like things, whereby our childhood is framed by little and little?
1312 1 The applying of the similitude of our childhood to this present life, wherein we darkly behold heavenly things, according to the small measure of light which is given us, through the understanding of tongues, and hearing the teachers and ministers of the Church: of our man's age and strength, to that heavenly and eternal life, wherein we behold God himself present, and are lightened with his full and perfect light; to what purpose should we desire the voice of man, and those worldly things: which are most imperfect? But yet then, shall all the Saints be knit both with God, and between themselves with most fervent love, and therefore charity shall not be abolished, but perfected, although it shall not be showeth forth and entertained by such manner of duties as peculiarly and only belong to the infinity of this life.
2 All this must be understood by comparison.
1313 1 The conclusion: As if the Apostle should say, Such therefore shall be our condition then: but now we have three things, and they remain sure if we be Christ's as without which true religion cannot consist, to wit, faith, hope, and charity. And among these, charity is the chiefest; because it ceaseth not in the life to come as the rest do, but is perfected and accomplished. For seeing that faith and hope tend to things which are promised, and are to come, when we have presently gotten them, to what purpose should we have faith and hope? but yet there at length shall we truly and perfectly love both God, and one another.
141 1 He inferreth now that, that he spake before. Therefore seeing charity is the chiefest of all, before all things set it before you as chief and principal: and so esteem those things as most excellent: which profit the greater part of men: (as prophecy that is to say, the gifts of teaching and applying the doctrine, which was contemned in respect of other gifts, although it be chiefest and most necessary for the Church) and not those which for a show seem to be marvelous as the gifts of tongues, when a man was suddenly endued with the knowledge of many tongues, which made men greatly amazed, and yet of itself was not greatly to any use, unless there were an interpreter.
2 What prophecy is, he showeth in the third verse.
142 1 He reprehendeth their perverse judgment touching the gift of tongues. For why was it given? to wit, to the intent that the mysteries of God might be the better known to a greater sort. Thereby it is evident that Prophecy, whereto the gift of tongues ought to serve, is better than this: and therefore the Corinthians did judge amiss, in that they made more account of the gift of tongues, than of prophesying: because forsooth the gift of tongues was a thing more to be bragged of. And hereupon followed another abuse of the gift of tongues. For why was it given? to edifying, and to exhortation, and to comfort. And he that speaketh strange language, edifieth himself: but he that prophesieth, edifieth the Church.
5 I would that ye all spake strange languages, but rather that ye prophesied: for greater is he that propheseth, than he that speaketh diverse tongues, except he expound it, that the Church may receive edification.

6 And now, brethren, if I come unto you speaking diverse tongues, what shall I profit you, except I speak to you, either by revelation, or by knowledge, or by prophesying, or by doctrine?

7 Moreover things without life which give a sound, whether it be a pipe or an harp, except they make a distinction in the sounds, how shall it be known what is piped or harped?

8 And also if the trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself to battle?

9 So likewise you, by the tongue, except ye utter words that have signification, how shall it be understood what is spoken? for ye shall speak in the air.

10 There are so many kinds of voices (as it cometh to pass) in the world, and none of them is dumb.

11 Except I know then the power of the voice, I shall be unto him that speaketh a Barbarian, and he that speaketh, shall be a Barbarian unto me.

12 Even so, forasmuch as ye covet spiritual gifts, seek that ye may excel unto the edifying of the Church.

13 Wherefore, let him that speaketh a strange tongue, pray that he may interpret.

14 For if I pray in a strange tongue, my spirit prayeth: but mine understanding is without fruit.

15 What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, but I will pray with the understanding also: I will sing with the spirit: but I will sing with the understanding also.

16 Else, when thou blessest with the spirit, how shall he that occupieth the room of the unlearned, say Amen, at thy giving of thanks, seeing he knowest not what thou sayest?

17 For thou verily givest thanks well, but the other is not edified.

18 I thank my God, I speak languages more than ye all.

19 Yet had I rather in the Church to speak five words with mine understanding, that I might also instruct others, than ten thousand words in a strange tongue.

20 Brethren, be not children in understanding, but as concerning maliciousness be children, but in understanding be of a ripe age.

21 In the Law it is written, By men of other tongues, and by other languages will I speak unto this people: yet so shall they not hear me, saith the Lord.

22 Wherefore strange tongues are for a sign, not to them that believe, but to them that believe not: but prophesying serveth not for them that believe not, but for them which believe.

23 If therefore, when the whole Church is come together in one, and all speak strange tongues, there come in they that are unlearned, or they which believe not, will they not say, that ye are out of your wits?

24 But if all prophesy, and there come in one that believeth not, or one unlearned, he is rebuked of all, and is judged of all.

25 And so are the secrets of his heart made manifest, and so he will fall down on his face and worship God, and say plainly that God is in you indeed.

26 What is to be done then, brethren? when ye come together, according as every one of you hath a Psalm, or hath doctrine, or hath a tongue, or hath revelation, or hath interpretation, let all things be done unto edifying.

27 If any man speak a strange tongue, let it be by two, or at the most, by three, and that by course, and let one interpret.

28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keep silence in the Church, which speaketh languages, and let him speak to himself, and to God.

29 Let the Prophets speak, two or three, and let the others judge.

30 And if anything be revealed to another that sitteth by, let the first hold his peace.

31 For ye may all prophesy one by one, that all may learn, and all may have comfort.

32 And the spirits of the Prophets are subject to the Prophets.

33 For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as we see in all the Churches of the Saints.

34 Let your women keep silence in the Churches: for it is not permitted unto them to speak: but they ought to be subject, as also the Law saith.

35 And if they will learn anything, let them ask their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speak in the Church.

36 Came the word of God out from you? either among you, or from me?

37 If any man think himself to be a Prophet, or spiritual, let him acknowledge, that the things that I write unto you, are the commandments of the Lord.

38 And if any man be ignorant, let him be ignorant.

39 Wherefore, brethren, covet to prophesy, and forbid not to speak languages.

40 Let all things be done honestly, and by order.

15 1 The Gospel that Paul preached. 3 The death and resurrection of Christ. 8 Paul saw Christ. 9 He had persecuted that Church, whereof afterward he was made a minister. 12 Christ first rose again, and we all shall rise by him. 26 The last enemy. death. 29 To be baptized for dead. 32 At Ephesus Paul fought with beasts. 35 How the dead are raised. 45 The first Adam. The last Adam. 47 The first and second man. 51 We shall all be changed, we shall not all sleep. 55 Death's sting. 57 Victory. 58 Constancy and steadfastness.

1 Moreover brethren, I declare unto you the Gospel which I preached unto you, which ye have also received, and wherein ye continue,

2 And whereby ye are saved, if ye keep in memory, after what manner I preached it unto you, except ye have believed in vain.

3 For first of all, I delivered unto you that which I also received, and wherein ye continue, and steadfastness.

4 The manner how to use the gift of tongues. It may be lawful for one or two, or at the most, by three, to use the gift of tongues, one after another in an assembly, so that there be some to expound the same: but if there be none to expound, let him that hath that gift, speak to himself alone.

5 The manner of prophesying: Let two or three prophesie, and let the other judge of that that is propounded, whether it be agreeable to the word of God or no: If in this examination the Lord give

6 Let the Prophets speak, two or three, and let the others judge.

7 For ye may all prophesy one by one, that all may learn, and all may have comfort.

8 And the spirits of the Prophets are subject to the Prophets.

9 For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as we see in all the Churches of the Saints.

10 Let your women keep silence in the Churches: for it is not permitted unto them to speak: but they ought to be subject, as also the Law saith.

11 And if they will learn anything, let them ask their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speak in the Church.

12 Came the word of God out from you? either among you, or from me?
6 After that, he was seen of more than five hundred brethren at once: whereof many remain unto this present, and some also are asleep.
7 After that, he was seen of James: then of all the Apostles.
8 ¶ And last of all he was seen also of me, as of one born out of due time.
9 ¶ For I am the least of the Apostles, which am not meet to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the Church of God.
10 ¶ But by the grace of God I am that I am: and his grace which is in me, was not in vain: but I labored more abundantly than they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me.
11 Wherefore, whether it were I, or they, so we preach, and so have ye believed.
12 ¶ Now if it be preached, that Christ is risen from the dead, how say some among you, that there is no resurrection of the dead?
13 ¶ For if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen:
14 ¶ And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain.
15 And we are found also false witnesses of God: for we have testified of God, that he hath raised up Christ: whom he hath not raised up, if so be the dead be not raised.
16 ¶ For if the dead be not raised, then is Christ not raised.
17 ¶ And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain: ye are yet in your sins.
18 ¶ And so they which are asleep in Christ, are perished.
19 ¶ If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men the most miserable.
20 ¶ But now is Christ risen from the dead, and was made the firstfruits of them that slept.
21 ¶ For since by man came death, by man also the resurrection of the dead.
22 ¶ For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.
23 ¶ But every man in his own order: the firstfruits is Christ, afterward, they that are of Christ, at his coming shall rise again.
24 ¶ Then shall be the end, when he hath delivered up the kingdom to God, even the Father, when he hath 15:6 ¹ Not fewer all times, but together and at one instant.

15:18 ¹ He maintaineth by the way, the authority of his Apostleship, which was requisite to be in good credit among the Corinthians, that this Epistle might be of force and weight amongst them. In the mean season he compareth himself to such sort after a certain divine art with certain others, that he maketh himself inferior to them all.
15:12 ¹ The first argument to prove that there is a resurrection from the dead: Christ is risen again, therefore the dead shall rise again.
15:13 ¹ The second by an absurdity, If there is no resurrection of the dead, then is not Christ risen again.
15:14 ¹ The proof of that absurdity by other absurdities: If Christ be not risen again, the preaching of the Gospel is in vain, and the credit that you gave unto it is vain, and we are liars.
15:16 ¹ He repeateth the same argument taken of an absurdity, purposing to show how faith is in vain if the resurrection of Christ be taken away.
15:17 ¹ First, seeing death is the punishment of sin, in vain should we believe that our sins were forgiven us, if they remain: but they do remain, if Christ rose not from death.
2 They are yet in their sins, which are not sanctified, nor have obtained remission of their sins.
15:18 ² Secondly, unless that this be certain that Christ rose again, all they which died in Christ, are perished. So then what profit cometh of faith?
15:19 ¹ The third argument, which is also taken from an absurdity: for unless there be another life, wherein such as trust and believe in Christ shall be blessed, they were the most miserable of all creatures, because in this life they are the most miserable.
15:20 ² A conclusion of the former argument: Therefore Christ is risen again.
² He putteth the last conclusion for the first proposition of the argument that followeth. Christ is risen again. Therefore shall we the faithful (for of them he speaketh) rise again. Then followeth the first reason of this consequent: for Christ is set forth unto us, to be considered of, not as a private man apart and by himself, but as the firstfruits: And he taketh that which was known, to all men, to wit, that the whole heap is sanctified in the firstfruits.

¹ He alludeth to the firstfruits of corn, the offering whereof sanctified the rest of the fruits.
15:21 ¹ Another confirmation of the same consequent: for Christ is to be considered as opposite to Adam, that as from one man Adam, sin came over all, so from one man Christ, life cometh unto all: that is to say, that all the faithful, as they die, because by nature they were born of Adam, so because in Christ they are made the children of God by grace, they are quickened and restored to life by him.
15:22 ¹ Shall rise by the virtue of Christ.
15:23 ¹ He doeth two things together: for he sheweth that the resurrection is in such sort common to Christ with all his members, that notwithstanding he far passeth them, both in time (for he was the first that rose again from the dead) and also in honor, because that from him and in him is all our life and glory. Then by this occasion he passeth in the next argument.
15:24 ¹ The fourth argument, wherewith also he confirmeth the others, hath a most sure ground, to wit, because that God must reign. And this is the manner of his reign, that the Father will be showed to be King in his Son who was made man, to whom all things are made subject (the promiser only except) to the end that the Father may afterward triumph in his Son the conqueror. And he maketh two parts of this reign and dominion of the Son, wherein the Father’s glory consisteth: to wit, the overcoming of his enemies (whereof some must be deprived of all power, as Satan and all the wicked, be they never so proud and mighty, and others must be utterly abolished as death and a plain and full delivery of the godly from all enemies, that by this means God may fully set forth the body of the Church, cleaving fast to their head Christ, his kingdom and glory as a king in his subjects. Moreover he putteth the first degree of this kingdom in the resurrection of the Son, who is the head: and the perfection, in the full conjunction of the members with the head, which shall be in the latter day. Now all these tend to this purpose, to show that unless the dead do rise again, neither the Father can be King above all, neither Christ be Lord of all: for neither should the power of Satan and death be overcome, nor the glory of God be full in his Son, nor his Son in his members.
² The shutting up and finishing of all things.
put down all rule, and all authority and power.

25 For he must reign till he hath put all his enemies under his feet.

26 The last enemy that shall be destroyed, is death.

27 For he hath put down all things under his feet. (And when he saith that all things are subdued to him, it is manifest that he is excepted, which did put down all things under him.)

28 And when all things shall be subdued unto him, then shall the Son also himself be subject unto him, that did subdue all things under him, that God may be all in all.

29 Else what shall they do which are baptized for dead? if the dead rise not at all, why are they then baptized for dead?

30 Why are we also in jeopardy every hour?

31 By your rejoicing which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, I die daily.

32 If I have fought with beasts at Ephesus after the manner of men, what advantageth it me, if the dead be not raised up? Let us eat and drink: for tomorrow we shall die.

33 Be not deceived: evil speakings corrupt good manners.

34 Awake to live righteously, and sin not: for some have not the knowledge of God, I speak this to your shame.

35 But some man will say, How are the dead raised up? and with what body come they forth?

36 O fool, that which thou sowest, is not quickened, except it die.

37 And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shall be, but bare corn as it falleth, of wheat, or of some other.

38 But God giveth it a body at his pleasure, even to every seed his own body.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one flesh of men, and another flesh of beasts, and another of fishes, and another of birds.

40 There are also heavenly bodies, and earthly bodies: but the glory of the heavenly is one, and the glory of the earthly is another.

41 There is another glory of the sun, and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars:

3 All his enemies which shall be spoiled of all the power they have.

15:25 1 Christ is considered here, as he appeared in the form of a servant, in which respect he ruleth the Church as head, and that because this power was given him of his Father.

15:26 1 The shutting up of the argument, which is taken from the whole to the part: for if all his enemies shall be put under his feet, then must it needs be that death also shall be subdued under him.

15:28 1 Not because the Son was not subject to his Father before, but because his body, that is to say, the Church which is here in distress, and not yet wholly partaker of his glory, is not yet fully perfect, and also because the bodies of the saints which be in the graves shall not be glorified until the resurrection: but Christ as he is God, hath us subject to him as his Father hath, but as he is Priest, he is subject to his father together with us. Augustine, book 1, chap. 8, of the Trinity.

2 By this high kind of speech, is set forth an incomprehensible glory which floweth from God, and shall fill all of us, as we are joined together with our head, but yet so, that our head shall always reserve his preeminence.

15:29 1 The fifth argument taken of the end of Baptism, to wit, because that they which are baptized, are baptized for dead, that is to say, that they may have a remedy against death because that Baptism is a token of regeneration.

2 They that are baptized, to this end and purpose, that death may be put out in them, or to rise again from the dead, whereas baptism is a seal.

15:30 1 The sixth argument: Unless there be a resurrection of the dead, why should the Apostles so daily cast themselves into danger of so many deaths?

15:31 1 As though he said, I die daily, as all the miseries I suffer can well witness, which I may truly boast of, that I have suffered amongst you.

15:32 1 The taking away of an objection: but thou Paul, didst ambitiously, as commonly men are wont to do, when thou didst fight with beasts at Ephesus: That is very like, saith Paul, for what could that advantage me, were it not for the glory of eternal life which I hope for?

2 Not upon any godly motion, nor casting mine eyes upon God, but carried away with vain glory, or a certain headiness.

3 These are speeches that Epicureans use.

15:33 1 The conclusion with a sharp exhortation, that they take heed of the naughty company of certain: from whence he showeth that this mischief sprang: warning them to be wise with sobriety unto righteousness.

15:35 1 Now that he hath proved the resurrection, he discovereth their doltishness, in that they scoffingly demanded, how it could be that the dead should rise again, and if they did rise again, they asked mockingly, what manner of bodies they should have. Therefore he sendeth these fellows which seemed to themselves to be marvelous wise and witty, to be instructed of poor rude husbandmen.

15:36 1 Thou mightest have learned either of these, saith Paul, by daily experience: for seeds are sown, and rot, and yet notwithstanding so far it is off, that they perish, that contrariwise they grow up far more beautiful: and whereas they are sown naked and dry, they spring up green from death by the virtue of God: and doth it seem incredible to thee that our bodies should rise from corruption, and that endowed with a far more excellent quality?
for one star differeth from another star in glory.

42 So also is the resurrection of the dead. The body is sown in corruption, and is raised in incorruption.

43 It is sown in dishonor, and is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness, and is raised in power.

44 It is sown a natural body, and is raised a spiritual body: there is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body.

45 As it is also written, The first man Adam was made a living soul: and the last Adam was made a quickening spirit.

46 Howbeit that was not first which is spiritual: but that which is natural, and afterward that which is spiritual.

47 The first man is of the earth, earthly: the second man is the Lord from heaven.

48 As is the earthly, such are they that are earthly: and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly.

49 And as we have borne the image of the earthly, so shall we bear the image of the heavenly.

50 This say I, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God, neither doth corruption inherit incorruption.

51 Behold, I show you a secret thing. We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, 52 In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye at the last trumpet: for the trumpet shall blow, and the dead shall be raised up incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption: and this mortal must put on immortality.

54 So when this corruptible hath put on incorruption, and this mortal hath put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying, that is written, Death is swallowed up into victory.

55 O death where is thy sting? O grave where is thy victory?

56 The sting of death is sin: and the strength of sin is the Law.

57 But thanks be unto God, which hath given us victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

58 Therefore my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, abundant always in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord.

16 1 He exhorteth them to help the poor brethren of Jerusalem: 10 Then he commendeth Timothy, 13 and so with a friendly exhortation, 19 and commendations, endeth the Epistle.
1 Concerning the gathering for the Saints, as I have ordained in the Churches of Galatia, so do ye also.

2 Every first day of the week, let every one of you put aside by himself, and lay up as God hath prospered him, that then there be no gatherings when I come.

3 And when I am come, whomsoever ye shall allow by letters, them will I send to bring your liberality unto Jerusalem.

4 And if it be meet that I go also, they shall go with me.

5 Now I will come unto you, after I have gone through Macedonia (for I will pass through Macedonia.)

6 And it may be that I will abide, yea, or winter with you, that ye may bring me on my way, whithersoever I go.

7 For I will not see you now in my passage, but I trust to abide a while with you, if the Lord permit.

8 For a great door and effectual is opened unto me, and there are many adversaries.

9¶ Now if Timothy come, see that he be without fear with you: for he worketh the work of the Lord, even as I do.

10 Let no man therefore despise him: but convey him forth in peace, that he may come unto me: for I looked for him with the brethren.

11 As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly desired him to come unto you with the brethren: but his mind was not at all to come at this time: howbeit he will come when he shall have convenient time.

12 As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly desired him to come unto you with the brethren: but his mind was not at all to come at this time: howbeit he will come when he shall have convenient time.

13¶ Watch ye: stand fast in the faith: quit you like men, and be strong.

14 Let all your things be done in love.

15 Now brethren, I beseech you (ye know the house of Stephanas, that it is the firstfruits of Achaia, and that they have given themselves to minister unto the Saints.)

16 That ye be obedient even unto such, and to all that help with us and labor.

17 I am glad of the coming of Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus: for they have supplied the want of you.

18 For they have comforted my spirit and yours: acknowledge therefore such men.

19 The Churches of Asia salute you: Aquila and Priscilla with the Church that is in their house, salute you greatly in the Lord.

20 All the brethren greet you. Greet ye one another with an holy kiss.

21 The salutation of me Paul with mine own hand.

22 If any man love not the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be had in execration maran-atha.

23 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

24 My love be with you all in Christ Jesus, Amen.

The first Epistle to the Corinthians, written from Philippi, and sent by Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus, and Timothy.

16:1 1 Collections in old time were made by the Apostles appointment the first day of the week, on which day the manner was then to assemble themselves.

16:2 1 Which in times past was called Sunday, but now is called the Lord’s day.

16:3 1 That every man bestow, according to the ability that God hath blessed him with.

16:4 1 Which you shall give them to carry.

16:5 1 The residue of the Epistle is spent in writing of familiar matters, yet so that all things be referred to his purposed mark, that is to say, to the glory of God, and the edifying of the Corinthians.

16:6 1 Very fit and convenient to do great things by.

16:7 1 Without any just occasion of fear.
THE SECOND EPISODE OF PAUL TO THE CORINTHIANS

1 1 He beginneth with the praise of afflictions, declaring what he hath suffered in Asia. 10 and how happily God assisted him. 17 He saith it was not upon any lightness, that he came not, according to his promise.

1 PAUL, an Apostle of JESUS Christ, by the will of God, and our brother Timothy, to the Church of God, which is at Corinth, with all the Saints, which are in all Achaia:
2 Grace be with you, and peace from God, our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.
3 a 1 Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of 'mercies, and the God of all comfort,
4 Which comforteth us in all our tribulation, 1that we may be able to comfort them which are in any affliction by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God.
5 For as the 'sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our consolation aboundeth through Christ.
6 1 And whether we be afflicted, it is for your consolation and salvation, which is wrought in the enduring of the same sufferings, which we also suffer: or whether we be comforted, it is for your consolation and salvation.

7 And our hope is steadfast concerning you, in as much as we know, that as ye are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye be also of the consolation.
8 1 For brethren, we would not have you ignorant of our affliction, which came unto us in Asia, how we were pressed out of measure passing strength, so that we altogether doubted even of life.
9 Yea, we received the sentence of death in yourselves, because we should not rest in ourselves, but in God, which raised the dead.
10 Who delivered us from so great a death, and doth deliver us: in whom we trust, that yet hereafter he will deliver us.
11 a 1 So that ye labor together in prayer for us, 1that for the gift bestowed upon us for many, thanks may be given by many persons for us.
12 1 For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly pureness, and not in fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God we have had our conversation in the world, and most must pass to everlasting life, after that we have once overcome all encumbrances.
13 1 He witnesseth that he is not only not ashamed of his afflictions, but that he desireth also to have all men know the greatness of them, and also his delivery from them, although it be not yet perfect.
14 1 I know not at all what to do, neither did I see by man's help which way to save my life.
15 1 I was resolved within myself to die.
16 1 The Lord doth comfort us to this end and purpose, that we may so much the more surely comfort others.
17 The miseries which we suffer for Christ, or which Christ suffereth in us.
18 1 He denieth that either his afflictions wherewith he was often afflicted, or the consolations which he received of God, may justly be despised, seeing that the Corinthians both might and ought to take great occasion to be confirmed by either of them.
19 Although salvation be given us freely, yet because there is a way appointed us wherewith we must come to it, which is the race of an innocent and upright life, which we must run, therefore we are said to work our salvation, Philippians 2:12. And because it is God only that of his free good will worketh all things in us, therefore is he said to work the salvation in us by those selfsame things by which we trust to that very wisdom, which God of his free goodness hath given me from heaven.
14 Even as ye have acknowledged us partly, that we are your rejoicing, even as ye are ours, in the day of our Lord Jesus.

15 And in this confidence was I minded first to come unto you, that ye might have had a double grace, 16 And to pass by you into Macedonia, and to come again out of Macedonia, unto you, and to be led forth toward Judea of you.

17 When I therefore was thus minded, did I use lightness or mind those things which I mind, according to the flesh, that with me should be, Yea, yea, and Nay, Nay?

18 Yea, God is faithful, that our word toward you, was not Yea, and Nay.

19 For the Son of God Jesus Christ, who was preached among you by us, that is, by me, and Silvanus, and Timothy, was not Yea, and Nay: but in him it was Yea.

20 For all the promises of God in him are Yea, and in him Amen, unto the glory of God through us.

21 And it is God which established us with you, and anointed us.
not made ‘me sorry, but ‘partly (lest I should more ‘charge him) you all.
6 It is sufficient unto the same man, that he was rebuked of many.
7 So that now contrariwise ye ought rather to ‘forgive him, and comfort him, lest the same should be swallowed up with overmuch heaviness.
8 Wherefore, I pray you, that you would ‘confirm your love towards him.
9 For this cause also did I write: that I might know the proof of you, whether ye would be obedient in all things.
10 To whom ye forgive anything, I forgive also: for verily if I forgave anything, to whom I forgave it, for your sakes forgave I it in the ‘sight of Christ.
11 Lest Satan should circumvent us: for we are not ignorant of his ‘enterprises.
12 ¶ Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Christ’s Gospel, and a door was opened unto me of the Lord,
13 I had no rest in my spirit, because I found not Titus my brother, but took my leave of them, and went away into Macedonia.
14 Now thanks be unto God, which always maketh us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the ‘savor of his knowledge by us in every place.
15 ‘For we are unto God the sweet savor of Christ, in them that are saved, and in them which perish.
16 To the one we are the savor of death, unto death, and to the other the savor of life, unto life: ‘and who is sufficient for these things?
17 ‘For we are not as many, which make ‘merchandise of the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God in the sight of God speak we in Christ.

1 He desireth no other commendation, 3 than their continuing in the faith. 6 He is a minister not of the letter, but of the Spirit. 8 He showeth the difference of the Law, and the Gospel, 13 that the brightness of the Law doth rather dim the sight than lighten it: 18 But the Gospel doth make manifest God’s countenance unto us.

1 Do we begin to praise ourselves again? or need we as some others, Epistles of recommendation unto you, or letters of recommendation from you?
2 Ye are our epistle, written in our hearts, which is understood and read of all men,
3 In that ye are ‘manifest, to be the Epistle of Christ, ‘ministered by us, and written, not with ink, but with the Spirit of the ‘living God, ‘not in tables of stone, but in fleshly tables of the heart.
4 And such ‘trust have we through Christ to God:
5 Not that we are sufficient of ourselves, to think anything, as of ourselves: but our ‘sufficiency is of God,
6 ‘Who also hath made us able ministers of the New Testament, not of the ‘letter, but of the Spirit:
for the letter killeth, but the Spirit giveth life.
7 If then the ministration of death written with letters and engraven in stones, was glorious, so that the children of Israel could not behold the face of Moses, for the glory of his countenance (which glory is gone away.)

8 How shall not the ministration of the Spirit be more glorious?

9 For if the ministry of condemnation was glorious, much more doth the ministration of righteousness exceed in glory.

10 For even that which was glorified, was not glorified in this point, that is, as touching the exceeding glory.

11 For if they should be abolished, was glorious, much more shall that which remaineth be glorious.

12 Seeing then that we have such trust, we use great boldness of speech.

13 And we are not as Moses, which put a veil upon his face, that the children of Israel should not look unto the end of that which should be abolished.

14 Therefore their minds are hardened: for until this day remaineth the same covering untaken away in the reading of the old Testament, which veil in Christ is put away.

15 But even unto this day, when Moses is read, the veil is laid over their hearts.

16 Nevertheless when their heart shall be turned to the Lord, the veil shall be taken away.

17 Now the Lord is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.

18 But we all behold as in a mirror the glory of the Lord with open face, and are changed into the same image, from glory to glory, as by the Spirit of the Lord.

4 1 He showeth that he hath so labored in preaching the Gospel. 4 That such are even blinded of Satan, who do not perceive the brightness thereof. 7 That the same is carried in earthen vessels, 10 who are subject to many miseries: 16 and therefore he exhorteth them by his own example to be courageous, 17 and condemn this present life.

1 Therefore, seeing that we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not:

2 But have cast from us the cloaks of shame, and walk not in craftiness, neither handle we the word of God deceitfully: but in declaration of the truth we approve ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God.

3 If the Gospel be then hid, it is hid to them that are lost.

4 In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds, that is, of the infidels, that the light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, which is the image of God, should not shine unto them.

3:7 1 Imprinted and engraven: so that by this place we may plainly perceive, that the Apostle speaketh not of the ceremonies of the Law, but even of the ten commandments.

2 This word Glory, betokeneth a brightness, and a majesty, which was bodily in Moses, but spiritually in Christ.

3:8 1 Whereby God offereth, yea and giveth the Spirit, not as a dead thing, but a quickening Spirit, working life.

3:9 1 To wit, of Christ, which being imputed to us as our own, we are not only not condemned, but also we are crowned as righteous.

3:11 1 The Law, yea, and the ten commandments themselves, together with Moses, is abolished, if we consider the ministry of Moses apart by itself.

3:12 1 He sheweth wherein standeth this glory of the preaching of the Gospel, to wit, in that that setteth forth plainly and evidently, that which the Law showeth darkly, for it sent them that heard it upon his face, that the children of Israel should not be able to bear it. This is it that in the former Chapter he called, making merchandise of the word of God.

3:13 1 He expoundeth by the way the allegory of Moses' covering, which was a token of the darkness and weakness that is in men, which were rather dulled by the bright shining of the Law, then lightened, which covering was taken away by the coming of Christ, who lighteth the hearts, and turneth them to the Lord, that we may be brought from the slavery of this blindness, and set in the liberty of the light, by the virtue of Christ's Spirit.

3:17 1 Christ is that spirit which taketh away that covering, by working in our hearts, whereunto also the Law itself called us, though in vain, because it speaketh to dead men, until the spirit quickeneth us.

3:18 1 Going forwards in the allegory of the covering, he compareth the Gospel to a glass, which although it be most bright and sparkling, yet doth it not only not dazzle their eyes, which look in it, as the law doth, but also transormeth them with its beams, so that they also be partakers of the glory and shining of it, to lighten others: as Christ said unto his, You are the light of the world, whereas he himself was the only light. We are also commanded in another place, to shine as candles before the world, because we are partakers of God's Spirit. But Paul speaketh here properly, of the ministers of the Gospel, as it appeareth both by that that goeth before, and that that cometh after, and that, setting them his own example and his fellows.

4:1 1 Now he plainly witnesseth that both he and his fellows (through the mercy of God) do their vocation and duty uprightly and sincerely, neglecting all dangers.

4:2 1 Subtlety, and all kinds of deceit, which men hunt after, as it were dead things, to shine as candles before the world, because we are partakers of God's Spirit. But Paul speaketh here properly, of the ministers of the Gospel, as it appeareth both by that that goeth before, and that that cometh after, and that, setting them his own example and his fellows.
5 1 For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord, and ourselves your servants for \textit{Jesus' sake}.

6  For God \textit{that commanded the light to shine out of darkness, is he which hath shined in our hearts}, to give the \textit{light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ}.

7 1 But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, \textit{that the excellency of that power might be of God, and not of us}.

8  We are afflicted on every side, yet \textit{are we not in distress: we are in doubt, but we perish not}.

9  We \textit{are persecuted, but not forsaken: cast down, but we perish not}.

10 1 Everywhere we bear about in our body the \textit{dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life of Jesus might also be made manifest in our bodies}.

11  For we which \textit{live, are always delivered unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our \textit{mortal flesh}}.

12 1 So then death worketh in us, and life in you.

13 1 And because we have the same \textit{spirit of faith, according as it is written, 'I believed, and therefore have I spoken, we also believe, and therefore speak}.

14  Knowing that he which hath raised up the Lord Jesus, shall raise us up also by Jesus, and shall set us with you.

15 1 For all things are for your sakes, \textit{that that most plenteous grace by the thanksgiving of many, may redound to the praise of God}.

16  Therefore we faint not, \textit{but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is \textit{renewed daily}}.

17  For our \textit{light affliction which is but for a moment, causeth unto us a far most excellent and an eternal weight of \textit{glory}}:

18  While we look not on the things which are seen, but on the things which are not seen for the things which are seen, \textit{are temporal: but the things which are not seen, are eternal}.

5 1 He continueth in the same argument. 5 touching the certain hope of salvation \textit{through faith, 12 not to praise himself}. 14 seeing he hath God and his Church before his eyes. 17 and esteemeth nothing, but newness of life in Christ.

1  For \textit{we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle be destroyed, we have a building given of God, that is, an house not made with hands, but eternal in the heavens}.

2  For therefore we sigh, desiring to be \textit{clothed with the house of the heavens, and not with the tabernacle}.

\textit{He showeth how this constancy is preserved in them, to wit, because they respect God's glory, and the salvation of the Churches committed unto them}. 2 When it shall please God to deliver me, and restore me to you, that exceeding benefit which shall be poured upon me, shall in like sort redound to the glory of God, by the thanksgiving of many.

4:16 1 He addeth as it were a triumphant song, how that he is outwardly afflicted, but inwardly he proveth daily: and passeth not at all for all the miseries that may be sustained in this life, in comparison of that most constant and eternal glory.

4:17 1 Afflictions are not called light, as though they were light of themselves, but because they pass away quickly, when as indeed our whole life is of no long continuance.

5:1  Taking occasion by the former comparison, he compareth this miserable body, as it is in this life, to a frail and brickle tabernacle, against which he setteth the heavenly Tabernacle, so terming that sure and everlasting condition of this same body glorified in heaven, insomuch, saith he, that we are not only not addicted to this tabernacle, but also do with sobes and sighs desire rather that tabernacle. And so this place also concerning the glory to come, is put within the treatise of the dignity of the ministry, as the other was, whereof we spake in the beginning of the second Chapter.

5:2 1 He calleth the glory of immortality, which we shall be as it were clothed with, a garment.
with our house, which is from heaven.

3 1Because that if we be clothed, we shall not be found naked.

4 For indeed we that are in this tabernacle, sigh and are burdened because we would not be unclothed, but would be clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life.

5 And he that hath 1created us for this thing, is God, who also hath given unto us the earnest of the Spirit.

6 1Therefore we are always bold, though we know that while we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord.

7 (For we walk by faith, and not by sight.)

8 Nevertheless, we are bold, and love rather to remove out of the body, and to dwell with the Lord.

9 Wherefore also we covet, that both dwelling at home, and removing from home, we may be acceptable to him.

10 1For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, that every man may receive the things which are done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or evil.

11 1Knowing therefore that the terror of the Lord, we persuade men, and we are made manifest unto God, and I trust also that we are made manifest in your consciences.

12 1For we praise not ourselves again unto you, but give you an occasion to rejoice of us that ye may have to answer against them, which rejoice in the face, and not in the heart.

13 1For whether we be out of our wit, we are it to God: or whether we be in our right mind, we are it unto you.

14 1For that love of Christ constraineth us,

15 Because we thus judge, that if one be dead for all, then were all dead, and he died for all, that they which live, should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again.

16 Wherefore, henceforth we know no man after the flesh, 1yea though we had known Christ after the flesh, yet not henceforth know we him no more.

17 1Therefore if any man be in Christ, let him be a
6:1 He exhorteth them to lead their lives as it becometh Christians, 5 neither to be dismayed in tribulations, 9 nor puffed up with glory: 14 to avoid all uncleanness, 16 considering that they are the temples of the living God.

6:2 So we therefore as workers together beseech you, that ye receive not the grace of God in vain.

6:3 We give no occasion of offence in anything, that our ministry should not be reprehended.

6:4 But in all things we approve ourselves as the ministers of God, 8 in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses.

6:5 In stripes, in prisons, in tumults, in labors:

6:6 By watchings, by fastings, by purity, by knowledge, by long suffering, by kindness, by the holy Ghost, by love unfeigned,

6:7 By the word of truth, by the power of God, by the 2armor of righteousness on the right hand, and on the left,

6:8 By honor, and dishonor, by evil report, and good report, as deceivers, and yet true:

6:9 As unknown, and yet known: as dying, and behold, we live, as chastened, and yet not killed:

6:10 As sorrowing, and yet always rejoicing: as poor, and yet making many rich: as having nothing, and yet possessing all things.

6:11 O Corinthians, our mouth is open unto you, our heart is made large.

6:12 Ye are not kept strait in us, but ye are kept strait in your own bowels.

6:13 Now for the same recompense, I speak as to my children, Be ye also enlarged.

6:14 Be not unequally yoked with the infidels: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness?

2 Corinthians 5:18

5:17 2 As a thing made anew of God, for though a man be not newly created when God giveth him the spirit of regeneration, but only his qualities are changed, yet notwithstanding it pleased the Holy Ghost to speak so, to teach us, that we must attribute all things to the glory of God: not that we are as stocks or blocks: but because God creates in us, both the will to will well, and the power to do well.

5:18 1 He commendeth the excellency of the ministry of the Gospel, both by the authority of God himself, who is the author of that ministry, and also by the excellency of the doctrine of it: for it annunciation atonement with God, by free forgiveness of our sins, and justification offered unto us in Christ, and that so lovingly and liberally, that God himself doth after a sort pray men by the mouth of his ministers, to have consideration of themselves, and not to despise so great a benefit. And when he so saith, he plainly reprehendeth them which falsely challenged to themselves the name of pastors.

5:19 1 Used our labor and travail.

5:21 1 A sinner, not in himself, but by imputation of the guilt of all our sins to him.

5:22 1 By watchings, by fastings, by purity, by knowledge, by long suffering, by kindness, by the Holy Ghost, by love unfeigned,

5:23 1 Preaching of the Gospel.

5:24 1 Power to work miracles, and to bring under the wicked.

5:25 1 Uprightness.

5:26 1 Going about to rebuke them, he saith first, that he dealeth with them sincerely and with an open and plain heart, and thereunto complaineth that they do not the like in loving again their Father.

6:1 2 The opening of the mouth and heart, betokeneth a most earnest affection in him that speaketh, as it is spoken commonly with them that are in some great joy.

6:2 1 You are in mine heart, as in an house, and that no narrow or strait house, for I have opened my whole heart to you, but you are inwardly straitlaced to me-ward.

6:3 2 After the manner of the Hebrews, he calleth those tender affections which rest in the heart, bowels.

6:4 1 Now he rebuked them boldly, for that they became fellows with infidels in outward idolatry, as though it were a thing indifferent. And this is the fourth part of this Epistle, the conclusion whereof is, that such as the Lord has vouchsafed the name of his children, must keep themselves pure, not only in mind, but also in body, that they may wholly be holy unto the Lord.

6:5 1 O Corinthians, our mouth is open unto you, our heart is made large.

6:6 2 Ye are not kept strait in us, but ye are kept strait in your own bowels.

6:7 1 As unknown, and yet known: as dying, and behold, we live, as chastened, and yet not killed:

6:8 1 As sorrowing, and yet always rejoicing: as poor, and yet making many rich: as having nothing, and yet possessing all things.

6:9 1 O Corinthians, our mouth is open unto you, our heart is made large.

6:10 1 As unknown, and yet known: as dying, and behold, we live, as chastened, and yet not killed:

6:11 1 You are in mine heart, as in an house, and that no narrow or strait house, for I have opened my whole heart to you, but you are inwardly straitlaced to me-ward.

6:12 1 You are in mine heart, as in an house, and that no narrow or strait house, for I have opened my whole heart to you, but you are inwardly straitlaced to me-ward.

6:13 1 As unknown, and yet known: as dying, and behold, we live, as chastened, and yet not killed:

6:14 1 Now he rebuked them boldly, for that they became fellows with infidels in outward idolatry, as though it were a thing indifferent. And this is the fourth part of this Epistle, the conclusion whereof is, that such as the Lord has vouchsafed the name of his children, must keep themselves pure, not only in mind, but also in body, that they may wholly be holy unto the Lord.
And not by his coming only, but also by the continual good will towards them.

5 And his inward affection is more abundant than what I spoke before, that ye are in our hearts, to die and live together.

6 For when we were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but we were troubled on every side, fightings without, and terrors within.

7 And not by his coming only, but also by the continual good will towards them.

8 And I will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty.

9 For though I made you sorry with a letter, I repent not, though I did repent: for I perceive that the same Epistle made you sorry, though it were but for a season.

10 For 'godly sorrow causeth repentance unto salvation, not to be repented of: but the worldly sorrow causeth death.

11 For behold, this thing that ye have been godly sorry, what great care hath it wrought in you: yea, what clearing of yourselves: yea, what indignation: yea, what fear: yea, how great desire: yea, what a zeal: yea, what revenge: in all things ye have showed yourselves, that ye are pure in this matter.

12 Wherefore, though I wrote unto you, I did not for its cause that had done the wrong, neither for his cause that had the injury, but that our care toward you in the sight of God might appear unto you.

13 Therefore we were comforted, because ye were comforted: but rather we rejoiced much more for the joy of Titus, because his spirit was refreshed by you.

14 For if that I have boasted anything to him of you, I have not been ashamed: but as I have spoken unto you all things in truth, even so our boasting unto Titus was true.

15 And his inward affection is more abundant toward you, when he remembereth the obedience of you all, and how with fear and trembling ye received him.

16 And I rejoice therefore that I may put my confidence in you in all things.
12 For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

13 Neither is it that other men should be eased and you grieved: But upon 2like condition, at this time your abundance supplieth their lack:

14 That also their abundance may be for your lack, that there may be equality.

15 As it is written, 4He that gathered much, had nothing over, and he that gathered little, had not the less.

16 1And thanks be unto God, which had put in the heart of Titus the same care for you.

17 Because he accepted the exhortation, yea, he was so careful that of his own accord he went unto you.

18 And we have sent also with him the brother, whose praise is 1in the Gospel throughout all the Churches.

19 (And not so only, but is also chosen of the Churches to be a fellow in our journey, concerning this grace that is ministered by us unto the glory of the same Lord, and declaration of your prompt mind.)

20 Avoiding this, that no man should blame us in this abundance that is ministered by us, 21 4Providing for honest things, not only before the Lord, but also before men.

22 And we have sent with them our brother, whom we have ofttimes proved to be diligent in many things, but now much more diligent, for the great confidence, which I have in you.

23 Whether any do inquire of Titus, he is my fellow and helper to you-ward: or of our brethren, they are messengers of the Churches, and the 4glory of 8:1 1 The sixth part of this epistle containing divers exhortations to stir up the Corinthians to liberality, wherewith the poverty of the Church of Jerusalem might be holpen in time convenient. And first of all he setteth out before them the example of the Churches of Macedonia, which otherwise were brought by great misery to extreme poverty, to the end that they should follow them.

2 The benefit that God bestowed upon the Churches.

8:2 1 For those manifold afflictions wherewith the Lord tried them, did not only not quail their joyful readiness, but also made it much more excellent, and famous.

8:3 1 Of their own accord they were liberal.

8:4 1 He calleth that, Grace, that other men would have called a burden. And this verse is to be expounded by the sixth verse.

8:5 1 He amplifieth the forwardness of the Macedonians, in this, that they also desired Paul to stir up the Corinthians to accomplish the giving of alms, by sending again of Titus unto them.

8:8 1 Thirdly he warneth them that they deceive not their expectation which they have conceived of them.

2 At the request of the Macedonians.

3 Then appeareth the naturalness of our love, when as in deed and that frankly and freely we help our brethren, even for Christ's sake.

8:9 1 The fourth argument taken from the example of Christ.

8:10 4 He taketh good heed that he seem not to wrest it out of them by constraint, for unless it be voluntary, God doth not accept it.

2 Not only to do, but also to do willingly: for he noteth out a readiness to will, even so ye may perform it of that which ye have.

8:11 1 And this they did, not as we looked for: but gave their own selves, first to the Lord, and after unto us by the will of God,

6 That we should exhort Titus, that as he had begun, so he would also accomplish the same grace among you also.

7 Therefore, as ye abound in everything, in faith and word, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your love towards us, even so see that ye abound in this grace also.

8 1This say I not by commandment, but because of the 2diligence of others: therefore prove I the 3naturalness of your love.

9 1For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that he being rich, for your sakes became poor, that 21grace, and fellowship of the ministering which is toward the Saints.

10 1And how my mind herein: for this is expedient for you, which have begun not to do only, but also to 2will, a year ago.

11 Now therefore perform to do it also, that as there was a readiness to will, even so ye may perform it of that which ye have.
Christ.
24 Wherefore show toward them, and before the Churches the proof of your love, and of the rejoicing that we have of you.

9 1 Why, albeit he think well of their ready wills, 3 yet earnestly exhorteth them, 4 he yieldeth a reason: 6 He comareth alms to seed sowing, 10 which God doth repay with great gain.

1 For as touching the ministering to the Saints, it is superfluous for me to write unto you.
2 For I know your readiness of mind, wherof I boast myself of you unto them of Macedonia, and say, that Achaia was prepared a year ago, and your zeal hath provoked many.
3 Now have I sent the brethren, lest our rejoicing over you should be in vain in this behalf, that ye (as I have said) be ready.
4 Lest if they of Macedonia come with me, and find you unprepared, we (that we may not say, you) should be ashamed in this my constant boasting.
5 Wherefore, I thought it necessary to exhort the brethren to come before unto you, and to finish your benevolence appointed afore, that it might be ready, and come as of benevolence, and not as of niggardliness.
6 1This yet remember, that he which soweth sparingly, shall reap also sparingly, and he that soweth liberally, shall reap also liberally.
7 As every man wisheth in his heart, so let him give, not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver.
8 And God is able to make all grace to abound toward you, that ye always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound in every good work.
9 (As it is written, He hath sparsed abroad and hath given to the poor: his benevolence remaineth for ever.)
10 Also he that findeth seed to the sower, will minister likewise bread for food, and multiply your seed, and increase the fruits of your benevolence.) 11 That on all parts ye may be made rich unto all liberality, which causeth through us thanksgiving unto God.
12 1For the ministration of this service not only supplieth the necessities of the Saints, but also abundantly causeth many to give thanks to God,
13 (Which by the experiment of this ministration praise God for your voluntary submission to the Gospel of Christ, and for your liberal distribution to them, and to all men.)
14 And in their prayer for you, to long after you greatly, for the abundant grace of God in you.
15 1Thanks therefore be unto God for his unspeakable gift.

10 2 He showeth with what confidence, 4 with what weapons, 6 and with what revenge he is armed against the cavillations of the wicked, 7 that, when he is present, his deeds have no less power, 11 than his words have force when he is absent.

1 Now 1Paul myself beseech you by the meekness of Christ: 2 for I am meekest among you, and most modest in speech: 3 but I think not to be ignominious to you, 14 if I also speak according to the sense of others.
4 Wherefore, I do now write, not as if I lacked such confidence as is with me, 6 or if I had no such confidence as is with me, 10 in your eyes, that I might be bold in your to speak of the things which are against me.
5 For which cause, when I might have been absent, I did not at all minde to speak of the things which are against me, 6 to them which were absent, to shew them before you the things which I have determined to be.
ness, and "gentleness of Christ, which when I am present among you am base, but am bold toward you being absent:

2 And this I require you, that I need not to be bold when I am present, with that same confidence, whereby I think to be bold against some, which esteem us as though we walked "according to the flesh.

3 Nevertheless, though we walk in the flesh, yet we do not war after the flesh.

4 (For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through "God, to cast down holds.)

5 Casting down the imaginations, and every high thing that is exalted against the knowledge of God, 1and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ, 6And having ready the vengeance against all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.

7 "Look ye on things after the appearance? If any man trust in himself that he is Christ's, let him consider this again of himself, that as he is Christ's, even so are we Christ's.

8 For though I should boast somewhat more of our authority, which the Lord hath given us for edification, and not for your destruction, I should have no shame.

9 This I say, that I may not seem as it were to fear you with letters.

10 For the letters, saith "he, are sore and strong, but his bodily presence is weak, and his speech is of no value.

11 Let such one think this, that such as we are in word by letters, when we are absent, such will we be also in deed, when we are present.

12 "For we "dare not make ourselves of the number, or to compare ourselves to them, which praise themselves: but they understand not that they measure themselves with themselves, and "compare themselves with themselves.

13 But we will not rejoice of things, which are not within our measure, but according to the measure of the line, whereof God hath distributed unto us a measure to attain even unto you.

14 For we stretch not ourselves beyond our measure, as though we had not attained unto you: for even to you also have we come in preaching the Gospel of Christ.

15 Not boasting of things which are without our measure: that is, of other men's labors: and we hope, when your faith shall increase, to be magnified by you according to your line abundantly.

16 And to preach the Gospel in those regions which are beyond you: not to rejoice in another man's line: that is, in the things that are prepared already.

17 But let him that rejoiceth, rejoice in the Lord.

18 For he that praiseth himself, is not allowed, but he whom the Lord praiseth.
foolishness, and indeed, ye suffer me.

2 For I am jealous over you, with godly jealousy: for I have prepared you for one husband, to present you as a pure virgin to Christ:

3 But I fear lest as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtlety, so your minds should be corrupt from the simplicity that is in Christ:

4 For if he that cometh, preacheth another Jesus whom we have not preached: or if ye receive another spirit whom ye have not received: either another Gospel which ye have not received, ye might well have suffered him.

5 Verily I suppose that I was not inferior to the very chief Apostles.

6 And though I be rude in speaking, yet I am not so in knowledge, but among you we have been made manifest to the uttermost, in all things.

7 Have I committed an offence, because I abased myself, that ye might be exalted, and because I preached to you the Gospel of God freely?

8 I robbed other Churches, and took wages of them to do you service.

9 And when I was present with you, and had need, I was not slothful to the hindrance of any man: for that which was lacking unto me, the brethren which came from Macedonia, supplied, and in all things I kept, and will keep myself, that I should not be grievous unto you.

10 The truth of Christ is in me, that this rejoicing shall not be shut up against me in the regions of Achaia.

11 Wherefore? because I love you not? God knoweth.

12 But what I do, that will I do, that I may cut away occasion from them which desire occasion, that they might be found like unto us in that wherein they rejoice.

13 For such false apostles are deceitful workers, and transform themselves into the Apostles of Christ.

14 And no marvel: for Satan himself is transformed into an Angel of light.

15 Therefore it is no great thing, though his ministers transform themselves, as though they were the ministers of righteousness, whose end shall be according to their works.

16 I say again, Let no man think that I am foolish, or else take me even as a fool, that I also may boast myself a little.

17 That I speak, I speak it not after the Lord: but as it were foolishly, in this my great boasting.

18 Seeing that many rejoice after [the] flesh, I will rejoice also.

19 For ye suffer fools gladly, because that ye are wise.

20 For ye suffer fools gladly, even if a man bring you into bondage, if a man devour you, if a man take your goods, if a man exalt himself, if a man smite you on the face.

| 11:2 | 1 He speaketh as a wiser, but yet as one that seeketh them not for himself, but for God. |
|      | 2 To marry you together. |
| 11:3 | 1 This place is to be marked against them which loathe that plain and pure simplicity of the Scriptures, in comparison of the colors and paintings of man's eloquence. |
|      | 2 Which is meet for them that are in Christ. |
| 11:4 | 1 He sheweth that they deceive themselves, if they look to receive of any other man, either a more excellent Gospel, or more excellent gifts of the Holy Ghost. |
|      | 2 A more perfect doctrine of Jesus Christ. |
| 11:5 | 1 He refuseth the slanders of those Thrasoes. I grant, saith he, that I am not so eloquent an Orator, but yet they cannot take away the knowledge of the Gospel from me, whereof you have had good proof, and that every manner of way. |
|      | 2 Paul lacked not the kind of eloquence which is meet for a man, and fit for the Gospel, but he willingly wanted that painted kind of speech, which too many nowadays hunt after and follow. |
| 11:6 | 1 Another slander, to wit, that he was a rascal, and lived by the labor of his own hands. But herein, saith the Apostle, what can you lay against me, but that I was content to take any pains for your sakes, and when I lacked, to travail for my living with mine own hands in part, and partly also when poverty constrained me, I chose rather otherwise to seek my sustenance, than to be any burden to you, although I preached the Gospel unto you? |
| 11:7 | 1 An amplification: so far is he from being ashamed of this act, that he hath also resolved with himself to do no otherwise hereafter amongst them, to the intent that it may always be truly said, that he taught in Achaia for nothing: not that he disclaimeth the Corinthians, but that these Thrasoes may never find the occasion which they have already sought for, and he in the mean season may set something before them to follow, that at length they may truly say, that they are like to Paul. |
| 11:8 | 1 This is a form of an oath, as if he said, let me not be thought to have any truth in me. |
|      | 2 Shall be always open to me. |
| 11:9 | 1 Paul's adversaries sought all occasions they could, to be equal to him. And therefore seeing they had rather eat up the Corinthians, than preach to them for nothing, they sought another occasion, to wit, to make Paul to take something: which thing if he had done, then hoped they by that means to be equal to him: for they made such a show of zeal and knowledge, and set it forth with such a glossing kind of eloquence, that some of them even despised Paul: but he sheweth that all this is nothing but colors and painting. |
| 11:10 | 1 Now at length he pointeth out these fellows in their colors, forewarning that it will come to pass, that they will at length betray themselves, what countenance soever they make of zeal that they have to God's glory. |
| 11:11 | 1 By light is meant the heavenly glory, whereof the Angels are partakers. |
| 11:12 | 1 He goeth forward boldly, and using a vehement irony of kind of taunting, desireth the Corinthians to pardon him, if for a time he contended as a fool before them being wise, with those jolly fellows touching those eternal things, to wit, touching his stock, his ancestors and valiant acts. |
| 11:13 | 1 Before he cometh to the matter, he toucheth the Corinthians, who persuading themselves to very wise men, did not mark in the mean season that those false apostles abused their simplicity for advantage. |
21 I speak as concerning the reproach: as though that we had been weak: but wherein any man is bold (I speak foolishly) I am bold also.

22 They are Hebrews, so am I: they are Israelites, so am I: they are the seed of Abraham, so am I.

23 They are the ministers of Christ (I speak as a fool) I am more: in labors more abundant: in stripes above measure: in prison more plentifully: in death oft.

24 Of the Jews five times received I forty stripes save one.

25 I was thrice beaten with rods: I was once stoned: I suffered thrice shipwreck: night and day have I been in the deep sea.

26 In journeying I was often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils of mine own nation, in perils among the Gentiles, in perils in the city, in perils in wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren.

27 In weariness and painfulness, in watching often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and in nakedness.

28 Beside the things which are outward, I am cumbered daily, and have the care of all the Churches.

29 Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is offended, and I burn not?

30 If I must needs rejoice, I will rejoice of mine infirmities.

31 The God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which is blessed for evermore, knoweth that I lie not.

32 In Damascus the governor of the people under King Aretas, laid watch in the city of the Damascenes, and would have caught me.

33 But at a window was I let down in a basket through the wall, and escaped his hands.

12 1 He doth even unwillingly make rehearsal, 3 of the heavenly visions, 4 that were revealed unto him, 6 for which though he might indeed glory, yet he will not, 10 being privy of his own infirmities: 11 but they drive him to this kind of folly, 20 in that they give ear to certain vainglorious persons, who draw them from Christ.

1 It is not expedient for me no doubt to rejoice: for I will come to visions and revelations of the Lord.

2 I know a man in Christ above fourteen years ago, (whether he were in the body, I cannot tell, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth) which was taken up into the third heaven.

3 And I know such a man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth.)

4 How that he was taken up into Paradise, and heard words which cannot be spoken, which are not possible for man to utter.

5 Of such a man will I rejoice: of myself will I not rejoice, except it be of mine infirmities.

6 For though I would rejoice, I should not be a fool, for I will say the truth: but I refrain, lest any man should think of me above that he seeth in me, or that he heareth of me.

7 And lest I should be exalted out of measure which lift him up above the common capacity of men: but he useth a preface, and excuseth himself advisedly.

12:2 1 I speak this in Christ, that is, be it spoken without vainglory, for I seek nothing but Christ Jesus only.

2 Into the highest heaven: for we need not to dispute subtly upon the word (Third) but yet this place is to be marked against them which would make heaven to [be] everywhere.

12:4 3 So the Grecians name that which we call a park, that is to say, a place where trees are planted, and wild beasts kept, by which name they that translated the old Testament out of the Hebrew into Greek, called the garden Eden, whereunto Adam was put straight after his creation, as a most delicate and pleasant place. And hereunto grew it, that blessed seat of the glory of God is called by that name.

3 Which no man is able to utter.

4 Which the Saints themselves are not by any means able to express; because it is God himself. Thus doth Clement Alexandria expound this place, Strom. 5.

12:5 5 To remove all suspicion of ambition he witnesseth that he braggeth not of those things as his own, but as out of himself, and yet notwithstanding faineth nothing, lest by this occasion other men should attribute more unto him than indeed he is: and therefore he had rather glory in his miseries.

12:7 1 An excellent doctrine: why God will have even his best servants to be vexed of Satan and by all kinds of temptations, to wit, lest they should be too much puffed up, and also that they may be made perfect by that continual exercise.
through the abundance of revelations, there was given unto me a 'prick in the flesh, the messenger of Satan to buffet me, because I should not be exalted out of measure.

8 For this thing I besought the Lord thrice, that it might depart from me.

9 And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my power is made perfect through weakness.

Very gladly therefore will I rejoice rather in mine infirmities, that the power of Christ may dwell in me.

10 Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in anguish for Christ's sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong.

11 I was a fool to boast myself: ye have compelled me: for I ought to have been commended of you: for in nothing was I inferior unto the very chief Apostles, though I be nothing.

12 The signs of an Apostle were wrought among you with all patience, with signs, and wonders and great works.

13 For what is it, wherein ye were inferior unto other Churches, except that I have not been slothful to your hindrance? forgive me this wrong.

14 Behold, the third time I am ready to come unto you, and yet will I not be slothful to your hindrance: for I seek not yours, but you: for the children ought not to lay up for the fathers, but the fathers for the children.

15 And I will most gladly bestow, and will be bestowed for your souls: though the more I love you, the less I am loved.

16 But be it that I charged you not: yet for as much as I was crafty, I took you with guile.

17 Did I pill you by any of them whom I sent unto you?

18 I have desired Titus, and with him I have sent a brother: did Titus pill you of any things? walked we not in the selfsame spirit? walked we not in the same steps?

19 Again, think ye that we excuse ourselves unto you? we speak before God in Christ. But we do all things, dearly beloved, for your edifying.

20 For I fear lest when I come, I shall not find you such as I would: and that I shall be found unto you such as ye would not: and lest there be strife, envying, wrath, contentions, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, and discord.

21 I fear lest when I come again, my God abase me among you, and I shall bewail many of them which have sinned already, and have not repented of the uncleanness, and fornication, and wantonness which they have committed.

13 1 Coming the third time, he denounced the sharper vengeance toward them. 4 who have a perfect trial of the power of Christ in his Apostleship: 7 At length be prayeth for their repentance, 11 And wiseth them prosperity.

1 Lo this is the third time that I come unto you.

4 In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall every word stand.

2 I told you before, and tell ye before: as though I had been present the second time, so write I now being absent to them, which heretofore have sinned, and to all others, that if I come again, I will not spare,

3 Seeing that ye seek experience of Christ, that speaketh in me, which toward you is not weak, but

2 He meaneth concupiscence, that sticketh fast in us, as it were a prick, insomuch that it constrained Paul himself being regenerate, to cry out, I do not that good that I would, etc. And he calleth it a prick, by a borrowed kind of speech taken from thorns, or stumps, which are very dangerous and hurtful for the feet, if a man walks through woods that are cut down.

3 Which setteth those lusts on fire.

128 Def.

129 He concludeth, that he will only see his miseries against the vain brags of the false apostles, and therewith also excuseth himself, for that by their importance, he was constrained to speak so much of these things, as he did: to wit, because that if his Apostleship were subverted his doctrine must needs fall.

2 That I might feel the virtue of Christ more and more: For the mouth of two or three witnesses shall every word stand.

1201 Do not only take them patiently and with a good heart, but also take great pleasure in them.

1211 Again he maketh the Corinthians witnesses of those things whereby God had sealed his Apostleship amongst them, and again he desireth by certain arguments, how far he is from all covetousness, and also how he is affectioned towards them.

12:12 The arguments whereby it may well appear, that I am indeed an Apostle of Jesus Christ.

12:13 I was not slothful in getting my living with mine own hands, that I might not be burdensome to you.

12:16 He putteth away another most grievous slander, to wit, that he did subtly and by others, make his gain and profit of them.

12:19 He concludeth, that he writeth not these things unto them, as though he needed to defend himself, for he is guilty of nothing: but because it is behooved for them to doubt nothing of his fidelity who instructed them.

6 As it becometh him to speak truly and sincerely, that professeth himself to be in Christ, that is to say, to be a Christian.

12:20 Having confirmed his authority unto them, he rebuketh them sharply, and threateneth them also like an Apostle, showing that he will not spare them hereafter, unless they repent, seeing that this is the third time that he hath warned them.

13:3 A most sharp reprohension, for that, while they despise the Apostle's admonitions, they tempt Christ's own patience: and also while they condemn him as wretched and miserable, they lay nothing herein against him, which is not common to him with Christ.
is mighty in you.
4 For though he was crucified concerning his infirmity, yet liveth he through the power of God. And we no doubt are weak in him, but we shall live with him, through the power of God toward you.
5 Prove yourselves whether ye are in the faith: examine yourselves: know ye not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?
6 But I trust that ye shall know that we are not reprobates.
7 Now I pray unto God that ye do none evil, not that we should seem approved, but that ye should do that which is honest: though we be as reprobates.
8 For we cannot do anything against the truth, but for the truth.

9 For we are glad when we are weak, and that ye are strong: this also we wish for, even your perfection.
10 Therefore write I these things being absent, lest when I am present, I should use sharpness, according to the power which the Lord hath given me, to edification, and not to destruction.
11 Finally brethren, fare ye well: be perfect: be of good comfort: be of one mind: live in peace, and the God of love and peace shall be with you.
12 Greet one another with an holy kiss. All the Saints salute you.

13 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the holy Ghost be with you all, Amen.

¶ The second Epistle to the Corinthians, written from Philippi, a city in Macedonia, and sent by Titus and Lucas.

13:2 And will be most mighty to be revenged of you, when need shall be.
13:4 As touching that base form of a servant which he took upon him when he abased himself.
13:5 He confirmeth that which he spake of the virtue of God appearing in his ministry, and he gathereth by the mutual relation between the people’s faith and the minister’s preaching, that they must either reverence his Apostleship, upon whose doctrine their faith is grounded, or they must condemn themselves of infidelity, and must confess themselves not to be of Christ’s body.
13:6 He mitigateth that sharpness, trusting that they will show themselves towards their faithful Apostle, apt and willingly to be taught: adding this moreover, that he passeth not for his own fame and estimation, so that he may serve to their salvation, which is the only mark that he shooteth at.
13:7 In men’s judgment.
13:9 That all things may be in good order amongst you, and the members of the Church restored into their place, which have been shaken and out of place.
13:11 A brief exhortation, but yet such an one as comprehended all the parts of a Christian man’s life.
13:12 He saluteth them familiarly, and in conclusion wisheth well unto them.
THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE

PAUL TO THE

GALATIANS

1 IStraight after the salutation. 6 He reprehendeth the Galatians for revolting. 9 from his Gospel. 15 which he received from God. 17 before he had communicated with any of the Apostles.

1 Paul 1an Apostle (not 2of men, neither by 3man, but by 4Jesus Christ, and God the Father which hath raised him from the dead.)

2 And all the brethren which are with me unto the Churches of Galatia:

3 Grace be with you, and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ,

4 Which gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us 5from this present evil 6world according to the will of God even our Father,

5 To whom be glory forever and ever, Amen.

6 I marvel that ye are so soon 7removed away unto another Gospel, from him that had called you in the grace of Christ,

7 1Which is not another Gospel, save that there be some which trouble you, and intend to 2pervert the Gospel of Christ.

8 But though that we, or an Angel from heaven preach unto you otherwise than that which we have preached unto you, let him be 3accursed.

9 As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach unto you otherwise than that ye have received, let him be accursed.

10 1For now preach I 2man's doctrine, or God's? or go I about to please men? for if I should yet please men, I were not the servant of Christ.

11 2Now certify you, brethren, that the Gospel which was preached of me, was not after man.

12 For neither received I it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the 3revelation of Jesus Christ.

13 4For ye have heard of my conversation in time past, in the Jewish religion, how that 4I persecuted the Church of God extremely, and wasted it, 14 And profited in the Jewish religion above many of my companions of mine own nation, and was much more zealous of the traditions of my fathers.
15 But when it pleased God (which had ‘separated me from my mother’s womb, and called me by his grace.)
16 To reveal his Son 1 in me, that I should preach him among the Gentiles immediately, 2 I communicated not with flesh and blood:
17 Neither came I again to Jerusalem to them which were Apostles before me, but I went into Arabia, and turned again unto Damascus.
18 Then after three years I came again to Jerusalem, to visit Peter, and abide with him fifteen days.
19 And none other of the Apostles saw I, save James the Lord’s brother.
20 Now the things which I write unto you, behold,
I witness 1 before God, that I lie not.
21 After that, I went into the coasts of Syria and Cilicia: for I was unknown by face unto the Churches of Judea which were in Christ.
22 But they had heard only some say, He which persecuted us in time past, now preacheth the faith which before he destroyed.
23 And they glorified God for me.

2 1 That the Apostles did nothing disagree from his Gospel, 3 he declared by the example of Titus being uncircumcised. 11 and also by his . . . the same against Peter’s dissimulation. 17 And so he passeth to the handling of our free justification by Christ, etc.

1:14 1 He calleth them the traditions of his Fathers, because he was not only a Pharisee himself, but also had a Pharisee to his father.
1:15 1 He speaketh of God’s everlasting predestination, whereby he appointed him to be an Apostle, whereof he maketh three degrees, the everlasting counsel of God, his appointing from his mother’s womb, and his calling: here is no mention at all, we see, of works foreseen.
1:16 1 To me, and this is a kind of speech which the Hebrews use, whereby this is given us to understand, that this gift cometh from God.
2 Because it might be objected, that indeed he was called of Christ in the way, but afterwards was instructed of the Apostles and others, whose names (as I said before) the false apostles abused to destroy his Apostleship, as though he delivered another Gospel than the true Apostles did, and as though he were not of their number, which are to be credited without exception: therefore Paul answereth, that he began straightway after his calling to preach the Gospel at Damascus and in Arabia, and was not from that time in Jerusalem but only fifteen days, where he saw only Peter and James, and afterwards, he began to teach in Syria and Cilicia, with the consent and approbation of the Churches of the Jews, which knew him only by name, so far off was it, that he was there instructed of men.
3 With any man in the world.
1:20 1 This is a kind of an oath.
1:22 1 The doctrine of faith.
2:1 1 Now he sheweth how he agreeth with the Apostles with whom he granteth that he conferred touching his Gospel which he taught among the Gentiles, fourteen years after his conversion, and they allowed it in such sort, that they constrained not his fellow Titus to be circumcised, although some tormentcd themselves therein, which traitorously laid wait against him, but in vain: neither did they add the least iota that might be to the doctrine which he had taught among the Gentiles, fourteen years after his conversion, and he was of another opinion than the rest of the Apostles were, which it, but because there were certain reports cast abroad of him, that it, lest by any means I should run, or had run in vain:
3 But neither yet Titus which was with me, though he were a Grecian, was compelled to be circumcised,
4 To wit, for the false brethren which were craftily sent in, and crept in privily to spy out our liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage.
5 To whom we gave not place by subjection for an hour, that the truth of the Gospel might continue with you.
6 But by them which seemed to be great, I was not taught (whatsoever they were in time passed, I am nothing the better: ‘God accepteth no man’s person) for they that are the chief, did add nothing to me above that I had.
7 But contrariwise, when they saw that the Gospel over the uncircumcision was committed unto me, as the Gospel over the circumcision was unto Peter:
8 (For he that was mighty by Peter in the Apostleship over the circumcision, was also mighty by me toward the Gentiles.)
9 And when James, and Cephas, and John, knew of the grace that was given unto me, which are counted to be pillars, they gave to me and to Barnabas the right hands of fellowship, that we should preach unto the Gentiles, and they unto the circumcision.
10 Warning only that we should remember the poor: which thing also I was diligent to do.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to Antioch, I withstood him to his face: for he was to be condemned.

12 For before that certain came from James, he ate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew and separated himself, fearing them which were of the circumcision.

13 And the other Jews played the hypocrites likewise with him, insomuch that Barnabas was led away with them by that their hypocrisy.

14 But when I saw, that they went not the right way to the truth of the Gospel, I said unto Peter before all men, If thou being a Jew, livest as the Gentiles, and not like the Jews, why constrainest thou the Gentiles to do like the Jews?

15 We which are Jews by nature, and not sinners of the Gentiles,

16 Know that a man is not justified by the works of the Law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we, I say, have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the Law, because that by the works of the Law, no flesh shall be justified.

17 ¶ If then while we seek to be made righteous by Christ, we ourselves are found sinners, is Christ therefore the minister of sin? God forbid.

18 For if I build again the things that I have destroyed, I make myself a trespasser.

19 For I through the Law am dead to the Law, that I might live unto God.

20 I am crucified with Christ, but I live, yet not I anymore, but Christ liveth in me: and in that I now live in the flesh, I live by the faith in the Son of God, who hath loved me, and given himself for me.

21 ¶ I do not abrogate the grace of God: for if righteousness be by the Law, then Christ died without a cause.

3 1 He rebuketh them, for suffering themselves to be drawn from the grace of free justification in Christ, most loyal set out unto them. 6 He bringeth in Abraham's example, 10 declaring the effects, 21 and causes of the giving of the Law.

1 ¶O foolish Galatians, who hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey the truth, to whom Jesus Christ before was described in your sight, and among you crucified?

2 This only would I learn of you, Received ye the 1Spirit by the works of the Law, or by the hearing of 2faith preached?

3 1Are ye so foolish, that after ye have begun in the Spirit, ye would now be made perfect by the 2flesh?

4 1Have ye suffered so many things in vain? if so be it be even in vain.

5 1He therefore that ministereth to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth he it through the works of the Law, or by the hearing of faith preached?

6 1Yea rather as 2Abraham believed God, and it was 'imputed to him for righteousness.

7 1Know ye therefore, that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham.

8 1For the Scripture foreseeing, that God would justify the Gentiles through faith, preached before the Gospel unto Abraham, saying, 41In thee shall all the Gentiles be 'blessed.

9 1So then they which be of faith, are blessed with 2faithful Abraham.

10 1For as many as are of the works of the Law, are under the curse: 2For it is written, 'Cursed is every man that continueth not in all things, which are written in the book of the Law, to do them.

11 1And that no man is justified by the Law in the sight of God, it is evident: 4for the just shall live by faith.

12 1And the Law is not of faith: but 'the man that shall do those things, shall live in them.

13 1Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the Law; made a curse for us, (4for it is written, 2Cursed is everyone that hangeth on tree.)

14 1That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Christ Jesus, that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.

15 1Brethren, I speak as 2men do: 'though it be

3:2 1 Those spiritual graces and gifts, which were a seal as it were to the Galatians, that the Gospel which was preached to them was true.

2 Of the doctrine of faith.

3:3 1 The fourth argument mixed with [the former] and it is double, If the Law is to be joined with faith, this were not to go forward, but backward, seeing that those spiritual gifts which were bestowed upon you, are more excellent than any that could proceed from yourselves. And moreover, it should follow, that the Law is better than Christ, because it should perfect and bring to end that which Christ began only.

2 By the (flesh) he meaneth the ceremonies of the Law, against which he setteth the Spirit, that is, the spiritual working of the Gospel.

3:4 1 An exhortation by manner of upbraiding, that they do not in vain suffer so many conflicts.

3:5 1 He repeateth the third argument which was taken of the effects, because he had interlaced certain other arguments by the way.

3:6 1 The first argument which is of great force, and hath three grounds, The first, That Abraham was justified by faith, to wit, by free imputation of righteousness according to the promise apprehended by faith, as Moses doth most plainly witness.

2 See Rom. 4.

3:7 1 The second, that the sons of Abraham must be esteemed and accounted by faith.

3:8 1 The third, that all people that believe, are without exception, comprehended in the promise of the blessing.

2 A proof of the first and second grounds, out of the words of Moses.

3 Blessing in this place, signifieth the free promise by faith.

3:9 1 The conclusion of the fifth argument: Therefore as Abraham is blessed by faith, so are all his children (that is to say, all the Gentiles that believe) blessed, that is to say, freely justified.

2 With faithful Abraham, and not by faithful Abraham, to give us to understand that the blessing cometh not from Abraham, but from him, by whom Abraham and all his posterity is blessed.

3:10 1 The sixth argument, the conclusion whereof is also in the former verse taken of contraries, thus, They are accursed which are of the works of the Law, that is to say, which value their [righteousness] by the performance of the Law. Therefore they are blessed which are of faith, that is, they which have righteousness by faith.

2 A proof of the former sentence or proposition: and the proposition of this argument is this: Cursed is he that fulfilleth not the whole Law.

3:11 1 The second proposition with the conclusion: But no man fulfills the Law. Therefore no man is justified by the Law, or else, which seek righteousness by the works of the Law. And there is annexed also this manner of proof of the second proposition, to wit, Righteousness and life are attributed to faith. Therefore no man fulfilleth the Law.

3:12 1 Here is a reason shown of the former consequence: Because the law promiseth life to all that keep it, and therefore if it be kept, it justifieth and giveth life. But the Scripture attributing righteousness and life to faith, taketh it from the Law, seeing that faith justifieth by imputation, and the Law by the performing of the work.

3:13 1 A preventing of an objection: How then can they be blessed, whom the Law pronounceth to be accused? Because Christ sustained the curse which the Law laid upon us, that we might be quit from it.

2 A proof of the answer by the testimony of Moses.

3:14 1 A conclusion of all that was said before in the handling of the fifth and sixth reasons, to wit, that both the Gentiles are made partakers of the free blessing of Abraham in Christ, and also that the Jews themselves, of whose number the Apostle counteth himself to be, cannot obtain that promised grace of the Gospel, which he calleth the Spirit, but only by faith. And the Apostle doth severally apply the conclusion, both to the one and the other, preparing himself a way, to the next argument, whereby he declareth, that the one only seed of Abraham, which is made of all peoples can no otherwise be joined and grow up together, but by faith in Christ.

3:15 1 He putteth forth two general [rules] before the next argument, which is the seventh in order: That one is, that it is not lawful to break covenants and contracts which are justly made and according to Law amongst men, neither may anything be added unto them: The other is, that God did so make a covenant with Abraham, that he would gather together his children which consist both of Jews and Gentiles into one body (as appeareth by that which hath been said before.) For he did not say, that he would be the God of Abraham and of his seeds, (which things notwithstanding should have been said, if he had many and divers seeds, as the Gentiles apart and the Jews apart,) but that he would be the God of Abraham, and of his seed, as of one.

2 I will use an example which is common among you, that you may be ashamed you give not so much to God's covenants, as you do to man's.
but a man’s covenant, when it is confirmed, yet no man doth abrogate it, or addeth anything thereto, 16 Now to Abraham and his seed were the promises made. He saith not, and to the seeds, as speaking of many; but, And to thy seed, as of one, which is Christ.

17 And this I say, that the covenant that was confirmed afore of God in respect of Christ, the Law which was four hundred and thirty years after, cannot disannul, that it should make the promise of none effect.

18 For if the inheritance be of the Law, it is no more by the promise, but God gave it freely unto Abraham by promise.

19 Wherefore serveth the Law? It was added because of the transgressions, till the seed came, unto the which the promise was made: and it was ordained by angels in the hand of a mediator.

20 Now a mediator is not a mediator of one: but God is one.

21 Is the Law then against the promises of God? God forbid: For if there had been a Law which could have given life, surely righteousness should have been by the Law.

22 But the Scripture hath concluded all under sin, that the promise by the faith of Jesus Christ should be given to them that believe.

23 But before faith came, we were kept under the Law, as under a garrison, and shut up unto that faith, which should afterward be revealed.

24 Wherefore the Law was our schoolmaster to bring us to Christ, that we might be made righteous by faith.

25 But after that faith is come, we are no longer under a schoolmaster.

26 For ye are all the sons of God by faith, in Christ Jesus.
3:27 1 Using a general particle, lest the Jews at the least should not think themselves bound with the band of the Law, he pronounceth that Baptism is common to all believers, because it is a pledge of our adoption and inheritance of eternal life. 2 He setteth Baptism secretly against circumcision, which the false apostles so much bragged of. 3 The Church must put on Christ, as it were a garment, and be covered with him, that it may be thoroughly holy, and without blame.

3:28 1 You are all as one: and so in this great knot and conjunction signified.

4:1 1 He declareth that by another double similitude, which he said before concerning the keeper and schoolmaster. For he saith, that the Law, (that is, the whole government of God’s house according to the Law) was as it were a tutor or overseer appointed for a time, until such time as that protection and overseeing which was but for a time, being ended, we should at length come to be as our own liberty, and should live as children, and not as servants. Moreover, he sheweth by the way, that that governance of the Law, was as it were an ABC, and as certain principles in comparison of the doctrine of the Gospel.

4:2 1 This is added, because he that is always under a tutor or governor, may hardly be counted a freeman.

4:3 1 The Law is called rudiments, because that by the Law God instructed his Church as it were by rudiments, and afterward poured out his holy Spirit most plentifully in the time of the Gospel.

4:4 1 He uttereth and declareth many things at once, to wit, that this tutorship was ended at his time, that curious men may leave to ask, why that schoolmastership lasted so long. And moreover, that we are not sons by nature, but by adoption, and that in that Son of God, who therefore took upon him our flesh, that we might be made his brethren.

4:5 1 The adoption of the sons of God, is from everlasting, but is revealed and showed in the time appointed for it.

4:6 1 He sheweth that we are in such sort free and set at liberty, that we have his spirit, we are his sons, and if we are his sons, then are we free.

4:7 1 The holy Ghost, who is both of the Father and of the Son: but this is not to serve, but rather to enjoy true liberality, as it cometh sons and heirs.

4:8 1 By that that followeth he gathereth that that went before: for if we have his spirit, we are his sons, and if we are his sons, then are we free.

4:9 1 They are called impotent and beggarly ceremonies, being considered apart by themselves without Christ: and again, for that by that means they gave good testimony that they were beggars in Christ, when as notwithstanding, for men, to fall back from Christ to ceremonies, is nothing else, but to cast away riches, and to follow beggarly.

4:10 1 Be ye as I (for I am even as you) brethren, I beseech you: ye have not hurt me at all.

4:11 1 I am in fear of you, lest I have bestowed on you labor in vain.

4:12 1 I beseech you: ye have not hurt me at all.
15 What was then your felicity? for I bear you to wit, believers by the virtue of the holy Ghost which children (as wit, by the sacrifice of Christ) which begetteth children of promise, true heirs. The other was made in that high Jerusalem or in Zion (to shall at length be cast out of the house, as they that persecute the flesh were begotten: to wit, the Jews which seek righteousness by according to which covenant Abraham's children according to the promise and by grace only, and the first was not only not heir, and a stranger, and begat Isaac of Sarah a free woman by the virtue of God's promise and after a spiritual manner. Ishmael, by the common course of nature, of Hagar his bondmaid (as an Angel of God, yea, as Christ Jesus). 14 And the trial of me which was in my flesh, ye despised not, neither abhorred: but ye received me as an Angel of God, yea, as Christ Jesus. 13 For I am in doubt of you. 13 For the son of the servant shall not be heir with the son of the free woman. 13 For it is written, That Abraham had two sons, one by a servant, and one by a free woman. 13 But he which was of the servant, was born after the flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was born by promise. 13 For I am in doubt of you. 13 For the son of the servant shall not be heir with the son of the free woman. 13 But he which was of the servant, was born after the flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was born by promise. 13 For I am in doubt of you. 13 For the son of the servant shall not be heir with the son of the free woman. 13 But he which was of the servant, was born after the flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was born by promise. 13 For I am in doubt of you. 13 For the son of the servant shall not be heir with the son of the free woman. 13 But he which was of the servant, was born after the flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was born by promise. 13 For I am in doubt of you. 13 For the son of the servant shall not be heir with the son of the free woman. 13 But he which was of the servant, was born after the flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was born by promise.

9:20 And I would I were with you now, that I might again, until Christ be formed in you. 9:18 Therefore, brethren, we are after the manner of Isaac, children of the promise. 9:17 But as then he that was born after the flesh, persecuted him that was born after the Spirit, even so it is now. 9:16 For my ministry's sake. 9:15 What a talk was there abroad in the world amongst men, how they that believed of the circumcision against those which believed of the uncircumcision, was full of offense: 9:14 And the trial of me which was in my flesh, ye despised not, neither abhorred: but ye received me as an Angel of God, yea, as Christ Jesus. 9:13 For I am in doubt of you. 9:12 That of the servant, was born after the flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was born by promise. 9:11 For it is written, that Abraham had two sons, one by a servant, and one by a free woman. 9:10 But they that are for the Law, to whom the flesh and the blood, are destitute of the spirit. 9:9 And he saith, Why persecutest thou me, O man of Israel, for I was not sent but unto the Gentiles, and this doctrine to the Greeks. 9:8 To wit, that the heir of the promise, should be of the seed of Abraham. 9:7 Which thing also Abraham knew, when he was in the estate of the old age, and having been in fear and trembling, looked unto the heavens, and beheld the multitude of stars, and said, So shall my seed be. 9:6 And to Isaac he said, Thou art my firstborn, the firstbegotten of my seed: and the firstbegotten of the stock of Isaac. 9:5 For Ishmael was yet a young man, when his father Isaac was 13 years old; and the time of Isaac was not yet fulfilled, when God did promise to him seed. 9:3 That Ismael should be heir of all that Abraham's seed should receive. 9:2 For they are jealous over you for their own commodity. 9:1 For my ministry's sake. 9:1 For I am in doubt of you. 9:1 For I am in doubt of you. 9:1 For I am in doubt of you.

4:14 1 Those daily troubles wherewith the Lord tried me amongst you. 2 For my ministry's sake. 4:15 1 What a talk was there abroad in the world amongst men, how happy you were? 2 For they are jealous over you for their own commodity. 4:17 1 For I am in doubt of you. 2 That desire so greatly. 4:16 1 He setteth his own true and good love, which he earnestly bent towards them, against the naughty vicious love of the false apostles. 4:20 1 Use other words among you. 4:21 1 Because the false apostles always urged this, that unless the Gentiles were circumcised, Christ could profit them nothing at all, and this dissension of them which believed of the circumcision against them which believed of the uncircumcision, was full of offense: the Apostle, after divers arguments whereby he hath refuted their error, bringeth forth an allegory, wherein he saith the holy Ghost did procure and call back again the slavery of the Law, seeing that the times, and the diversity of the government. 4:24 1 These do represent and shadow forth. 2 They are called two covenants, one of the old Testament, and another of the New: which were not two indeed, but in respect of the times, and the diversity of the government. 3 He maketh mention of Sinai, because that covenant was made in that mountain, of which mountain Hagar was a shadow. 4:25 1 Look how the case standeth betwixt Hagar and her children, even so standeth it between Jerusalem and hers. 2 That is, Sinai. 4:26 1 Which is excellent, and of great account. 4:27 1 He sheweth that in this allegory, he hath followed the steps of Isaiah, who foretold that the Church should be made and consist of the children of barren Sarah, that is to say, of them which only spiritually should be made Abraham's children by faith, rather than of fruitful Hagar, even then preshowing the casting off of the Jews, and calling of the Gentiles. 3 She that is destroyed and wasted. 4:28 1 After the manner of Isaac who is the first begotten of the heavenly Jerusalem, as Israel is of the slavish Synagogue. 2 That seed, unto which the promise belongeth. 4:29 1 By the common course of nature. 2 By the virtue of God's promise and after a spiritual manner. 4:31 1 The conclusion of the former allegory, that we by no means procure and call back again the slavery of the Law, seeing that the children of the bondmaid shall not be heirs.
5:1 Having declared that we came of the free woman, he showeth the price of that freedom, 13 and how we should use the same. 16 that we may obey the Spirit, 19 and resist the flesh.

1 Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage.

2 “Behold, I Paul say unto you, that if ye be circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing.

3 For I testify again to every man, which is circumcised, that he is bound to keep the whole Law.

4 Ye are abjourned from Christ: whosoever are justified by the Law, ye are fallen from grace.

5 For we through the Spirit wait for the hope of righteousness through faith.

6 For in Jesus Christ neither circumcision availeth anything, neither uncircumcision, but faith which worketh by love.

7 Ye did run well: who did let you, that ye did not obey the truth?

8 It is not the persuasion of him that calleth you.

9 A little leaven doth leaven the whole lump.

10 I have trust in you through the Lord, that ye will be none otherwise minded: but he that troubleth you, shall bear his condemnation, whosoever he be.

11 And brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why do I yet suffer persecution? Then is the slander of the cross abolished.

12 Would to God they were even cut off from which do disquiet you.

13 For brethren, ye have been called unto liberty: only use not your liberty as an occasion unto the flesh, but by love serve one another.

14 For all the Law is fulfilled in one word, which is this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

15 If ye bite and devour one another, take heed lest ye be consumed one of another.

16 Then I say, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lusts of the flesh.

17 For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary to one another, so that ye cannot do the same things that ye would.

18 And if ye be led by the Spirit, ye are not under the Law.

52 1 Another obstestation wherein he plainly witnesseth that justification of works, and justification of faith cannot stand together, because no man can be justified by the Law, but he that doth fully and perfectly fulfill it. And he taketh the example of circumcision, because it was the ground of all the service of the Law, and was chiefly urged of the false Apostles.

2 Circumcision is in other places called the seal of righteousness, but here we must have consideration of the circumstance of the Baptism come in place of circumcision. And moreover Paul reasoneth according to the opinion that his enemies had of it, which made circumcision a piece of their salvation.

5:4 1 That is, as he himself expoundeth it afterwards, ye are fallen from grace.

That is, seek to be justified by the Law, for in deed no man is justified by the Law.

5:5 1 He privily compareth the new people with the old: for it is certain that they also did ground all their hope of justification and life in faith and not in circumcision, but so, that their faith was wrapped in the external and ceremonial worship: but our faith is bare and content with spiritual worship.

2 Through the Spirit, which engendereth faith.

5:6 1 He addeth a reason for that now circumcision is abolished, seeing that Christ is exhibited unto us with full plenty of spiritual circumcision.

2 He maketh mention also of uncircumcision, lest the Gentiles should please themselves in it, as the Jews do in circumcision.

3 The taking away of an objection: If all that worship of the Law be taken away, wherein then shall we exercise ourselves? In charity, saith Paul: for faith, whereof we speak, cannot be idle, nay it bringeth forth daily fruits of charity.

4 So is true faith distinguished from counterfeit faith: for charity is not joined to faith as a fellow cause, to help forward our justification with faith.

5:7 1 Again he chideth the Galatians, but with an admonition, and therewithal a praise of their former race, to the end that he may make them more ashamed.

5:8 1 He playeth the part of an Apostle with them, and useth his authority, denialg that that doctrine can come from God which is contrary to his.

2 Of God.

5:9 1 He addeth this, that he may not seem to contend upon a trifle, warning them diligently (by a similitude which he borroweth of leaven, as Christ himself also did) not to suffer the purity of the Apostolical doctrine, to be infected with the least corruption that may be.

5:10 1 He mitigateth the former reprehension, casting the fault upon the false Apostles, against whom he denouncheth the horrible judgment of God.

5:11 1 He willeth them to consider how that he seeketh not his own profit in this matter, seeing that he could eschew the hatred of men, if he would join Judaism with Christianity.

5:12 1 An example of a true Pastor inflamed with the zeal of God’s glory and love of his flock.

For they that preach the Law, cause men’s consciences always to tremble.

5:13 1 The third part of this Epistle, showing that the right use of Christian liberty consisteth in this, that being delivered from the slavery of sin and the flesh, and being obedient to the Spirit, we should serve unto one another’s salvation through love.

5:14 1 He propoundeth the love of our neighbor, as a mark whereby all Christians ought to refer all their actions, and therefore he citeth the testimony of the Law.

2 This particle (All) must be restrained to the second table.

5:15 1 An exhortation to the duties of charity, by the profit that ensueth thereof, because that no men provide worse for themselves, than they that hate one another.

5:16 1 He acknowledgeth the great weakness of the godly, for that they are but in part regenerate: but he willeth them to remember that they are endued with the Spirit of God, which hath delivered them from the slavery of sin, and so of the Law so far forth as it is the virtue of sin, that they should not give themselves to lusts.

5:17 1 For the flesh dwelleth even in the regenerate man, but the Spirit reigneth although not without great strife, as is largely set forth, Rom. 7.
19 Moreover the works of the flesh are manifest, which are adultery, fornication, uncleanness, wantonness, 20 Idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, debate, emulation, wrath, contentions, seditions, heresies,
21 Envy, murders, drunkenness, glutony, and such like, whereof I tell you before, as I also have told you before, that they which do such things, shall not inherit the kingdom of God.
22 But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, 23 Meekness, temperancy: against such there is no law.
24 For they that are Christ’s, have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts.
25 If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit.
26 Let us not be desirous of vainglory, provoking one another, envying one another.

6 1 Now he entreateth particularly of charity toward such as offend, toward the Ministers of the word, and those that are of the household of faith: Not like unto such who have a counterfeit zeal of the Law, glorifying in the mangleing of the flesh, and not in the cross of Christ.

1 Brethren, If a man be suddenly taken in any offense, ye which are spiritual, restore such one with the spirit of meekness, considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted.
2 Bear ye one another’s burden, and so fulfill the law of Christ.
3 For if any man seem to himself, that he is somewhat, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself in his imagination.
4 But let every man prove his own work: and then shall he have rejoicing in himself only and not in another.
5 For every man shall bear his own burden.
6 Let him that is taught in the word, make him that hath taught him, partaker of all his goods.
7 Be not deceived: God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.
8 For he that soweth to his flesh, shall of the flesh reap corruption: but he that soweth to the spirit, shall of the spirit reap life everlasting.
9 Let us not therefore be weary of well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.
10 While we therefore time, let us do good unto all men, but especially unto them, which are of the household of faith.

¶ Ye see how large a letter I have written unto you with mine own hand.

5:19 1 He setteth out that particularly, which he spake generally, reckoning up some chief effects of the flesh, and opposing them to the fruits of the Spirit, that no man may pretend ignorance.
5:22 1 Therefore, they are not the fruits of free will, but so far forth as our will is made free by grace.
5:23 1 Lest that any man should object, that Paul played the Sophister, as one who urging the Spirit, urgeth nothing but that which the Law commandeth, he showeth that he requireth not that liberal and outward obedience, but spiritual, which proceedeth which the Law commandeth, he showeth that he requireth not
2 1 turbois of men to teach others, but of the Spirit of Christ, which doth beget us, that is, by holiness of life.
3 It is meet that masters should be sound by their scholars, so far as we are able.
4 But let every man prove his own work: and let him that is instructed in the word, make others, which are not ashamed to pretend this and that, partakers of his goods.
5:25 1 If we be indeed endowed with the quickening Spirit, which causeth us to die to sin, and live to God, let us show it in our deeds, that is, by holiness of life.
5:26 1 He addeth peculiar exhortations according as he knew the Galatians subject to divers vices: and first of all he warneth them to take heed of ambition, which vice hath two fellows, backbiting and envy, out of which two it cannot be but many contentions must needs arise.
6:1 1 He condemneth importunate rigor, because that brotherly reprehensions ought to be moderated and tempered by the spirit of meekness.
2 Through the malice of the flesh and the devil.
3 Which are upheld by the virtue of God’s Spirit.
4 Labor to fill up that which thou wantest in him.
5 This is a kind of speech which the Hebrews use, giving to understand thereby, that all good gifts come from God.
6 He toucheth the fore: for they commonly are most severe judges, which forget their own infirmities.
7 He sheweth that this is the end of reprehensions, to raise up our brother which is fallen, and not proudly to oppress him. Therefore everyone must seek to have commendation of his own life by approving of himself, and not by reprehending others.

2 Christ, in plain and flat words, calleth the commandment of charity, his commandment.
6:5 1 A reason wherefore men ought to have the greatest eye upon themselves, because that every man shall be judged before God according to his own life, and not by comparing himself with other men.
6:6 1 It is meet that masters should be sound by their scholars, so far forth as they are able.
2 Of whatsoever he hath, according to his ability.
6:7 1 He commendeth liberality towards the poor, and first of all chideth them which were not ashamed to pretend this and that, and afterwards compareth alms to a spiritual sowing, which shall have a most plentiful harvest, so that it shall be very profitable: and compareth covetous niggardliness to a carnal sowing, whereof nothing can be gathered but such things as fade away, and perish by and by.
6:8 1 To the commodities of this present life.
6:9 1 Against such as are liberal at the beginning, but continue not, because the harvest seemeth to be deferred very long, as though the seed time and the harvest were at one instant.
6:10 1 They that are of the household of faith, that is, such as are joined with us in the profession of one selfsame religion, ought to be preferred before all others, yet so notwithstanding that our liberality extends to all.
6:11 1 The fourth and last part of the Epistle, wherein he returneth to his principal end and purpose: to wit, that the Galatians should not suffer themselves to be led out of the way by the false apostles: and he pointeth out those false apostles in their colors, reproving them of ambition, as men that do not that which they do, for any affection and zeal they have to the Law, but only for this purpose, that they may purchase themselves favor amongst their own sort, by the circumcision of the Galatians.
GALATIANS 6:12

12 As many as desire to make a fair show in the flesh, they constrain you to be circumcised, only because they would not suffer persecution for the cross of Christ.

13 For they themselves which are circumcised keep not the Law, but desire to have you circumcised, that they might rejoice in your flesh.

14 But God forbid that I should rejoice, but in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, whereby the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world.

15 For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth anything, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature.

16 And as many as walk according to this rule, peace shall be upon them, and mercy, and upon the Israel of God.

17 From henceforth let no man put me to business: for I bear, in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus.

18 Brethren, the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit, Amen.

¶ Unto the Galatians written from Rome.

6:12 1 He setteth a far show against the truth.
2 In keeping of ceremonies.
3 For the preaching of him that was crucified.

6:13 1 That they have entangled you in Judaism, and yet he harpeth on the form of circumcision.

6:14 1 He sticketh not to compare himself with them, showing that on the contrary part he rejoiceth in those afflictions which he suffereth for Christ’s sake, and as he is despised of the world, so doth he in like sort esteem the world as naught: which is the true circumcision of a true Israelite.
2 When Paul useth this word in good sense of part, it signifieth to rest a man’s self wholly in a thing, and to content himself therewith.

6:16 1 Upon the true Israel, whose praise is of God and not of men, Rom. 2:19.

6:17 2 Continuing still in the same metaphor, he opposeth his miseries and the marks of those stripes which he bare for Christ’s sake, against the scar of the outward circumcision, as a true mark of his Apostleship.
3 Marks which are burnt into a man’s flesh, as they used in old times, to mark their servants that had run away from them.

6:18 1 Taking his farewell of them, he wisheth them grace, and the Spirit against the deceits of the false apostles, who labored to beat those outward things into their brains.
2 With your minds and hearts.
1:1 1 The inscription and salutation, whereof we have spoken in the former Epistles.
2 2 This is the definition of the Saints, showing what they are.
1:3 1 The first part of the Epistle, wherein he handleth all the parts of our salvation, propounding the example of the Ephesians, and using divers exhortations, and beginning after his manner with thanksgiving.
2 2 The efficient cause of our salvation is God, not considered confusedly and generally, but as the father of our Lord Jesus Christ.
3 3 Another final cause more near, is our justification, while that he freely accounteth us for just in his Son.
4 4 As he hath chosen us in 2him, before the foundation of the world, 3that we 4should 5be holy, and without blame 6before him in love:

1:6 1 To the praise of the glory of his grace, 2wherewith he hath made us freely accepted in 3his beloved.
7 7 By whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins, according to his rich grace:
8 8 Whereby he hath been abundant toward us in 3all wisdom and understanding.
9 9 And hath opened unto us the 1mystery of his will 2according to his good pleasure, which he hath purposed in him,

1:7 1 An expounding of the material cause, how we are made acceptable to God in Christ, for it is he only, whose sacrifice by the mercy of God is imputed unto us, for the forgiveness of sin.
1:8 1 Now he cometh at length to the formal cause, that is to say, to vocation or preaching of the Gospel, whereby God executeth that eternal counsel of our free reconciliation and salvation in Christ. And putting in place of the Gospel all wisdom and understanding, he showeth how excellent it is.
2 2 By which gracious goodness and bountifulness.
3 3 In perfect and sound wisdom.
1:9 1 For unless the Lord had opened unto us that mystery, we could never have so much as dreamed of it ourselves.
2 2 Not only the election, but also the vocation proceedeth of meer grace.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE Ephesians

CHAPTER 1

1 After the salutation, 4 he entreateth of the free election of God, 5 and adoption. 7, 13 from whence man's salvation floweth, as from the true and natural fountain: and because so high a mystery cannot be understood. 16 he prayeth that the full. 20 knowledge of Christ, may by God be revealed unto the Ephesians.

1 Paul 1 an Apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, to the 2Saints, which are at Ephesus, and to the 3faithful in Christ Jesus:
2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and 3from the Lord Jesus Christ.
3 1Blessed be God, 2and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, 3which hath blessed us, with 4all spiritual blessing in 5heavenly things in 6Christ, 4 1As he hath chosen us in 2him, before the 10 That in the dispensation of the fullness of the times, he might gather together in one all things, both which are in heaven, and which are in earth, even in Christ:

11 In whom also we are chosen, when we were predestinated according to the purpose of him, which worketh all things after the counsel of his own will,

12 That we, which first trusted in Christ, should be unto the praise of his glory:

13 In whom also ye have trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, even the Gospel of your salvation, wherein also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with the holy Spirit of promise, 14 Which is the earnest of our inheritance, for the redemption that liberty purchased unto the praise of his glory.

15 Therefore also after that I heard of the faith, which ye have in the Lord Jesus, and love toward all the Saints,

16 I cease not to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers,

17 That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, that Father of glory, might give unto you the Spirit of wisdom, and revelation through the knowledge of him,

18 That the eyes of your understanding may be enlightened, that ye may know what the hope is of his calling, and what the riches of his glorious inheritance is in the Saints,

19 And what is the exceeding greatness of his power toward us, which believe, according to the working of his mighty power,

20 Which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his right hand in the heavenly places,

21 Far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every Name, that is named, not in this world only, but also in that that is to come,

22 And hath made all things subject under his feet, and hath given him over all things to be the head to the Church,

23 Which is his body, even the fullness of him that filleth all in all things.

1:10 1 The Father exhibiteth and gave Christ, who is the head of all the elect unto the world, at that time which was convenient, according as he most wisely disposed all times from everlasting. And Christ is he in whom all the elect from the beginning of the world, (otherwise wandering and separated from God) are gathered together: of which some were then in heaven when he came into the earth, (to wit, such as by faith in him to come, were gathered together) and others being found upon the earth, were gathered together of him, and the rest are daily gathered together.

2 The faithful are said to be gathered together in Christ, because they are joined together with him through faith, and become as it were one man.

1:11 1 He applieth severally the benefit of vocation to the believing Jews, going back to the very fountain, that even they also may not attribute their salvation neither to themselves, nor to their stock, nor to any other thing, but to the only grace and mercy of God, both because they were called, and also because they were first called.

2 All things are attributed to the grace of God without exception, and yet for all that, we are not stocks, for he giveth us grace both to will and to be able to do those things that are good, Phil. 2:13.

1:12 1 He speaketh of the Jews.

1:13 1 Now he maketh the Ephesians (or rather all the Gentiles) equal to the Jews, because that notwithstanding they came last, yet being called by the same Gospel, they embraced it by faith, and were sealed up with the same spirit, which is the pledge of election, until the inheritance itself be seen, that in them also also the glory of God might shine forth, and be manifested.

2 That word which is truth indeed, because it cometh from God.

3 This is a borrowed kind of speech taken of a seal, which being put to anything, maketh a difference between those things that are authentic, and others that are not.

4 With that Spirit, which bringeth not the Law, but the promise of free adoption.

1:14 1 Full and perfect.

1:15 1 He returneth to the former gratulation, concluding two things together of those things that went before: the first is, that all good things come to us from God the Father in Christ, and by Christ, that for them he may be praised of us. The second is that all those things (which he bringeth to two heads, to wit, faith and charity) are increased in us by certain degrees, so that we must desire increase of his grace from whom we have the beginning, and of whom we hope for the end.

1:17 1 The causes of faith are God the Father lightening our minds with his holy spirit, that we may embrace Christ opened unto us in the Gospel, to the obtaining of everlasting life, and the setting forth of God's glory.

2 Full of majesty.

3 For it is not enough for us to have known God once, but we must know him every day more and more.

1:18 1 What blessings they are which he calleth you to hope for whom he calleth to Christ.

1:19 1 The excellency of faith is declared by the effects, because the mighty power of God is set forth and shown therein.

1:20 1 The Apostle willeth us to behold in our most glorious Christ with the eye of faith, that most excellent power and glory of God, whereof all the faithful are partakers, although it be as yet very dark in us, by reason of the ignominy of the cross and the weakness of the flesh.

2 To be set on God's right hand, is to be partaker of the sovereignty which he hath over all creatures.

1:21 1 Everything whatsoever it be, or above all things be they of never such power or excellency.

1:22 1 That we should not think that that excellent glory of Christ is a thing wherewith we have nought to do, he witnessing, that he was appointed of God the Father the head of all the Church, and therefore the body must be joined to his head, which otherwise should be a maimed thing without the members: which notwithstanding is not of necessity (seeing that the Church is rather quickened and sustained by the only virtue of Christ, so far off is it, that he needeth the fullness thereof) but of the infinite goodwill and pleasure of God, who vouchsaeth to join us to his Son.

2 In somuch that there is nothing but is subject to him.

1:23 1 For the love of Christ is so great toward the Church, that though he do fully satisfy all with all things, yet he esteemeth himself but a maimed and unperfect head, unless he have the Church joined to him as his body.
2 1 The better to set out the grace of Christ, he used a comparision, calling them to mind, 5 that they were altogether castaways and aliens, 8 that they are saved by grace, 15 and brought near, 16 by reconciliation through Christ, 17 published by the Gospel.

1 And 4 as you have been quickened, that were 2 dead in trespasses and sins,
2 1 Wherein, in times past ye walked, 2 according to the course of this world, and 4 after the prince that ruleth in the air, even the spirit, that now 4 worketh in the children of disobedience,
3 1 Among whom we also had our conversation in time past in the lusts of our flesh, in fulfilling the will of the flesh, and of the mind, and 4 were by nature the children of wrath, as well as 2 others.
4 1 But God which is rich in mercy, through his great love wherewith he loved us,
5 Even when we were dead by sins, hath quickened us together in Christ, by whose grace ye are saved, 6 And hath raised us up 1 together, and made us sit together in the heavenly places in Christ Jesus, 7 That he might show in the ages to come the exceeding riches of his grace through his kindness toward us in Christ Jesus.
8 For by grace are ye saved through faith, and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God, 9 1 Not of works, lest any man should boast himself.

10 For we are 1 his workmanship created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath ordained, that we should walk in them.
11 1 Wherefore remember that ye being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, and 4 called uncircumcision of them, which are 4 called circumcision in the flesh, made with hands,
12 That ye were, I say, at that time 1 without Christ, and were 4 aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and were 4 strangers from the covenants of promise, and had no hope, and were without God in the world.
13 1 But now in Christ Jesus, ye which once were far off, are made near by the blood of Christ.
14 1 For he is our peace, which hath made of both one, and hath broken the stop of the partition means he beareth this into their heads, that the efficient cause of this benefit is the free mercy of God: and Christ himself is the material cause: and faith is the instrument which also is the free gift of God:
and the end is God's glory.
26 1 To wit, as he addeth afterward in Christ, for as yet this is not fulfilled in us, but only in our head, by whose spirit we have begun to die to sin, and live to God, until that work be fully brought to an end:
but yet the hope is certain, for we are as sure of that we look for:
as we are of that we have received already.
28 1 So then, Grace, that is to say, the gift of God, and faith, do stand together, and are two in one, which two these are contrary, To be saved by ourselves, or by our works. Therefore what mean they which would join together things of so contrary nature?
29 1 He taketh away expressly and namely from our works the praise of justification, seeing that the good works themselves are the effects of grace in us.
2:10 1 He speaketh here of grace, and not of nature: therefore be the works never so good, look what they are, they are it of grace.
2:11 1 Applying the former doctrine to the Gentiles, he showeth that they were not only as the Jews, by nature, but also after an especial sort, strangers and without God: and therefore they ought so much the rather remember that same so great a benefit of God.
2 4 You were called no otherwise than Gentiles, that all the world might witness of your uncleanness.
3 Of the Jews which were known from you by the mark of circumcision, the mark of the covenant.
2:12 1 He beginneth first with Christ, who was the end of all the promises.
4 You had no right or title, to the common wealth of Israel.
2:13 1 Christ is the only bond of the Jews and Gentiles, whereby they be reconciled to God.
2:14 1 As by the ceremonies and worship appointed by the Law, the Jews were divided from the Gentiles, so now Christ, having broken down the partition wall, joineth them both together, both in himself, and betwixt themselves, and to God. Whereby it followeth, that whosoever established the ceremonies of the Law, maketh the grace of Christ void and of none effect.

2:1 1 He declareth again the greatness of God's good will, by com-pairing that miserable state wherein we are born, with that dignity whereunto we are advanced by God the Father in Christ. So he describeth that condition in such sort, that he saith, that touching whereinto we are advanced by God the Father in Christ. So he paring that miserable state wherein we are born, with that dignity whereunto we are advanced by God the Father in Christ.
2:2 1 He proveth by the effects that all were spiritually dead.
2 He proveth this evil to be universal, insomuch as all are slaves of Satan.
3 At the pleasure of the prince.
4 Men are therefore slaves to Satan, because they are willingly rebellious against God.
5 They are called the children of disobedience, which are given to disobedience.
2:3 1 After that he hath severally condemned the Gentiles, he con-fesseth that the Jews, amongst whom he numbereth himself, are not a whit better.
2 By the name of flesh in the first place, he meaneth the whole man, which he divideth into two parts: into the flesh, which is the part that the Philosophers term without reason, and into the thought, which they call reasonable: so that he leaveth nothing in man half dead, but concludeth that the whole man is of nature the son of wrath.
3 The conclusion: All men are born subject to the wrath and curse
of God.
4 Men are said to be children of wrath passively, that is to say, guilty of everlasting death by the judgment of God, who is angry with them.
5 Profane people which knew not God.
2:4 1 Now hereof followeth another member of the comparison, declaring our excellency, to wit, that by the virtue of Christ we are delivered from that death, and made partakers of eternal life, to the end that at length we may reign with him. And by divers and sundry wall,
15 In abrogating through his flesh the hatred, that is, the Law of commandments which standeth in ordinances, for to make of twain one new man in himself, so making peace,
16 And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by his cross, and slay hatred thereby, 17 And came, and preached peace to you which were afar off, and to them that were near.
18 For through him we both have an entrance unto the Father by one Spirit.
19 Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners: but citizens with the Saints, and of the household of God. 20 And are built upon the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief cornerstone,
21 In whom all the building coupled together, growth unto an holy Temple in the Lord.
22 In whom ye also are built together to be the habitation of God by the Spirit.

3 1 He declareth that therefore he suffered many things of the Jews. 3 because he preached the mystery touching the salvation of the Gentiles, 8 at God's commandment. 13 After he desired the Ephesians not to faint for his afflictions. 14 And for this cause he prayeth unto God, 18 that they may understand the great love of Christ.
1 For this cause, I Paul am the prisoner of Jesus Christ for you Gentiles.
2 If ye have heard of the dispensation of the grace of God, which is given me to youward,
1 Therefore, being prisoner in the Lord, pray you that ye walk worthy of the vocation whereunto ye are called,

3:16 1 According to the greatness of his mercy.

3:18 1 Wherewith God loveth us, which is the root of our election.

3:19 1 Which God hath shewed us in Christ.

4:1 Another part of the Epistle containing precepts of Christian life, the sum whereof is this, that every man behave himself as it is meet for so excellent grace of God.

4:2 Secondly, he commendeth meekness of the mind, which is shown forth by bearing one with another.

4:3 Thirly, he requireth perfect agreement, but yet such as is knit with the band of the holy Ghost.

4:4 An argument of great weight, for an earnest entertaining of our consent and submission to God, and to one another.

4:5 Who only hath the chief authority over the Church.

4:6 1 Who only hath the chief authority over the Church.

4:8 1 A multitude of captives.

4:9 1 Down to the earth, which is the lowest part of the world.

4:10 Fill with his gifts.

4:11 First of all he reckoneth up the Ecclesiastical functions, which are partly extraordinary and for a season, as Apostles, Prophets, Evangelists, and partly ordinary and perpetual, as Pastors and Doctors.

4:12 1 He sheweth the end of Ecclesiastical functions, to wit, that by the ministry of men all the Saints may so grow up together, that they may make one mystical body of Christ.

4:16 That he might grant you according to the riches of his glory, that ye may be strengthened by his Spirit in the inner man.

4:17 That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith:

4:18 That ye, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all Saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height:

4:19 And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye may be filled with all fulness of God.

4:20 Unto him therefore that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us,

4:21 Be praise in the Church by Christ Jesus, throughout all generations forever, Amen.

Who only is joined together with us in Christ.

He teacheth us, that we indeed are all one body, and that all good gifts proceed from Christ only, who reigneth in heaven having mightily conquered all his enemies (from whence he heapeth good gifts upon his Church:) but yet notwithstanding these gifts are diversely and sundry ways divided according to his will and pleasure, and therefore every man ought to be content with that measure that God hath given him, and to bestow it to the common profit of the whole body.

Which Christ hath given.

A multitude of captives.

Down to the earth, which is the lowest part of the world.

Fill with his gifts.

The Church.

First of all he reckoneth up the Ecclesiastical functions, which are partly extraordinary and for a season, as Apostles, Prophets, Evangelists, and partly ordinary and perpetual, as Pastors and Doctors.

The Apostles were those twelve, unto whom Paul was afterward added, whose office was to plant Churches throughout all the world.

The Prophet’s office was one of the chiefest, which were men of marvellous wisdom, and some of them could foretell things to come.

These the Apostles used as fellows in the execution of their office, being not able to answer all places themselves.

Pastors are they which govern the Church, and Teachers are they which govern the Schools.

He sheweth the end of Ecclesiastical functions, to wit, that by the ministry of men all the Saints may so grow up together, that they may make one mystical body of Christ.

The Church. of Christ,
13 1Till we all meet together (in the unity of faith and that acknowledging of the Son of God) unto a perfect man, and unto the measure of the age the fulness of Christ,
14 1That we henceforth be no more children, wavering and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the deceit of men, and with craftiness, whereby they lay in wait to deceive.
15 1But let us follow the truth in love, and in all things, grow up into him, which is the head, that is, Christ.
16 1By whom all the body being coupled and knit together by every joint, for the furniture thereof (according to the effectual power, which is in the measure of every part) receiveth increase of the body, unto the edifying of itself in love.
17 1This I say therefore and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in vanity of their mind.
18 1Having their understanding darkened, and being strangers from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the hardness of their heart:
19 1Which being past feeling, have given themselves unto wantonness, to work all uncleanness, even with greediness.
20 1But ye have not so learned Christ,
21 1If so be ye have heard him, and have been taught by him, as the truth is in Jesus,
22 1That is, that ye cast off, concerning the conversation in time past, that old man, which is corrupt through the deceivable lusts,
23 1And be renewed in the spirit of your mind,
24 1And put on the new man, which after God is created unto righteousness, and true holiness.
25 1Wherefore cast off lying, and speak every man truth unto his neighbor: for we are members one of another.
26 1Be angry, but sin not: let not the sun go down upon your wrath, 27 1Neither give place to the devil.

4:13 1The use of this ministry is perpetual so long as we are in this world, that is, until that time that having put off the flesh, and thoroughly and perfectly agreeing betwixt ourselves, we shall be joined with Christ our head. Which thing is done by that knowledge of the Son of God increasing in us, and he himself by little and little growing up in us until we come to be a perfect man, which shall be in the world to come, when God shall be all in all. 2 In that most near conjunction which is knit and fastened together by faith.
3 Christ is said to grow up to full age, not in himself, but in us.
4:14 1Betwixt our childhood (that is to say, a very weak state, while as we do yet altogether waiver) and our perfect form, which we shall have at length in another world, there is a mean, to wit, our youth, and steady going forward to perfection.
2 He compareth them which rest not themselves upon the word of God, to little boats which are tossed hither and thither with the doctrines of men, as it were with contrary winds, and therewithall forewarneth them that it cometh to pass not only by the lightness of man's brain, but also by the craftiness of certain, which make as it were an art of it.
3 With those uncertain chances which toss men to and fro.
4 By the deceit of those men which are very well practised in deceiving of others.
4:15 1By earnest affection of the truth and love, we grow up into Christ: for he (being effectual by the ministry of his word, which as the vital spirit doth so quicken the whole body, that it nourisheth all the limbs thereof according to the measure and proportion of each one) quickeneth and cherisheth his Church, which consisteth of divers functions, as of divers members, and preserveth the proportion of every one. And thereof it followeth that neither this body can live without Christ, neither can any man grow up spiritually, which separateth himself from the other members.
4:16 1Of Christ, who in manner of the soul, quickeneth all the members. 2 Such increase as is meet the body should have.
3 Charity is the knitting of the limbs together.
4:17 1He descendeth to the fruits of Christian doctrine, and reasoneth first upon the principles of manners and actions, setting down a most grave comparison between the children of God, and them which are not regenerate. For in these men, all the powers of the mind are corrupted and their mind is given to vanity, and their senses are darkened with most gross mistiness, and their affections are so accustomed by little and little to wickedness, that at length they run headlong into all uncleanness, being utterly destitute of all judgment.
2 If the noblest parts of the soul be corrupt, what is man but corruption only?
4:18 1Whereby God liveth in them.
4:19 1Void of all judgment.
2 They strive to pass one another as though there had been some gain to be gotten by it.
4:20 1Here followeth the contrary part touching men which are regenerate by the true and lively knowledge of Christ, which have other principles of their doings far different, to wit, holy and honest desires, and a mind clean changed by the virtue of the holy Ghost, from whence proceed also like effects, as a just and holy life indeed.
4:21 1As they have learned which acknowledge Christ indeed, and in good earnest.
4:22 1Yourselves.
4:23 1Where there ought to have been the greatest force of reason, there is the greatest corruption of all which wasteth all things.
4:24 1After the image of God.
2 The effect and end of the new creation.
3 Not fained nor counterfeit.
4:25 1He commendeth severally certain peculiar Christian virtues, and first of all he requireth truth (that is to say, sincere manners) condemning all deceit and dissembling, because we are born one for another.
4:26 1He teacheth us to bridle our anger in such sort, that although it be not, yet that it break not out, and that it be straightforward quenched before we sleep, lest Satan taking occasion to give us evil counsel through the wicked counselor destroy us.
2 If it so fall out, that you be angry, yet sin not: that is, bridle your anger, and do not wickedly put that in execution, which you have wickedly conceived.
3 Let not the night come upon you in your anger, that is, make atonement quickly for all matters.
28 1Let him that stole, steal no more: but let him rather labor, and work with his hands the thing which is 'good, that he may have to give unto him that needeth.

29 1Let no 3corrupt communication proceed out of your mouths: but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister 3grace unto the hearers.

30 1And grieve not the holy Spirit of God, by whom ye are sealed unto the day of redemption.

31 Let all bitterness, and anger, and wrath, crying, and evil speaking be put away from you, with all maliciousness.

32 Be ye courteous one to another, and tender hearted, freely forgiving one another, 1even as God for Christ's sake, freely forgave you.

5 3Lest, in those vices which he reprehended, they should set light by his admonitions. 5 be terrified them by denouncing severe judgment. 8 and stirreth them forward: 15 Then he defendeth from general lessons of manners, 22 to the particular duties of wives, 25 and husbands.

1 Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children,

2 'And walk in love, even as Christ hath loved us, and hath given himself for us, to be an offering and a sacrifice of a sweet smelling savor to God.

3 1But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as it becometh Saints,

4 Neither filthiness, neither foolish talking,
18 1 And be not drunk with wine, wherein is 2 excess: but be fulfilled with the Spirit, 18 2 Speaking unto yourselves in Psalms, and hymns, and spiritual songs, singing and making melody to the Lord in your 3 hearts, 20 Giving thanks always for all things unto God even the Father, in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, 21 Submitting yourselves one to another in the fear of God. 22 ¶ 4 Wives, submit yourselves unto your husbands, 2 as unto the Lord. 23 ¶ For the husband is the wife’s head, even as Christ is the head of the Church, 2 and the same is the Savior of his body. 24 Therefore as the Church is in subjection to Christ, even so let the wives be to their husbands in everything. 25 ¶ 5 Wives, love your husbands, even as Christ loved the Church, and gave himself for it, 26 That he might 6 sanctify it, and cleanse it by the washing of water through the 7 word, 27 That he might make it unto himself a glorious Church, 8 not having spot or wrinkle, or any such thing: but that it should be holy and without blame.

5:18 1 He setteth the sober and holy assemblies of the faithful, against the dissolve bankers of the unfaithful, in which the praises of the only Lord must ring, be it in prosperity or adversity. 2 All kind of not, joined with all manner of filthiness and shamefulness.

5:19 1 With an earnest affection of the heart, and not with the tongue only. 21 A short repetition of the end whereunto all things ought to be referred, to serve one another for God’s sake.

5:21 1 A Short repetition of the end whereunto all things ought to be referred, to serve one another for God’s sake. 2 Now he descendeth to a family, dividing orderly all the parts of a family. And he saith that the duty of wives consisteth herein, to be obedient to their husbands.

5:22 1 The first argument, for they cannot be disobedient to their husbands, but they must resist God also, who is the author of this subjection.

5:23 1 A declaration of the former saying: Because God hath made the man head of the woman in matrimony, as Christ is the head of the Church. 2 Another argument: Because the good estate of the wife dependeth on the man, and the same is the same away with his cleanness, until he have wholly purged it. 3 Not only not loathe all her filth and uncleanness, but cease not to wipe their own hardness and cruelty, the Apostle willeth us to mark what manner of Church Christ gat, when he joined it to himself, and how he doth not only not loathe all her filth and uncleanness, but ceaseth not to wipe the same away with his cleanliness, until he have wholly purged it. 4 Make it holy.

5:24 1 The conclusion of the wives’ duty towards their husbands.

5:25 1 The husbands’ duty towards their wives, is to love them as themselves, of which love, the love of Christ toward his Church is a lively pattern.

5:26 1 Because many men pretend the infirmities of their wives to excuse their own hardness and cruelty, the Apostle willeth us to mark what manner of Church Christ gat, when he joined it to himself, and how he doth not only not loathe all her filth and uncleanness, but ceaseth not to wipe the same away with his cleanliness, until he have wholly purged it. 2 Make it holy. 3 Through the promise of free justification and sanctification in Christ, received by faith.

5:27 1 The Church, as it is considered in itself, shall not be without wrinkle, before it come to the mark it shooteth at: for while it is in this life, it runneth in a race: but if it be considered in Christ, it is clean and without wrinkle.

5:28 1 Another argument: Every man loveth himself, even of nature: therefore he striveth against nature that loveth not his wife: he proveth the consequent, first by the mystical knitting of Christ and his Church together (such as the husbands and the wives is) he showeth that it is secret, to wit, spiritual and such as pertayneth to their makers, as she may not swerve from the true worship of God.

5:29 1 His own body. 2 He alludeth to the making of the woman, which signifieth our coupling together with Christ, which is wrought by faith, but is sealed by the Sacrament of the Supper.

5:31 1 A proof of the first argument. 2 That no man might dream of natural conjunction or knitting of Christ and his Church together (such as the husbands and the wives is) he showeth that it is secret, to wit, spiritual and such as far differeth from the common capacity of man: as which consisteth by the virtue of the Spirit, and not of the flesh by faith, and by no natural band.

5:33 1 The conclusion both of the husband’s duty toward his wife, and of the wife’s toward her husband.

6:1 1 He cometh to another part of a family, and showeth that the duty of the children toward their parents, consisteth in obedience unto them. 2 The first argument: Because God hath so appointed: whereupon it followeth also, that children are so far forth bound to obey their parents, as they may not swerve from the true worship of God.

6:2 1 A proof of the first argument. 2 The third argument, taken of the profit that ensueth thereby: because the Lord vouchsafed this commandment amongst the rest, of a special blessing.

6:3 1 With a special promise: for otherwise the second commandment hath a promise of mercy to a thousand generations, but that promise is general.
3 That it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest live long on earth.
4 1And ye, fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in instruction and 2information of the Lord.
5 2Servants, be obedient unto them that are your masters, 2according to the flesh, with 3fear and trembling in singleness of your hearts, as unto Christ,
6 Not with service to the eye, as men pleasers, but as the servants of Christ, 2doing the will of God from the heart.
7 With good will, serving the 2Lord, and not men.
8 1And know ye that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, that same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free,
9 1And ye masters, do the same things unto them, putting away threatening: and know that even your master also is in heaven, neither is there 2respect of person with him.
10 Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.
11 Put on the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to stand against the assaults of the devil.
12 1For we wrestle not against flesh and 2blood, but against 4principalities, against powers, and against the worldly governors, the princes of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness, which are in the high places.
13 2For this cause take unto you the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to resist in the 4evil day, and having finished all things, stand fast.

14 Stand therefore, and your loins girded about with verity, and having on the breastplate of righteousness, 15 And your feet shod with the 4preparation of the Gospel of peace.
16 Above all, take the shield of Faith, wherewith ye may quench all the fiery darts of the wicked, 17 And take the helmet of Salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.
18 And pray always with all manner prayer and supplication in the 4spirit: and watch thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all Saints, 19 And for me, that utterance may be given unto me, that I may open my mouth boldly to publish the secret of the Gospel.
20 Whereof I am the ambassador in bonds, that therein I may speak boldly, as I ought to speak.
21 1But that ye may also know mine affairs, and what I do, Tychicus 2my dear brother and faithful minister in the Lord, shall show you of all things.
22 Whom I have sent unto you for the same purpose, that ye might know mine affairs, and that he might comfort your hearts.
23 Peace be with the brethren, and love with faith from God the Father, and 2from the Lord Jesus Christ.
24 Grace be with all them which love our Lord Jesus Christ, to their 4immortality, Amen.

Written from Rome unto the Ephesians, and sent by Tychicus.
THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE PHILIPPIANS

1 Having testified his godly and tender affection towards the Philippians, 12 he entreateth of himself and his bands: 22 And priceth them forward by his own example, 27 and exhorteth them to unity. 28 And patience.

1 Paul and Timothy the servants of JESUS CHRIST, to all the Saints in Christ Jesus, which are at Philippi, with the 3 Bishops, and Deacons:
2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ:
3 I thank my God, having you in perfect memory,
4 (Always in all my prayers for all you, praying with gladness)
5 Because of the fellowship which ye have in the Gospel, from the first day unto now.
6 And I am persuaded of this same thing, that he that hath begun this good work in you, will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ,
7 As it becometh me so to judge of you all, because I have you in remembrance, that both in my bands, and in my defense, and confirmation of the Gospel you all were partakers of my grace.
8 For God is my record, how I long after you all from the very heart root in Jesus Christ.
9 And this I pray that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge, and in all judgment,
10 That ye may allow those things which are best, that ye may be pure, and without offense, until the day of Christ,
11 Filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ unto the glory and praise of God.
12 ¶ I would ye understood, brethren, that the things which have come unto me, are turned rather to the furthering of the Gospel, 13 So that my bands in Christ are famous throughout all the judgment hall, and in all other places.
14 Insomuch that many of the brethren in the Lord are boldened through my bands, and dare more frankly speak the Word.
15 Some preach Christ even through envy and strife, and some also of good will.
16 The one part preacheth Christ of contention, and not purely, supposing to add more affliction to my bands.
17 But the others of love, knowing that I am set for the defense of the Gospel.
18 What then: yet Christ is preached all manner ways, whether it be under a pretence, or sincerely: and I therein joy: yea, and will joy.
19 For I know that this shall turn to my salvation through your prayer, and by the help of the Spirit.
of Jesus Christ,

20 1 As I fervently look for, and hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all confidence, as always, so now Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life or by death.

21 For Christ is to me both in life and in death advantage.

22 1 And whether to live in the flesh were profitable for me, and what to choose I know not.

23 For I am distressed between both, desiring to be loosed and to be with Christ, which is best of all.

24 Nevertheless, to abide in the flesh, is more needful for you.

25 And this am I sure of, that I shall abide, and with you all continue, for your furtherance and joy of your faith, 26 That ye may more abundantly rejoice in Jesus Christ for me, by my coming to you again.

27 Only let your conversation be as it becometh the Gospel of Christ, that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your matters, that ye 2continue in one spirit, and in one mind, fighting together through the faith of the Gospel.

28 And in nothing fear your adversaries, which is to them a token of perdition, and to you of salvation, and that of God.

29 For unto you it is given for Christ, that not only ye should believe in him, but also suffer for his sake, 30 Having the same fight, which ye saw in me, and now hear to be in me.

1:20 1 We must continue even to the end, with great confidence, having nothing before our eyes but Christ's glory only, whether we live or die.

1:22 1 An example of a true shepherd, who maketh more account how he may profit his sheep, than he doth of any commodity of his own whatsoever.

2 To live in this mortal body.

1:27 1 Having set down those things before, in manner of a Preface, he descendeth now to exhortations, warning them first of all, to consent both in doctrine and mind, and afterward, that being thus knit together with those common bands, they continue through the strength of faith to bear all adversity in such sort, that they admit nothing unworthy the profession of the Gospel.

2 The word signifieth, to stand fast, and it is proper to wrestlers, that stand fast, and shrink not a foot.

1:28 1 We ought not to be discouraged, but rather encouraged by the persecutions which the enemies of the Gospel imagine and practice against us: seeing that they are certain witnesses from God himself, both of our salvation, and of the destruction of the wicked.

1:29 1 He proveth that his saying, that persecution is a token of our salvation, because it is a gift of God to suffer for Christ, which gift he bestoweth upon his own, as he doth the gift of faith.

1:30 1 Now he sheweth for what purpose he made mention of his afflictions.

2:1 1 A most earnest request to remove all those things, whereby that great and special consent and agreement is commonly broken, to wit, contention and pride, whereby it cometh to pass, that they separate themselves one from another.

2 Any Christian comfort.

3 If any feeling of inward love.

2:2 1 Like love.

2:5 1 He setteth before them a most perfect example of all modesty and sweet conversation, Christ Jesus, whom we ought to follow, being an inward and true Christian comfort.

2 He taught them before a most perfect example of all modesty and sweet conversation, Christ Jesus, whom we ought to follow, being an inward and true Christian comfort.

2:6 1 Like love.

2:11 Every nation.
12 'Wherefore my beloved, as ye have always obeyed me, not as in my presence only, but now much more in mine absence, so 'make an end of your own salvation with fear and trembling.

13 'For it is God which worketh in you both the will and the deed, even of his good pleasure.

14 'Do all things without 'murmuring and reasonings.

15 'That ye may be blameless, and pure, and the sons of God without rebuke in the midst of a naughty and crooked nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world,

16 Holding forth the word of life, 'that I may rejoice in the day of Christ, that I have not run in vain, neither have laboured in vain.

17 Yea, and though I be offered up upon the 'sacrifice, and service of your faith, I am glad, and rejoice with you all.

18 For the same cause also be ye glad, and rejoice with me.

19 'And I trust in the Lord Jesus, to send 'Timothy shortly unto you, that I also may be of 'good comfort, when I know your state.

20 For I have no man like-minded, who will faithfully care for your matters.

21 'For 'all seek their own, and not that which is Jesus Christ's.

22 But ye know the proof of him, that as a son with the father, he hath served with me in the Gospel.

23 Him therefore I hope to send as soon as I know your state, fully to care for your matters.

24 And I trust in the Lord, that I also myself shall come shortly.

25 'But I supposed it necessary to send my brother Epaphroditus unto you my companion in labor, and fellow soldier, even your messenger, and he that ministered unto me such things as I wanted.

26 For he longed after all you, and was full of heaviness, because ye had heard that he had been sick.

27 'And no doubt he was sick, very near unto death: but God had mercy on him, and not on him only, but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow.

28 I sent him therefore the more diligently, that when ye should see him again, ye might rejoice, and I might be the less sorrowful.

29 Receive him therefore in the Lord with all gladness, and make much of such:

30 Because that for the 'work of Christ he was near unto death, and regarded not his life, to fulfill that service which was lacking on your part toward me.

3 2 He refuteth the vain boastings of the false apostles. 7 And setteth Christ against them. 10 He setteth out the force and nature of faith. 15 That laying all things aside, they may be partakers of the Cross of Christ. 18 The enemies whereof, he noteth out.

1 Moreover, 'my brethren, rejoice in the Lord.

2 It grieveth me not to write the 'same things to you, and for you it is a sure thing.

2 Beware of dogs; beware of evil workers: beware of the 'circumcision.

3 1 For we are the circumcision, which worship
God in the spirit, and rejoice in Christ Jesus, and have no confidence in the flesh:
4 Though I might also have confidence in the flesh.
5 Circumcised the eighth day, of the kindred of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, 'an Hebrew of the Hebrews,' by the Law a Pharisee.
6 Concerning zeal, I persecuted the Church: touching the righteousness which is in the Law, I was unreproveable.
7 But the things that were 'vantage unto me, the same I counted loss for Christ's sake.
8 Yea, doubtless I think 'all things but loss for the excellent knowledge sake of Christ Jesus my Lord, for whom I have counted all things loss, and do judge them to be dung, that I might 'win Christ,
9 And might be found in 'him, that is, 'not having mine own righteousness, which is of the Law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, even the righteousness which is of God through faith,
10 That I may 'know him, and the virtue of his resurrection, and the 'fellowship of his afflictions, and be made conformable unto his death,
11 If by any means I might attain unto the 'resurrection of the dead:
12 Not as though I had already attained to it, either were already perfect: but I follow, if that I may comprehend that for whose sake also I am 'comprehended of Christ Jesus.

13 Brethren, I count not myself, that I have attained to it, but one thing I do: I forget that which is behind, and endeavor myself unto that which is before,
14 And follow hard toward the mark, for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.
15 'Let us therefore as many as be 'perfect, be thus minded: and if ye be otherwise minded, God shall reveal even the same unto you.
16 Nevertheless, in that whereunto we are come, let us proceed by one rule, that we may mind one thing.
17 Brethren, be followers of me, and look on them, which walk so, as ye have us for an example.
18 'For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ:
19 Whose 'end is damnation, whose God is their belly, and whose 'glory is to their shame, which mind earthly things.
20 'But our conversation is in heaven, from whence also we look for the 'Savior, even the Lord Jesus Christ, 21 Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working, whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself.

4 1 From particular exhortations, 4 he cometh to general. 10 He saith that he took such joy in their readiness to liberality, 12 that he will patiently bear the want.

1 Therefore, 'my brethren, beloved and longed for, my joy and my 'crown, so continue in the 'Lord,
2 1I pray Euodia, and beseech Syntyche, that they be of one accord in the Lord.
3 Yea, and I beseech thee, faithful yokefellow, help those women, which labored with me in the Gospel, with Clement also, and with other my fellow laborers, whose names are in the book of life.
4 1Rejoice in the Lord always, again I say, rejoice.
5 1Let your patient mind be known unto all men.
6 1Be nothing careful, but in all things let your requests be showed unto God in prayer and supplication with giving of thanks.
7 And the peace of God which passeth all understanding, shall preserve your hearts and minds in Christ Jesus.
8 Furthermore, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are worthy love, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue, or if there be any praise, think on these things.
9 Which ye have both learned and received, and heard, and seen in me: those things do, and the God of peace shall be with you.
10 Now I rejoice also in the Lord greatly, that at the last your care for me springeth afresh, wherein notwithstanding ye were careful, but ye lacked opportunity.
11 I speak not because I desire a gift: but I desire the fruit of labor, and to abound, and to have want.
12 And I can be abased, and I can abound: everywhere in all things I am instructed, both to be full, and to be hungry, and to abound, and to have want.
13 I am able to do all things through the help of Christ, which strengtheneth me.
14 Notwithstanding ye have well done, that ye did communicate to mine affliction.
15 And ye Philippians know also that in the beginning of the Gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated with me, concerning the matter of giving and receiving, but ye only.
16 For even when I was in Thessalonica, ye sent once, and afterward again for my necessity.
17 Not that I desire a gift: but I desire the fruit which may further your reckoning.
18 Now I have received all, and have plenty: I was even filled, after that I had received of Epaphroditus that which came from you, an odor that smelleth sweet, a sacrifice acceptable and pleasant to God.
19 And my God shall fulfill all your necessities through his riches with glory in Jesus Christ.
20 Unto God even our Father be praise for evermore, Amen.
21 Salute all the Saints in Christ Jesus. The brethren, which are with me, greet you.
22 All the Saints salute you, and most of all they which are of Caesar’s household.
23 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

Written to the Philippians from Rome, and sent by Epaphroditus.

4:2 1 He also calleth on some by name, partly, because they needed private exhortation, and partly also to stir up others, to be more prompt and ready.
4:3 1 God is said after the manner of men, to have a book, wherein the names of his elect are written, to whom he will give everlasting life. Ezekiel calleth it the writing of the house of Israel, and the secret of the Lord, Ezk. 13:9.
4:4 1 He addeth particular exhortations: and the first is, that the joy of the Philippians be not hindered by any afflictions that the wicked may further your reckoning.
4:5 1 The second is not taking all things in good part, they behave themselves moderately with all men.
4:6 1 Your quiet and settled mind.
4:7 1 The third is, that we be not too careful for anything, but with sure confidence give God thanks, and crave of him whatsoever we have need of, that with a quiet conscience we may wholly and with all our hearts submit ourselves to him.
4:8 1 We understand and reason of matters.
4:9 1 Be nothing careful, but in all things let your requests be showed unto God in prayer and supplication with giving of thanks.
4:10 1 He witnesseth that their liberality was acceptable to him, and that they had a mind contented both with prosperity and adversity, and to be short, that he reposeth himself in the only will of God.
4:11 1 As though I passed for my want.
4:12 1 He useth a general word, and yet he speaketh but of one kind of cross, which is poverty, for commonly poverty bringeth all kinds of discomfort with it.
4:13 1 He alludeth to the sweet smelling savors that were offered in the old Law.
4:14 1 He useth a general word, and yet he speaketh but of one kind of cross, which is poverty, for commonly poverty bringeth all kinds of discomfort with it.
4:15 1 He witnesseth that he remembereth also their former benefits, and again putteth away sinistrous suspicion of immoderate desire, in that that he received nought of any else.

So David began very oft with tears, but ended with thanksgiving.
2 God is said after the manner of men, to have a book, wherein the names of his elect are written, to whom he will give everlasting life. Ezekiel calleth it the writing of the house of Israel, and the secret of the Lord, Ezk. 13:9.

THE EPISODE OF
PAUL TO THE COLOSSIANS

1 After the salutation, 4 he praiseth them the more, to make them attentive unto him. 7 He reporteth the testimony of the doctrine which they heard of Epaphras. 13 He magnifieth God's grace towards them. 20 and sheweth that all the parts of our salvation consist in Christ alone.

1 Paul an Apostle of Jesus Christ, by the 'will of God, and Timothy our brother,
2 To them which are at 'Colosse, Saints and faithful brethren in Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.
3 We give thanks to God even the 'Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, always praying for you:
4 Since we heard of your faith in Christ Jesus, and of your love toward all Saints.
5 For the 'hope's sake, which is laid up for you in heaven, whereby ye have heard before by the word of truth, which is the Gospel,
6 Which is come unto you, even as it is unto all the world, and is fruitful as it is also among you from the day that ye heard and truly knew the grace of God,
7 As ye also learned of Epaphras our dear fellow servant, which is for you a faithful minister of Christ:

1:1 1 By the free bountifulness of God.
1:2 1 Colosse is situated in Phrygia, not far from Hierapolis and Laodicea, on that side that they bend toward Lycia and Pamphylia.
1:3 1 He commendeth the doctrine that was delivered them by Epaphras, and their readiness in receiving it.
2 We cannot otherwise consider of God to our salvation, but as he is Christ's Father, in whom we are adopted.
1:5 1 For the glory that is hoped for.
1:8 1 He declareth his good will towards them, telling them that they must not still remain at one stay but go on further both in the knowledge of the Gospel, and also in the true use of it.
2 Your spiritual love, or your love which cometh from the Spirit.
1:9 1 God's will.
1:11 1 The gift of continuance is not of us, but it proceedeth from the virtue of God, which he doth freely give us.
2 It must not be unwilling, and as it were drawn out of us by force, but proceed from a merry and joyful mind.
1:12 1 Having ended the preface, he goeth to the matter itself, that is to say, to an excellent description (although it be but short) of whole Christianity, which is fitly divided into three treatises: for first of all he expoundeth the true doctrine, according to the order of the causes, beginning from this verse to the 24. And from thence he beginneth to apply the same to the Colossians with divers exhortations to verse 6 of the second Chapter. And last of all in the third place even to the third Chapter, he refuteth the corruption of true doctrine.
2 The efficient cause of our salvation is the only mercy of God the Father, who maketh us meet to be partakers of eternal life, delivering us from the darkness wherein we were born, and bringing us to the light of the knowledge of the glory of his Son.
3 In that glorious and heavenly kingdom.
1:14 1 The matter itself of our salvation, is Christ the Son of God, who hath obtained remission of sins for us by the offering up of himself.
1:15 1 A lively description of the person of Christ, whereby we understand that in him only, God showeth himself to be seen: who was begotten of the Father before anything was made, that is, from everlasting; by whom also all things that are made, were made without any exception, by whom also they do consist, and whose glory they serve.
2 Begotten before anything was made: and therefore the everlasting Son of the everlasting Father.
1:16 1 He setteth forth the Angels with glorious names, that by the comparison of most excellent spirits we may understand how far passing the excellence of Christ, in whom only we have to content ourselves, and let go all Angels.
or Principalities, or Powers, all things were created by him, and for him.
17 And he is before all things, and in him all things consist.

18 1And he is the head of the body of the Church: he is the beginning, 2and the first begotten of the dead, that in all things he might have the preeminence.
19 For it pleased the Father, that in him should 1all fullness dwell.
20 1And through peace made by that blood of that his cross, to reconcile to himself through him, through him, 1say, 2all things, both which are in earth, and which are in heaven.
21 1And you which were in times past strangers and enemies, because your minds were set in evil works, hath 2he now also reconciled,
22 In that body of his 1flesh through death, to make you holy and unblameable, and without fault in his sight.
23 1If ye continue, grounded and established in the faith, and be not moved away from the hope of the Gospel, whereof ye have heard, and which hath been preached to 2every creature, which is under heaven, 1whereof I Paul am a minister.
24 Now rejoice I in my sufferings 1for you, and fulfill the 3rest of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh, for his body’s sake, which is the Church,
25 1Whereof I am a minister, according to the dispensation of God, which is given me unto youward, to fulfill the word of God,
26 1Which is the mystery hid since the world began, and from all ages, but now is made manifest to his 2Saints,
27 To whom God 1would make known what is the riches of his glorious mystery among the Gentiles, which riches is Christ in you, the hope of glory,
28 1Whom we preach, admonishing every man, and teaching every man in 2all wisdom, that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus.
29 Whereunto I also labor and strive, according to his working which worketh in me mightily.

2 4 He condemneth, as vain, whatsoever is without Christ, 11entreaty specially of circumcision, 16 of abstinence from meats, 18 and of worshipping of Angels. 20 That we are delivered from the traditions of the Law through Christ.
1 For 1I would ye knew what great fighting I have for your sakes, and for them of Laodicea, and for as many as have not seen my 2person in the flesh.
2 1That 2their hearts might be comforted, and taketh a most sure proof thereof, of his afflictions which he suffereth for Christ’s Name to instruct the Churches with these examples of patience.
1:24 1 For your profit and commodity.
2 The afflictions of the Church are said to be Christ’s afflictions, by reason of that fellowship and knitting together, that the body and the head have the one with the other, not that there is any more need to have the Church redeemed, but that Christ sheweth his power in the daily weakness of his, and that for the comfort of the whole body.
1:25 1 He bringeth another proof of his Apostleship, to wit, that God is the author of it, by whom also he was appointed peculiarly Apostle of the Gentiles, to the end that by this means, that same might be fulfilled by him, which the Prophets foretold of the calling of the Gentiles.
1:26 1 Whom he chose to sanctify unto himself in Christ: moreover he saith that the mystery of our redemption was hidden since the world began, except it were revealed unto a few, who also were taught it extraordinarily.
1:27 1 This Paul bridled the curiosity of men.
1:28 1 He protesteth that he doth faithfully execute his Apostleship in every place, bringing men unto Christ only, through the Lord’s plentiful blessings of his labors.
2 Perfect and sound wisdom, which is perfect in itself, and shall in the end make them perfect that follow it.
2:1 1 The taking away of an objection, in that that he visited not the Colossians, nor the Laodiceans, he did it not of any negligence but is so much the more careful for them.
2 Me present in body.
22 1 He concludedth shortly the sum of the former doctrine, to wit, that the whole sum of true wisdom and most secret knowledge of God, consisteth in Christ only, and that this is the use of it touching men, that they being knit together in love, rest themselves happily in the knowledge of so great a goodness, until they come fully to enjoy it.
2 Whom he never saw.
they knit together in love, and in all riches of the full assurance of understanding, to know the mystery of God, even the Father, and of Christ:

3 In whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

4 And this I say, lest any man should beguile you with enticing words:

5 For though I be absent in the flesh, yet am I with you in the spirit, rejoicing and beholding your traditions of men, according to the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ.

6 As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk in him.

7 Rooted and built in him, and established in the faith, as ye have been taught, abounding therein with thanksgiving:

8 Beware lest there be any man that spoil you through philosophy, and vain deceit, through the traditions of men, according to the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ.

9 For in him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily.

10 Ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power.

11 In whom also ye are circumcised with circumcision made without hands, by putting off the sinful body of the flesh, through the circumcision of Christ,

12 In that ye are buried with him by baptism, in whom ye are also raised up together through the faith of the operation of God, which raised him from the dead.

13 And ye which were dead in sins, in the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, forgiving you all your trespasses,

14 And putting out the handwritings of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, he even took it out of the way, and fastened it upon the cross,

15 And hath spoiled the Principalities, and Powers, and hath made a show of them openly, and hath triumphed over them in the same cross.

16 Let no man therefore condemn you in meat or drink.
and drink, or in respect of an holy day, or of the new moon, or of the Sabbath days, 17 Which are but a shadow of things to come: but the body is Christ.
18 Let no man at his pleasure bear rule over you by humbleness of mind, and worshipping of Angels, advancing himself in those things which he never saw, rashly puffed up with his fleshly mind, 19 And holdeth the head, whereof all the body furnished and knit together by joints and bands, increaseth with the increasing of God.
20 Wherefore if ye be dead with Christ from the ordinances of the world, why, as though ye lived in the world, are ye burdened with traditions?
21 As, Touch not, Taste not, Handle not.
22 Which all perish with the using, and are after the commandments and doctrines of men.
23 Which things have indeed a show of wisdom, in voluntary religion and humbleness of mind, and in not sparing the body, which are things of no value, since they pertain to the filling of the flesh.
1 Against earthly exercises, which the false apostles urged, he setteth heavenly: and beginneth with the mortifying of the flesh, whence he draweth particular exhortations, and particular duties which depend on each man's calling.
1 If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth at the right hand of God.
2 Set your affections on things which are above, and not on things which are on the earth.

2:17 1 The body as a thing of substance and pith, he setteth against shadows.
2:18 1 He disputeth against the first kind of corruptions, and setteth down the worshipping of Angels for an example: which kind of false religion he confuteth, first this way: because that they which being in such a worship, attribute that unto themselves which is proper only to God, to wit, authority to bind men's consciences with religion, although they seem to bring in these things by humbleness of mind.
2 By a foolish humbleness of mind: for otherwise humbleness is a virtue. For these Angel worshippers blamed such of pride, as would go straight to God, and use no other under means besides Christ.
3 Secondly, because they rashly thrust upon them for oracles, those things which they neither saw nor heard, but devised of themselves.
4 Thirdly, because these things have no other ground, whereupon they are built, but only the opinion of men, which please themselves without all measure in their own duties.
5 Without reason.
2:19 1 The fourth argument, which is of great weight, because they spoil Christ of his dignity, who only is sufficient both to nourish, and also to increase his whole body.
2 Christ.
3 With the increasing which cometh from God.
2:20 1 Now last of all he fighteth against the second kind of corruptions, that is to say, against mere superstitious, invented in men, which partly deceive the simplicity of some with their craftiness, and partly with very foolish superstitions, and to be laughed at: as when godliness, remission of sins, or any such like virtue is put in some certain kind of meat and such like things, which the inventors of such rites themselves understand not, because indeed it is not. And he useth an argument taken of comparison. If by the death of Christ who establisheth a new covenant with his blood, you be delivered from those external rites wherewith it pleased the Lord to prepare the world, as it were by certain rudiments to that full knowledge of true religion, why would ye be burdened with traditions, I wrote not what, as though ye were citizens of this world, that is to say, as though ye depended upon this life, and earthly things? Now this is the cause why verse 8 he followed another order than he doth in the confutation: because he sheweth thereby what degrees false religions came into the world, to wit, beginning first by curious speculations of the wise after which in process of time succeeded gross superstition, against which mischief the Lord set at length that service of the Law, which some abused in like sort: but in the confutation he began with the abolishing of the Law service, that he might show by comparison, that those false services ought much more to be taken away.
2 As though your felicity stood in these earthly things, and the kingdom of God were not rather spiritual.
2:21 1 An imitation in the person of these superstitious men, rightly expressing their nature and use of speech.
2:22 1 Another argument: The spiritual and inward kingdom of God cannot consist in these outward things, and such as perish with the using.
2 The third argument: Because God is not the author of these traditions, and therefore they do not bind the conscience.
2:23 1 The taking away of an objection. These things have a goodly show, because men by this means, seem to worship God with a good mind and humble themselves, and neglect the body, which the most part of men curiously pamper up and cherish: but yet notwithstanding the things themselves are of no value, for so much as they pertain not to things that are spiritual and everlasting, but to the nourishment of the flesh.
2 Which seem indeed to be some exquisite thing, and so wise devices as though they came from heaven.
3 Hence sprang the works of supererogation, as the Papists term them, that is to say, needless works, as though men performed more than is commanded them, which was the beginning and the very ground whereon Monks' merits were brought in.
4 A lively description of Monkeys.
5 Seeing they stand in meat and drink, wherein the kingdom of God doth not stand.
3:1 1 Another part of this Epistle, wherein he taketh occasion by the reason of those vain exercises, to show the duty of a Christian life: which is an ordinary thing with him after he hath once set down the doctrine itself.
2 Our renewing or new birth, which is wrought in us by being partakers of the resurrection of Christ, is the fountain of all holiness, out of which sunry arms or rivers do afterwards flow.
3 For if we be partakers of Christ, we are carried as it were into another life, where we shall need neither meat nor drink, for we shall be like unto the Angels.
4 The end and mark which all the duties of Christian life shoot at, is to enter into the kingdom of heaven, and to give ourselves to those things which lead us thither, that is to true godliness, and not to those outward and corporeal things.
32 1 So he calleth that show of religion, which he spake of in the former Chapter.
3 1For ye are dead, 2and your life is hid with Christ in God.
4  When Christ which is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory.
5 21Mortify therefore your 1members which are on the earth, fornication, uncleanness, the inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness which is idolatry.
6  For the which things 2sake the wrath of God 1cometh on the children of disobedience.
7  Wherein ye also walked once, when ye lived in them.
8  But now put ye away even all these things, wrath, anger, malice, deceit, calumny, railing, malice, 2speaking out of your mouth.
9  Lie not one to another: 1seeing that ye have put off the old man with his works,
10  And have put on the new, 1which is renewed in 1knowledge after the image of him that created him,
11  1Where is neither 2Grecian nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond, free: But Christ is all, and in all things.
12  Now therefore as the elect of God, holy and beloved, 1put on the 2bowels of mercies, kindness, humility, meekness, longsuffering:

13  Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel to another: even so Christ forgave, even so do ye.
14  And above all these things put on love, which is the 1bond of perfectness.
15  And let the peace of God 1rule in your hearts, to the which ye are called in 1one body, and be ye thankful:
16  Let the word of Christ dwell in you plenteously in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing yourselves, in 2Psalms, and hymns, and spiritual songs, singing with a grace in your hearts to the Lord.
17  And whatsoever ye shall do, in word or deed, do all in the 1Name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God even the Father by him.
18  2Wives, submit yourselves unto your husbands, as it is 2comely in the Lord.
19  1Husbands, love your wives, and be not bitter unto them.
20  2Children, obey your parents in 2all things: for that is well pleasing unto the Lord.
21  1Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged.
22  2,3Servants, be obedient unto them that are your masters according to the flesh, in all things, not with eye service as men pleasers, but in singleness of heart, as the 1servants of Christ.

13:1 For the peace which God maketh in your hearts, be at peace with one another.
of heart, fearing God.

23 And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not to men, 24 Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ.
25 But he that doeth wrong, shall receive for the wrong that he hath done: and there is no respect of persons.

4 2 He returneth to general exhortations, 3 touching prayer and gracious speech, 7 and so endeth with greetings and commendations.

1 Ye masters, do unto your servants, that which is just and equal, knowing that ye also have a master in heaven.
2 a,1,2 Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving,
3 b,1 Praying also for us, that God may open unto us the door of utterance, to speak the mystery of Christ: wherefore I am also in bonds,
4 That I may utter it, as it becometh me to speak.
5 ¶ a,4 Walk wisely toward them that are without, and redeem the season.
6 1 Let your speech be gracious always, and powdered with salt, that ye may know how to answer every man.
7 ¶ Tychicus our beloved brother and faithful minister, and fellow servant in the Lord, shall declare unto you my whole state:
8 Whom I have sent unto you for the same purpose that he might know your state, and might comfort your hearts,
9 With Onesimus a faithful and a beloved brother, who is one of you. They shall show you of all things here.
10 Aristarchus my fellow fellawteth you, and Marcus, Barnabas's cousin (touching whom ye received commandments: If he come unto you, receive him,) 11 And Jesus which is called Justus, which are of the circumcision. These only are my work-fellows unto the kingdom of God, which have been unto my consolation.
12 Epaphras the servant of Christ, which is one of you, saluteth you, and always striveth for you in prayers, that ye may stand perfect, and full in all the will of God.
13 For I bear him record, that he hath a great zeal for you, and for them of Laodicea, and them of Hierapolis, 14 a Luke the beloved physician greeteth you, and Demas.
15 Salute the brethren which are of Laodicea, and Nymphas, and the Church which is in his house.
16 And when this Epistle is read of you, cause that it be read in the Church of the Laodiceans also, and that ye likewise read the Epistle written from Laodicea, 17 And say to Archippus, Take heed to the ministry, that thou hast received in the Lord, that thou fulfill it.
18 The salutation by the hand of me Paul. Remember my bands. Grace be with you, Amen.

¶ Written from Rome to the Colossians, and sent by Tychicus, and Onesimus.
1. He therefore beginneth with thanksgiving, to put them in mind that whatsoever was praiseworthy in them, it came of God’s goodness: and that they are ensamples unto others.

2. Paul, and Silvanus, and Timothy, unto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God the Father, and in the Lord Jesus Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

3. We give God thanks always for you all, making mention of you in our prayers.

4. Without ceasing, remembering your effectual faith, and diligent love, and the patience of your hope in our Lord Jesus Christ, in the sight of God, even our Father.

5. Knowing, beloved brethren, that ye are elect of God.

6. For our Gospel was not unto you in word only, but also in power, and in the holy Ghost, and in much assurance, as ye know after what manner we were among you for your sakes.

7. And ye became followers of us, and of the Lord, and received the word in much affliction, with joy of the holy Ghost,

8. So that ye were as ensamples to all that believe in Macedonia and in Achaia.

9. For from you sounded the word of the Lord, not in Macedonia and in Achaia only: but your faith also which is toward God, spread abroad in all quarters, that we need not to speak anything.

10. For they themselves show of us what manner of entering in we had unto you, and how ye turned to God from idols, to serve the living and true God.

11. And to look for his son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus which delivereth us from that wrath to come.

12. He declareth how faithfully he preacheth the Gospel unto them, seeking neither gain, nor praise of men: and he proveth the same by their own testimony: that they did courageously bear persecution of their countrymen: that he desireth very much to see them.

13. For ye yourselves know, brethren, that our entrance in unto you was not in vain,

14. But even after that we had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated at Philippi, (as ye know) we were bold in our God, to speak unto you the Gospel of God, with much striving.

15. For our exhortation was not by deceit, nor by uncleanness, nor by guile.

16. Another reason: Because even to that day, they embraced the Gospel with great cheerfulness, insomuch that they were an example to all their neighbors: so that it should be more shame for them to faint in the mid-race.

17. With joy which cometh from the holy Ghost.

18. All the believers.

19. It is no true conversion to forsake idols, unless a man therewithal worship the true and living God in Christ the only redeemer.

20. This word (That) is not put here without cause: and by (wrath) is meant that revenge and punishment, wherewith the Lord will judge the world at length in his terrible wrath.

21. That which he touched before shortly concerning his Apostle-ship, he handleth now at large, and to that end and purpose which we spake of.

22. The virtues of a true Pastor are freely, and without fear to preach the Gospel, even in the midst of dangers.

23. To teach pure doctrine faithfully and with a pure heart.

24. By any wicked and naughty kind of dealing.
4 1But as we were 2allowed of God, that the Gospel should be committed unto us, so we speak, not as they that please men, but God, which 3approveth our hearts:

5 1Neither yet did we ever use flattering words, as ye know, nor colored covetousness, God is record.

6 1Neither sought we praise of men, neither of you, nor of others, when we might have been 3chargeable, as the Apostles of Christ.

7 1But we were 4gentle among you, even as a nurse cherisheth her children.

8 1Thus being affectioned toward you, our good will was to have dealt unto you, not the Gospel of God only, but also our own souls, because ye were dear unto us.

9 1For ye remember, brethren, 4our labor and travail: for we labored day and night, because we would not be chargeable unto any of you, and preached unto you the Gospel of God.

10 1Ye are witnesses, and God 2also, how holily, and justly, and unblameably we behaved ourselves among you that believe.

11 1As ye know how that we exhorted you, and comforted, and besought every one of you, (as a father his children.)

12 1That ye 3would walk worthy of God, who hath called you unto his kingdom and glory.

13 1For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, that when ye received the word of God, which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is indeed the word of God, which also worketh in you that believe.

14 1For brethren, ye are become followers of the Churches of God, which in Judea are in 2Christ Jesus, because ye have also suffered the same things of your own 3country men, even as they have of the Jews,

15 1Who both killed the Lord Jesus and their own Prophets, and have persecuted us away, 3and God they please not, and are contrary to 4all men,

16 And forbid us to preach unto the Gentiles, that they might be saved, to 5fulfill their sins always: for the 6wrath of God is come on them to the utmost.

17 1Forasmuch, brethren, as we 6were kept from you for a season, concerning sight, but not in the heart, we enforced the more to see your face with great desire.

18 Therefore we would have come unto you (I Paul, at least once or twice) but Satan hindered us.

19 For what is our hope or joy, or crown of rejoicing? are not even you it in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming?

20 Yea, ye are our glory and joy.

3 1To show his affection towards them, he sendeth Timothy unto them: 2He is so moved by the report of their prosperous state, 3that he cannot give sufficient thanks, 411 and therefore he breaketh out into prayer.

1 Wherefore since we could no longer forbear, we thought it good to remain at Athens alone,

2 41To approve his conscience to God, being free from all flattery and covetousness.

2 Seeing there is this difference between the judgments of God and the judgments of men, that when men choose, they respect the qualities of those things which stand before them, but God findeth the reason of his counsel only in himself, it followeth, that seeing we are not able to think a good thought, that whomsoever he first chooseth to those holy callings, he maketh them able, and doth not find them able. And therefore in that we are allowed of God, it hangeth upon his mercy.

3 1Which liketh and alloweth them.

26 1To submit himself even to the basest, to win them, and to eschew all pride.

2 When I might lawfully have lived upon the expenses of the Church.

2 7 1We were not rough, but easy, and gentle, as a nurse that is neither ambitious nor covetous, but taketh all pains as patiently, as if she were a mother.

2 8 1To have the flock that is committed unto him in more estimation than his own life.

2 9 1To depart with his own rights rather than to be chargeable to his sheep.

2 10 1To excel others in example of godly life.

2 11 1To exhort and comfort with a fatherly mind and affection.

2 12 1To exhort all men diligently and earnestly to lead a godly life.

2 13 1Having approved his ministry, he commendeth again (to that end and purpose that I spake of) the cheerfulness of the Thessalonians, which was answerable to his diligence in preaching, and their manly patience.

2 14 1He confirmeth them in their afflictions which they suffered of their own people, because they were afflicted of their own countrymen: which came as well (saith he) to the Churches of the Jews, as to them: and therefore they ought to take it in good part.

2 15 1Which Christ hath gathered together.

2 16 Even of them which are of the same country, and the same town that you are of.

2 15 1He preventeth an offense which might be taken, for that the Jews especially above all others persecuted the Gospel. That is no new thing, saith he, seeing they slew Christ himself and his Prophets, and have banished me also.

2 He foretelleth the utter destruction of the Jews, lest any man should be moved by their rebellion.

2 For the Jews would neither enter into the kingdom of God themselves, nor suffer others to enter in.

2 16 1Until the wickedness of theirs which they have by inheritance as it were of their fathers, be grown so great that the measure of their iniquity being filled, God may come forth to wrath.

2 The judgments of God being angry, which indeed appeared shortly after in the destruction of the city of Jerusalem, whither many resorted even out of divers provinces, when it was besieged.

2 17 1He meeteth with an objection, why he came not to them until the wickedness of theirs which they have by inheritance as it were of their fathers, be grown so great that the measure of their iniquity being filled, God may come forth to wrath.

2 The judgments of God being angry, which indeed appeared shortly after in the destruction of the city of Jerusalem, whither many resorted even out of divers provinces, when it was besieged.

2 17 1He meeteth with an objection, why he came not to them straightway being in so great misery, I desired oftentimes (saith he) and it lay not in me, but Satan hindered my endeavors, and therefore I sent Timothy my faithful companion unto you, because you are most dear to me.

2 Were kept asunder from you, and as it were orphans.
2 And have sent Timothy our brother and minister of God, and our labor fellow in the Gospel of Christ, to establish you, and to comfort you touching your faith,
3 That no man should be moved with these afflictions: for ye yourselves know, that we are appointed thereofunto.
4 For verily when we were with you, we told you before that we should suffer tribulations, even as it came to pass, and ye know it.
5 Even for this cause, when I could no longer forbear, I sent him that I might know of your faith, lest the tempter had tempted you in any sort, and that our labor had been in vain.
6 But now lately when Timothy came from you unto us, and brought us good tidings of your faith and love, and that ye have good remembrance of us always, desiring to see us, as we also do you,
7 Therefore brethren, we had consolation in you, in all our affliction and necessity through your faith.
8 For now are we alive, if ye stand fast in the Lord.
9 For what thanks can we recompense to God again for you, for all the joy wherewith we rejoice for your sakes before our God,
10 Night and day, praying exceedingly, that we might see your face, and might accomplish that which is lacking in your faith?
11 Now God himself, even our Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ, guide our journey unto you.
12 And the Lord increase you, and make you abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you:
13 To make your hearts stable and unblameable in holiness before God even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his Saints.

CHAPTER 3

3:1 That no man should be moved with these afflictions: for ye yourselves know, that we are appointed thereofunto.
3:2 For verily when we were with you, we told you before that we should suffer tribulations, even as it came to pass, and ye know it.
3:3 Even for this cause, when I could no longer forbear, I sent him that I might know of your faith, lest the tempter had tempted you in any sort, and that our labor had been in vain.
3:4 But now lately when Timothy came from you unto us, and brought us good tidings of your faith and love, and that ye have good remembrance of us always, desiring to see us, as we also do you,
3:5 Therefore brethren, we had consolation in you, in all our affliction and necessity through your faith.
3:6 For now are we alive, if ye stand fast in the Lord.
3:7 For what thanks can we recompense to God again for you, for all the joy wherewith we rejoice for your sakes before our God,
3:8 Night and day, praying exceedingly, that we might see your face, and might accomplish that which is lacking in your faith?
3:9 Now God himself, even our Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ, guide our journey unto you.
3:10 And the Lord increase you, and make you abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you:
3:11 To make your hearts stable and unblameable in holiness before God even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his Saints.

CHAPTER 4

4:1 He exhorteth them 3 to holiness, 9 and brotherly love. 13 He forbiddeth them to sorrow after to manner of infidels. 15 He setteth out the history of our resurrection.
4:2 And furthermore we beseech you, brethren, and exhort you in the Lord Jesus, that ye 3 increase more and more, as ye have received of us, how ye ought to walk, and to please God.
4:3 For ye know what commandments we gave you by the Lord Jesus.
4:4 For this is the will of God even your 3 sanctification, and that ye should abstain from fornication,
4:5 That everyone of you should know, how to possess his vessel in holiness and honor,
4:6 And not in the lust of concupiscence, even as the Gentiles which know not God:
4:7 That no man oppress or defraud his brother in any matter: for the Lord is avenger of all such things, as we have told you beforehand, and testified.
4:8 For God hath not called us unto uncleanness, but unto holiness.
4:9 He therefore that despiseth these things, despiseth not man, but God who hath even given you his holy Spirit.
4:10 But as touching brotherly love, ye need not that I write unto you: 3 for ye are taught of God to love one another.
4:11 Yea, and that thing verily ye do unto all the brethren, which are throughout all Macedonia: but we beseech you brethren, that ye increase more and more,
4:12 And that ye study to be quiet, and to meddle with your own business, 3 and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you.
4:13 That ye may behave yourselves honestly toward them that are without, and that nothing be lacking unto you.
13 For this say we unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which live, and are remaining in the coming of the Lord, shall not prevent them which sleep.

14 For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, and with the voice of the Archangel, and with the trumpets of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first:

15 Then shall we which live and remain, be caught up with them also in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord.

16 Wherefore, comfort yourselves one another in the faith, and consider the mercy of our Lord great, unto salvation, and of the latter day.

17 For then shall be the manifestation of the right hand of the power, and the coming of his glory; for he speaketh of mourning for the dead, and the manner of the resurrection, and of the latter day.

18 For the third part of the Epistle, which is interlaced among the former exhortations (which he returneth unto afterward) wherein he speaketh of mourning for the dead, and the manner of the resurrection, and of the latter day.

1 We desire you, brethren, admonish them that are out of order: comfort the feebleminded: bear with the weak: be patient toward all men.

15

1 See that none recompense evil for evil unto any man: but ever follow that which is good, both toward yourselves, and toward all men.

16

1 Rejoice evermore.

17

1 Pray continually.

18

1 In all things, give thanks, for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus toward you.

19

1 Quench not the Spirit.

20

1 Despise not prophesying.

21

1 Try all things, and keep that which is good.

22

1 Abstain from all appearance of evil.

23 Now the very God of peace sanctify you throughout: and I pray God that your whole spirit and soul and body, may be kept blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

24

1 Faithful is he which calleth you, which will also do it.

25

1 Brethren, pray for us.

26

1 Greet all the brethren with an holy kiss.

27

1 I charge you in the Lord, that this Epistle be read unto all the brethren the Saints.

28

1 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you, Amen.

¶ The first Epistle unto the Thessalonians written from Athens.
The Second Epistle of Paul to the Thessalonians

1 For the grace that is given unto me of God, to be sent unto you according to the commission of God our Father, and Jesus Christ our Saviour;

2 grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 We ought to thank God always for you, brethren, as it is meet, because that your faith worketh exceedingly, and the love of every one of you toward another, aboundeth;

4 Now we beseech you, brethren, by the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and by our assembling unto him,

5 Which is a manifest token of the righteous judgment of God, that ye may be counted worthy of the kingdom of God, for which ye also suffer.

6 For it is a righteous thing with God, to repay them that afflict you, and to take vengeance on them that trouble you;

7 And to you which are troubled, rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall show himself from heaven with his mighty Angels,

8 In flaming fire, rendering vengeance unto them, that do not know God, and which obey not unto the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ,

9 Which shall be punished with everlasting perdition from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power,

10 When he shall come to be glorified in his Saints, and to be made marvelous in all them that believe (because our testimony toward you was believed) in that day.

11 Wherefore, we also pray always for you, that our God may make you worthy of this calling, and fulfill all the good pleasure of his goodness, and the work of faith with power.

12 That the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God, and of the Lord Jesus Christ.

2 He showeth that the day of the Lord shall not come, till there be a departure from the faith, and Antichrist be revealed. Whereupon followeth both the glorifying of Christ in us, and us in Christ.

1 Now we beseech you, brethren, by the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and by our assembling unto him,

The First Part of the Epistle, wherein he rejoiceth that through the grace of God, they have manfully sustained all the assaults of their enemies, wherein he commendeth the increase of faith and charity, and describeth God's vengeance against such as oppress the godly. He commendeth the increase of faith and charity, and describeth God's vengeance against such as oppress the godly. Не commendeth the increase of faith and charity, and describeth God's vengeance against such as oppress the godly.

The Second Part of the Epistle, containing an excellent proph­ecy of the state of the Church, which shall be from the Apostles' times unto the latter day of judgment.

13 The First part of the Epistle, wherein he rejoiceth that through the grace of God, they have manfully sustained all the assaults of their enemies, wherein he commendeth them moreover showing with what gifts they must chiefly fight, to wit, with faith and charity, which must daily increase.

14 For it is a righteous thing with God, to repay them that afflict you, and to take vengeance on them that trouble you;

15 He openeth the fountain of all true comfort, to wit, that in afflictions, which we suffer of the wicked for righteousness sake, we may behold as a manifest token of the righteous judgment of God, that ye may be counted worthy of the kingdom of God, for which ye also suffer.

16 A proof: God is just, therefore he will worthily punish the unjust, and will do away the miseries of his people.

17 He confirmeth them also by the way, by this means, that the condition both of this present state and the state to come, is common to him with them.

18 A most glorious description of the second coming of Christ, to be set against all the miseries of the godly, and the triumphs of the wicked.

19 There is no knowledge of God unto salvation, without the Gospel of Christ.

20 The children of God shall be counted by the faith which they have in the Gospel, which is preached unto them by the Apostles.

21 The second part of the Epistle, containing an excellent proph­ecy of the state of the Church, which shall be from the Apostles' times unto the latter day of judgment.

2 If we think earnestly upon that immeasurable glory, which we shall allure us, nor the dreadful sight of the cross dismay us.
1 That ye be not suddenly moved from your mind, nor troubled neither by 'spirit, nor by 'word, nor by 'letter, as it were from us, as though the day of Christ were at hand.

2 Let no man deceive you by any means: 'for that day shall not come, except there come a departing first, and that 'that man of sin be disclosed, even the son of perdition.

3 Which is an adversary, and 'exalteth himself against all that is called God, or that is worshipped: 'so that he doth sit as God in the Temple of God, showing himself that he is God.

4 Remember ye not, that when I was yet with you, I told you these things?

5 And now ye know 'what withholdeth, that he might be revealed in his time.

6 For the mystery of iniquity doth already work: 'only he which now withholdeth, shall let till he be taken out of the way.

7 And then shall 'that wicked man be revealed, whom the Lord shall 'consume with the 'Spirit of his mouth, and shall abolish with the brightness of his coming.

8 Even him whose coming is by the effectual working of Satan, with all power, and signs, and 'lying wonders,

9 We must take heed of false prophets, especially in this matter, which go about to deceive, and that for the most part, after three sorts: for either they brag of fained prophetical revelations, or they bring conjectures and reasons of their own, or use counterfeit writings.

10 By dreams and fables, which men pretend to be spiritual revelations.

11 Either by word of mouth, or by books written.

12 Either by forged letters, or falsely glossed upon.

13 The Apostle foretelleth that before the coming of the Lord, there shall be a throne set up clean contrary to Christ's glory, wherein that wicked man shall sit, and transfer all things that appertain to God, to himself, and many shall fall away from God to him.

14 By speaking of one, he pointed out the body of the tyrannous and persecuting Church.

15 All men know who he is that saith he can shut up heaven and bring to nought.

16 He foretelleth that Satan will bestow all his might and power, and use all false miracles that he can to establish that seat, and that with great success, because the wickedness of the world doeth so deserve it: yet so, that only the unfaithful shall perish through his deceit.

17 Which are partly false, and partly wrought to establish a false doctrine which was delivered unto us by the mouth and writings of the Apostles, through the free good will of God, which comforteth us with an invincible hope, and also in all godliness our whole life long.
from those, who through idleness, 11 and curiosity pervert good order: 14 Whom he excludeth from the company of the faithful.

1 Furthermore, 1brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free passage and be glorified, even as it is with you.

2 And that we may be delivered from unreason­able and evil men: 2*for all men have not faith.*

3 But the Lord is faithful, which will stablish you, and keep you from evil.

4 And we are persuaded of you through the Lord, that ye both do, and will do the things which we warn you of.

5 And the Lord guide your hearts to the love of God, and the waiting for of Christ.

6 We warn you, brethren, in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walked inordinately, and not after the instruction, which he received of us.

7 For ye yourselves know, how ye ought to follow us: for we behaved not ourselves inordinately among you,

8 Neither took we bread of any man for nought: but we wrought with labor and travail night and day, because we would not be chargeable to any of you.

9 Not because we have not authority, but that we might make ourselves an ensample unto you to follow us.

10 For even when we were with you, this we warned you of, that if there were any, which would not work, that he should not eat.

11 For we hear, that there are some which walk among you inordinately, and work not at all, 3*but are busybodies.*

12 Therefore them that are such, we warn and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that they work with quietness, and eat their own bread.

13 And ye, brethren, be not weary in well doing.

14 If any man obey not this our saying, in this letter, note him, and have no company with him, 4*that he may be ashamed.*

15 Yet count him not as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother.

16 Now the Lord himself of peace give you peace always by all means. The Lord be with you all.

17 The salutation of me Paul, with mine own hand, which is the token in every Epistle: 2so I write,

18 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

¶ The second Epistle to the Thessalonians, written from Athens.
THE FIRST EPISTLE OF
PAUL TO

1

Setting forth a perfect pattern of a true Pastor, whose office especially consisteth in teaching. 4 he warned him that vain questions set apart, he teach those things, 5 which further charity and faith: 12 and that his authority be not condemned. 14 he sheweth what an one he is made through the grace of God.

1 Paul an Apostle of Jesus Christ, by the commandment of God our Savior, and of our Lord Jesus Christ our hope,

2 Unto Timothy my natural son in the faith: Grace, mercy, and peace from God our Father, and from Christ Jesus our Lord.

3 As I besought thee to abide still in Ephesus, when I departed into Macedonia, so do, that thou mayest warn some, that they teach none other doctrine, 4 Neither that they give heed to fables and genealogies which are endless, which breed questions rather than godly edifying which is by faith.

5 For the end of the commandment is love out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned.

6 From the which things some have erred, and have turned unto vain jangling.

7 They would be doctors of the Law, and yet understand not what they speak, neither whereof they affirm.

8 And we know, that the Law is good, if a man use it lawfully.

9 Knowing this, that the Law is not given unto a righteous man, but unto the lawless and disobedient, to the ungodly, and to sinners, to the unholy, and to profane, to murderers of fathers and mothers, to manslayers,

10 To whoremongers, to buggerers, to menstealers, to liars, to the perjured, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to wholesome doctrine, 11 Which is according to the glorious Gospel of the blessed God, which is committed unto me.

12 Therefore I thank him which hath made me strong, that is, Christ Jesus our Lord: for he counted me faithful, and put me in his service:

1:1 1 First of all, he avoucheth his own free vocation, and also Timothy's, that the one might be confirmed by the other: and therewithal he declareth the sum of the Apostolical doctrine, to wit, the mercy of God in Christ Jesus apprehended by faith, the end whereof is yet hoped for.

2 Or, ordinance.

1:2 1 There is as much difference betwixt mercy and grace, as is betwixt the effect, and the cause: For grace is that free good will of God, whereby he chose us in Christ, and mercy is that free justification which followeth it.

1:3 1 This whole Epistle consisteth in admonitions, wherein all the duties of a faithful Pastor are lively set out. And the first admonition is this, that no innovation be made either in the Apostle's doctrine itself, or in the manner of teaching it.

1:4 1 The doctrine is corrupted not only by false opinions, but also by vain and curious speculations: the declaration and utterance thereof can nothing help our faith.

2 He noteth out one kind of vain question.

1:5 1 The second admonition is, that the right use and practice of the doctrine must be joined with the doctrine. And that consisteth in pure charity, and a good conscience, and true faith.

2 Of the Law.

3 There is neither love without a good conscience, nor a good conscience without faith, nor faith without the word of God.

1:6 1 That which he spake before generally of vain and curious controversies, he applieth to them, which pretending a zeal of the Law, dwelled upon outward things, and never made an end of babbling of foolish trifles.

1:7 1 There are none more unlearned, and more impudent in usurping the name of holiness, than foolish sophistical babblers.

1:8 1 The taking away of an objection. He condemneth not the Law, but requireth the right use and practice of it.

1:9 1 He indeed escapeth the curse of the Law, and therefore doth not abhor it, who fleeing and eschewing those things which the Law condemneth, giveth himself with all his heart to observe it: and not he that maketh a vain babbling of outward and curious matters.

2 And such a one is he, whom the Lord hath endued with true doctrine, and with the holy Ghost.

3 To such as make an art as it were of sinning.

1:11 1 He setteth against fond and vain babbling, not only the Law, but the Gospel also, which condemneth not, but greatly commendeth the wholesome doctrine contained in the commandments of God, and therefore he calleth it a glorious Gospel, and the Gospel of the blessed God, the virtue whereof these babblers knew not.

4 A reason why neither any other Gospel is to be taught than he hath taught in the Church, neither after any other sort, because there is no other Gospel besides that which God committed to him.

1:12 1 He maintaineth of necessity his Apostleship against some that did carp at his former life, debasing himself, even to hell, to advance Christ's only mercy, wherewith he abolished all those his former doings.

2 Which gave me strength, not only when I had no will to do well, but also when I was wholly given to evil.

1 From Rom. 13:10

1 From the things which we have heard, and believe.
1 TIMOTHY 1:13

13 When before I was a 1blasphemer, and a persecutor, and an oppressor; but I was received to mercy: for did it ignorantly through unbelief.

14 But the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant 1with faith and love, which is in Christ Jesus.

15 1This is a 2true saying, and by all means worthy to be received, that 1Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am chief.

16 Notwithstanding for this cause was I received to mercy, that Jesus Christ should first show on me all long suffering unto the enpample of them, which shall in time to come believe in him unto eternal life.

17 1Now unto the king everlasting, immortal, invisible, unto God 2only wise, be honor, and glory, for ever, and ever, Amen.

18 1This commandment commit I unto thee, son Timothy, according to the prophecies, which went before upon thee, that thou 2by them shouldest fight a good fight, 19 Having 1faith and a good conscience, 2which some have put away, and as concerning faith, have made shipwreck.

20 Of whom is Hymenaeus, and Alexander, 1whom I have 2delivered unto Satan, that they might 3learn not to blaspheme.

2 He exhorteth them to make public prayers for all men, 4, 5 and that for two causes. 8 and therefore he willeth all men in all places to pray, 9 and declareth in what apparel, 11 and with what modesty, women ought to behave themselves in holy assemblies.

1 1Exhort therefore, that first of all supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks be made for all men,

2 For Kings, and for all that are in authority,

3 that we may lead a quiet and a peaceable life, in all godliness, and 2honesty.

3 For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Savior.

4 1Who will that all men shall be saved, and come unto the acknowledging of the truth.

5 1For there is one God, and one Mediator between God and man, which is the 2man Christ Jesus, 6 Who gave himself a ransom for all men, 1to be that testimony in due time.

7 1Whereunto I am ordained a preacher and an Apostle (I speak the truth in Christ, and lie not) 1even a teacher of the Gentiles in 1faith and verity.

8 1I will therefore that the men pray, everywhere
3:1 Let the Deacons be the husbands of one wife, and let their wives be subject to their husbands, as the Church is subject to Christ. For the Deacons must be well reported of not only by the Church but also by their own wives.

4 One that can rule his own house honestly, having children under obedience with all honesty.

5 For if any cannot rule his own house, how shall he be the ruler of the Church of God?

6 He may not be a young scholar, lest he be puffed up into the condemnation of the devil.

7 He must also be well reported of, even of them which are without, lest he fall into rebuke, and the snare of the devil.

8 Likewise must Deacons be grave, not double tongued, not given unto much wine, neither to filthy lucre, 9 Having the mystery of the faith in pure conscience.

10 And let them first be proved, then let them be placed as ministers, and let them be Deacons.

11 Likewise their wives must be honest, not evil speakers, but sober, and faithful in all things.

12 Let the Deacons be the husbands of one wife, and such as can rule their children well, and their own households.

13 For they that have ministered well, get themselves a good degree, and great liberty in the faith, which is in Christ Jesus.

14 These things write I unto thee, trusting to come very shortly unto thee.

15 But if I tarry long, then that thou mayest know how thou oughtest to behave thyself in the house of God, that which is in Christ Jesus.

2:9 Thirdly he appointeth women to learn in the public assemblies with silence and modesty, being comely apparelled without any riot or excess in their apparel.

2:12 The first argument, why it is not lawful for women to teach in the Congregation, because by this means they should be placed above men, for they should be their masters: which is against God's ordinance.

2:13 He proveth this ordinance of God, whereby the woman is subject to man, first by that, that God made the woman after man, for man's sake.

2:14 Then because that after sin God enjoined the woman this punishment, for that the man was deceived by her.

2:15 He addeth a comfort by the way, that their subjection hindereth not but that women may be saved as well as men, if they behave themselves in those burdens of marriage holily and modestly, with faith and charity.

3:1 Having dispatched the treatise, as well of doctrine and of the manner of handling of it, as also of public prayer, he now in the third place cometh to the persons themselves, speaking first of Pastors and afterward of Deacons, and he useth a preface, that the Church may know that these be certain and sure rulers.

3:2 A Bishopric or the ministry of the word is not an idle dignity, but a work and that an excellent work: and therefore a Bishop must be furnished with many virtues both at home and abroad. Wherefore it be requisite before he be chosen, to examine well his learning, his gifts, and ableness, and his life.

3:3 He speaketh not here of ambitious seeking, than which there cannot be a worse fault in the Church, but general of the mind, and disposition of man, framed and disposed to help and edify the Church of God, when and wheresoever it shall please the Lord.

3:4 Therefore he that shutteth out married men from the office of Bishops, only because they are married, is Antichrist.

3:5 For if any cannot rule his own house, how shall he rule the Church of God?
4 1 He condemneth as well false doctrine, 3 of marriage and the choice of meats, 7 as also profane fables: 8 and commendeth the godly exercise, 13 and the daily reading of the Scriptures.

1 Now the Spirit speaketh evidently, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, and shall give heed unto spirits of error, and doctrines of devils,

2 1Which speak lies through hypocrisy, and have their consciences burned with an hot iron,

3 1Forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from meats 2which God hath created 3to be received 4with giving thanks of them which believe and know the truth.

3:15 2 To wit, in respect of men: for the Church resteth upon that cornerstone, Christ, and is the preserver of the truth, but not the mother.

3:16 1 There is nothing more excellent than this truth, whereof the Church is the keeper and preserver here amongst men, the ministry of the word being appointed to that end and purpose: for it teacheth us the greatest matters that may be thought of, to wit, that God is become visible in the person of Christ by taking our nature upon him, whose Majesty notwithstanding in so great weakness was shown forth in the person of Christ by taking our nature upon him, and therewithal the Apostle declareth that we must use the liberality of God soberly, and with a good conscience.

4 1He setteth an Apostolical rule, for taking away the difference of meats, against that false doctrine.

4:1 He setteth against that true doctrine, false opinions, which he foretelleth that certain which shall fall away from God and his religion, shall bring in by the suggestion of Satan, and so that a great number shall give ear to them.

2 From the true doctrine of God:

4:2 1 Although heretics counterfeit holiness never so much, yet they have no conscience.

2 For they will as it were practice the art of disguised persons and players, that we may not think they will lie lurking in some one corner, or keep any resemblance of shamefastness.

3 Whose conscience waxed so hard, that there grew an hard fleshiness over it, and so became to have a canker on it, and now at length required of very necessity to be burned with an hot iron.

4 He proveneth that he justly calleth such doctrines devilish, first, because the teachers of them make laws of things which are not their own: for have they created the meats?

3 Secondly, because they overthrow with their decrees, the end wherefore they were created of God, to wit, that we should use them.

3 Thirdly, for that by this means they rob God of his glory, who will be honored in the use of them. And herewithal the Apostle declareth that we must use the liberality of God soberly, and with a good conscience.

4 1For every creature of God is good, and nothing ought to be refused, if it be received with thanksgiving.

5 1For it is sanctified by the word of God, and prayer.

6 1If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Jesus Christ, which hast been nourished up in the words of faith, and of good doctrine which thou hast continually followed.

7 1But cast away profane, and old wives' fables, 2and exercise thyself unto godliness.

8 1For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godliness is profitable unto all things, which hath the promise of the life present, and of that that is to come.

9 1This is a true saying, and by all means worthy to be received.

10 For therefore we labor and are rebuked, because we trust in the living God, which is the Savior of all men, specially of those that believe.

11 These things warn and teach.
12 1Let no man despise thy youth, but be unto them that believe, an ensample, in word, in conversation, in love, in spirit, in faith and in pureness.

13 1Till I come, give attendance to reading, to exhortation, and to doctrine.

14 Despise not the gift that is in thee, which was given thee by prophecy with the laying on of the hands of the company of the Eldership.

15 These things exercise, and give thyself unto them, that it may be seen how thou profittest among all men.

16 Take heed unto thyself, and unto learning; continue therein: for in doing this thou shalt both save thyself, and them that hear thee.

5 1Having set down a manner how to rebuke all degrees. 5 He entreateth of widows, who then were chosen for the service of the Church: 17 Then he cometh to Elders, 23 and speaketh somewhat touching the health of the body.

1 Rebuff not an elder, but exhort him as a father, and the younger men as brethren.

2 The elder women as mothers, the younger as sisters, with all pureness.

3 1Honor widows, which are widows indeed.

4 But if any widow have children or nephews let them learn first to show godliness toward their own house, and to recompense their kindred: 4 for that is an honest thing, and acceptable before God.

5 And she that is a widow indeed and left alone, trusteth in God, and continueth in supplications and prayers night and day.

6 But she that liveth in pleasure, is dead, while she liveth.

7 These things therefore warn them of, that they may be blameless.

8 If there be any that provideth not for his own, and namely for them of his household, he denieth the faith, and is worse than an infidel.

9 1Let not a widow be taken into the number under threescore years old, that hath been the wife of one husband.

10 And well reported of for good works: if she have nourished her children, if she have lodged the strangers, if she have washed the Saints’ feet, if she have ministered unto them which were in adversity, if she were continually given unto every good work.

11 1But refuse the younger widows: for when they have begun to wax wanton against Christ, they will marry.

12 Having damnation, because they have broken the first faith.

13 1And likewise also being idle they learn to go about from house to house: yea they are not only idle, but also prattlers and busybodies, speaking things which are not comely.

14 1I will therefore that the younger women marry, and bear children, and govern the house, and give none occasion to the adversary to speak evil.

15 For certain are already turned back after Satan.

16 1If any faithful man or faithful woman have widows, let them minister unto them, and let not the Church be charged, that there may be sufficient for them that are widows indeed.

4:12 1 Now he returneth to that exhortation, showing which are the virtues of a Pastor, whereby he may come to be reverenced, although he be but young, to wit, such speech and life as are witnesses of charity, zeal, faith, and purity, but here is no mention made of the crosier and staves, ring, cloak, and such other foolish and childish toys.

4:13 1 The private exercise of Pastors, is continual reading of the Scriptures, whence out they may draw matter of wholesome doctrine and exhortation, both to themselves and to others.

4:16 1 Faith is by hearing, and hearing by preaching: and therefore the ministers of the word are so saith to save themselves and others, for that in them the Lord hath put the word of reconciliation.

5:1 1 Of keeping measure in private reprehensions according to the degrees of ages and kinds.

5:3 2 Have care of those widows which have need of help.

5:4 1 Widows’ children and nephews must take care for their parents, according to their ability.

5:5 1 The second rule: Let the church have care of such as are widows indeed, that is to say, such as are poor and destitute of help of their own friends, and live godly and religiously.

5:6 1 The third rule: Let widows that live in pleasure, and neglect the care of their own family, be holden and accounted as fallers away from God and his religion, and worse than very infidels.

5:9 1 The fourth rule: Let none under threescore years old, be taken into the number of widows, to serve the Congregations or Churches, and such as are free from all reproach of unchastity, and are well reported of for their diligence, charity, and integrity.

5:10 2 That hath had no more husbands, but one at one time.

5:11 1 This is spoken in respect of the manner of those countries.

5:11 1 The first reason why younger widows are not to be admitted to this ministry, to wit, because for the lightness of their age, they will at length shake off the burden that Christ hath laid upon them, and think rather upon marrying again: and so will forsake the ministry whereunto they had bound themselves.

5:12 Take them not into the college of widows.

5:13 2 Another reason: because they are for the most part prattlers and busybodies, and gadders up and down, neglecting their charge and duty.

5:14 1 The fifth rule: Let younger widows marry and govern their houses godly.

5:16 1 The sixth rule: Let the faithful help their widows at their own charges as much as they can, and let not the Congregation be burdened with these expenses.
17 ¶ The Elders that rule well, let them be had in double honor, specially they which labor in the word and doctrine.

18 For the Scripture saith, Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn: and, The laborer is worthy of his wages.

19 Against an Elder receive none accusation, but under two or three witnesses.

20 Them that sin, rebuke openly, that the rest also may fear.

21 ¶ I charge thee before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the elect Angels, that thou observe these things, without preferring one to another, and do nothing partially.

22 Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other men's sins; keep thyself pure.

23 Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake, and thine often infirmities.

24 Some men's sins are open before hand, and go before unto judgment: but some men's follow after.

25 Likewise also the good works are manifest before hand, and they that are otherwise, cannot be hid.

5:17 Now he giveth rules, and showeth how he ought to behave himself with the Elders, that is to say, with the Pastors and such as have the governance in the discipline of the Church, which is president of their company. The first rule: Let the Church or Congregation see unto this especially, as God himself hath commanded, that the Elders that do their duty well, be honestly maintained. We must be more careful for them, than for the rest.

There were two kinds of Elders, the one attended upon the government only, and looked to the manners of the Congregation; the other did beside that, attend upon preaching and prayers, to and for the Congregation.

5:19 The second rule: Let no accusation be admitted against an Elder, but under two or three witnesses.

5:20 The third rule: Let the Elders so convicted be rebuked openly, that they may be an example to others.

5:21 The fourth rule: Let sincerity be used without any prejudice or respect of persons in Ecclesiastical proceedings, (especially against the Elders) because God himself is there present, and the Lord Jesus Christ with a multitude of Angels.

5:22 The (fifth) rule: Let the minister lay hands suddenly on no man. Let him not be faulty herein either by favoring any man's folly, or perverse affection: If ought be done otherwise than well of his fellows, let him keep his conscience pure.

As much as in thee lieth do not rashly admit any whatsoever, to any Ecclesiastical function.

5:23 The sixth rule: Let the Elders have indifferent consideration of their health, in the manner of their diet.

5:24 Because hypocrites sometimes creep into the ministry although there be never so great diligence used, the Apostle willeth the Pastors not to be troubled therefore, or slack any whit of their diligence in trying and examining, because the Lord hath appointed a time to discover the faults of such men, and it is our parts to take heed that we offend not therein.

5:25 Another comfort belonging to them, which sometimes are slandered and misrepresented of.
7 1For we brought nothing into the world, and it is certain, that we can carry nothing out.
8 Therefore when we have food and raiment, let us therewith be content.
9 1For they that will be rich, fall into tentation and snares, and into many foolish and noisome lusts, which drown men in perdition and destruction.
10 For the desire of money is the root of all evil, which while some lusted after they erred from the faith, and 1pierced themselves through with many sorrows.
11 1But thou, O 2man of God, flee these things, and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, and meekness.
12 Fight the good fight of faith; lay hold of eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses.
13 1I charge thee in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Jesus Christ, which under Pontius Pilate 1witnessed a good confession.
14 That thou keep this commandment without spot, and unrebukeable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ, 15 Which in due time he shall show, that is 1blessed and Prince only, the King of kings and Lord of lords.
16 Who only hath immortality, and dwelleth in the light that none can attain unto, 4whom never man saw, neither can see, unto whom be honor and power everlasting, Amen.
17 1Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high minded, and that they trust not in uncertain riches, but in the living God, (which giveth us abundantly all things to enjoy.)
18 That they do good, and be rich in good works, and be ready to distribute, and communicate.
19 1Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may obtain eternal life.
20 1O Timothy, keep that which is committed unto thee, and avoid profane and vain babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called,
21 Which while some 1profess, they have erred concerning the faith. Grace be with thee, Amen.

6:21 The first Epistle to Timothy, written from Laodicea, which is the chiefest city of Phrygia Pacatiana.
THE SECOND EPISTLE OF
PAUL TO TIMOTHY

1:1 1 Sent of God to preach that life which he promised in Christ Jesus.
1:3 1 The chiefest mark that he shooteth at in this Epistle, is to confirm Timothy to continue constantly and manfully even to the end, setting first before him the great good will he beareth him, and then reckoning up the excellent gifts which God would as it were have to be by inheritance in Timothy, and his ancestors, which might so much the more make him bound to God.
2 From Abraham, Isaac and Jacob: for he speaketh not of Pharisaism, but of Christianism.
1:6 1 He warmeth us to set the invincible power of the Spirit, which God hath given us, against those storms which may and do come upon us.
2 The gift of God is as it were a certain lively flame kindled in our hearts, which the flesh and the devil go about to put out; and therefore we on the contrary side must labor as much as we can to foster and keep it burning.
1:7 1 To pierce us through, and terrify us, as men whom the Lord will destroy.
1:8 1 He proveth that the ignominy or shame of the cross is not only not to be ashamed of, but also that it is glorious and most honorable first, because the Gospel wherefore the godly are afflicted, is the testimony of Christ: and secondly, because at length the great virtue and power of God appeareth in them.
2 For his sake.

3 He commendeth Timothy's faith, 6 and exhorteth him to go on faithfully in the charge committed unto him: 8 and that neither for his bonds, 15 nor the revolting of others, he faint. 11 He triumpheth of his Apostleship. 14 He willeth him to have care of the thing committed unto him, 16 and praiseth Onesiphorus.

1 Paul an Apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, 4 according to the promise of life which is in Christ Jesus,
2 To Timothy my beloved son: Grace, mercy and peace from God the Father, and from Jesus Christ our Lord.
3 1I thank God, 3whom I serve from my childhood, 4of whom my mother and grandmother have to report, that I have a good conscience; 5which is my first glory.
4 Desiring to see thee, mindful of thy tears, that I may be filled with joy:
5 When I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice, and am assured that it dwelleth in thee also.
6 1Wherefore, I put thee in remembrance that thou 2stir up the gift of God which is in thee, by the putting on of mine hands.
7 For God hath not given to us the Spirit of fear, but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind.
8 1Be not therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, neither of me 2his prisoner: but be partaker of the afflictions of the 3Gospel according to the 4power of God,
9 1Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given to us through Christ Jesus 2before the 3world was,
10 But is now made manifest by that appearing of our Savior Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality unto light through the Gospel.
11 1Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and Apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.
12 1For the which cause I also suffer these things, 3but I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and I am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed to him against that day.
13 1 Keep the true pattern of the wholesome words, which thou hast heard of me in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus.
14 1 That worthy thing, which was committed to thee, keep through the holy Ghost, which dwelleth in us.
15 1 This thou knowest, that all which they are in Asia, be turned from me: of which sort are Phygellus and Hermogenes.
16 1 The Lord give mercy unto the house of Onesiphorus: for he oft refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chain, 17 1 But when he was at Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and found me.
18 1 The Lord grant unto him, that he may find mercy with the Lord at that day, and in how many things he hath ministered unto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well.

2 1 The better to set out perseverance in the Christian warfare, 3 he taketh similitudes, 4 from soldiers, 6 and from husbandmen. 10 He showeth that his bonds are for the profit of the Saints: 15 Then he warneth Timothy to divide the word of truth aright, 17 to beware of the examples of the wicked. 22 and to do all things modestly.
1 1 Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus.
2 1 And what things thou hast heard of me, by many witnesses, the same deliver to faithful men, which shall be able to teach others also.
3 1 Thou therefore suffer affliction as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.
4 1 No man that warreth, entangleth himself with the affairs of this life, because he would please him that hath chosen him to be a soldier.
5 1 And if any man also strive for a mastery, he is not crowned, except he strive as he ought to do.
6 1 The husbandman must labor before he receive the fruits.
7 1 Consider what I say: and the Lord give thee understanding in all things.
8 1 Remember that Jesus Christ, made of the seed of David, was raised again from the dead according to my Gospel, 9 1 Wherein I suffer trouble as an evil doer, even unto bonds: but the word of God is not bound.
10 Therefore I suffer all things for the elect's sake, that they might also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus, with eternal glory.
11 1 It is a true saying, For if we be dead together with him: we also shall live together with him.
12 If we suffer, we shall also reign together with him; 13 if we deny him, he also will deny us.
14 If we believe not, yet abideth he faithful: he cannot deny himself.
14 Of these things put them in remembrance, and protest before the Lord, that they strive not about words, which is to no profit, but to the perverting of the hearers.
15 Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, dividing the word of truth dright.

16 1Stay profane, and vain babblings: 2for they shall increase unto more ungodliness.

17 And their word shall fret as a canker: of which sort is Hymenaeus and Philetus.

18 Which as concerning the truth have erred from the mark, saying that the resurrection is past already, and do destroy the faith of certain.

19 But the foundation of God remaineth sure, and hath this seal, The Lord knoweth who are his: and, Let everyone that calleth on the Name of Christ, depart from iniquity.

20 1Nowwithstanding in a great house are not only vessels of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earth, 2and some for honor, and some unto dishonor.

21 If any man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honor, sanctified, and meet for the Lord, and prepared unto every good work.

22 1Flee also from the lusts of youth, and follow after righteousness, faith, love, and peace, with them that call on the Lord with pure heart, 23 And put away foolish and unlearned questions, knowing that they engender strife.

24 But the servant of the Lord must not strive, but must be gentle toward all men, apt to teach, suffering the evil,

25 Instructing them with meekness that are contrary minded, proving if God at any time will give them repentance, that they may acknowledge the truth, 26 1And come to amendment out of that snare of the devil, of whom they are taken prisoners, to do his will.

2 TIMOTHY 2:15

CHAPTER 3

1 He foretelleth the dangerous times that are to ensue: 9 but with the certain hope of victory. 10 he encourageth him to the combat, 14 setting out especially the trial of sound doctrine.

1 This 1know also, that in the 4last days shall come perilous times.

2 For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, cursed speakers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy,

3 Without natural affection, truce breakers, false accusers, intemperate, fierce, no lovers at all of them which are good,

4 Traitors, heady, high-minded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God,

5 Having a show of godliness, but have denied the power thereof: 7 turn away therefore from such.

6 For of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captive simple women laden with sins, and led with divers lusts,

7 Which women are ever learning, and are never able to come to the acknowledging of the truth.

8 1And as Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth, men of corrupt minds, rebprobate concerning the faith.

9 1But they prevail no longer: for their madness shall be evident unto all men, as theirs also was.

2:15 1 The fifth admonition: A minister must not be an idle disputer, but a faithful steward in dividing aright the word of truth, insomuch that he must stop the mouths of other vain babblers.

2 By adding nothing to it, neither overslippering anything, neither mangling it, nor renting it in sunder, nor wresting of it: but marking diligently what his hearers are able to hear, and what is fit to edifying.

2:16 1 Mark and watch, and see they creep not on further.

2 He discovers the subtlety of Satan, who beginning with these principles draweth us by little and little to ungodliness through the means of that wicked and profane babbling, still creeping on: which he proveth by the horrible example of them that taught that, the resurrection was already past.

2:19 A digestion: wherein he salveth that offense that rose by their falling away: showing first, that the elect are out of all danger of any such falling away: secondly, that they are known to God and not to us: and therefore it is no marvel if we count hypocrites oftentimes for true brethren: but we must take heed that we be not like them, but rather that we be indeed, such as we are said to be.

2:20 That servant and worshippeth him, and is as it were named of him, a faithful man or Christian.

2:20 1 The taking away of an objection: it is no dishonor to the good man of the house, that he hath not in a great house all vessels of one sort and for one service, but we must look to this, that we be found vessels prepared to honor.

2:21 1 By these words is meant the execution of the matter, and not the cause: for in that we purge ourselves, it is not to be attributed to any free will that is in us, but to God, who freely and wholly worketh in us a good and an effectual will.

2:22 1 Returning to the matter from whence he digressed, verse 16, he warneth him to exercise himself in weighty matters, and such as pertain to godliness.

2:23 The sixth admonition: We must above all things eschew all bitterness of mind both in teaching all men, and also in calling them back which have gone out of the way.

2:24 1 To win them through our patient bearing with them, but not to please them or excuse them in their wickedness.

2:25 1 He meaneth such as do not yet see the truth.

3:1 1 The seventh admonition: we may not hope for any Church in this world without corruption: but there shall be rather great abundance of most wicked men, even in the very bosom of the Church, which notwithstanding shall make a show and countenance of great holiness and charity.

3:2 Which make no account, either of right or honesty.

3:5 1 We must not dally with such men as resist the truth not of simple ignorance, but of a perverse mind, (which thing appeareth by their fruits which he painteth out here lively:) but we must rather turn away from them.

3:9 1 He addeth a comfort: The Lord will at length pluck off all their vizards.

2:21 The fifth admonition: A minister must not be an idle disputer, but a faithful steward in dividing aright the word of truth, insomuch that he must stop the mouths of other vain babblers.

2 By adding nothing to it, neither overslippering anything, neither mangling it, nor renting it in sunder, nor wresting of it: but marking diligently what his hearers are able to hear, and what is fit to edifying.

2:16 Mark and watch, and see they creep not on further.

2 He discovers the subtlety of Satan, who beginning with these principles draweth us by little and little to ungodliness through the means of that wicked and profane babbling, still creeping on: which he proveth by the horrible example of them that taught that, the resurrection was already past.

2:19 A digestion: wherein he salveth that offense that rose by their falling away: showing first, that the elect are out of all danger of any such falling away: secondly, that they are known to God and not to us: and therefore it is no marvel if we count hypocrites oftentimes for true brethren: but we must take heed that we be not like them, but rather that we be indeed, such as we are said to be.

2:20 That servant and worshippeth him, and is as it were named of him, a faithful man or Christian.

2:20 The taking away of an objection: it is no dishonor to the good man of the house, that he hath not in a great house all vessels of one sort and for one service, but we must look to this, that we be found vessels prepared to honor.

3:2 Which make no account, either of right or honesty.

3:5 We must not dally with such men as resist the truth not of simple ignorance, but of a perverse mind, (which thing appeareth by their fruits which he painteth out here lively:) but we must rather turn away from them.

3:9 He addeth a comfort: The Lord will at length pluck off all their vizards.
10 ¶ But thou hast fully known my doctrine, manner of living, purpose, faith, longsuffering, love, patience, 11 Persecutions, and afflictions which came unto me at Antioch, at Iconium, and at Lystra, which persecutions I suffered: but from them all the Lord delivered me.

12 Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus, shall suffer persecution.

13 But the evil men and deceivers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived.

14 But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned, and which are committed unto thee, knowing of whom thou hast learned them:

15 And that thou hast known the holy Scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation, through the faith which is in Christ Jesus.

16 ¶ For the whole Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable to teach, to convince, to correct, and to instruct in righteousness, 17 That the man of God may be absolute, being made perfect unto all good works.

4 | 1 He charged him to preach the Gospel with all diligence, in such a time as this, that his death may be made hast to a glorious triumph. 10 He sheweth the cause why he sendeth for Timothy, 11 even by reason of his present state.

1 I Charge thee therefore before God, and before the Lord Jesus Christ, which shall judge the quick and dead at that his appearing, and in his kingdom,

2 Preach the word: be instant, in season, and out of season: improve, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine.

3 For the time will come when they will not suffer wholesome doctrine: but having their ears itching, shall after their own lusts get them an heap of teachers,

4 And shall turn their ears from the truth, and shall be given unto fables.

5 ¶ But watch thou in all things: suffer adversity: do the work of an Evangelist: cause thy ministry to be thoroughly liked of.

6 ¶ For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departing is at hand.

7 I have fought a good fight, and have finished my course: I have kept the faith.

8 For henceforth is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord the righteous Judge shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love that his appearing.

9 ¶ Make speed to come unto me at once:

10 For Demas hath forsaken me, and hath embraced this present world, and is departed unto Thessalonica. Crescens is gone to Galatia, Titus unto Dalmatia.

11 ¶ Only Luke is with me. Take Mark and bring him with thee: for he is profitable unto me to minister.

12 And Tychicus have I sent to Ephesus.

13 The cloak that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou comest, bring with thee, and the books, but specially the parchments.

14 Alexander the coppersmith hath done me much evil: the Lord reward him according to his works.

15 Of whom be thou ware also: for he withstood our preaching sore.

16 At my first answering no man assisted me, but all forsook me: I pray God, that it may not be laid to their charge.

17 Notwithstanding the Lord assisted me, and strengthened me, that by me the preaching might be fully believed, and that all the Gentiles should...

| 2TIM. 1:16 | 4:17 1 Of Nero.
| 4:18 1 Preserve me pure from committing anything unworthy my Apostleship.
| 21 Make speed to come before winter. Eubulus greeteth thee, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and all the brethren.
| 22 The Lord Jesus Christ be with thy Spirit. Grace be with you, Amen.

The second Epistle written from Rome unto Timothy, the first Bishop elected of the Church of Ephesus, when Paul was presented the second time before the Emperor Nero.
THE EPISTLE OF
TITUS

1 6 He sheweth what kind of men ought to be chosen Ministers: 10 how vain babblers' mouths should be stopped: 12 and through this occasion he toucheth the nature of the Cretans, 14 and the Jews, who put boldness in outward things.

1  Paul a servant of God, and an Apostle of Jesus Christ, according to the faith of God's elect, 4 and the acknowledging of the truth, which is according unto godliness.

2 Unto the hope of eternal life, which God that cannot lie, hath promised before the world began:

3 But hath made his word manifest in due time through the preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Savior:

4 To Titus my natural son according to the common faith, 2 grace, mercy, and peace of God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ our Savior:

5 For this cause left I thee in Crete, that thou shouldest continue to redress the things that remain, and shouldest ordain Elders in every city as I ap-

1:1 1 He voucheth his Apostleship, (not for Titus, but for the Cretans' sake) both by the testimony of his outward calling, and by his consent wherein he agreeeth with all the elect from the beginning of the world.

2 Minister, as Christ himself, in that he was a minister and head of the Prophets, is called a servant, Isa. 43:10.

3 Of those whom God hath chosen.

4 The faith wherein all the elect consent, is the true and sincere knowledge of God, tending to this end, that worshiping God aright according to his eternal purpose.

1:2 1 Hope is the end of faith.

2 Freely, and of his mere liberality.

3 See 2 Tim. 19.

1:3 1 This truth is no other where to be sought, but in the preaching of the Apostle.

2 This word (Savior) doth not only signify a preserver of life, but also a giver of life.

1:4 1 The Apostle moveth the Cretans to hear Titus, by setting forth his consent and agreement with him in the faith, and therewithal sheweth by what special note we may distinguish true ministers from false.

2 There is but one way of salvation, common both to the Pastor and the flock.

1:5 1 The first admonition, to ordain Elders in every city.

1:6 1 This word is proper to horses and oxen, which will not abide the yoke.

1:7 1 The second admonition, what faults pastors (whom he comprehendeth afore under the word Elders) ought to be void of, and what virtues they ought to have.

2a Whom the Lord hath appointed steward of his gifts.

2 2 Not hard conditioned, and evil to please.

1:8 1 Circumspect, of a sound judgment, and of a singular example of moderation.

1:9 1 The third admonition: The Pastor must hold fast that doctrine, which the Apostles delivered, and pertaineth to salvation, leaving all curious and vain matters.

2 The fourth admonition: To apply the knowledge of true doctrine unto use, which consisteth in two things, to wit, in governing them which shew themselves apt to learn, and confuting the obstinate.

1:10 1 An applying of the general proposition to a particular: The Cretans above all others need sharp reprehensions: both because their minds are naturally given to lies and slothfulness, and also because of certain covetous Jews, which under a color of godliness joined partly certain vain traditions, and partly old ceremonies with the Gospel.

2 Of the Jews, or rather of those Jews, which went about to join Christ and the Law together.

1:11 Whose mouths must be stopped, which subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre's sake.

1:12 One of themselves, even one of their own Prophets said, The Cretans are always liars, evil beasts, slow bellies.

1:13 1 For there are many disobedient and vain talkers and deceivers of minds, chiefly they of the Jews, or rather of those Jews, which went about to join Christ and the Law together.

1:14 An applying of the general proposition to a particular: The Cretans above all others need sharp reprehensions: both because their minds are naturally given to lies and slothfulness, and also because of certain covetous Jews, which under a color of godliness joined partly certain vain traditions, and partly old ceremonies with the Gospel.

1:15 Of the Jews, or rather of those Jews, which went about to join Christ and the Law together.

1:16 1 But harberous, one that loveth goodness, wise, righteous, holy, temperate.

1:17 1 Holding fast that faithful word according to doctrine, that he also may be able to exhort with wholesome doctrine, and convince them that say against it.

1:18 1 For there are many disobedient and vain talkers and deceivers of minds, chiefly they of the Jews, or rather of those Jews, which went about to join Christ and the Law together.

1:19 1 But harberous, one that loveth goodness, wise, righteous, holy, temperate.

1:20 1 But harberous, one that loveth goodness, wise, righteous, holy, temperate.
TITUS 1:13

13 This witness is true: wherefore convince them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith.

14 And not taking heed to those fables and commandments of men, that turn away from the truth.

15 Unto the pure are all things pure, but unto them that are defiled, and unbelieving, is nothing pure, but even their minds and consciences are defiled.

16 They profess that they know God, but by works they deny him, and are abominable and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate.

8 And with the wholesome word, which cannot be condemned, that he which withstandeth may be ashamed, having nothing concerning you to speak evil of.

9 Let servants be subject to their masters, and please them in all things, not answering again;

10 Neither pickers, but that they show all good faithfulness, that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Savior in all things.

11 For that grace of God, that bringeth salvation unto all men, hath appeared,

12 And teacheth us, that we should deny ungodliness and worldly lusts, and that we should live soberly and righteous, and godly in this present world,

13 Looking for that blessed hope, and appearing of our great God and our Savior Jesus Christ.

14 Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purge us to be peculiar people unto himself, zealous of good works.

15 These things speak, and exhort, and convince with all authority. See that no man despise thee.

1:13 1 Roughly and plainly, and go not about the bush with them.

1:15 1 He sheweth in few words, that purity consisteth not in any external worship, and that that is according to the old Law, (as in difference of meats, and washing, and other such things which are abolished) but in the mind and conscience: and whosoever teach otherwise, know not what is true religion indeed, and also are nothing less than that they would seem to be.

2 If our minds and conscience be unclean, what cleanness is there in us before regeneration?

2:1 1 The fifth admonition: The doctrine must not only be generally pure, but also be applied to all ages and orders of men, according to the diversity of circumstances.

2:2 1 What are the chiefest virtues for old and young, both men and women: and how they ought to be stirred up unto them continually.

2:5 1 No gadders up and down.

2:7 1 The sixth admonition: That both the Pastor’s life and doctrine must be sound.

2:9 1 The seventh admonition, of servant’s duty toward their masters.

2:8 Which may be done without offense to God.

2:11 The eighth admonition belonging to all the godly, that seeing God calleth all men to the Gospel, and Christ hath so justified us, that he hath also sanctified us, we must all of us give ourselves to true godliness and righteousness, setting before us a sure hope of that immeasurable glory: which thing must in such sort be beaten into their heads, that the gainsayers also must be reproved, by the authority of the mighty God.

2:12 Lusts of the flesh, which belong to the present state of this life and world.

2:13 Christ is here most plainly called that mighty God, and his appearance and coming is called by the figure Metonymy, our hope.

2:14 As it were a thing peculiarly laid up for himself.

2:15 With all authority possible.

3:1 He declareth particularly and severally, that which he said before generally, noting out certain chief and principal duties, which men owe to men, and especially subjects to their magistrates.

3:3 For we ourselves also were in times past unwise, disobedient, deceived, serving the lusts and divers pleasures, living in maliciousness and envy, hateful, and hating one another.
4 But when that bountifulness and that love of God our Savior toward man appeared,
5 Not by the works of righteousness, which we had done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of the new birth, and the renewing of the holy Ghost,
6 Which he shed on us abundantly, through Jesus Christ our Savior,
7 That we, being justified by his grace, should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life.
8 This is a true saying, and these things I will thou shouldest affirm, that they which have believed God, might be careful to show forth good works. These things are good and profitable unto men.
9 But stay foolish questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and brawlings about the Law: for they are unprofitable and vain.
10 Reject him that is an heretic, after once or twice admonition, 11 Knowing that he that is such, is perverted, and sinneth, being damned of his own self.
12 When I shall send Artemas unto thee, or Tychicus, be diligent to come to me unto Nicopolis: for I have determined there to winter.
13 Bring Zenas the expounder of the Law, and Apollos on their journey diligently, that they lack nothing.
14 And let ours also learn to show forth good works for necessary uses, that they be not unfruitful.
15 All that are with me, salute thee. Greet them that love us in the faith. Grace be with you all. Amen.

To Titus, elect the first Bishop of the Church of the Cretans, written from Nicopolis in Macedonia.

3:5 1 Word for word, of works which are done in righteousness: and this place doth fully refute the doctrine of merits.
2 Which the virtue of the holy Ghost worketh.
3:8 1 Again with great earnestness he beateth into our heads, how that we ought to give ourselves, to true godliness, and eschew all vain questions, which serve to nothing but to move strife and debate.
3:10 1 The ministers of the word must at once cast off heretics, that is, such as stubbornly and seditiously disquiet the Church, and will give no ear to Ecclesiastical admonitions.
3:12 1 Least of all, he writeth a word or two of private matters and commendeth certain men.
Paul a prisoner of Jesus Christ, and our brother Timothy, unto Philemon our dear friend, and fellow helper,

And to our dear sister Apphia, and to Archipus our fellow soldier, and to the Church that is in thine house:

Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

I give thanks to my God, making mention always of thee in my prayers,

When I hear of thy love and faith, which thou hast toward the Lord Jesus, and toward all Saints.

That the fellowship of thy faith may be made effectual, and that whatsoever good thing is in you through Christ Jesus, may be known.

For we have great joy and consolation in thy love, because by thee, brother, the Saints bowels are comforted.

Wherefore, though I be very bold in Christ to command thee that which is convenient,

Yet for love’s sake I rather beseech thee, though I be as I am, even Paul aged, and even now a prisoner for Jesus Christ.

I beseech thee for my son Onesimus, whom I have begotten in my bonds,

Which in times past was to thee unprofitable, but now profitable both to thee and to me.

Whom I have sent again: thou therefore receive him, that is mine own bowels,

Whom I would have received with me, that in thy stead he might have ministered unto me in the bonds of the Gospel.

But without thy mind would I do nothing, that thy benefit should not be as it were of necessity, but willingly.

It may be that he therefore departed for a season, that thou shouldst receive him forever,

Not now as a servant, but above a servant, even as a brother beloved, specially to me: how much more then unto thee, both in the flesh and in the Lord?

If therefore thou count our things common, receive him as myself.

If he hath hurt thee, or oweth thee ought, that put on my accounts.

I Paul have written this with mine own hand: I will recompense it, albeit I do not say to thee, that thou owest moreover unto me even thine own self.

Yea, brother, let me obtain this pleasure of thee in the Lord: comfort my bowels in the Lord.

Trusting in thine obedience, I wrote unto thee knowing that thou wilt do even more than I say, Moreover also prepare me lodging: for I trust through your prayers I shall be freely given unto you.

There salute thee Epaphras my fellow prisoner in Christ Jesus,

The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

Written from Rome to Philemon, and sent by Onesimus a servant.
The Epistle to the Hebrews

The drift and end of this Epistle, is to show that Jesus Christ the Son of God both God and man, is that true eternal and only Prophet, King, and high Priest, that was shadowed by the figures of the old Law, and is now indeed exhibited: of whom the whole Church ought to be taught, governed and sanctified.

1:2 To show that the doctrine which Christ brought, is most excellent, in that it is the knitting up of all prophecies, he advancement him above the Angels: And prove by divers testimonies of the Scripture, that he far passeth all others.

1:1 The first part of the general proposition of this Epistle: the Son of God is indeed that Prophet or teacher, which hath actually now performed that God after a sort and in shadows signified by his Prophets, and hath fully opened his Father's will to the world.

1:2 So that the former declaration made by the Prophets was not full, and nothing must be added to this latter. Which one Son is God and man.

1:2 The second part of the same proposition: The same Son is appointed by the Father to be our King and Lord, by whom also he made all things, and in whom only he seteth forth his glory, yea and himself also to be beheld of us, who beareth up and sustaineth all things by his mighty word: hath by himself purged our sins: and sitteth at the right hand of the Majesty in the highest places.

1:4 And is made so much more excellent than the Angels, inasmuch as he hath obtained a more excellent Name than they.

1:5 For unto which of the Angels said he at any time, Thou art my Son, this day begat I thee? and again, I will be his Father, and he shall be my Son:

1:8 And again, when he bringeth in his first begotten Son into the world, he saith, and let all the Angels of God worship him.

1:7 And of the Angels he saith, He maketh the spirits his messengers, and his ministers a flame of fire.

1:8 But unto the Son he saith, O God, thy throne is forever and ever: the scepter of thy kingdom is a scepter of righteousness.

1:9 Thou hast loved righteousness and hated iniquity. Wherefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness, above thy fellows.

1:10 And, Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast established the earth, and the heavens are the works of thine hands.

1:11 They shall perish, but thou dost remain, and they all shall wax old as doth a garment.

1:12 And as a vesture shalt thou fold them up, and they shall be changed: but thou art the same, and thy years shall not fail.

1:13 Unto which also of the Angels said he at any time, Thou art my Son, this day begat I thee? and again, I will be his Father, and he shall be my Son:

1:14 Before he cometh to declare the office of Christ, he setteth forth the excellency of his person, and first of all he showeth him so to be man, that therewithal he is God also.

1:15 Dignity and honor.

1:16 The Lord was not content to have spoken it once, but repeated it in another place.

1:17 Seraph, Isa. 6:2.

1:18 The throne is proper to the Prince, and not to the servant.

1:19 This kind of rehearsing in which the Jews use contraries, hath great force in it.

1:20 In that, that the word became flesh, by pouring the holy Ghost upon him without measure.

1:21 For he is the head and we are his members.

1:20 Madest the earth firm and sure.

1:21 Before he cometh to declare the office of Christ, he setteth forth the excellency of his person, and first of all he showeth him so to be man, that therewithal he is God also.

1:22 Dignity and honor.

1:23 The Lord was not content to have spoken it once, but repeated it in another place.

1:24 Seraph, Isa. 6:2.

1:25 The throne is proper to the Prince, and not to the servant.

1:26 This kind of rehearsing in which the Jews use contraries, hath great force in it.

1:27 In that, that the word became flesh, by pouring the holy Ghost upon him without measure.

1:28 For he is the head and we are his members.

1:29 Madest the earth firm and sure.
1:14 1 By that name by which we commonly call Princes' messengers, he here calleth the spirits.
2:1 1 Now as it were passing with himself and showing to what end and purpose all these things were spoken, to wit, to understand by the excellency of Christ above all creatures, that his doctrine, majesty and Priesthood is most perfect, he useth an exhortation taken from a comparison.
2:2 1 The Law which appointed punishment for the offenders: and which Paul saith was given by Angels, Gal. 3:19, and Stephen, Acts 7:53.
2:3 1 If the breach and transgression of the word spoken by Angels was not suffered unpunished, much less shall it be lawful for us to neglect the Gospel which the Lord of Angels preached, and was confirmed by the voice of the Apostles, and with so many signs and wonders from heaven, and especially with so great and mighty working of the holy Ghost.
2:4 1 This is the true end of miracles. Now they are called signs, because they appear one thing, and represent another: and they are called wonders, because they represent some strange and unaccustomed things and virtues, because they give us a glimpse of God's mighty power.
2:5 1 If it were an heinous matter to contemn the Angels which are but servants, much more heinous is it to contemn that most mighty King of the restored world.
2:6 1 The world to come, whereof Christ is Father, Isa. 9:6, or the Church, which as a new world, was to be gathered together by the Gospel.
2:7 1 This is the first honor of the citizens of the world to come, that they are next [to] the Angels.
2:8 1 But for they shall be in very great honor, when they shall be partakers of the kingdom. And he speaketh of the thing that shall be, as though it were already, because it is so certain.
2:9 1 An objection: But where is this so great rule and dominion?
2:10 1 The answer: this is already fulfilled in Jesus Christ our head, who was for a time for our sakes inferior to the Angels, being made man: but now is advanced into most high glory.
14 Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister, for their sakes which shall be heirs of salvation?
1 Thus shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?
he should consecrate the 3Prince of their salvation through afflictions.

11 For he that 2sanctifieth, and they which are sanctified, are all of one: wherefore he is not ashamed to call them brethren.

12 Saying, I will declare thy Name unto my brethren: in the midst of the Church will I sing praises to thee.

13 And again, I will put my trust in him. And again, Behold, here am I, and the children which God hath given me.

14 Forasmuch then as the children are 3partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part with them, that he might destroy 1through death, him that had the 1power of death, that is, the 1devil.

15 And that he might deliver all them, which for fear of 1death were all their lifetime subject to bondage.

16 For he in no sort took on him the 2nature, but he took on him the 3seed of Abraham.

17 Wherefore in 2all things he behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be merciful, and a 4faithful high Priest in things concerning God, that he might make reconciliation for the sins of the people.

18 For in that he suffered, and was tempted, he is able to succor them that are tempted.

CHAP. 3 1 Now he showeth how far inferior Moses is to Christ, 5, 6 even so much as the servant to the Masters: and so he bringeth in certain exhortations and threatenings taken out of David, 8 against such as either stubbornly resist, or else are very slow to obey.

1 Therefore, 1holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly vocation, consider the 2Apostle and high Priest of our 3profession Christ Jesus:

2 1Who was faithful to him that hath appointed him, even as 2Moses was in all his house.

3 1For this man is counted worthy of more glory than Moses, inasmuch as he which hath built the house, hath more honor than the house.

4 For every house is builded of some man, and he that hath built all things, is God.

5 The Chieftain, who as he is chiefest in dignity, so is he the first begotten from among the dead, amongst many brethren.

2:11 1 The ground of both the former arguments: for neither should we be sons through him, neither could he be consecrated through afflictions, unless he hath been made man like unto us. But because this Sonhood dependeth not upon nature only, for no man is accounted the son of God, unless that besides that he is a son of a man, he be also Christ's brother, (which is by sanctification, that is, by becoming one with Christ, who sanctifieth us through faith) therefore the Apostle maketh mention of the sanctifier, to wit, of Christ, and of them that are sanctified, to wit, of all the faithful, whom therefore Christ vouchsafeth to call brethren.

2 He useth the time that now is, to show us that we are yet still going on, and increasing in this sanctification, and by sanctification he meaneth our separation from the rest of the world, our cleansing from sin, and our dedication wholly unto God, all which Christ alone worketh in us.

3 One, of one selfsame nature of man.

2:12 1 That which he taught before of the incarnation of the sanctifier, he applieth to the prophethal office.

2:13 1 He applieth the same to the kingly power of Christ in delivering him from the power of the devil and death.

2 I will commit myself to him, and to his defense.

3 This Isaiah speaketh of himself and his disciples, but betokening thereby all ministers, as also his disciples signify the whole Church. And therefore seeing Christ is the head of the Prophets and ministers, these words are more rightly verified of him, than of Isaiah.

2:14 1 Are made of flesh and blood which is a frail and brittle nature.

2 The devil is said to have the power of death, because he is the author of sin: and from sin cometh death, and for this cause he engageth us daily to sin.

3 He speaketh of one as of the Prince, joining to him secretly all his angels.

2:15 1 By (death) thou must understand here that death which is joined with the wrath of God, as it must needs be, if it be without Christ, then there can be nothing devised more miserable.

2:16 1 He expoundeth those words of flesh and blood, showing that Christ is true man, and not by turning his divine nature, but by taking on man's nature. And he nameth Abraham, respecting the promises made to Abraham in this behalf.

2 The nature of Angels.

3 The very nature of man.

2:17 1 He applieth the same to the Priesthood, for which he should not have benefit, unless he had become man, and that like unto us in all things, sin only except.

2 Not only as touching nature, but qualities also.

3 That he might be truly touched with the feeling of our miseries.

4 Doing his office sincerely.

2:18 1 Was tried and egged to wickedness by the devil.

3:1 Having laid the foundation, that is to say, declared and proved both the natures of one selfsame Christ, he giveth him three offices, to wit, the office of a Prophet, king, and Priest: and as touching the office of teaching and governing, compareth them with Moses and Joshua, unto verse 14 of the next Chapter, and with Aaron touching the Priesthood. And he propoundeth that which he purposeth to speak of, with a most grave exhortation, that all our faith may tend to Christ, as to the only everlasting teacher, governor, and high Priest.

3 The Ambassador or messenger, as Rom. 1:5, he is called the minister of circumscription.

3 Of the doctrine of the Gospel which we profess.

3:2 He confirmeth this exhortation with two reasons, first of all because Christ Jesus was appointed such an one of God: secondly, because he thoroughly executed the offices that his Father enjoined him.

2 Apostle and high Priest.

3:3 1 Now he cometh to the comparison with Moses, and he maketh them like one to the other in this, that they were both appointed rulers over God's house, and executed faithfully their office: but by and by after he sheweth that there is great unlikeness in that similitude.

3:3 1 The first comparison: The builder of the house is better than the house itself, therefore is Christ better than Moses. The reason of the consequent is this: because the builder of this house is God, which cannot be attributed to Moses: and therefore Moses was not properly the builder, but a part of the house: but Christ as Lord and God, made all this house.
5 Now Moses verily was faithful in all his house, as a servant, for a witness of the things which should be spoken after.

6 But Christ is as the Son, over his own house, whose house we are, if we hold fast that confidence and that rejoicing of that hope unto the end.

7 Wherefore, as the holy Ghost saith, Today if ye shall hear his voice, 8 Harden not your hearts, as in the provocation, according to the day of the temptation in the wilderness.

9 Where your fathers tempted me, proved me, and saw my works forty years long.

10 Wherefore I was grieved with that generation, and said, They err ever in their heart, neither have they known my ways.

11 Therefore I swear in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest.

12 Take heed brethren, lest at any time there be in any of you an evil heart, and unfaithful, to depart away from the living God.

13 But exhort one another daily, while it is called Today.

14 For we are made partakers of Christ, if we keep sure unto the end that beginning, wherewith we are upholden, 15 So long as it is said, Today if ye hear his voice, harden not your hearts, as in your provocation.

16 For some when they heard, provoked him to anger: howbeit, not all that came out of Egypt by Moses.

3:15 So long as this voice soundeth out. 1

3:17 But with whom was he displeased forty years? Was he not displeased with them that sinned, whose carcasses fell in the wilderness? 10

18 And to whom swear he that they should not enter into his rest, but unto them that obeyed not?

19 So we see that they could not enter in, because of unbelief.

4 1 He jointeth exhortation with threatening, lest they, even as their fathers were deprived of the rest offered unto them, 11 but that they endeavor to enter into it. 14 And so he beginneth to entreat of Christ's Priesthood.

1 Let us fear therefore, lest at any time by forsaking the promise of entering into his rest, any of you should seem to be deprived.

2 For unto us was the Gospel preached as also unto them: but the word that they heard, profited not them, because it was not mixed with faith in those that heard it.

3 For we which have believed, do enter into rest, as he said to the other, As I have sworn in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest: although the works were finished from the foundation of the world.

4 For he spake in a certain place of the seventh day on this wise, And God did rest the seventh day from all his works.

5 And in this place again, If they shall enter into my rest.

6 Seeing therefore it remaineth that some must enter thereinto, and they to whom it was first preached, entered not therein for unbelief's sake:

7 Again he appointed in David a certain day, by

3:5 1 Another comparison: Moses was a faithful servant in this house, that is, in the Church, seeing the Lord that was to come, but Christ ruleth and governeth his house as Lord. 3:6 He applieth the former doctrine to this end, exhorting all men by the words of David to hear the Son himself speak, and to give full credit to his words, seeing that otherwise they cannot enter into that eternal rest.

3:7 So that God was to speak once again after Moses.

3:8 In the day that they vexed the Lord, or sware with him.

3:10 They are brutish and mad.

3:12 Now weighing the words of David, he sheweth first by this word, Today that we must not neglect the occasion while we have it: for that word is not to be restrained to David's time, but it comprehendeth all the time wherein God calleth us.

3:13 While today lasteth, that is to say, so long as the Gospel is offered to us.

3:14 Now he considereth these words, If you hear his voice, etc., showing that they are spoken and meant of the hearing of faith, against which he setteth hardening through unbelief.

3:15 So long as this voice soundeth out.

4:1 By these words, His voice, he sheweth that David meant the preaching of Christ, who was then also preached, for Moses and the Prophets respected none other. 4:2 He compareth the preaching of the Gospel to drink, which being drunk, that is to say, heard, profited nothing, unless it be tempered with faith.

4:3 Lest any man should object, that those words were meant of the Land of Canaan, and of Moses' doctrine, and therefore cannot well be drawn to Christ, and to eternal life, the Apostle sheweth that there are two manner of restes spoken of in the Scriptures: the one, of the seventh day, wherein God is said to have rested from all his works: the other is said to be that same, wherein Joshua led the people: but this rest is not the last rest whereto we are called and that he proveth by two reasons. For seeing that David so long time after, speaking to the people which were then placed in the land of Canaan, useth these words, Today, and threateneth them still that they shall not enter into the rest of God, which refuseth then the voice of God that sounded in their ears, we must needs say that he meant another time than the time of Moses, and another rest than the rest of the land of Canaan: And that is, that everlasting rest, wherein we begin to live to God, after that the race of this life ceaseth: as God resteth the seventh day from those his works, that is to say, from making the world.

Moreover, the Apostle therewithal signifieth that the way to this rest, which Moses and the land of Canaan and all that order of the Law did shadow, is opened in the Gospel only.

3:1 Hebrews 3:5 1262

4:1 Hebrews 4:11

4:2 Hebrews 4:14

4:3 Hebrews 4:16
5 1 First be showeth the duty of the high Priest: 5 Secondly, that Christ is appointed of God to be our high Priest, 7 and that he hath fulfilled all things belonging thereunto.

1 For every high Priest is taken from among men, and is ordained for men, in things pertaining to God, 2 that he may offer both gifts and sacrifices for sins.

2 Which is able sufficiently to have compassion on them that are ignorant, and that are out of the way, because that he also is compassed with infirmity,

3 And for the same sake he is bound to offer for sins, as well for his own part, as for the peoples.

4 aAnd no man taketh this honor unto himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.

5 So likewise Christ took not to himself this honor to be made the high Priest, but he that said unto him, aThou art my son, this day begat I thee, gave it him.

6 As he also in another place speaketh, aThou art a Priest forever, after the order of Melchizedek,

7 aWho in the days of his flesh did offer up prayers and supplications, with strong crying and tears unto him, that was able to save him from death, and was also heard in that which he feared.

8 And though he were the Son, yet learned he help in time of need.

1 Heb. 3:7

5:1 The first part of the first comparison of Christ's high Priesthood, with Aaron's: Other high Priests are taken from among men, and are called after the order of men.

5:2 The first part of the second comparison, Others as weak: are made high Priests, to the end that feeling the same infirmity in themselves which is in all the rest of the people, they should in their own and the people's name offer gifts and sacrifices, which are witnesses of common faith, and repentance.

5:3 Offering of things without life.

5:4 Beasts which were killed, but especially in the sacrifices for sins and offenses.

5:5 1 Fit and meet.

5:6 aOn them that are sinful: for in the Hebrew tongue, under ignorance and error is every sin meant, even that sin that is voluntary.

5:7 For that he himself beareth about with him a nature subject to the same discommodities and vices.

5:8 The third comparison which is whole: The others are called of God, and so was Christ, but in another order than Aaron: for Christ is called the Son, begotten of God, and a Priest forever after the order of Melchizedek.

5:9 After the likeness or manner as it is afterward declared, Heb. 7:15.

5:10 1 The other part of the second comparison: Christ being exceedingly afflicted and exceedingly merciful, asked not for his sins, for he had none, but for his fear, and obtained his request, and offered himself for all his.

5:11 While he lived here with us in our weak and frail nature.

5:12 To deliver him from death.

5:13 aHe learned indeed what it is to have a Father, whom a man must obey.

4:8 1 He speaketh of Joshua the son of Nun: and as the land of Canaan was a figure of our true rest, so was Joshua a figure of Christ.

4:10 1 As God rested the seventh day, so must we rest from our works, that is, from such as proceed from our corrupt nature.

4:11 1 He returneth to an exhortation.

5:1 1 And no man taketh this honor unto himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.

5:2 Which is able sufficiently to have compassion on them that are ignorant, and that are out of the way, because that he also is compassed with infirmity,

5:3 And for the same sake he is bound to offer for sins, as well for his own part, as for the peoples.

5:4 aAnd no man taketh this honor unto himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.

5:5 So likewise Christ took not to himself this honor to be made the high Priest, but he that said unto him, aThou art my son, this day begat I thee, gave it him.

6 As he also in another place speaketh, aThou art a Priest forever, after the order of Melchizedek, obedience, by the things which he suffered.
9 1 And being consecrated, was made the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him:
10 And is called of God an high Priest after the order of Melchizedek.
11 Of whom we have many things to say, which are hard to be uttered, because ye are dull of hearing.
12 For when as concerning the time ye ought to be teachers, yet have ye need again that we teach you what are the first principles of the word of God: and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat.
13 For everyone that useth milk, is inexpert in the word of righteousness: for he is a babe.
14 But strong meat belongeth to them that are of age, which through long custom have their wits exercised, to discern both good and evil.

6 1 He briefly toucheth the childish slothfulness of the Hebrews, 4 and terrifieth them with severe threatenings: 7 He stirreth them up to endeavor in time to go forward: 9 He hopeth well of them: 13 He allegeth Abraham's example: 17 and compar eth faith that taketh hold on the word, 19 unto an anchor.

1 Therefore, leaving the doctrine of the beginning of Christ, let us be led forward unto perfection, not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God,
2 Of the doctrine of baptisms, and laying on of hands, and of the resurrection from the dead, and of eternal judgment,
3 And this will we do if God permit.

5:9 1 The other part of the first comparison: Christ was consecrate of God the Father as the author of our salvation, and an high Priest forever, and therefore he is so a man that notwithstanding he is far above all men.
2 See Heb. 2:10.
5:11 1 A digression, until he comes to the beginning of the seventh chapter: wherein he partly holdeth the Hebrews in the diligent consideration of those things which he hath said, and partly prepareth them to the understanding of those things whereof he will speak.
5:12 1 An example of an Apostolic chiding.
5:13 1 In the word that teacheth righteousness.
5:14 1 All their power whereby they understand and judge.
6:1 1 The first principles of Christian religion, which we call the Catechism.
2 Certain principles of a Catechism, which comprehend the sum of the doctrine of the Gospel, were given in few words and briefly to the rude and ignorant, to wit, the profession of repentance and faith in God: the articles of which doctrine, were demanded of them which were not as yet received members of the Church, at the days appointed for Baptism: and of the children of the faithful which were baptized in their infancy: when hands were laid upon them. And of those articles, two are by name recited: the resurrection of the flesh, and the eternal judgment.
6:4 1 He addeth a vehemency to his exhortation, and a most sharp threatening of the certain destruction that shall come to them which fall from God and his religion.
2 He speaketh of a general backsliding, and such as do altogether fall away from the faith, and not of sins which are committed through the frailty of man against the first and the second table.
3 We must mark the force of this word, for it is one thing to believe as Lydia did, whose heart God opened, Acts 16:13, and another thing to have some taste.
4 As men that hate Christ, and as though they crucified him again make him a mocking stock to all the world, and that to their own destruction, as Julian the Apostate or backslider did.
5 He setteth forth the former threatening with a similitude.
6 He mitigateth and assuageth all that sharpness, hoping better of them to whom he writeth.
6:10 1 He praiseth them for their charity, thereby encouraging them to go forward, and to hold out to the end.
6:12 1 He showeth what virtues chiefly they have need of to go forward constantly, and also to profit: to wit, of charity, and patience: and lest any man should object and say, that these things are impossible to be done, he willeth them to set before themselves the examples of their ancestors, and to follow them.
6:13 1 Another prick to prick them forward: Because the hope of the inheritance is certain, if we continue to the end, for God hath not only promised it, but also promised it with an oath.
6:14 1 I will heap up benefits most plentifully upon thee.
enjoyed the promise.

16 For men verily swear by him that is greater than themselves, and an oath for confirmation is among them an end of strife.

17 So God, willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the stableness of his counsel, bound himself by an oath,

18 That by two immutable things, wherein it is impossible that God should lie, we might have strong consolation, which have our refuge to lay hold upon that hope that is set before us,

19 Which hope we have, as an anchor of the soul, but sure and steadfast, and it entereth into that which is within the veil, 20 Whither the forerunner is for us entered in, even Jesus that is made an high Priest forever after the order of Melchizedek.

7 1 He hath hitherto stirred them up, to mark diligently what things are to be considered in Melchizedek. 15 Wherein he is like unto Christ. 20 Wherefore the Law should give place to the Gospel.

1 For this Melchizedek was King of Salem, the Priest of the most high God, who met Abraham, as he returned from the slaughter of the Kings, and blessed him:

2 To whom also Abraham gave the tithe of all things: who first is by interpretation King of righteousness: after that, be is also King of Salem, that is, King of peace,

6:17 1 More than was needful, were it not for the wickedness of men which believe not God, no though he swear.

6:19 1 He liketh hope to an anchor: because that even as an anchor being cast into the bottom of the sea, stayeth the whole ship, so doth hope also enter even into the very secret places of heaven. And he maketh mention of the Sanctuary, alluding to the old tabernacle, and by this means returneth to the comparisons of the Priesthood, which believe not God, no though he swear.

7:1 Declaring those words, According to the order of Melchizedek, whereupon that comparison standeth of the Priesthood of Christ with the Levitical: first Melchizedek himself is considered as the figure of Christ, and these are the hands of that comparison, Melchizedek was a King and a Priest: and such an one indeed is Christ alone. He was a King of peace and righteousness: such an one indeed is King of Salem, that is, King of peace, according to his order (as a Priest according to his order) is more excellent than the Levitical.

7:2 With a solemn and Priestly blessing.

7:3 Another figure: Melchizedek before us to be considered as one without beginning and without ending, for neither his father, his mother, nor his ancestors, nor his death are written of: and such an one indeed is the Son of God, to wit, an everlasting Priest: as he is God, without mother wonderfully begotten: as he is man, without father wonderfully conceived.

7:4 Another figure: Melchizedek in consideration of his Priesthood was above Abraham, for he took tenthst of him, and blessed him as a Priest: Such an one indeed is Christ, upon whom dependeth even Abraham’s sanctification, and all the believers, and whom all men ought to worship and reverence as the author of all.

7:5 1 Were begotten by Abraham.

7:7 1 He speaketh of the public blessing which the Priests used.

7:9 1 A double amplification: The first, that Melchizedek took the tenthst, as one immortal (to wit, in respect, that he is the figure of Christ, for his death is in no place made mention of, and David setteth him forth as an everlasting Priest) but the Levitical Priests, as mortal men, for they succeed one another: the second, that Levi himself was tithed in Abraham by Melchizedek. Therefore the Priesthood of Melchizedek (that is, Christ’s who is pronounced to be an everlasting Priest according to his order) is more excellent than the Levitical.

7:11 1 The third treatise of this Epistle, wherein after he hath proved Christ to be a King, a Prophet, and a Priest, he now handlieth distinctly the condition and excellency of all these offices, showing that all these were but shadows in all other, but in Christ they are true and perfect. And he beginneth with the Priesthood, whereunto also by the law of Moses the Levitical Priests were tithed, (as it is written: Levi also which receiveth tithes, payeth tithes in Abraham.)

7:12 1 He sheweth how that by the institution of the new Priesthood, not only the imperfection of the Priesthood of Levi was declared, but also that it was changed for this: for these two cannot stand together, because that first appointment of the tribe of Levi, did shut forth the tribe of Judah, and made it also inferior to Levi: and this latter doth place the Priesthood in the tribe of Judah.

2 Of the institution of Aaron.
For he of whom these things are spoken, pertaineth unto another tribe, whereof no man served at the altar.

For it is evident, that our Lord sprung out of Judah, concerning the which tribe Moses spake nothing, touching the Priesthood.

And it is yet a more evident thing, because that after the similitude of Melchizedek, there is risen up another Priest,

Which is not made Priest after the Law of the carnal commandment, but after the power of the endless life.

For he testifieth thus, Thou art a Priest forever, after the order of Melchizedek.

For the commandment that went afore, is disannulled, because of the weakness thereof, and unprofitableness.

For the Law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope made perfect, whereby we draw near unto God.

And forasmuch as it is not without an oath (for these are made Priests without an oath:

But this is made with an oath by him that said unto him, The Lord hath sworn, and will not repent, Thou art a Priest forever, after the order of Melchizedek.)

By so much is Jesus made a surety of a better Testament.

And among them many were made Priests, because they were not suffered to endure, by the reason of death.

But this man, because he endureth ever, hath a Priesthood, which cannot pass from one to another.

Wherefore, he is able also perfectly to save them that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth, to make intercession for them.

For such an high Priest it became us to have, which is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens:

Which needeth not daily as those high Priests to offer up sacrifice, first for his own sins, and then for the peoples: for that did he once, when he offered up himself.

For the Law maketh men high Priests, which have infirmity: but the word of the oath that was since the Law, maketh the Son, who is consecrated for evermore.

To prove more certainly that the ceremonies of the Law are abrogated, he showeth that they were appointed to serve the heavenly pattern. He bringeth in the place of Jeremiah, 13 to prove the amendment of the old covenant.

Now of the things which we have spoken, this is the sum, that we have such an high Priest, that sitteth at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in heavens,

And is a minister of the Sanctuary, and of the ceremonial, and perfect pureness, which may separate him from sinners, for whom he offereth. But the Levitical high Priests shall not be found to be such, for they offer first for their own sins: But Christ only is such a one; and therefore the true and only high Priest.

Another argument which notwithstanding he handleth afterward: The Levitical Priests offered sacrifice after sacrifice, first for themselves, and then for the people. But Christ offered not for himself, but for others, not sacrifices, but himself, not oftentimes, but once. And this ought not to seem strange; saith he, forsomuch as they are weak, but this man is consecrated an everlasting Priest, and that by an oath.

That sacrifice which he offered.

It was so done, that it needeth not be repeated or offered again anymore.

The commandment of God which was bound with an oath.

Another argument taken of the time: former things are taken away by the latter.

Exhibited.

He briefly repeateth that, whereunto all these things are to be referred, to wit, we have a far other high Priest than those Levitical high Priests are, even such an one as sitteth at the right hand of the most high God in heaven.

They of Levi were high Priests in an earthly sanctuary, but Christ is in the heavenly.

Of heaven.

They of Levi exercised their Priesthood in a frail tabernacle, but Christ beareth about with him a far other tabernacle, to wit, his body which God himself made to be everlasting, as it shall afterward be declared, Heb. 9:11.
that 'true Tabernacle which the Lord pitched, and not man.

3 1 For every high Priest is ordained to offer both gifts and sacrifices: wherefore it was of necessity, that this man should have somewhat also to offer.

4 1 For he were not a Priest, if he were on the earth, seeing there are Priests that according to the Law offer gifts,

5 Who serve unto the pattern and shadow of heavenly things, as Moses was warned by God when he was about to finish the Tabernacle. See, said he, that thou make all things according to the pattern, showed to thee in the mount.

6 1 But now our high Priest hath obtained a more excellent office, inasmuch as he is the Mediator of a better Testament, which is established upon better promises.

7 1 For if that first Testament had been unblameable, no place should have been sought for the second.

8 For in rebuking them he saith, 'Behold, the days will come, saith the Lord, when I shall make with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah a new Testament:

9 Not like the Testament that I made with their fathers, in the day that I took them by the hand, to lead them out of the land of Egypt: for they continued not in my Testament, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord.

10 For this is the Testament that I will make with the house of Israel, After those days, saith the Lord, I will put my Laws in their mind, and in their heart will I write them, and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

11 And they shall not teach every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord:

for all shall know me, from the least of them to the greatest of them.

12 For I will be merciful to their unrighteousness, and I will remember their sins and their iniquities no more.

13 1 In that he saith a new Testament, he hath abrogated the old: now that which is disannulled and waxed old, is ready to vanish away.

2 Comparing the form of the Tabernacle, and the ceremonies of the Law.

1 Then 'the first Testament had also ordinances of religion, and a 'worldly Sanctuary,

2 For the first Tabernacle was made, wherein was the candlestick, and the table, and the showbread, which Tabernacle is called the Holy places.

3 And after the second veil was the Tabernacle, which is called the Holiest of all.

4 Which had the golden censer, and the Ark of the Testament overlaid round about with gold, wherein the golden pot, which had Manna, was; and Aaron's rod that had budded, and the tables of the Testament.

5 'And over the Ark were the glorious Cherubims, shadowing the 'mercy seat: of which things we will not now speak particularly.

6 'Now when these things were thus ordained, the Priest went always into the first Tabernacle, and accomplished the service.

7 But into the second went the 'high Priest alone, once every year, not without blood which he offered for himself, and for the 'ignorances of the people.

4 Of his body.

8:1 He bringeth a reason why it must needs be that Christ should have a body (which he calleth a tabernacle which the Lord pight and not man) to wit, that he might have what to offer: for otherwise he could not be an high Priest. And the selfsame body is both the tabernacle and the sacrifice.

8:4 He giveth a reason why he said that our high Priest is in the heavenly sanctuary and not in the earthly: because, saith he, if he were now on the earth, he could not minister in the earthly sanctuary, seeing there are yet Levitical Priests, which are appointed for him, that is to say, to be patterns of that perfect example. And to what purpose should the patterns serve when the true and original example is present.

8:6 He entrencheth into the comparison of the old and transitory Testament or covenant being but for a time, whereas the Levitical Priests were mediators with the new the everlasting Mediator whereof is Christ, to show that this is not only better than that in all respects, but also that that was abrogated by this.

8:7 He proveth by the testimony of Jeremiah, that there is a second Testament or covenant, and therefore that the first was not perfect.

8:8 He calleth it an house, as it were one family of the whole kingdom: for whereas the kingdom of David was divided into two factions, the Prophet giveth us to understand that through the new Testament they shall be joined together again in one.

8:13 The conclusion: Therefore by the latter and the new, the first and old is taken away, for it could not be called new if it differed not from the old. And again that same is at length taken away: which is subject to corruption, and therefore imperfect.

9:1 A division of the first Tabernacle which he calleth worldly, that is to say, transitory and earthly into two parts, to wit, into the holy places and the Holiest of all.

9:2 An earthly and a fitting.

9:3 He calleth it the second veil, not because there were two veils, but because it was behind the Sanctuary or the first Tabernacle.

9:7 The holiest Sanctuary.

9:5 The Hebrews call the cover of the Ark of the covenant, the mercy seat, whom both the Greeks and we follow.

9:6 Now he cometh to the sacrifices which he divideth into those daily sacrifices, and that yearly and solemn sacrifice, with the which the high Priest only, but once every year entering into the Holiest of all with blood, offered for himself and the people.

9:7 For the sins. See Heb. 5:2.
8 1Whereby the holy Ghost this signified, that the way into the Holiest of all was not yet opened, while as yet the first tabernacle was standing,

9 1Which was a figure 2for that present time, wherein were offered gifts and sacrifices that could not make holy, concerning the conscience, him that did the service,

10 1Which only stood in meats and drinks, and divers washings, and carnal rites, 2which were enjoined, until the time of reformation.

11 1But Christ being come an high Priest of good things to come, 2by a 3greater and a more perfect Tabernacle, not made with hands, that is, not of this building, 12 1Neither by the blood of 2goats and calves: but by his own blood entered he in once unto the holy place, and obtained eternal redemption for us.

13 1For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer, sprinkling them that are unclean, sanctifieth as touching the 2purifying of the flesh,

14 How much more shall the 2blood of Christ which through the eternal Spirit offered himself without fault to God, 3purge your conscience from 4dead works, to serve the living God?

15 1And for this cause is he the Mediator of the new Testament, that through 4death which was for the redemption of the transgressions that were in the former Testament, they which were called, might receive the promise of eternal inheritance.

16 1For where a Testament is, there must be the death of him that made the Testament.

17 1For the Testament is confirmed when men are dead: for it is yet of no force as long as he that made it, is alive.

18 1Wherefore, neither was the first ordained without blood.

19 For when Moses had spoken every precept to the people, 1according to the Law, he took the blood of calves and of goats, with water and purple wool and hyssop, and sprinkled both the book, and all true and effectual sign of purifying and cleansing, how much more shall the thing itself and the truth being present, which in times past was shadowed by those external Sacraments, that is to say, his blood which is in such sort man’s blood, that is also the blood of the Son of God, and therefore hath an everlasting virtue of purifying and cleansing, does it?

2 He considereth the signs apart, being separate from the thing itself.

9:14 1 From sins which proceed from death, and bring forth nothing but death.

9:15 1 The conclusion of the former argument: therefore seeing the blood of beasts did not purge sins, the new Testament which was before time promised, whereunto those outward things had respect, is now indeed established, by the virtue whereof all transgressions might be taken away, and heaven indeed opened unto us: whereof it followeth that Christ shed his blood also for the Fathers: For he was shadowed by those old ceremonies, otherwise, unless they had served to represent him, they had been nothing at all profitable. Therefore this Testament is called the latter, not concerning the virtue of it, (that is to say, remission of sins) but in respect of that time, wherein the thing itself was finished, that is to say, wherein Christ was indeed exhibited to the world, and fulfilled all things which were necessary to our salvation.

9:16 2 A reason why the Testament must be established by the death of the Mediator, because this Testament hath the condition of a Testament or gift, which is made effectual by death, and therefore that it might be effectual, it must needs be that he that made the Testament, should die.

9:18 2 There must be a proportion between those things which purify, and those which are purified: Under the Law all those figures were earthly, the Tabernacle, the book, the vessels, the sacrifices, although they were the figures of heavenly things. Therefore it was requisite that all those should be purified with some matter and ceremony of the same nature, to wit, with the blood of beasts, with water, wool, hyssop, But under Christ all things are heavenly, an heavenly tabernacle, an heavenly sacrifice, an heavenly people, an heavenly doctrine, and heaven itself is set open before us for an eternal habitation. Therefore all these things are sanctified in like sort, to wit, with the everlasting offering of the quickening blood of Christ.

9:19 1 As the Lord had commanded.

2 He used to sprinkle.
the people,

20 Saying, This is the blood of the Testament, which God hath appointed unto you.

21 Moreover, he sprinkled likewise the Tabernacle with blood also, and all the ministering vessels, 22 And almost all things are by the Law purged with blood, and without shedding of blood is no remission.

23 For it was then necessary, that the similitudes of heavenly things should be purified with such things: but the heavenly things themselves are purified with better sacrifices than are these.

24 For Christ is not entered into the holy places that are made with hands, which are similitudes of the true Sanctuary: but is entered into very heaven, to appear now in the sight of God for us,

25 Not that he should offer himself often, as the high Priest entered into the Holy place every year with others' blood, 26 (For then must he have often suffered since the foundation of the world: but now in the end of the world hath he been made manifest, once to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself).

27 And as it is appointed unto men that they shall once die, and after that cometh the judgment:

28 So Christ was once offered to take away the sins of many; and unto them that look for him, shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation.

9:23 The similitudes of heavenly things were earthly, and therefore they were to be set forth with earthly things, as with the blood of beasts, and wool, and hyssop. But under Christ all things are heavenly, and therefore they could not but be sanctified with the offering of his lively blood.

9:24 Another double comparison: the Levitical high Priest entered into the Sanctuary, which was made indeed by the commandment of God, but yet with men's hands, that it might be a pattern of another more excellent, to wit, of the heavenly place. But Christ entered even into heaven itself. Again, he appeared before the Ark, but Christ before God the Father himself.

9:25 Another double comparison: the Levitical high Priest offered other blood, but Christ offered his own: he every year once iterated his offering: Christ offering himself but once, abolished sin altogether, both of the former ages and of the ages to come.

9:26 An argument to prove that Christ's offering ought not to be repeated. Seeing that sins were to be purged from the beginning of the world, and it is proved that sins cannot be purged, but by the only blood of Christ: he must needs have died oftentimes since the beginning of the world. But a man can die but once: therefore Christ's oblation which was once done in the latter days, neither could nor can be repeated. Seeing then it is so, surely the virtue of it extends both to sins that were before, and to sins that are after his coming.

9:28 Thus the general promise is restrained to the elect only: and we have to seek the testimony of our election: not in the secret counsel of God, but in the effects that our faith worketh, and so we must climb up from the lowest step to the highest, there to find such comfort as is most certain, and shall never be moved.

9:29 Shortly by the way he setteth out Christ as Judge, partly to terrify them, which do not rest themselves in the only oblation of Christ once made, and partly to keep the faithful in their duty, that they will go not back.

10:1 He preventeth a privy objection. Why then were those sacrifices offered? The Apostle answereth first touching that yearly sacrifices offered? The Apostle answereth first touching that yearly sacrifice which was the solemnest of all, wherein (saith he) there was made every year a remembrance again of all former sins. Therefore that sacrifice had no power to sanctify: for to what purpose should those sins which are purged be repeated again, and wherefore should new sins come to be repeated every year, if those sacrifices did abolish sin?

10:2 Of things which are everlasting, which were promised to the Fathers, and exhibited in Christ.

10:5 A conclusion following of those things that went before, and comprehending also the other sacrifices. Seeing that the sacrifices of the Law could not do it, therefore Christ speaking of himself as of our high Priest manifested in the flesh, witnesseseth evidently, that God resteth not in the sacrifices, but in the obedience of his Son our high Priest, in which obedience he offered up himself once to his Father for us.

10:6 The Son of God is said to come into the world, when he was made man.

10:7 It is word for word in the Hebrew text, Thou hast pierced mine heart.
HEBREWS 10:9

offered by the Law.

9 Then said he, Lo, I come to do thy will, O God, he taketh away the first, that he may establish the second.

10 By which we are sanctified, even by the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once made.

11 And every Priest standeth daily ministering, and oftentimes offereth one manner of offering, which can never take away sins:

12 But this man after he had offered one sacrifice for sins, sittesth forever at the right hand of God, 13 And from henceforth tarrieth, till his enemies be made his footstool.

14 For with one offering hath he consecrated forever them that are sanctified.

15 For the holy Ghost also beareth us record: for after that he had said before, 16 This is the Testament that I will make unto them after those days, saith the Lord, I will put my Laws in their heart, and in their minds I will write them.

17 And their sins and iniquities will I remember no more.

18 Now where remission of these things is, there is no more offering for sin.

19 Seeing therefore, brethren, that by the blood of Jesus we may be bold to enter into the Holy place,

20 By the new and living way, which he hath prepared for us, through the veil, that is, his flesh:

21 And seeing we have an high Priest, which is over the house of God,

22 Let us draw near with a true heart in assurance of faith, our hearts being pure from an evil conscience,

23 And washed in our bodies with pure water, let us keep the profession of our hope, without wavering, (for he is faithful that promised.)

24 And let us consider one another, to provoke unto love, and to good works,

25 Not forsaking the fellowship that we have among ourselves, as the manner of some is: but let us exhort one another, and that so much the more, because ye see that the day draweth near.

26 For if we sin willingly after that we have received and acknowledged that truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins, 27 But a fearful looking for of judgment, and violent fire, which shall devour the adversaries.

28 He that despiseth Moses’ Law, dieth without mercy under two, or three witnesses:

29 Of how much sorer punishment suppose ye shall he be worthy, which treadeth under foot the Son of God, and counteth the blood of the Testament as an unholy thing, wherewith he was sanctified, and doeth despite the Spirit of grace?

30 For we know him that hath said, Vengeance

109 1 That is the sacrifices, to establish the second, that is, the will of God.

10:11 1 A conclusion, with the other part of the comparison. The Levitical high Priest repeatheth the same sacrifices daily in his sanctuary: whereupon which it followeth that neither those sacrifices, neither those offerings, neither those high Priests could take away sins.

But Christ, having offered one sacrifice once for the sins of all men, and having sanctified his own forever, sitteth at the right hand of the Father, having all power in his hands.

2 At the altar.

10:13 1 He preventeth a privy objection, to wit, that yet notwithstanding we are subject to sin and death, whereunto the Apostle answereth, that the full efficacy of Christ’s virtue hath not yet showed itself, but shall at length appear when he will at once put to flight all his enemies, with whom as yet we strive.

10:15 1 Although there do yet remain in us relics of sin, yet the work of our sanctification which is to be perfected, hangeth upon the self-same sacrifice which never shall be repeated and that the Apostle proveth by alleging again the testimonies of Jeremiah, thus, Sin is taken away by the new Testament, seeing the Lord saith that it shall come to pass, that according to the form of it, he will no more remember our sins: Therefore we need now no purging sacrifice to take away that which is already taken away, but we must rather take pains, that we may now through faith be partakers of that sacrifice.

10:17 1 Why then, where is the fire of Purgatory, and that Popish distinction of the fault and the punishment?

10:18 1 He said well, for sin: for there remaineth another offering, to wit, of thanksgiving.

10:19 1 The sum of the former treatise: We are not shut out now of the holy place, as the Fathers were, but we have an entrance into the true holy place (that is, into heaven) seeing that we are purged through the blood of Jesus, but the blood of Jesus is a remedy for all our sins but we have to undergo affliction in this world: For thus saith the Lord, Be ye holy, for I am holy.

10:20 1 And seeing we have received and acknowledged that truth, there remaineth no more offering for sin.

10:21 1 For we know him that hath said, Vengeance

10:22 1 A most grave exhortation, wherein which he showeth how that sacrifice of Christ may be applied to us: to wit, by faith, which also he describeth, by the consequence, to wit, by sanctification of the Spirit, which causeth us surely to hope in God, and to procure by all means possible one another’s salvation, through the love that is in us one toward another.

2 With no double and counterfeit heart, but with such an heart as is truly and indeed given to God.

10:23 1 This is it which the Lord saith, Be ye holy, for I am holy.

10:24 1 With the grace of the holy Ghost.

10:25 1 Having mentioned the last coming of Christ, he stirreth up the godly to the meditation of an holy life, and cites the faithless fallers from God, to the fearful judgment seat of the judge, because they wickedly rejected him in whom only salvation consisteth.

10:26 1 Without any cause or occasion, or show of occasion.

10:27 1 For it is another matter to sin through the frailty of man’s nature, and another thing to proclaim war as it were to God as to an enemy.

10:28 1 If the breach of the Law of Moses was punished by death, how much more worthy death is it to fall away from Christ?

10:30 1 The reason of all these things is, because God is a revenger of such as despise him; otherwise he should not rightly govern his Church. Now there is nothing more horrible then the wrath of the living God.
belongeth unto me: I will recompense, saith the Lord, And again, 'The Lord shall judge his people.

31 It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.

32 1 Now call to remembrance the days that are passed, in which, after ye had received light ye endured a great fight in afflictions, 33 Partly while ye were made a 'gazing stock both by reproaches and afflictions, and partly while ye became 'companions of them which were so tossed to and fro.

34 For both ye sorrowed with me for my bonds, and suffered with joy the spoiling of your goods, knowing in yourselves that ye have in heaven a better, and an enduring 'substance.

35 Cast not away therefore your confidence which hath great recompense of reward.

36 For ye have need of patience, that after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise.

37 For yet a very 'little while, and he that shall come, will come, and will not tarry.

38 1 Now the just shall live by faith: but if any withdraw himself, my soul shall have no pleasure in him.

39 But we are not they which withdraw ourselves unto perdition, but follow faith unto the conservation of the soul.

11 1 He declared in the whole Chapter, that the Fathers, which from the beginning of the world were approved of God, attained salvation no other way than by faith, that the Jews may know that by the same only, they are knit unto the Fathers in an holy union.

1 Now 'faith is the grounds of things which are hoped for, and the evidence of things which are not seen.

2 1 For by it our 'elders were well reported of.

1:1 Through faith we understand that the world was ordained by the word of God, so that the things which we 'see, are not made of things which did appear.

1:2 By faith Abel offered unto God a greater sacrifice than Cain, by 'the which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: by the which faith also he being dead, yet speaketh.

1:3 By faith was 'Enoch translated, that he should not 'see death: neither was he found: for God had translated him: for before he was translated, he was reported of, that he had pleased God.

1:4 But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God, must believe that God is, and that he is a 'rewarder of them that seek him.

1:5 By faith 'Noah being warned of God of the things which were as yet not seen, moved with reverence, prepared the Ark to the saving of his household, through the which Ark he condemned the world, and was made heir of the righteousness, which is by faith.

1:6 By faith 'Abraham, when he was called, obeyed God, to go out into a place, which he should afterward receive for inheritance, and he went out, not knowing whither he went.

1:7 By faith he abode in the land of promise, as in a strange country, as one that dwelt in tents with Isaac and Jacob heirs with him of the same promise.

1:8 For he looked for a city having a 'foundation, whose builder and maker is God.

1:9 'Through faith 'Sarah also received strength to conceive seed, and was delivered of a child when she was past age, because she judged him faithful which had promised.

1:10 And therefore sprang thereof one, even of one which was 'dead, so many as the stars of the sky in multitude, and as the sand of the sea shore which is innumerable.

1:11 All these died in 'faith, and received not the

By faith Moses, when he was come to age, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter, 2 though he preferred to suffer adversity with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season.

So God is not ashamed of their being called people of God, for he had respect unto the recompense of the reward.

11:20 1 By faith Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau, concerning things to come.

11:21 1 By faith Jacob, when he was a dying, blessed both the sons of Joseph, and leaning on the end of his staff, worshipped God.

11:22 1 By faith Joseph, when he died, made mention of the departing of the children of Israel, and gave commandment of his bones.

11:23 1, 2 By faith Moses, when he was born, was hid three months of his parents, because they saw he was a proper child; neither feared they the king's commandment.

11:24 1 By faith Moses, when he was come to age, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter, 2 although the promises of life were made in that only begotten son Isaac, yet he appointed him to die, and so against hope he believed in hope.

11:25 1 From which death.

11:26 1 For there was not the true and very death of Isaac, but as it were the death, by means whereof he seemed also as it were to have risen again.

11:29 1 The red sea. 2 The fruit of the promises.

11:30 1 Jericho.

He doth not only by the examples of the Fathers before recited, exhort them to patience and constancy, but also by the example of Christ. That the chastenings of God cannot be rightly judged by the outward sense of our flesh.

Wherefore, let us also, seeing that we are compassed with so great a cloud of witnesses, cast away every thing that presseth down, and the sin that hangeth so fast on: let us run with patience the race that is set before us, 12:5 1And ye have forgotten the consolation, which speaketh unto you as unto children, My son, despise not the chastening of the Lord, neither faint when thou art rebuked of him.

12:6  For whom the Lord loveth, he chasteneth: and thou art rebuked of him.

12:7  If ye endure chastening, God offered himself unto you as unto sons: for what son is it whom the father chasteneth not?

Chapter 12

12:1  Now he applieth the same exhortation, to the Prophetical and kingly office of Christ compared with Moses, after this sort, If the majesty of the Law was so great, how great think you that the glory of Christ is? And this comparison he declareth also particularly.

12:2  The description of a man that is out of heart and clean discouraged.

12:3  An amplification taken of the circumstance of the person, and the things themselves, which he compareth betwixt themselves: for how great is Jesus in comparison of us, and how far more grievous things did he suffer than we?

12:4  He taketh an argument of the profit which cometh to us by God's chastisements, because we are in fault. First of all because sin, or that rebellious wickedness of our flesh, is by this means turned.

12:5  Secondly, because they are testimony of his fatherly good sense of our flesh.

12:6  An applying of the former examples, whereby we ought to be stirred up to run the whole race, casting away all stops and impediments.

12:7  The conclusion, we must go forward courageously and keep always a right course, and (as far forth as we may) without any staggering or stumbling.

12:8  That no heresy, or backsliding be an offense.

12:9  For they verily for a few days chastened us after their own pleasure, but he chastened us for our profit, that we might be partakers of his holiness.

12:10  An amplification of the same argument: Those fathers have corrected us after their fancy, for some frail and transitory profit: but God chasteneth and instructeth us for our singular profit, to make us partakers of his holiness: which thing although these our senses do not presently perceive, yet the end of the matter proveth it.

12:11  The conclusion, we must go forward courageously and keep always a right course, and (as far forth as we may) without any staggering or stumbling.

12:12  For his repentance was not presently perceived, yet the end of the matter proveth it.

12:13  Keep a right course; and so, that you show example of good life for others to follow.

12:14  We must live in peace, and holiness with all men.

12:15  We must study to edify one another, both in doctrine and example of life.

12:16  That no heresy, or backsliding be an offense.

12:17  There was no place left for his repentance: and it appeareth how severely God will at length punish, the horrible example of Esau, which for one portion of meat sold his birthright.

12:18  For ye are not come unto the mount that might be touched, nor unto burning fire, nor to blackness and darkness, and tempest, 19 Neither unto the sound of a trumpet, and the voice of words, which they that heard it, excused themselves, that the word should not be spoken to them any more.
HEBREWS 12:19

20 (For they were not able to abide that which was commanded, yea, though a beast touch the mountain, it shall be stoned, or thrust through with a dart:

21 And so terrible was the sight which appeared, that Moses said, I fear and quake.)

22 But ye are come unto the mount Sion, and to the city of the living God, the celestial Jerusalem, and to the company of innumerable Angels.

23 And to the assembly and congregation of the first born, which are written in heaven, and to God the judge of all, and to the spirits of just and perfect men, 24 And to Jesus the Mediator of the new Testament, and to the blood of sprinkling that speaketh better things than that of Abel.

25 (See that ye despise not him that speaketh: for if they escaped not which refused him, that spake on earth, how much less shall we escape, if we turn away from him that speaketh from heaven.

26 Whose voice then shook the earth, and now hath declared, saying, Yet once more, signifieth the applying of the former comparison, If it were not lawful to touch that which was made with hands, that the things which are not shaken, may remain.

27 And this word, Yet once more, signifieth the removing of those things which are shaken, as of things which are made with hands, that the things which are not shaken, may remain.

28 Wherefore seeing we receive a kingdom, which cannot be shaken, let us have grace whereby we may so serve God, that we may please him with reverence and fear.

29 For even our God is a consuming fire.

13 1 He giveth good lessons not only for manners, but also for doctrine.

1 Let brotherly love continue.

2 Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have received Angels into their houses unawares.

3 Remember them that are in bonds, as though ye were bound with them: and that they are in affliction, as if ye were also afflicted in the body.

4 Marriage is honorable among all, and the bed undefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will judge.

5 Let your conversation be without covetousness, and be content with those things that ye have, for he hath said, I will not fail thee, neither forsake thee:

6 That so we may boldly say, The Lord is mine helper, neither will I fear what man can do unto me.

8 Remember them which have the oversight of you, which have declared unto you the word of God; whose faith follow, considering what hath been the end of their conversation. Jesus Christ yesterday, and today, the same also is forever.

9 Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines: for it is a good thing that the heart be established with grace, and not with meats, which have not profited them that have been occupied therein.
10 1We have an 2altar, whereof they have no authority to eat, which 3serve in the Tabernacle.

11 1For the bodies of those beasts whose blood is brought into the holy place by the high Priest for sin, are burnt without the camp.

12 1Therefore even Jesus, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate.

13 1Let us go forth to him therefore out of the camp, bearing his reproach.

14 1For here have we no continuing city: but we seek one to come.

15 1Let us therefore by him offer the sacrifice of praise always to God, that is, the 6fruit of the lips, which confess his Name.

16 1To do good, and to distribute forget not: for with such sacrifices God is pleased.

17 1Obey them that have the oversight of you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give accounts, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you.

18 1Pray for us, for we are assured that we have a good conscience in all things, desiring to live honestly.

19 1And I desire you somewhat the more earnestly, that ye so do, that I may be restored to you more quickly.

20 1The God of peace that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, the great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting Covenant, 21 Make you 1perfect in all good works, to do his will, 2working in you that which is pleasant in his sight through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise forever and ever, Amen.

22 I beseech you also, brethren, suffer the words of exhortation: for I have written unto you in few words.

23 Know that our brother Timothy is delivered, with whom (if he come shortly) I will see you.

24 Salute all them that have the oversight of you, and all the Saints. They of Italy salute you.

25 Grace be with you all, Amen.

¶ Written to the Hebrews from Italy, and sent by Timothy.
THE 1 GENERAL EPISTLE OF JAMES

CHAPTER 1

1 4 He entreateth of patience, 6 of faith, 10 of lowliness of mind in rich men. 13 That temptations come not of God for our evil, 17 because he is the author of all goodness. 21 In what manner the word of life must be received.

1 1 James a servant of God, and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve Tribes, which are scattered abroad, salvation.

2 1 My brethren, 2 count it exceeding joy, 3 when ye fall into divers temptations,

3 4 Knowing that the trying of your faith bringeth forth patience,

4 1 And let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, lacking nothing.

5 1 If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, which giveth to all men liberally, and reproacheth none, and it shall be given him.

6 1 But let him ask in faith, and he that wavereth, is like a wave of the sea, tossed of 7 1 Neither let that man think that he shall receive anything of the Lord.

8 1 A double minded man is unstable in all his ways.

9 1 Let the brother of low degree rejoice in that he is exalted:

10 1 Again, he that is rich, in that he is made low; 11 for as the flower of the grass, shall he vanish away.

11 1 For as when the sun riseth with heat, then the grass withereth, and his flower falleth away, and the goodly shape of it perisheth: even so shall the rich man wither away in all his ways.

12 1 Blessed is the man, that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him.

13 1 Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God: 2 for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any man. 14 But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away by his own concupiscence, and is enticed. 15 Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin, and sin when it is finished, bringeth forth death. 16 Err not my dear brethren. 17 Every good giving and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning. 18 Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth, that we should be as the firstfruits of his creatures. 19 Wherefore my dear brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, and slow to wrath. 20 For the wrath of man doth not accomplish the righteousness of God. 21 Wherefore lay apart all filthiness, and superfluity of wickedness, and receive with meekness the word that is sown in you, which is able to save your souls. 22 And be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves. 23 For if any hear the word, and do it not, he is like unto a man, that beholdeth his natural face in a glass. 24 For when he hath considered himself, he goeth his way, and forgetteth immediately what manner of one he was. 25 But who so looketh in the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein, he not being a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, shall be blessed in his deed. 26 If any man among you seem religious, and refraineth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain. 27 Pure religion and undefiled before God, even the Father, is this, to visit the fatherless, and widows in their adversity, and to keep himself unspotted of the world.

2 1 He sayeth, that to have respect of persons is not agreeable to Christ's faith. 14 Which to profess in words is not enough, unless 15 we show it also in deeds of mercy and charity. 21 after the example of Abraham.

1 My brethren, have not the faith of our glorious Lord Jesus Christ in respect of persons. 2 For if there come into your company a man with a gold ring, and in goodly apparel, and there come in also a poor man in vile raiment, 3 And ye have a respect to him that weareth the gay clothing; and say unto him, Sit thou here in a goodly place, and say unto the poor, Stand thou there, or sit here under my footstool, 4 Are ye not partial in your selves, and are become Judges of evil thoughts? 5 Hearken my beloved brethren, hath not God chosen the poor of this world, that they should be rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he

1:15 1 By sin is meant in this place actual sin. 1:16 1 Another reason taken of contraries: God is the author of all goodness, and so, that he is always like himself; how then can he be thought to be author of evil? 1:17 1 From him who is the fountain and author of all goodness. 2 He goeth on in the metaphor: for the sun by his manifold and sundry kinds of turning, maketh hours, days, months, years, light and darkness. 1:18 1 The fourth part concerning the excellency and fruit of the word of God. The sum is this: we must hear the word of God most carefully and diligently, seeing it is the seed, wherewith God of his free favor and love hath begotten us unto himself, picking us out carefully and diligently, seeing it is the seed, wherewith God of his word of God. The sum is this: we must hear the word of God most carefully and diligently, seeing it is the seed, wherewith God of his free favor and love hath begotten us unto himself, picking us out carefully and diligently, seeing it is the seed, wherewith God of his word of God. 2 This is it which Paul calleth gracious favor, and good will, which is the fountain of our salvation. 3 As it were an holy kind of offering, taken out of the residue of man. 1:20 1 That which God appointeth. 1:21 1 By meekness, he meaneth modesty, and whatsoever is contrary to an haughty and proud stomach. 1:22 1 Another admonition. Therefore is God's word heard, that we may frame our lives according to the prescript thereof. 2 He addeth reasons, and those most weighty: first, because they that do otherwise, do very much hurt themselves. promised to them that love him?
6 But ye have despised the poor. Do not the rich oppress you by tyranny, and do they not draw you before the judgment seats?
7 Do not they blaspheme the worthy Name after which ye be named?
8 But if ye fulfill the royal Law according to the Scripture, which saith, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself, ye do well.
9 But if ye regard the persons, ye commit sin, and are rebuked of the Law, as transgressors.
10 For whosoever shall keep the whole Law, and yet faileth in one point, he is guilty of all.
11 For he that said, Thou shalt not commit adultery, said also, Thou shalt not kill. Now though thou dost none adultery, yet if thou killest, thou art a transgressor of the Law.
12 So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the Law of liberty.
13 For there shall be condemnation merciless to him that showeth not mercy, and mercy rejoiceth against condemnation.
14 What avails it my brethren, though a man saith, he hath faith, when he hath no works? can that faith save him?
15 For if a brother or a sister be naked and destitute of daily food, 16 And one of you say unto them, Depart in peace: warm yourselves, and fill your bellies, notwithstanding ye give them not those things, which are needful to the body, what helpeth it?
17 Even so the faith, if it have no works, is dead in itself.
18 But some man might say, Thou hast the faith, and I have works: show me thy faith out of thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works.
19 Thou believest that there is one God; thou dost well: the devils also believe it, and tremble.
20 But wilt thou understand, O thou vain man, that the faith which is without works, is dead?
21 Was not Abraham our father justified through works, when he offered Isaac his son upon the altar?
22 Seest thou not that the faith wrought with his works? and through the works was the faith made perfect.
23 And the Scripture was fulfilled which saith, Abraham believed God, and it was imputed unto him for righteousness: and he was called the friend of God.
24 Ye see then how that of works a man is justified, and not of faith only.

2:6 1 Secondly, he proveth them to be mad men: for that the rich men are rather to be holden execrable and cursed, considering that they persecute the Church, and blaspheme Christ: for he speaketh of wicked and profane rich men, such as the most part of them have been always, against whom he setteth the poor and abject.
2:7 1 Word for word, which is called upon of you.
2:8 1 The conclusion: Charity which God prescribeth cannot agree with the accepting of persons, seeing that we must walk in the King’s highway.
2:9 1 The Law is said to be royal and like the King’s highway, for that it is plain and without turnings, and that the Law calleth everyone our neighbor, without respect, whom we may help by any kind of duty.
2:10 1 A new argument to prove the same conclusion: They do not love their neighbors, which neglect some, and ambitiously honor others: for he doth not obey God, which cutteth off from the commandments of God that that is not so commodious for him, nay he is rather guilty generally for the breach of the whole Law, although he observe the residue.
2:11 1 A proof: because the Lawmaker is always one and the self-same, and the body of the Law cannot be divided.
2:12 1 The conclusion of the whole treatise: we are upon this condition delivered from the curse of the Law by the mercy of God, that in like sort we should maintain and cherish charity and goodwill one towards another, and whoso doth not so, shall not taste of the grace of God.
2:13 1 He that is hard and currish against his neighbor, or else helpeth him not, he shall find God an hard and rough Judge to himselfward.
2:14 1 The fifth place which hangeth very well with the former treatise, touching a true and lively faith. And the proposition of this place is this: faith which bringeth not forth works, is not that faith whereby we are justified, but an image of faith: or else this, they are not justified by faith, which show not the effects of faith.
2:15 1 The first reason taken of a similitude: If a man say to one that is hungry, Fill thy belly, and yet giveth him nothing, this shall not be true charity: so if a man say he believeth, and bringeth forth no works of his faith, this shall not be a true faith, but a certain dead thing set out with the name of faith, whereof no man hath to brag, unless he will openly incur reprehension, seeing that the cause is understood by the effects.
2:16 1 Nay, thus may every man beat down the pride.
2:17 1 Another reason taken of an absurdity: If such a faith were the true faith whereby we are justified, the devils should be justified: for they have that, but yet notwithstanding they tremble, and are not justified therefore, neither is that faith a true faith.
2:18 1 A new argument to prove the same conclusion: They do not love their neighbors, which neglect some, and ambitiously honor others: for he doth not obey God, which cutteth off from the commandments of God that that is not so commodious for him, nay he is rather guilty generally for the breach of the whole Law, although he observe the residue.
2:19 1 What avails it my brethren, though a man saith, he hath faith, when he hath no works? can that faith save him?
2:20 1 For if a brother or a sister be naked and destitute of daily food, and are rebuked of the Law, as transgressors.
2:21 1 The conclusion of the whole treatise: we are upon this condition delivered from the curse of the Law by the mercy of God, that in like sort we should maintain and cherish charity and goodwill one towards another, and whoso doth not so, shall not taste of the grace of God.
2:22 1 He that is hard and currish against his neighbor, or else helpeth him not, he shall find God an hard and rough Judge to himselfward.
2:23 1 The fifth place which hangeth very well with the former treatise, touching a true and lively faith. And the proposition of this place is this: faith which bringeth not forth works, is not that faith whereby we are justified, but an image of faith: or else this, they are not justified by faith, which show not the effects of faith.
2:24 1 The conclusion: we are upon this condition delivered from the curse of the Law by the mercy of God, that in like sort we should maintain and cherish charity and goodwill one towards another, and whoso doth not so, shall not taste of the grace of God.
2:25 1 Nay, thus may every man beat down the pride.
2:26 1 Another reason taken of an absurdity: If such a faith were the true faith whereby we are justified, the devils should be justified: for they have that, but yet notwithstanding they tremble, and are not justified therefore, neither is that faith a true faith.
2:27 1 A new argument to prove the same conclusion: They do not love their neighbors, which neglect some, and ambitiously honor others: for he doth not obey God, which cutteth off from the commandments of God that that is not so commodious for him, nay he is rather guilty generally for the breach of the whole Law, although he observe the residue.
2:28 1 What avails it my brethren, though a man saith, he hath faith, when he hath no works? can that faith save him?
2:29 1 For if a brother or a sister be naked and destitute of daily food, and are rebuked of the Law, as transgressors.
2:30 1 The conclusion of the whole treatise: we are upon this condition delivered from the curse of the Law by the mercy of God, that in like sort we should maintain and cherish charity and goodwill one towards another, and whoso doth not so, shall not taste of the grace of God.
2:31 1 He that is hard and currish against his neighbor, or else helpeth him not, he shall find God an hard and rough Judge to himselfward.
2:32 1 The fifth place which hangeth very well with the former treatise, touching a true and lively faith. And the proposition of this place is this: faith which bringeth not forth works, is not that faith whereby we are justified, but an image of faith: or else this, they are not justified by faith, which show not the effects of faith.
25 1Likewise also was not Rahab the harlot justified through works, when she had received the messengers, and sent them out another way? 26 1For as the body without the spirit is dead, even so the faith without works is dead.

2 2To show that a Christian must govern his tongue with the bridle of faith and charity. 6 he declareth the commodities and mischiefs that ensue thereof: 15 and how much man’s wisdom 17 differeth from heavenly.

1 My brethren, be not many masters, 2knowing that we shall receive the greater condemnation. 2 For in many things we sin all. 3If any man sin not in word, he is a perfect man, and able to bridle all the body. 3 1Behold, we put bits into the horses’ mouths, that they should obey us, and we turn about all their body. 4 Behold also the ships, which though they be so great, and are driven of fierce winds, yet are they turned about with a very small rudder, whithersoever the governor listeth. 5 Even so the tongue is a little member, and boasteth of great things: 1behold, how great a thing a little fire kindleth. 6 And the tongue is fire, yea, a world of wickedness: so is the tongue set among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and 2setteth on fire the course of nature, and it is set on fire of hell.

7 For the whole nature of beasts, and of birds, and of creeping things, and things of the sea is tamed, and hath been tamed of the nature of man.

2:25 1A fourth reason taken from a like example of Rahab the harlot, who also proved by her works that she was justified by a true faith.
2:26 1The conclusion repeated again: faith which bringeth not forth fruits and works, is not faith, but a dead carcass.
3:1 1The sixth part or place: Let no man usurp (as most men ambitiously do) authority to judge and censure others righteously. 2A reason: Because they provoke God’s severity against them, unless we surcease from this masterlike and proud finding fault with others.
3:2 1Or, stumble. 2The seventh place, touching the bridling of the tongue, joined with the former, so that it is manifest that there is no man which may not justly be found faulty, seeing it is a rare virtue to bridle the tongue.
3:3 1He showeth by two similitudes: the one taken from the bridles of horses, the other from the rudders of ships, how great matters may be brought to pass by the good moderation of the tongue.
3:5 1On the contrary part he showeth how great commodities arise by the intemperance of the tongue, throughout the whole world, to the end that men may so much the more diligently give themselves to moderate it.
3:6 1An heap of all mischiefs. 2It is able to set the whole world on fire.

3:9 1Amongst other faults of the tongue, the Apostle chiefly reproveth backbiting and speaking evil of our neighbors, even in them especially which otherwise will seem godly and religious.
3:10 1Secondly, because the order of nature which God hath set in things, will not suffer things that are so contrary the one to the other, to stand the one with the other.
3:13 1The eighth part which hangeth with the former, touching meekness of mind, against which he setteth envy and a contentious mind. And in the beginning he stoppeth the mouth of the chief fountain of all these mischiefs, to wit, a false persuasion of wisdom, whereas notwithstanding there is no true wisdom, but that is heavenly, and frameth our minds to all kinds of true moderation and simplicity.
3:17 1He setteth mercy against the fierce and cruel nature of man, and showeth that heavenly wisdom bringeth forth good fruits, for he that is heavenly wise, referreth all things to God’s glory, and the profit of his neighbor.
3:18 1Because the world persuadeth itself that they are miserable which live peaceably and simply, on the contrary side the Apostle pronounceth that they shall at the length reap the harvest of peaceable righteousness.

4 1He reckoneth up the mischiefs that proceed of the works of the flesh. 7 He exhorteth to humility, 8 and to purge the heart from pride, 10 backbiting, 14 and the forgeselfness of our own infirmity.
1 From whence are wars and contentions among you? are they not hence, even of your pleasures, that fight in your members?
2 Ye lust, and have not: ye envy, and desire immoderately, and cannot obtain: ye fight, and war, and get nothing, because ye ask not.
3 Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye might lay the same on your pleasures.
4 Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the amity of the world is the enmity of God? Whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world, maketh himself the enemy of God.
5 Do ye think that the Scripture saith in vain, The spirit that dwelleth in us, lusteth after envy?
6 But the Scripture offereth more grace, and therefore saith, God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble.
7 Submit yourselves to God: resist the devil, and he will flee from you.
8 Draw near to God, and he will draw near to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners, and purge your hearts, ye double minded.
9 Suffer afflictions, and sorrow ye, and weep: let your laughter be turned into mourning, and your joy into heaviness.
10 Cast down yourselves before the Lord, and he will lift you up.
11 Speak not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, or he that condemneth his brother, speaketh evil of the Law, and condemneth the Law: and if thou condemnest the Law, thou art not an observer of the Law, but a judge.
12 There is one Lawgiver, who is able to save, and to destroy, Who art thou that judgest another man?
13 Go to now, ye that say, To day or tomorrow we will do this or that, or some work, or some thing: be not deceived, for ye take counsel in vain.
14 For ye speak not well of that which ye shall do.
15 For that ye ought to say, If the Lord will, we shall live, and do this or that.
16 But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil.
17 Therefore to him that knoweth how to do well, and doeth it not, to him it is sin.

5 1 He threateneth the rich with God's severe judgment, for their pride, 7 that the poor bearing the miserable end of the rich, 8 may patiently bear afflictions, 11 as Job did, 14 even in their distresses.
1 Go to now, ye rich men: weep, and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you.
2 Your riches are corrupt, and your garments are moth eaten.
3 Your gold and silver is cankered, and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh, as it were fire. Ye have heaped up treasure for the last days.
4 Behold, the hire of the laborers, which have reap'd your fields (which is of you kept back by fraud) crieth, and the cries of them which have reap'd, are entered into the ears of the Lord of hosts.
5 Ye have lived in pleasure on the earth, and in against pride and arrogance, holy modesty.

4:1 1 He goeth on forward in the same argument, condemning certain other causes of wars and contentions, to wit, unbridled lusts and immoderate lusts, by their effects, for so much as the Lord doth worthily make them void, so that they bring nothing else to them in whom they are but incurable torments.
2 He reprehended them by name, which are not ashamed to go about to make God the minister and helper of their lusts and pleasures, in asking things which either are of themselves unlawful, or being lawful, ask them to wicked purposes and uses.
3 Another reason why such unbridled lusts and pleasures are utterly to be condemned, to wit, because that he that giveth himself to the world, divorceth himself from God, and breaketh the band of that holy and spiritual marriage.
4 The taking away of an objection: Indeed our minds run headlong into these vices, but we ought so much the more diligently to keep them: which care and study shall not be in vain, seeing that God resists the stubborn, and giveth that grace to the modest and humble that surmounteth all those vices.
5 The conclusion: We must set the contrary virtues against those vices, and therefore whereas we obeyed the suggestions of the devil, we must submit our minds to God, and resist the devil, with a certain and assured hope of victory: To be short, we must employ ourselves to come near unto God by purity and sincerity of life.
6 He goeth on in the same comparison of contraries, and setteth against those profane joys with an earnest sorrow of mind, and against pride and arrogance, holy modesty.
7 By this word the Greeks meant an heaviness joined with shamefastness, which is to be seen in a cast down countenance, and settled as it were upon the ground.
8 He reprehended most sharply another double mischief of pride: the one is in that the proud and arrogant will have other men to live according to their will and pleasure and therefore they do most arrogantly condemn whatsoever pleaseth them not: which thing cannot be done without great injury to our only Lawmaker, for by this means his Laws are found fault withal, as not circumspectly enough written, and men challenge that unto themselves which properly belongeth to God alone, in that they lay a Law upon men's consciences.
9 The other fault is this: that men do so confidently determine upon these and those matters and businesses, as though that every moment of their life did not depend of God.
10 The conclusion of all the former treatise: The knowledge of the will of God doth not only nothing at all profit, unless the life be answerable unto it, but also maketh the sins far more grievous.
11 He denounceth utter destruction to the wicked and profane rich men, and such as are drowned in their riotousness, mocking at their foolish confidence when as there is nothing indeed more vain than such things.
12 The Lord who is more mighty than ye are, hath heard them.
wantonness. Ye have nourished your hearts, as in a day of slaughter.

6 Ye have condemned, and have killed the just, and he hath not resisted you.

7 Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the former, and the latter rain.

8 Be ye also patient therefore, and settle your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draweth near.

9 Grudge not one against another, brethren, lest ye be condemned: behold, the judge standeth before the door.

10 Take, my brethren, the Prophets for an example of suffering adversity, and of long patience, which have spoken in the name of the Lord.

11 Behold, we count them blessed which endure. Ye have heard of the patience of Job, and have known what end the Lord made. For the Lord is very pitiful and merciful.

12 But before all things, my brethren, swear not, neither by heaven, nor by earth, nor by any other oath: but let your yea, be yea, and your nay, nay; lest ye fall into condemnation.

14 Is any sick among you? Let him call for the Elders of the Church, and let them pray for him, and anoint him with oil in the Name of the Lord.

15 And the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up: and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him.

16 Acknowledge your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed: for the prayer of a righteous man availeth much, if it be fervent.

17 Elijah was a man subject to like passions as we are, and he prayed earnestly that it might not rain, and it rained not on the earth for three years and six months.

18 And he prayed again: and the heaven gave rain, and the earth brought forth her fruit.

19 Brethren, if any of you hath erred from the truth, and some man hath converted him, 20 Let him know that he which hath converted a sinner from going astray out of his way, shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins.

1 He exhorteth God's mercy showed in Christ, which we lay hold on by faith, and pass through hope: 10 whereas the Prophets foretold. 13 He exhorteth 15 to renounce the world, 23 and their former life, and so wholly yield themselves to God.

1 Peter an Apostle of Jesus Christ, to the strangers that dwell here and there throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia,

1 Elect according to the 2foreknowledge of God the Father unto 2sanctification of the Spirit, through obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace and peace be multiplied unto you.

3 Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,

4 To an inheritance immortal and undefiled, and that withereth not, reserved in heaven for us,

5 Which are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation, which is prepared to be showed in the 2last time.

6 Wherein ye rejoice, though now for a season (if need require) ye are in heaviness, through manifold temptations,

7 That the trial of your faith, being much more precious than gold that perisheth (though it be tried with fire) might be found unto your praise, and honor and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ:

8 Whom ye have not seen, and yet love him, in whom now, though ye see him not, yet do you believe, and rejoice with [joy] unspeakable and glorious,

9 Receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls.

10 Of the which salvation the Prophets have inquired and searched, which prophesied of the grace that should come unto you,

11 Searching when or what time the Spirit which testified before of Christ which was in them, should declare the sufferings that should come unto Christ, and the glory that should follow.

12 Unto whom it was revealed, that not unto themselves, but unto us they should minister the things, which are showed unto you by them which have preached unto you the Gospel by the holy Ghost 1sent down from heaven, the which things the Angels desire to behold.

13 Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind:

1:2 1 Peter purposing to speak of the duties of a Christian life, reasoneth first of the principles and beginning of all Christian actions, rising far higher than nature, and carrying us also far above the same. For he showeth that we which are otherwise of nature sinners, were through the free mercy of God the Father first chosen from everlasting: then according to that everlasting decree were by a certain second creation made his sons in Christ his only begotten, by whose Spirit we are inwardly changed, and by whose blood we are reconciled, to the end, that as Christ himself rose again from the dead, we also might be received into that same heavenly and everlasting glory.

2 Or according to the purpose of God, who never altereth nor changeth the same.

3 That being set apart from the rest of the wicked world, through the working of the holy Ghost, they should be consecrate to God, Eph. 1:5.

1:3 1 Everlasting hope.

1:5 Now he showeth by what way we come unto that glory, to wit, through all kinds of afflictions, wherein notwithstanding faith maketh us so secure, that we are not only not overcome with sorrow, but also through the beholding of God himself (who otherwise is invisible) with the eyes of faith are unspeakably joyful: because all such things, as they are but for a time, so are they not applied unto us to destroy us, but as it were by fire to purge us, and to make us perfect, that at the length we may obtain salvation.

2 This is a borrowed speech, taken of a common usage amongst them: for by reason that they wore long garments, they could not travel unless they girded up themselves: and hence it is that Christ said, Let your loins be girded up.

1:12 1 He alludeth to the prophecy of Joel, which was exhibited upon the day of Pentecost, in the Apostles, as it were in the firstfruits of the holy Ghost, which this same our Peter declareth, Acts 2:6.

1:13 1 He goeth from faith to hope, which is indeed a companion that cannot be sundered from faith: and he useth an argument taken of comparison: We ought not to be wearied in looking for so excellent a thing, which the very Angels wait for with great desire.

2 This is that time which Daniel calleth the time of the end, when as that great restoring of all things shall be, which all creatures look for: Rom. 8:19.

1:7 1 He speaketh of the second coming of Christ.

1:9 Or, reward.

1:10 1 He putteth a difference between true faith, that is to say, that faith which only hath an eye to the doctrine of the Prophets and Apostles, and false faith: Afterward he maketh two degrees of one and the selfsame faith, according to the manner of the divers revelations, when as indeed it is but one only faith: Thirdly, he saith, that the preaching of the Apostles is the fulfilling of the preaching of the Prophets, although the latter end of it be as yet looked for of the very Angels.

1:12 1 He alludeth to the prophecy of Joel, which was exhibited upon the day of Pentecost, in the Apostles, as it were in the firstfruits of the holy Ghost, which this same our Peter declareth, Acts 2:6.

1:13 1 He goeth from faith to hope, which is indeed a companion that cannot be sundered from faith: and he useth an argument taken of comparison: We ought not to be wearied in looking for so excellent a thing, which the very Angels wait for with great desire.
be sober, 1 and trust 2 perfectly on that grace 3 that is brought unto you, 4 in the revelation of Jesus Christ, 5 and the hope of the glory of his coming: 6 But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. 7 He is the image of the invisible God, 8 the firstborn of every creation: 9 For in him were created all things in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or principalities or powers; all things were created through him and for him. 10 And he is before all things, and in him all things consist. 11 And he is the head of the body, the church: 12 who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might be preeminent. 13 For it pleased the Father that in him should all fulness dwell, 14 being the head of all principality and power. 15 In him ye also trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation; in whom also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with the Holy Spirit of promise, 16 the promise of our inheritance among the saints: 17 Of the exceeding greatness of his power toward us who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, 18 which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and seated him at his right hand in the heavenly places, 19 far above all principality and power and dominion and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come; 20 and hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be head over all things to the church, 21 which is his body, the fullness of him that filleth all in all. 22 Having purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit, 23 to love brotherly kindness, 24 looking forward to the hope laid up for you in heaven, 25 of which also ye heard before in the word of the truth, the gospel; 26 adding to your faith virtue, and to virtue knowledge, 27 and to knowledge temperance, and to temperance perseverance, 28 and to perseverance godliness, 29 and to godliness brotherly kindness, 30 and to brotherly kindness charity. 31 For if these things be in you, and abound, they make your progress exceedingly, and establish every work of charity, and of more charity. 32 If ye call on God, as a father, he will hear you: 33 For he is not a respecter of persons. 34 For as many as have pleased him, he made to be wise to salvation through Jesus Christ, 35 and as many as have been called, he made to be rich in glory and honor in his presence. 36 But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people for God's own possession, that ye may declare the excellencies of him who hath called you out of darkness into his own marvellous light; 37 who in former times were not a people, but are now the people of God: who in former times had not obtained mercy, but now have obtained mercy. 38 For by grace are ye saved, through faith; and this is not of yourselves, it is the gift of God: 39 Not of works, lest any man should boast. 40 For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus, unto good works, which God hath before prepared that we should walk in them.
3 Because ye have tasted that the Lord is bountiful.
4 To whom coming as unto a living stone, disallowed of men, but chosen of God and precious,
5 Ye also as lively stones, be made a spiritual house, an holy Priesthood to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God by Jesus Christ.
6 Wherefore also it is contained in the Scripture, Behold, I put in Zion a chief cornerstone, elect and precious, and he that believeth therein, shall not be ashamed.
7 Unto you therefore which believe, it is precious: but unto them which be disobedient, the stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner,
8 And a stone to stumble at, and a rock of offence, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient, unto the which thing they were even

2:3 1 He commendeth that spiritual nourishment for the sweetness and profit of it.
2 Or, do taste.
4 He goeth on forward in the same exhortation, and useth another kind of borrowed speech, alluding to the Temple. Therefore he saith, that the company of the faithful is as it were a certain holy and spiritual building, built of lively stones, the foundation whereof is Christ, as a lively stone sustaining all that are joined unto him with his living virtue, and knitting them together with himself, although this so great a treasure be neglected of men.
5 Going forward in the same similitude, he compareth us now to Priests placed to this end in that spiritual temple, that we should serve him with spiritual worship, that is, with holiness and righteousness: but as the temple, so is the Priesthood built upon Christ, in whom only all our spiritual offerings are accepted.
6 He proveth it by the testimony of the Prophet Isaiah.
7 By setting the most blessed condition of the believers, and the most miserable of the rebellious one against another, he pricketh forward the believers, and triumpheth over the others: and also preventeth an offense which ariseth hereof, that none do be ashamed.
8 And a stone to stumble at, and a rock of offence, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient, unto the which thing they were even

2:7 1 By setting the most blessed condition of the believers, and the most miserable of the rebellious one against another, he pricketh forward the believers, and triumpheth over the others: and also preventeth an offense which ariseth hereof, that none do more resist this doctrine of the Gospel, than they which are chiefest amongst the people of God, as were at that time that Peter wrote these things, the Priests and Elders, and Scribes. Therefore he answereth first of all that there is no cause why any man should be astonished at this their stubbornness, as though it were a strange matter, seeing that we have been forewarned so long before, that it should so come to pass: and moreover, that it pleased God to create and make certain to this selfsame purpose, that the Son of God might be glorified in their just condemnation. Thirdly, for that the glory of Christ is hereby set forth greatly, whereas notwithstanding Christ remaineth the sure head of his Church, and they that stumble at him, cast down and overthrow themselves, and not Christ. Fourthly, although they be created to this end and purpose, yet their fall and decay is not to be ascribed to God, but to their own obstinate stubbornness which cometh between God's decree, and the execution thereof or their condemnation, and is the true and proper cause of their destruction.
2:9 1 The contrary member, to wit, he describeth the singular excellency of the elect: and also lest any man should doubt whether he be chosen or not, the Apostle calleth us back to the effectual calling, that is, to the voice of the Gospel sounding both in our ears and minds by the outward preaching and Sacraments, whereby we may certainly understand that everlasting decree of our salvation, (which otherwise is most secret and hidden) and that through the only mercy of God, who freely chooseth and calleth us. Therefore this only remaineth, sayeth he, that by all means possible we set forth so great goodness of the most mighty God.

2:11 1 He returneth to that general exhortation.
2 A reason why we ought to live holly, to wit, because we are citizens of heaven, and therefore we ought to live according to the Laws not of this world, which is most corrupt, but of the heavenly city, although we be strangers in the world.
3 Another argument: The children of God live not according to the flesh, that is, according to that corrupt nature, but according to the spirit. Therefore fleshly motions ought not to bear rule in us.
4 The third argument: for although those lusts flatter us, yet they cease not to fight against our salvation.
5 The fourth argument, taken of the profit of so doing: for by this means also we provide for our good name and estimation, whilst we compel them at length to change their minds, which speak evil of us.
6 The fifth argument, which also is of great force: Because the glory of God is greatly set forth by that means, whilst by example of our honest life, even the most profane men are brought unto God, and submit themselves unto him.
7 When God shall also have mercy on them.

2:13 1 That which he spoke generally, he now expoundeth by parts, describing severally every man's duty. And first of all he speaketh of obedience which is due both to the Laws, and also to the Magistrates both higher and lower.
2 By ordinance, is meant the framing and ordering of civil government: which he calleth ordinance of man, not because man invented it, but because it is proper to men.
3 The first argument: because the Lord is the author and revealer of this policy of men, that is, which is set amongst men: and therefore the true servants of the Lord must above all others be diligent observers of this order.
4 He preventeth a cavil which is made by some, that say they will obey Kings and the higher magistrates, and yet contemn their ministers: as though their ministers were not armed with their authority which sent them.
14 Or unto governors, as unto them that are sent of him, for the punishment of evil doers, and for the praise of them that do well.

15 For so is the will of God, that by well doing ye may put to silence the ignorance of the foolish men.

16 As free, and not as having the liberty for a cloak of maliciousness, but as the servants of God.

17 1Honor all men: love brotherly fellowship: fear God: honor the King.

18 Servants, be subject to your masters with all fear, not only to the good and courteous, but also to the froward.

19 For this is thankworthy, if a man for conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongfully.

20 For what praise is it, if when ye be buffeted for your faults, ye take it patiently? but and when ye do well, ye suffer wrong and take it patiently, this is acceptable to God.

21 For hereunto ye are called: for Christ also suffered for you, leaving you an example that ye should follow his steps.

22 Who did no sin, neither was there guile found in his mouth.

23 Who when he was reviled, reviled not again: when he suffered, he threatened not, but committed it to him that judgeth righteously.

24 P That his own self bare our sins in his body on the tree, that we being dead to sin, should live in righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed.

25 For ye were as sheep going astray: but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls.

3 That Christian women should not contemn their husbands, though they be infidels.

6 He bringeth in examples of godly Women. 8 General exhortations, 14 patiently to bear persecutions, 15 and boldly to yield a reason of their faith. 18 Christ's example.

1 Likewise let the wives be subject to their husbands, that even they which obey not the word, may without the word be won by the conversation of the wives.

2 While they behold your pure conversation which is with fear:

3 Whose apparel let it not be that outward, with braided hair, and gold put about, or in putting on of apparel:

4 But let it be the hidden man of the heart, which consisteth in the incorruption of a meek and quiet spirit, which is before God a thing much set by.

5 For even after this manner in time past did the holy women, which trusted in God, tire themselves, and were subject to their husbands.
6 As Sarah obeyed Abraham, and called him Sir: whose daughters ye are, while ye do well, not being afraid of any terror.

7 Likewise ye husbands, dwell with them as men of knowledge, giving honor unto the woman, as unto the weaker vessel, even as they which are heirs together of the grace of life, that your prayers be not interrupted.

8 Finally, be ye all of one mind: one suffer with another: love as brethren: be courteous.

9 Not rendering evil for evil, neither rebuke for rebuke: but contrariwise bless, knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should be heirs of blessing.

10 For if any man long after life, and to see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile.

11 Let him eschew evil and do good: let him seek peace and follow after it.

12 For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers: and the face of the Lord is against them that do evil.

13 And who is he that will harm you, if ye follow that which is good?

14 Notwithstanding blessed are ye, if ye suffer for righteousness' sake. Yea, fear not their fear, neither be troubled.

15 But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts, and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, with meekness and reverence.

16 Having a good conscience, that when they speak evil of you as of evil doers, they may be ashamed who slander your good conversation in Christ.

17 For it is better (if the will of God be so) that ye suffer for well doing, than for evil doing.

18 For Christ also hath once suffered for sins,
21 Whereof the baptism that now is, answering that figure, (which is not a putting away of the filth of the flesh, but a confident demanding with a good conscience maketh to God) saveth us also by the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

22 Which is at the right hand of God, gone into heaven, to whom the Anges, and Powers, and might are subject.

4 1 He bringeth in Christ's example, and applieth it, to the mortifying of the flesh, especially commending Charity: 2 And so entreateth of patience. 19 That it is necessary that correction begin at the Church.

1 Forasmuch 1then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind, which is, that he which hath suffered in the flesh, hath ceased from sin,

2 That he hence forward should live (as much time as 'remaineth in the flesh') not after the lusts of men, but after the will of God.

3 Wherefore it is sufficient for us that we have spent the time past of the life, after the lust of the Gentiles walking in wantonness, lusts, drunkenness, in gluttony, drinkings, and in abominable idolatries.

4 1 Wherein it seemeth to them 'strange, that ye run not with them unto the same excess of riot: therefore speak they evil of you.

5 Which shall give account to him, that is ready to judge quick and dead.

6 1 For unto this purpose was the Gospel preached also unto the dead, that they might be condemned according to men in the flesh, but might live according to God in the spirit.

2 An argument taken of comparison: Christ the just suffered for us that are unjust, and shall it grieve us who are unjust to suffer for the just's cause?

3 Another argument being partly taken of things coupled together, to wit, because Christ bringeth us to his Father that same way that he went himself, and partly from the cause efficient: to wit, because Christ bringeth us to his Father that same way that he went himself, and partly from the cause efficient: to wit, because Christ with his inward virtue, which the Ark saved Noah, but because Christ with his inward virtue, which the outward Baptism shadoweth, preserveth us being washed, so that we may call upon God with a good conscience.

4 That selfsame virtue, whereby Christ rose again, and now being carried into heaven, hath received all power, doth at this day defend and preserve us.

4:1 Having ended his digression and sliding from his matter, now he returneth to the exhortation which he brake off, taking occasion by that which he said touching the death, and resurrection of Christ, so defining our sanctification, that to be sanctified, is all one as to suffer in the flesh, that is to say: to leave off from our wickedness and viciousness: and to rise again to God, that is to say, to be renewed, by the virtue of the holy Ghost, that we may lead the rest of our life which remaineth, after the will of God.

4:2 So much of this present life as remaineth yet to be passed over.

4:3 By putting us in mind of the dishonesty of our former life led in the filth of sin, he calleth us to earnest repentance.

2 Wickedly and licentiously after the manner of the Gentiles.

4:4 That we be not moved with the enemies' perverse and slanderous judgments of us, we have to set against them that last judgment of God which remaineth for them, for none, whether they be then found living, or were dead before, shall escape it.

4:5 They think it a new and strange matter.

4:6 A digression because he made mention of the last general judgement. And he preventeth an objection, that seeing Christ came very lately, they may seem to be excusable which died before. But this the Apostle denieth, for (saith he) this selfsame Gospel was preached unto them also: (for he speaketh unto the Jews) and that to the same end that I now preach it unto you, to wit, that the flesh being abolished and put away (that is to say, that wicked and naughty corruption which reigneth in men) they should suffer themselves to be governed by the virtue of the Spirit of God.
7 1Now the end of all things is at hand. Be ye therefore sober, and watching in prayer.
8 1But above all things have fervent love among you: for love shall cover the multitude of sins.
9 1Be ye henceforward circumci\ssed to the will of God: for he is your life; and whose ways are written in that which hath pleased God by Christ to build up the Church.
10 1Let not that man think that he walketh in the light, who is not wise, but understandeth his dark sayings.
11 1If any man be sick, let him call for the elders of the Church; and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord.
12 1The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptation, and to keep the elect from sin.
13 1But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves.
14 1For if any man be a hearer of the word, and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face, and for a space beholding himself, and then goes away, and straightway forgets what he saw.
15 1But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or an evil doer, or as a busybody in other men’s matters.
16 1But if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed: but let him glorify God in this behalf.
17 1For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God. If it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them which obey not the Gospel of God?
18 1And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?
19 1Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God, commit their souls to him in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator.

5 1He warneth the Elders not to usurp authority over the Church, 5 willing the younger sort to be willing to be taught, and to be modest, 8 to be sober and watchful to resist the cruel adversary.
1 1The 1Elders which are among you, 3I beseech which am also an Elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed,
2 1,2Feed the 3flock of God, 4which dependeth upon you, 5caring for it not by constraint, but willingly: not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind:
3 Not as though ye were Lords over God's 4heritage, but that ye may be examples to the flock.
4 1And when that chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive an incorruptible crown of glory.
5 1Likewise ye younger submit yourselves unto the Elders, and submit yourselves every man, one to another: 2deck yourselves inwardly in lowliness of mind: 3for 4God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble.
6 Humble yourselves therefore 1under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time.
7 1Cast all your care on him: for he careth for you.
8 1Be sober, and watch: for 2your adversary the devil as a roaring lion walketh about, seeking whom he may devour:
9 Whom resist steadfast in the faith, 1knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren which are in the world.
10 1And the God of all grace, which hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a little, make you perfect, confirm, strengthen, and establish you.
11 To him be glory and dominion forever and ever, Amen.
12 1By Silvanus a faithful brother unto you, as I suppose, have I written briefly, exhorting and testifying how that this is the true grace of God, wherein ye stand.
13 1The Church that is at Babylon elected together with you, saluteth you, and Mark my son.
14 Greet ye one another with the 1kiss of love. Peace be with you all which are in Christ Jesus, Amen.

5:2 1 The first rule: He that is a shepherd, let him feed the flock.
2 He saith not, Offer for the quick and dead, and sing patched shreds in a strange tongue, but (Feed.)
3 The second: Let the shepherd consider, that the flock is not his, but God's.
4 The third: Let not the shepherds invade other men's flocks, but let them feed that which God hath committed unto them.
5 Let the shepherds govern the Church with the word and example of godly and unblamable life, not by constraint but willingly, not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind, not as Lords over God's portion and heritage, but as his ministers.
5:3 1 Which is the Christian people.
4 1That the shepherds' minds be not overcome either with the wickedness of men, or their cruelty, he warneth us to set the power of God against the vanity of proud men, and to hang wholly upon his providence.
5:8 1 The cruelty of Satan, who seeketh by all means to devour us, is overcome by watchfulness and faith.
5:9 1The persecutions which Satan stirreth up are neither new nor proper to any one man, but from old and ancient time common to the whole Church, and therefore we must suffer that patiently wherein we have such and so many fellows of our conflicts and combats.
2 Amongst your brethren which are dispersed throughout the world.
5:10 1 He sealeth up as it were with a seal the former exhortation with a solemn prayer, again willing them to ask increase of strength at his hands of whom they had the beginning, and hope to have the accomplishment, to wit, of God the Father in Jesus Christ in whom we are sure of the glory of eternal life.
5:11 1Continuance and perseverance in the doctrine of the Apostles, is the only ground and foundation of Christian strength: Now the sum of the Apostles' doctrine, is salvation freely given of God.
5:13 1 Familiar salutations.
2 In that famous city of Assyria, where Peter the Apostle of the circumcision then was.
11 For he that hath not these things, is blind, and cannot see far off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins.

12 Wherefore, I will not be negligent to put you always in remembrance of these things, though that ye have knowledge, and be established in the present truth.

1:1 1 A salutation wherein he giveth them to understand that he dealeth with them as Christ’s ambassador, and otherwise agreeth with them in one selfsame faith which is grounded upon the righteousness of Jesus Christ our God and Savior.

2 2 In that God standing to his promises, showed himself faithful, and therefore just unto us.

1:2 1 Faith is the acknowledging of God and Christ, from whence all our blessedness issueth and showed.

1:3 1 Christ setteth forth himself to us plainly in the Gospel, and that by his only power, and giveth us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the acknowledging of him that hath called us unto glory and virtue.

1:4 1 Whereby most great and precious promises are given unto us, that by them ye should be partakers of the divine nature, in that ye flee the corruption, which is in the world through lust.

1:5 1 Therefore give even all diligence thereunto: join moreover virtue with your faith: and with knowledge, temperance: and with patience, godliness:

1:6 1 And with godliness, brotherly kindness: and with brotherly kindness, love.

1:7 1 For if these things be among you, and abound, they will make you that ye neither shall be idle, nor unfruitful in the acknowledging of our Lord Jesus Christ:

9 For he that hath not these things, is blind, and cannot see far off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins.

10 Wherefore, brethren, give rather diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall.

11 For by this means an entering shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

12 Wherefore, I will not be negligent to put you always in remembrance of these things, though that ye have knowledge, and be established in the present truth.
For I think it meet as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stir you up by putting you in remembrance, Seeing I know that the time is at hand that I must lay down this my tabernacle, even as our Lord Jesus Christ hath showed me.

I will endeavor therefore always, that ye also may be able to have remembrance of these things after my departing.

For we followed not deceitful fables, when we opened unto you the power, and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but with our eyes we saw his majesty:

For he received of God the Father honor and glory, when there came such a voice to him from that excellent Glory, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

And this voice we heard when it came from heaven being with him in the holy mount.

We have also a most sure word of the Prophets, to the which ye do well, to hearken, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawns, and the day star arise in your hearts.

So that ye first know this, that no prophecy of the Scripture is of any private interpretation:

For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the holy Ghost.

He foretelleth them of false teachers, whose wicked slights and destruction he declareth.

As in times past there were two kinds of Prophets, the one true, the other false, so Peter foretelleth them that there shall be some true and some false teachers in the Church, insomuch that Christ himself shall be denied by some, who notwithstanding shall call him redeemer.

Under the Law, while the state and policy of the Jews was yet standing.

There shall not only be heresies, but also many followers of them.

Covetousness for the most part is a companion of heresy, and maketh merchandise even of souls.

They will abuse you, and sell you as they sell cattle in a Fair.

A comfort for the godly: God who cast the Angels that fell away bound them with darkness as it were with chains: and by darkness smothereth their old filthiness.

Which way soever he looked and turned his ears.

So the Greeks called the deep dungeon under the earth, which maketh merchandise even of souls.

A preacher of righteousness, and brought in the Flood upon the world of the ungodly.

And turned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes, condemned them and overthrew them, and made them an ensample unto them that after should live ungodly.

And delivered just Lot vexed with the uncleanly conversation of the wicked:

(For he being righteous, and dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vexed his righteous soul from day to day with their unlawful deeds.)

But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you: which privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that hath bought them, and bring upon themselves swift damnation.

And many shall follow their destructions, by whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of.

And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you, whose condemnation long since resteth not, and their destruction slumbereth not.

For if God spared not the Angels that had sinned, but cast them down into hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be kept unto damnation:

Neither hath spared the old world, but saved Noah the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, and brought in the Flood upon the world of the ungodly.

And turned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes, condemned them and overthrew them, and made them an ensample unto them that after should live ungodly.

And delivered just Lot vexed with the uncleanly conversation of the wicked:

(For he being righteous, and dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vexed his righteous soul from day to day with their unlawful deeds.)

But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you: which privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that hath bought them, and bring upon themselves swift damnation.

And many shall follow their destructions, by whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of.

And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you, whose condemnation long since resteth not, and their destruction slumbereth not.

For if God spared not the Angels that had sinned, but cast them down into hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be kept unto damnation:

Neither hath spared the old world, but saved Noah the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, and brought in the Flood upon the world of the ungodly.

And turned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes, condemned them and overthrew them, and made them an ensample unto them that after should live ungodly.

And delivered just Lot vexed with the uncleanly conversation of the wicked:

(For he being righteous, and dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vexed his righteous soul from day to day with their unlawful deeds.)
2 PETER 2:9

9 The Lord knoweth to deliver the godly out of temptation, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment under punishment:
10 And chiefly them that walk after the flesh, in the lust of uncleanness, and despise government, which are bold, and stand in their own conceit, and fear not to speak evil of them that are in dignity.
11 Whereas the Angels which are greater both in power and might, give not railing judgment against them before the Lord.
12 But these as natural brute beasts, led with sensuality and made to be taken, and destroyed, speak evil of those things which they know not, and shall perish through their own corruption.
13 And shall receive the wages of unrighteousness, as they which count it pleasure daily to live deliciously.
14 Having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease to sin, beguiling unstable souls, they have hearts exercised with covetousness, they are the children of curse:
15 Which forsaking the right way, have gone astray following the way of Balaam, the son of Beor, which loved the wages of unrighteousness.
16 But he was rebuked for his iniquity: for the dumb beast speaking with man’s voice forbade the foolishness of the Prophet.
17 These are wells without water, and clouds carried about with a tempest, to whom the black darkness is reserved forever.
18 For in speaking swelling words of vanity, they beguile with wantonness through the lusts of the flesh them that were clean escaped from them which are wrapped in error,
19 Promising unto them liberty, and are themselves the servants of corruption: for of whomsoever a man is overcome, even unto the same is he in bondage.
20 For if they, after they have escaped from the filthiness of the world, through the acknowledging of the Lord, and of the Savior Jesus Christ, are yet tangled again therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning.
21 For it had been better for them not to have acknowledged the way of righteousness, than after they have acknowledged it, to turn from the holy commandment given unto them.
22 But it is come unto them according to the true proverb, The dog is returned to his own vomit: and the sow that was washed, to the wallowing in the mire.

1 He showeth that he writeth the same things again. 2 Because they must often be stirred up, 3 because dangers hang over their heads through certain mockers. 8 Therefore he warneth the godly that they do not after the judgment of the flesh. 12 appoint the day of the Lord. 14 but that they think it always at hand, 15 in which doctrine he showeth that Paul agreeth with him.

1 This second Epistle I now write unto you, beloved, wherewith I stir up, and warn your pure minds.
2 To call to remembrance the words, which were told before of the holy Prophets, and also the commandment of us the Apostles of the Lord and Savior.

2:9 1 Hath been long practiced in saving and delivering the righteous.
2:10 1 He goeth to another sort of corrupt men, which notwithstanding are within the bosom of the Church, which are wickedly given, and do sedulously speak evil of the authority of Magistrates, (which the Angels themselves that minister before God, do not dispraise) A true and lively description of the Romish Clergy (as they call it.)
2 Princes and great men, be they never so high in authority.
2:12 1 A lively painting out of the same persons, wherein they are compared to beasts, which are made to snare themselves to destruction, while they give themselves to fill their bellies: For there is no greater ignorance than is in these men, although they most impudently find fault with those things which they know not: and it shall come to pass that they shall destroy themselves as beasts, with those pleasures wherewith they are delighted, and dishonor and defile the company of the godly.
2 Made to this end, to be a prey to others: so do these men willingly cast themselves into Satan’s snares.
3 Their own wicked manners shall bring them to destruction.
2:13 1 Or, little rocks.
2 When as by being amongst the Christians in the holy banquets which the Church keepeth, they would seem by that means to be true members of the Church, yet they are indeed but blots on the Church.
2:14 1 He condemneth those men, as showing even in their behavior and countenance an inmeasurable lust, as making merchandise of the souls of light persons, as men exercised in all the crafts of covetousness, to be short, as men that sell themselves for money to curse the Sons of God after Balaam’s example, whom the dumb beast reproved.
2:17 1 Another note whereby they may be well known what manner of men they are, because they have inwardly nothing but either utterly vain or very hurtful, although they make a show of some great goodness: but they shall not escape unpunished for it, because under pretence of false liberty, they draw men into most miserable slavery of sin.
2 Most gross darkness.
2:18 1 They deceive men with vain and swelling words.
2 They take them as fishes are taken with the hook.
3 Unfeignedly and indeed clean departed from Idolatry.
2:20 1 It were better never to have known the way of righteousness, than to turn back from it to the old filthiness: and men that do so are compared to dogs and swine.
3:1 1 The remedy against those wicked enemies both of true doctrine and holiness, is to be sought for by the continual meditation of the writings of the Prophets and Apostles.
3 1This first understand, that there shall come in the last days, 2mockers, which will walk after their lusts,
4 1And say, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the Fathers died, all things continue alike from the beginning of the creation.
5 1For this they willingly know not, that the heavens were of old, and the "earth that was of the water, and by the water, by the word of God.
6 1Wherefore the world that then was, perished, overflowed with the "water.
7 1But the heavens and earth, which are now, are kept by the same word in store, and reserved unto fire against the day of condemnation, and of the destruction of ungodly men.
8 1Dearly beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord, "as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day.
9 1The Lord of that promise is not slack (as some men count slackness) 2but is patient toward us, and "would have no man to perish, but would all men to come to repentance.
10 1But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night, in the which the heavens shall pass away with a "noise, and the elements shall melt with heat, and the earth with the works that are therein shall be burnt up.
11 1Seeing therefore that all these things must be dissolved, what manner persons ought ye to be in holy conversation and godliness, 12 1Looking for, and "hasting unto the coming of that day of God, by which the heavens being on fire, shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with heat?
13 1But we look for "new heavens, and a new earth, according to his promise, "wherein dwelleth righteousness.
14 1Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot and blameless.
15 1And suppose that the long suffering of our Lord is salvation, 1even as our beloved brother Paul according to the wisdom given unto him wrote to you.
16 As one that in all his Epistles speaketh of these things: 1among the 2which, some things are hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable, wrest, as they do also other Scriptures unto their own destruction.
17 Ye therefore beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware, lest ye be also plundered away with the error of the wicked, and fall from your own steadfastness.
18 But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ: to him be glory both now and for evermore. Amen.

33 1 He voucheth the second coming of Christ against the Epicureans by name.
2 Monstrous men, who will seem wise by their contempt of God, and wicked boldness.
34 1 The reason which these mockers pretend because the course of nature is all one as it was from the beginning: therefore the world is from everlasting, and shall be forever.
35 1 He setteth against them the creation of heaven and earth by the word of God, which these men are willingly ignorant of.
2 Which appeared when the waters were gathered together into one place.
36 1 Secondly, he setteth against them the universal flood which was the destruction, as it were of the whole world.
2 For the waters returning into their former place this world, that is to say, this beauty of the earth which we see, and all living creatures which live upon the earth perished.
37 1 Thirdly, he pronounceth that it shall not be harder for God to burn heaven and earth with fire in that day which is appointed for the destruction of the wicked, (which thing he will also do) than it was for him in times past to make them with his only word and afterward to overwhelm them with water.
38 1 The taking away of an objection: in that he seemeth to defer this judgment a long season, in respect of us it is true, but not before God with whom there is no time either long or short.
39 1 The Lord will surely come, because he hath promised: and that neither sooner nor later than he hath promised.

1293 2 PETER 3:18

A reason why the latter day cometh not out of hand, because God doth patiently wait till the elect are brought to repentance, that none of them may perish.
3:10 1 A very short description of the least distinction of the world, but in such sort as nothing could be spoken more gravely.
2 With the violence as it were of a hissing storm.
3:11 1 An exhortation to purity of life, setting before us that horrible judgment of God both to bridle our wantonness, and also to comfort us, so that we be found watching and ready to meet him at his coming.
3:12 1 He requireth patience of us, yet such patience as is not slothful.
3:13 1 In which heavens.
3:14 1 That you may try to your profit, how gentle and peaceable he is.
3:15 Paul's Epistles are allowed by the express testimony of Peter.
3:16 There be certain of these things obscure and dark, whereof the unlearned take occasion to overthrow some men that stand not fast, wresting the testimonies of the Scripture to their own destruction. But this is the remedy against such deceit, to labor that we may daily more and more grow up and increase in the knowledge of Christ.
4 That is to say, among the which things: for he disputeth not here whether Paul's Epistles be plain or dark, but saith, that amongst those things which Paul hath written of his Epistles, and Peter himself in these two of his own, there are some things which cannot be easily understood, and therefore are of some drawn to their own destruction: and this he saith to make us more attentive and diligent, and not remove us from the reading of holy things, for to what end should they have written vain speculations?
John

1:1 He testifieth that he bringeth the eternal word, wherein is life, and light. God will be merciful unto the faithful, if groaning under the burden of their sins, they learn to flee unto his mercy.

1 That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with these our eyes, which we have looked upon, and these hands of ours have handled of that word of life,

2 (For that life was made manifest, and we have seen it, and bear witness, and show unto you that eternal life, which was with the Father, and was made manifest unto us.)

3 That I say, which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye may also have fellowship with the Father and with his Son Jesus Christ.

4 And these things write I unto you, that your joy may be full.

5 This then is the message, which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness.

1:2 Being sent by him: and that doctrine is rightly said to be showed, for no man could so much as have thought of it, if it had not been thus showed.

1:3 The use of this doctrine is this, that all of us being coupled and joined together with Christ by faith, might become the Sons of God, in which thing only consisteth all happiness.

1:4 Now he entereth into a question, whereby we may understand that we are joined together with Christ, to wit, if we be governed with his light, which is perceived by the ordering of our life. And thus he reasoneth, God is in himself most pure light, therefore he agreeth with them, which are lightsome, but with them which are of the darkness he hath no fellowship.

1:5 God is said to be light of his own nature, and to be in light, that is to say, in that everlasting infinite blessedness: and we are said to walk in light, in that the beams of that light do shine unto us in the world.

1:6 A digression or going from the matter he is in with, to the remission of sins: for this our sanctification which walk in the light, is a testimony of our joining and knitting together, with Christ: but because this our light is very dark, we must needs obtain another benefit in Christ, to wit, that our sins may be forgiven us being sprinkled with his blood: and this in conclusion is the prop and stay of our salvation.

1:7 Where are then our merits? for this is our true felicity.

1:8 There is none but needeth this benefit, because there is none that is not a sinner.

1:9 This place doth fully refute that perfectness, and works of supererogation which the Papists dream of.

1:10 A rehearsal of the former sentence: wherein he condemned all of sin without exception, insomuch that if any man persuade himself otherwise, he doth as much as in him lieth, make the word of God himself vain and to no purpose, yea he maketh God a liar, for to what end either in times past needed sacrifices or now Christ and the Gospel, if we be not sinners?

1:11 Therefore the beginning of salvation is to acknowledge our wickedness, and to require pardon from him who freely forgiveth all sins, because he hath promised so to do, and he is faithful and just.

1:12 So then our salvation hangeth upon the free promise of God, who because he is faithful and just, will perform that which he hath promised.

1:13 Where are then our merits? for this is our true felicity.

1:14 That same everlasting word, by whom all things are made, and in whom only was life.

1:15 A rehearsal or going from the matter he is in with, to the remission of sins: for this our sanctification which walk in the light, is a testimony of our joining and knitting together, with Christ: but because this our light is very dark, we must needs obtain another benefit in Christ, to wit, that our sins may be forgiven us being sprinkled with his blood: and this in conclusion is the prop and stay of our salvation.

1:16 If we say, we have not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us.

1:17 God is said to be light of his own nature, and to be in light, that is to say, in that everlasting infinite blessedness: and we are said to walk in light, in that the beams of that light do shine unto us in the world.

1:18 There is none but needeth this benefit, because there is none that is not a sinner.

1:19 This place doth fully refute that perfectness, and works of supererogation which the Papists dream of.

1:20 So then John speaketh not thus for modesty’s sake, as some say, but because it is so indeed.

1:21 This place doth fully refute that perfectness, and works of supererogation which the Papists dream of.
2 Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ, the Just.
3 He is the Advocate for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world.
4 And hereby we are sure that we know him, if we keep his commandments.
5 He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him.
6 But he that keepeth his word, in him is the love of God perfect indeed: hereby we know that we are in him.
7 Brethren, I write no new commandment unto you, but an old commandment, which ye have had from the beginning: this old commandment is that word, which ye have heard from the beginning.
8 Again, a new commandment I write unto you, that which is true in him: and also in you: for the darkness is past, and that true light now shineth.
9 He that saith that he is in that light, and hatheth his brother, is in darkness, until this time.

2:2 1 Reconciliation and intercession go together, to give us to understand that he is both advocate and high Priest.
2 For men of all sorts, of all ages and all places, so that this benefit belongeth not to the Jews only, of whom he speaketh, as appeareth 1 John 2:7, but also to other nations.
3 He returneth to the testimony of our conjunction with God, to wit, to sanctification, declaring what it is to walk in the light, to wit, to keep God's commandments whereby it followeth that holiness doth not consist in those things which men have devised, neither in a vain profession of the Gospel.
4 This must be understood of such a knowledge, as hath faith with it, and not of a common knowledge.
5 For the tree is known by the fruit.
6 Holiness, that is, a life ordered according to the prescript of God's commandments how weak soever they be, is of necessity joined with faith; that is, with the true knowledge of the Father in the Son.
7 He that keepeth God's commandments loveth God indeed. He that loveth God, is in God, or is joined together with God. Therefore he that keepeth his commandments, is in him.
8 Wherewith we love God.
9 He meaneth our conjunction with Christ.
10 He that is one with Christ must needs live his life, that is, must walk in his steps.

2:7 1 The Apostle going about to expound the commandment of charity one toward another, telleth first, that when he urgeth holiness bringeth no new trade of life (as they use to do which devise traditions, one after another) but putteth them in mind of the same Law which God gave in the beginning, to wit, by Moses, at that time that God began to give Laws to his people.
2 He addeth that the doctrine indeed is old, but it is now after a sort new both in respect of Christ, and also of us: in whom he through the Gospel, engraveth his Law effectually, not in tables of stone, but in our minds.
3 Which thing (to wit, that the doctrine is new of which I write unto you) is true in him and in you.

2:8 1 He that loveth his brother, abideth in that light, and there is no occasion of evil in him.
2 But he that hatheth his brother, is in darkness, and walketh in darkness, and knoweth not whither he goeth, because that darkness hath blinded his eyes.
3 Little children, I write unto you, because your sins are forgiven you for his Name's sake.
4 I write unto you, fathers, because ye have known him that is from the beginning. I write unto you, young men, because ye have overcome that wicked one. I write unto you, little children, because ye have known the Father.
5 I have written unto you fathers, because ye have known him that is from the beginning. I have written unto you, young men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and ye have overcome that wicked one.
6 For all that is in this world, (as the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life) is not
1 JOHN 2:17 1296

17 1And this world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that fulfilleth the will of God, abideth ever.

18 1Little children, it is the last time, and as ye have heard that Antichrist shall come, even now there are many Antichrists: whereby we know that it is the last time.

19 1They went out from us, but they were not of us: for if they had been of us, they should have continued with us. 2But this cometh to pass, that it might appear, that they are not all of us.

20 1But ye have an 3ointment from that Holy one, and know all things.

21 1I have not written unto you, because ye know not the truth: but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the truth.

22 1Who is a liar, but he that denieth that Jesus is the same Christ? the same is that Antichrist that denieth the Father and the Son.

23 1Whosoever denieth the Son, the same hath not the Father.

24 1Let therefore abide in you that same which ye have heard from the beginning. If that which ye have heard from the beginning, shall remain in you, ye shall also continue in the Son, and in the Father.

25 And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even that eternal life.

26 1These things have I written unto you, concerning them that deceive you.

27 But that anointing which ye received of him, dwelleth in you: and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and it is true and is not lying, and as it taught you, ye shall abide in him.

28 1And now, little children, abide in him, that when he shall appear, we may be bold, and not be ashamed before him, at his coming.

29 1If ye know that he is righteous, know ye that he which doeth righteously, is born of him.

3 Setting down the inestimable glory of this that we are God's sons. 2 he showeth that newness of life must be testified by good works, whereof charity is a manifest token. 19 Of faith, and praying unto God.

1 Behold, 2what love the Father hath given to both together, and at once. And they that do so do in vain boast and brag of God, for that in denying the Son the Father also is denied.

2 is the true Messiah.

2:23 1 They then are deceived themselves, and also do deceive others, which say that the Turks and other infidels worship the same God that we do.

2:24 1 The whole preaching of the Prophets and Apostles is contrary to that doctrine: Therefore it is utterly to be cast away and this wholly to be held in and kept, which leadeth us to seek eternal life in the free promise, that is to say, in Christ alone, who is given to us of the Father.

2:26 1 The same Spirit which endueth the elect with the knowledge of the truth, and sanctifieth them, giveth them therewithal the gift of perseverance, to continue to the end.

2:27 1 The Spirit which you have received of Christ, and which hath led you into all truth.

2 You are not ignorant of these things, and therefore I teach them not as things that were never heard of, but call them to your remembrance as things which you do know.

2 He commendeth both the doctrine which they had embraced, and also highly praiseth their faith and the diligence of such as taught them, yet so, that he taketh nothing from the honor due to the holy Ghost.

2:28 1 The conclusion both of the whole exhortation, and also of the former treatise.

2:29 1 A passing over to the treatise following, which tendeth to the same purpose, but yet is more ample, and handlieth the same matter after another order: for before he taught us to go up from the effects to the cause, and in this that followeth, he goeth down from the causes to the effects. And this is the sum of the argument: God is the fountain of all righteousness: and therefore they that give themselves to righteousness, are known to be born of him, because they resemble God the Father.

3:1 1 He beginneth to declare this agreement between the Father and the Son at the highest cause, to wit, at that free love of God towards us, wherewith he so loveth us, that he also adopteth us to be his children.

2 What a gift of how great love.

2:17 1 He sheweth how much better it is to obey the Father's will, than the lusts of the world, by both their natures and unlike event.

2:18 1 Now he turneth himself to little children, which notwithstanding are well instructed in the sum of religion, and willet them by divers reasons to shake off slothfulness, which is too too familiar with that age.

2 He useth this word (little) not because he speaketh to children, but to allure them the more by using such sweet words.

3 First, because the last time is at hand, so that the matter suffereth no delay.

4 Secondly because Antichrists, that is, such as fall from God, are already come, even as they heard that they should come. And it was very requisite to warn that unheedy and wariless age of that danger.

2:19 1 A digression against certain offenses and stumbling blocks, whereat that rude age especially might stumble and be shaken. Therefore that they should not be terrified with the soul falling back whereat that rude age especially might stumble and be shaken.

2:20 1 Thirdly, he comforteth them to make them stand fast, inso-much as they are anointed by the holy Ghost with the true knowledge of salvation.

2:21 1 The grace of the holy Ghost, and this is a borrowed kind of speech taken from the anointings used in the Law.

2:22 1 From Christ who is peculiarly called holy.

2:23 1 The taking away of an objection. He wrote not these things as a passing over to the treatise following, which tendeth to the same purpose, but yet is more ample, and handlieth the same matter after another order: for before he taught us to go up from the effects to the cause, and in this that followeth, he goeth down from the causes to the effects. And this is the sum of the argument: God is the fountain of all righteousness: and therefore they that give themselves to righteousness, are known to be born of him, because they resemble God the Father.

3:1 1 He beginneth to declare this agreement between the Father and the Son at the highest cause, to wit, at that free love of God towards us, wherewith he so loveth us, that he also adopteth us to be his children.

2 What a gift of how great love.
us, that we should be called the sons of God: 1 For this cause this world knoweth you not, because it knoweth not him.

2 Dearly beloved, now are we the sons of God, but yet it is not made manifest what we shall be: and we know that when he shall be made manifest: we shall be like him: for we shall see him as he is.

3 And every man that hath this hope in him purgeth himself, even as he is pure.

4 Whosoever commiteth sin, transgresseth also the Law: for sin is the transgression of the Law.

5 And ye know that he was made manifest, that he might take away our sins, and in him is no sin.

6 Whosoever abideth in him, sinneth not: whosoever sinneth, hath not seen him, neither hath known him.

7 Little children, let no man deceive you, he that doeth righteousness, is righteous, as he is righteous.

8 He that commiteth sin, is of the devil: for the devil sinneth from the beginning: for this purpose the devil sinneth: and the devil is the author of sin.

9 Whosoever is born of God sinneth not: for his seed remaineth in him, neither can he sin, because he is born of God.

10 In this are the children of God known, and the children of the devil: whosoever doeth not righteousness, is not of God.

11 For this is the message that ye heard from the beginning, that we should love one another.

12 Not as Cain which was of that wicked one, and slew his brother: and wherefore slew he him? because his own works were evil, and his brother’s good.

13 Marvel not my brethren, though this world hate you.

14 We know that we are translated from death unto life, because we love the brethren: he that loveth not his brother, abideth in death.

15 Whosoever hateth his brother, is a manslayer: and ye know that no manslayer hath eternal life abiding in him.

3 That we should be the sons of God, and so that all the world may perceive we are so.

4 Before he declareth this adoption, he saith two things: the one, that this so great a dignity is not to be esteemed, according to the judgment of the flesh, because it is unknown to the world, for the world knoweth not God the Father himself.

3:2 The other. This dignity is not fully made manifest to ourselves, much less to strangers, but we are sure of the accomplishment of it, insomuch that we shall be like to the Son of God himself, and shall enjoy his sight indeed, such as he is now: but yet notwithstanding this is deferred until his next coming.

2 Like, but not equal.

3 For now we see as in a glass, 1 Cor. 13:12.

3:3 Now he describeth this adoption, (the glory whereof as yet consisteth in hope) by the effect, to wit, because that whosoever is made the Son of God, endeaovoreth to resemble the Father in purity.

2 This word signifieth a likeness, but not in equality.

3:4 The rule of this purity can from no whence else be taken but from the Law of God, the transgression whereof is that which is called sin.

2 Giveth not himself to pureness.

3 A short definition of sin.

3:5 An argument taken from the material cause of our salvation: Christ in himself is most pure, and he came to take away our sins, by sanctifying us with the holy Ghost. Therefore, whosoever is truly partaker of Christ doth not give himself to sin: and so contrariwise he that giveth himself to sin knoweth not Christ.

3:6 He is said to sin, that giveth not himself to pureness, and in him sin reigneth, but sin is said to dwell in the faithful, and not to reign in them.

3:7 Another argument of things coupled together: He that liveth justly, is just, and resemblmeth Christ that is just, and by that is known to be the son of God.

3:8 An argument taken of contraries: the devil is the author of sin, and therefore he is of the devil, or is ruled by the inspiration of the devil that serve sin: and if he be the devil’s son, then is he not God’s son: for the devil and God are so contrary the one to the other, that even the Son of God was sent to destroy the works of the devil. Therefore on the contrary side, whosoever resists sin, is the Son of God, being born again of his spirit as of new seed, insomuch that he is now delivered from the slavery of sin.

2 Resemblmeth the devil, as the child doth the father, and is governed by his spirit.

3 He saith not sinned, but sinneth, for he did nothing else but sin.

4 From the very beginning of the world.

3:9 The holy Ghost is so called of the effect he worketh, because by his virtue and mighty working, as it were by seed, we are made new men.

3:10 The conclusion, by a wicked life they are known which are governed by the spirit of the Devil, and by a pure life, which are God’s children.

2 He beginneth to commend charity towards the brethren, as another mark of the Sons of God.

3:11 The first reason, taken of the authority of God, which giveth the commandment.

3:12 An amplification, taken of the contrary example of Cain, which slew his brother.

2 He bringeth forth a very fit and very old example, wherein we may behold both the nature of the sons of God, and of the sons of the devil, and what state and condition remaineth for us in this world: and what shall be the end of both at length.

3 A short digression: Let us not marvel that we are hated by the world for doing our duty, for such was the condition of Abel who was a just person: and who would not rather be like him than Cain?

3:14 The second reason: Because charity is a testimony that we are translated from death to life: and therefore hatred towards the brethren is a testimony of death, and whosoever nourished it, doth as it were foster death in his bosom.

2 Love is a token that we are translated from death to life, for as such as by the effects the cause is known.

3:15 A confirmation: Whosoever is a murderer, is in eternal death, who so hateth his brother, is a murderer: therefore he is in death. And therein followeth the contrary. He that loveth his brother, hath passed to life, for indeed we are born dead.
1 John 3:16

16 1Having we perceived love, that he laid down his life for us: therefore we ought also to lay down our lives for the brethren.

17 1And whosoever hath this world’s good, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him?

18 1My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue only, but in deed and in truth.

19 1For thereby we know that we are of the truth, and shall before him assure our hearts.

20 1For if our hearts condemn us, God is greater than our heart, and knoweth all things.

21 1Beloved, if our heart condemn us not, then have we boldness toward God.

22 1And whatsoever we ask, we receive of him, because we keep his commandments, and do those things which are pleasing in his sight.

23 1This is then his commandment, that we believe in the Name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave commandment.

24 1For he that keepeth his commandments, dwelleth in him, and he in him: and hereby we know that he abideth in us, even by that Spirit which he hath given us.

1:3:16 1 Now he sheweth how far Christian charity extendeth, even so far, that according to the example of Christ, every man forget himself, to provide for and help his brethren.

1:3:17 1 He reasoneth by comparison: For if we are bound even to give our life for our neighbors, how much more are we bound to help our brothers’ necessity with our goods and substance?

1:3:18 1 Openeth not his heart to him, nor helpeth him willingly and cheerfully.

1:3:19 1 Christian charity standeth not in words, but in deed, and proceedeth from a sincere affection.

1:3:20 1 He commendeth charity by a triple effect: for first of all, by it we know that we are indeed the sons of God, as he sheweth before.

1:3:21 1 Whereewith this life is sustained.

1:3:22 1 Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God: but this spirit which confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God.

1:3:23 1 Little children, ye are of God, and have overcome them: for greater is he that is in you, than he that is in this world.

1:3:24 1 They are of this world, therefore spake they of this world, and this world heareth them.

1:3:25 1 We are of God, he that knoweth God heareth us: he that is not of God heareth us not. Hereby know we the Spirit of truth, and the spirit of error.

1:3:26 1 Beloved, let us love one another: 2for love have we here to take heed of two things, the one is, that seeing there be many false prophets, we do not lightly give credit to every man: the other is, that because many men teach false things, we should not therefore believe any. We must then observe a mean, that we may be able to discern the Spirit of God, which are altogether to be eschewed.

4:1 1 Having spoken somewhat touching the trying of spirits: 2 For some speak after the world, and some after God. 3 He returneth to charity. 11, 19 and by the example of God he exhorteth to brotherly love.

4:2 1 Dearlie beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: for many false Prophets are gone out into the world.

4:3 1 Hereby shall ye know the Spirit of God, 2 Every spirit which confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God.

4:4 1 And every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God: but this is the spirit of Antichrist, of whom ye have heard, how that he should come, and now already he is in this world.

4:5 1 Little children, ye are of God, and have overcome them: for greater is he that is in you, than he that is in this world.

4:6 1 They are of this world, therefore spake they of this world, and this world heareth them.

4:7 1 We are of God, he that knoweth God heareth us: he that is not of God heareth us not. Hereby know we the Spirit of truth, and the spirit of error.

4:8 1 Beloved, let us love one another: 2for love hath become Christ’s name, and we are born anew, and live unto God.

4:9 1 Taking occasion by the name of the Spirit, lest love and charity should be separated from the worship of God, which chiefly dependeth of his true knowledge, he returneth to that which he spake in the second Chapter touching the taking heed of Antichrists. And he will cometh of God, and everyone that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God.
8 He that loveth not, knoweth not God, for God is love.
9 Herein was that love of God made manifest amongst us, because God sent that his only begotten Son into this world, that we might live through him.
10 Herein is that love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be a reconciliation for our sins.
11 Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.
12 No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfect in us.
13 Hereby know we, that we dwell in him, and he in us: because he hath given us of his Spirit.
14 And we have seen, and do testify, that the Father sent the Son to be the Savior of the world.
15 Whosoever confesseth that Jesus is the Son of God, in him dwelleth God, and he in God.
16 And we have known, and believed the love that God hath in us, God is love, and he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him.

4:18 1 If we understand by love, that we are in God, and God in us, that we are sons, and that we know God, and that everlasting life is in us: he concludes aight that we may well gather peace and quietness thereby.
4:19 1 Lest any man should think that that peace of conscience proceedeth from our love as from the cause, he goeth back to the fountain, to wit, to the free love, wherewith God loveth us although we deserved and do deserve his wrath. And hereof springeth another double charity, which both are tokens and witnesses of that first, to wit, that, wherewith we love God who loved us first, and then for his sake our neighbors also.
4:20 1 As he showed that the love of our neighbor cannot be separate from the love wherewith God loveth us, because this last engendereth the other: so he denieth that the other kind of love wherewith we love God, can be separate from the love of our neighbor: whereof it followeth, that they lie imputedly which say they worship God, and yet regard not their neighbor.
4:21 1 A second reason, why God cannot be hated and our neighbor loved, because the selfsame Lawmaker commanded both to love him and our neighbor.
5:1 1 He goeth on forward in the same argument, showing how both those loves come into us from the love wherewith God loveth us, to wit, by Jesus our Mediator laid hold on by faith, in whom we are made the children of God, and do love the Father of whom we are so begotten and also our brethren which are begotten with us.
5:2 1 The first reason taken of comparison, why we cannot hate our neighbor and love God, to wit, because that he that cannot love his brother, whom he seeth, how can he love God whom he seeth not?
5:3 1 A confirmation: For it is the nature of God to love men, whereof we have a most manifest proof above all others: in that that of his only free and infinite goodwill towards us his enemies, he delivered unto death not a common man, but his own Son, yea, his only begotten Son, to the end that we being reconciled through his blood, might be made partakers of his everlasting glory.
6:1 1 Another reason by comparison: if God so loved us, shall not we his children love one another.
6:2 1 In that he called God, Love he saith more than if he had said that he loveth us infinitely.
6:3 1 Another reason: Because God is invisible, therefore by this effect of his Spirit, to wit, by charity, he is understood, yea, and to be not out of us, but joined with us, and in us, in whom he is so effectually working.
6:4 1 He underlayeth this charity with another foundation, to wit, faith in Jesus, which joineth us indeed with him, even as charity witnesseth that we are joined with him. Furthermore he testifieth of Christ, as who had seen him with his eyes.
6:5 1 With such a confession as cometh from true faith and is accompanied with love, so that there be an agreement of all things.
6:6 1 A fourth reason: God is the fountain and wellspring of charity, yea, charity itself: therefore whosoever abideth in it, hath God with him.
6:7 1 Again (as a little before) he commendeth love, for that seeing that by our agreement with God in this thing, we have a certain testimony of our adoption, it cometh thereby to pass, that without fear we look for that latter day of judgment, so that trembling and that torment of conscience is cast out by this love.
6:8 1 This signifieth all likeness, not equality.
6:9 1 If we understand by love, that we are in God, and God in us, that we are sons, and that we know God, and that everlasting life is in us: he concludes aight that we may well gather peace and quietness thereby.
6:10 1 Lest any man should think that that peace of conscience proceedeth from our love as from the cause, he goeth back to the fountain, to wit, to the free love, wherewith God loveth us although we deserved and do deserve his wrath. And hereof springeth another double charity, which both are tokens and witnesses of that first, to wit, that, wherewith we love God who loved us first, and then for his sake our neighbors also.
6:11 1 As he showed that the love of our neighbor cannot be separate from the love wherewith God loveth us, because this last engendereth the other: so he denieth that the other kind of love wherewith we love God, can be separate from the love of our neighbor: whereof it followeth, that they lie imputedly which say they worship God, and yet regard not their neighbor.
6:12 1 A second reason, why God cannot be hated and our neighbor loved, because the selfsame Lawmaker commanded both to love him and our neighbor.
6:13 1 He goeth on forward in the same argument, showing how both those loves come into us from the love wherewith God loveth us, to wit, by Jesus our Mediator laid hold on by faith, in whom we are made the children of God, and do love the Father of whom we are so begotten and also our brethren which are begotten with us.
6:14 1 The first true Messiah.
6:15 1 By one he meaneth all the faithful.
6:16 1 The love of our neighbor doth so hang upon the love wherewith we love God, that this last must needs go before the first, whereof it followeth, that that is not to be called love when men agree together to do evil, neither that, when as in loving our neighbors, we respect not God's commandments.
6:17 1 There is no love where there is no true doctrine.
3 1For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments: 2and his commandments are not burdensome.

4 1For all that is born of God, overcometh this world: 2and this is that victory that 3hath overcome this world even our faith.

5 1Who is it that overcometh this world, but he which believeth that Jesus is that Son of God? 2This is that Jesus Christ that came by water and blood: 3not by water only, but by water and blood: and it is that 4Spirit that beareth witness: for that Spirit is truth.

6 1For there are three, which bear record in heaven, the Father, the 5Word, and the holy Ghost: and these three 6are one.

7 1And there are three, which bear record in the earth, the Spirit, and the Water and the Blood: and these three 3agree in one.

8 1If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater: for 2this is the witness of God, which he testified of his Son.

5:3 1The reason: for to love God is to keep his commandments, which being so, and seeing that both the loves are commanded of one and the selfsame lawmaker (as he taught before) it followeth also that we do not love our neighbor, when we break God's commandments.

2 Because experience teacheth us that there is no ability in our flesh, neither yet will to perform God's commandments, therefore lest the Apostle should seem, by so often putting them in mind of the keeping of the commandments of God, to require things that are impossible, he pronounceth that the commandments of God are not in such sort grievous or burdensome, that we can be oppressed with the burden of them.

3 To them that are regenerate, that is to say, born anew, which are led by the Spirit of God, and are through grace delivered from the curse of the Law.

5:4 1A reason: Because by regeneration we have gotten strength to overcome the world, that is to say, whatsoever striveth against the commandments of God.

2 He declareth what that strength is, to wit, Faith.

3 He useth the time that is past to give us to understanding, that although we be in the battle, yet undoubtedly we shall be conquerors, and are most certain of the victory.

4 Which is the instrumental cause, and as a mean and hand whereby we lay hold on him who indeed doth perform this, that is, hath and doth overcome the world, Even Jesus Christ.

5:5 1Moreover he declareth two things, the one what true faith is, to wit, that which resteth upon Jesus Christ the Son of God alone: whereupon followeth the other, to wit, that this strength is not proper to faith, but by faith as an instrument is drawn from Jesus Christ the Son of God.

5:6 1He proveth the excellency of Christ, in whom only all things are given us by six witnesses, three heavenly, and three earthly, which wholly and fully agree together. The heavenly witnesses are: the Father who sent the Son, the word itself which became flesh, and the holy Ghost. The earthly witnesses are, water, (that is, our sanctification) blood, (that is, our justification) the Spirit, (that is, acknowledge of God the Father in Christ by faith through the testimony of the holy Ghost.)

10 21He that believeth in that Son of God, hath the witness in himself: he that believeth not God, hath made him a liar, because he believed not the record, that God witnessed of that his Son.

11 1And this is that record, to wit, that God hath given unto us eternal life, and this life is in that his Son.

12 He that hath that Son, hath that life: and he that hath not that Son of God, hath not that life.

13 2These things have I written unto you, that believe in the name of that Son of God, that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe in the Name of that Son of God.

14 1And this is that assurance that we have in him, 2that if we ask anything according to his will, he heareth us.

15 And if we know that he heareth us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions, that we have desired of him.
16 If any man see his brother sin a sin that is not unto death, let him ask, and he shall give him life for them that sin not unto death. There is a sin unto death, I say not that thou shouldest pray for it.

17 All unrighteousness is sin, but there is a sin not unto death.

18 We know that whosoever is born of God, sinneth not: but he that is begotten of God keepeth himself, and that wicked one toucheth him not.

19 Little children, keep yourselves from idols, Amen.

5:16 1 We have to make prayers not only for ourselves, but also for our brethren which do sin, that their sins be not unto them, to death: and yet he excepteth that sin, which is never forgiven, or the sin against the holy Ghost, that is to say, an universal and willful falling away from the known truth of the Gospel.

2 This is as much as if he said, Let him desire the Lord to forgive him, and he will forgive him being so desired.

5:17 1 The taking away of an objection: Indeed all iniquity is comprehended under the name of sin, but yet we must not despair therefore, because every sin is not deadly, and without hope of remedy.

5:18 1 A reason why not all, nay rather why no sin is mortal to some: to wit, because they be born of God, that is to say, made the sons of God in Christ, and being endued with his Spirit, they do not serve sin, neither are deadly wounded of Satan.

5:19 1 Every man must particularly apply to himself the general promises, that we may certainly persuade ourselves, that whereas all the world is by nature lost, we are freely made the sons of God, by the sending of Jesus Christ his Son unto us, of whom we are lightened with the knowledge of the true God, and everlasting life.

5:20 1 The divinity of Christ is most plainly proved by this place.

5:21 1 He expresseth a plain precept of taking heed of idols: which he setteth against the only true God, that with this seal as it were he might seal up all the former doctrine.
This Epistle is written to a woman of great renown, who brought up her children in the fear of God: he exhorteth her to continue in Christian charity, that she accompany not with Antichrists, but avoid them.

The Elder to the elect Lady, and her children, whom I love in the truth: and not I only, but also all that have known the truth.

For the truth’s sake which dwelleth in us, and shall be with us forever:

Grace be with you, mercy and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ the Son of the Father, with truth and love.

I rejoiced greatly, that I found of thy children walking in truth, as we have received a commandment of the Father.

And now beseech I thee, Lady, (not as writing a new commandment unto thee, but the same which we had from the beginning) that we love one another.

And this is that love that we should walk after his commandments. This commandment is, that as ye have heard from the beginning, ye should walk in it.

For many deceivers are entered into this world, which confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. He that is such one, is a deceiver and an Antichrist.

Look to yourselves, that we lose not the things, which we have done, but that we may receive a full reward.

Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that continueth in the doctrine of Christ, hath both the Father and the Son.

If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not to house, neither bid him Godspeed.

For he that biddeth him Godspeed, is partaker of his evil deeds. Although I had many things to write unto you, yet would I not write with paper and ink: but I trust to come unto you, and speak mouth to mouth, that our joy may be full.

The sons of thine elect sister greet thee, Amen.
1 He commendeth Gaius for hospitality, and reprehendeth Diotrephes for vainglory: he exhorteth Gaius to continue in well doing: and in the end commendeth Demetrius.

1 The Elder unto the beloved Gaius whom I love in the truth.

2 Beloved, I wish chiefly that thou prosperedst and faredst well as thy soul prospereth.

3 For I rejoiceth greatly when the brethren came and testified of the truth that is in thee, how thou walkest in the truth.

4 I have no greater joy than these, that is, to hear that my sons walk in verity.

5 Beloved, thou doest faithfully, whatsoever thou doest to the brethren, and to strangers,

6 Which bore witness of thy love before the Churches, Whom if thou bringest on their journey as it seemeth according to God, thou shalt do well,

7 Because that for his Name's sake they went forth, and took nothing of the Gentiles.

8 We therefore ought to receive such, that we might be helpers to the truth.

9 I wrote unto the Church, but Diotrephes which loveth to have the preeminence among them, receiveth us not.

10 Wherefore if I come, I will call to your remembrance his deeds which he doeth, prattling against us with malicious words, and not therewith content, neither he himself receiveth the brethren, but forbideth them that would, and thrusteth them out of the Church.

11 Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good: he that doeth well is of God: but he that doeth evil, hath not seen God.

12 Demetrius hath good report of all men, and of the truth itself: yea, and we ourselves bear record, and ye know that our record is true.

13 I have many things to write: but I will not with ink and pen write unto thee: For I trust I shall shortly see thee, and we shall speak mouth to mouth. Peace be with thee. The friends salute thee. Greet thy friends by name.
1:1 3 He warneth the godly to take heed of such men. 4 that make the grace of God a cloak for their wantonness: 5 and that they shall not escape unpunished, for the contempt of that grace. 6, 7 he proveth by three examples: 14 and allegeth the prophecy of Enoch: 20 Finally he sheweth the godly a means to overthrow all the snares of those deceivers.

1 Jude a servant of Jesus Christ, and 'brother of James, to them which are called and sanctified 'of God the Father, and 'reserved to Jesus Christ:

2 Mercy unto you, and peace and love be multiplied.

3 'Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you, to exhort you, that ye should earnestly 'contend for the maintenance of the faith, which was 'once given unto the Saints.

4 For there are certain men crept in, which were before of old ordained to this condemnation: 'ungodly men they are, which turn the grace of our God into wantonness, and 'deny God the only Lord, and our Lord Jesus Christ.

5 I will therefore put you in remembrance, forasmuch as ye once knew this, how that the Lord, after that he had delivered the people out of Egypt, destroyed them afterward which believed not.

6 3The 'Angels also which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day.

7 As 'Sodom and Gomorrah, and the cities about them, which in like manner as they did, 'committed fornication, and followed 'strange flesh, are set forth for an example, and suffer the vengeance of eternal fire.

8 Likewise notwithstanding these 'sleepers also defile the flesh, 'and despise 'government, and speak evil of them that are in authority.

9 'Yet Michael the Archangel, when he strove against the devil, and disputed about the body of Moses, durst not blame him with cursed speaking, but said, The Lord rebuke thee.

10 'But these speak evil of those things, which they know not: and whatsoever things they know naturally as beasts, which are without reason, in those things they corrupt themselves.

11 'Woe be unto them: for they have followed the way of Cain, and are cast away by the deceit of Balaam's wages, and perish in the gainsaying of Korah.

12 'These are rocks in your 'feasts of charity, and wits were in a most dead sleep.

2 Another most pernicious doctrine of theirs, in that they take away the authority of Magistrates, and speak evil of them, as at this day the Anabaptists do.

3 It is a greater matter to despise government, than the governors, that is to say, the matter itself, than the persons.

19 3 An argument of comparison, Michael one of the chiefest Angels, was content to deliver Satan, although as most cursed enemy, to the judgment of God to be punished: and these perverse men are not ashamed to speak evil of the powers which are ordained of God.

1:10 1 The conclusion.These men are in a double fault, to wit, both for their rash folly in condemning some, and for their impudent and shameless contempt of that knowledge, which when they had gotten, yet notwithstanding they lived as brute beasts, serving their bellies.

1:11 1 He foretelleth their destruction, because they resemble or shew forth Cain's shameless malice, Balaam's filthy covetousness, and to be short, Korah's seditious and ambitious head.

1:12 1 He rebuketh most sharply with many other notes and marks, both their dishonesty or filthiness, and their sauciness, but especially their vain bravery of words, and most vain pride, joining herewith a most grave and heavy threatening out of a most ancient prophecy of Enoch touching the judgment to come.

2 The feasts of charity were certain banquets, which the brethren that were members of the Church kept altogether, as Tertullian setteh them forth in his Apology, Chap. 3:9.
when they feast with you, without all fear, feeding themselves: clouds they are without water, carried about of winds, corrupt trees and without fruit, twice dead, and plucked up by the roots.

13 They are the raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own shames: they are wandering stars, to whom is reserved the blackness of darkness forever.

14 And Enoch also the seventh from Adam, prophesied of such, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with thousands of his Saints, 15 To give judgment against all men, and to rebuke all the ungodly among them of all their wicked deeds, which they have ungodly committed, and of all their cruel speakings, which wicked sinners have spoken against him.

16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their own lusts: whose mouths speak proud things, having men's persons in admiration, because of advantage.

17 But, ye beloved, remember the words which were spoken before of the Apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ:

18 How that they told you that there should be mockers in the last time, which should walk after their own ungodly lusts.

19 These are they that separate themselves from others, natural, having not the Spirit.

20 But, ye beloved, edify yourselves in your most holy faith, praying in the holy Ghost.

21 And keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ, unto eternal life.

22 And have compassion of some, in putting difference:

23 And others save with fear, pulling them out of the fire, and hate even that garment which is spotted by the flesh.

24 Now unto him that is able to keep you that ye fall not, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with joy, 25 That is, to God only wise, our Savior be glory, and majesty, and dominion, and power, both now and forever, Amen.

1:12 Impudently, without all reverence either to God or man.
1:13 Most gross darkness.
1:14 The present time for the time to come.
1:17 The rising up of such monsters was spoken of before, that we should not be troubled at the newness of the matter.
1:19 It is the property of Antichrists to separate themselves from the godly, because they are not governed by the Spirit of God: and contrariwise it is the property of Christians to edify one another through godly prayers both in faith and also in love until the mercy of Christ appears to their full salvation.
1:22 Among them which wander and go astray, the godly have to use this choice, that they handle some of them gently, and that others some being even in the very flame, they endeavor to save with severe and sharp instruction of the present danger: yet so, that they do in such sort abhor the wicked and dishonest, that they eschew even the least contagion that may be.
1:23 By fearing them, and holding them back with godly severity.
2 An amplification taken from the forbidden things of the Law which did defile.
1:24 He commendeth them to the grace of God, declaring sufficiently that it is God only that can give us that constancy which he requireth of us.
THE

OF SAINT JOHN THE APOSTLE

CHAPTER 1

1:1 1 This Chapter hath two principal parts, the title or inscription, which standeth instead of an exordium: and a narration going before the whole prophecy of this book: The inscription is double, general and particular. The general containeth the kind of prophecy, the author, and matter, instruments, and manner of communicating the same, in the first verse: the most religious faithfulness of the Apostle author, and matter, instruments, and manner of communicating the same, in the first verse: the most religious faithfulness of the Apostle as public witness, verse 2. And the use of communicating the same taken from the promise of God, and from the circumstance of the time, for the time is at hand.

1 John to the seven Churches which are in Asia, Grace be with you, and peace from him, Which is, and Which was, and Which is to come, and from the seven Spirits which are before his Throne,

5 And from Jesus Christ 1 which is that faithful witness, and that first begotten of the dead, and that Prince of the Kings of the earth, unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his blood,

6 And made us Kings and Priests unto God even his Father, to him, I say, be glory, and dominion for evermore, Amen.

7 Behold, he cometh with clouds, and every eye shall see him: yea, even they which pierced him through: and all kindreds of the earth shall wail before him, Even so, Amen.

8 1 I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, Which is, and Which

1:2 Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave unto him, to show unto his servants things which must shortly be done: which he sent, and showed by his Angel unto his servant John,

1:3 Who bare record of the word of God, and of the testimony of Jesus Christ, and of all things that he saw.

1:4 1 John to the seven Churches which are in Asia, Grace be with you, and peace from him, Which is, and Which was, and Which is to come, and from the seven Spirits which are before his Throne,

5 And from Jesus Christ 1 which is that faithful witness, and that first begotten of the dead, and that Prince of the Kings of the earth, unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his blood,

6 And made us Kings and Priests unto God even his Father, to him, I say, be glory, and dominion for evermore, Amen.

7 Behold, he cometh with clouds, and every eye shall see him: yea, even they which pierced him through: and all kindreds of the earth shall wail before him, Even so, Amen.

8 1 I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, Which is, and Which

1:5 A most ample and grave commendation of Christ, first from his offices the Priesthood and kingdoms, secondly from his benefits, as his love toward us, and washing us with his blood, in this verse, and communication of his kingdom and Priesthood with us: thirdly from his eternal glory and power, which always is to be celebrated of us, verse 6. Finally from the accomplishment of all things once to be effected by him, at his second coming, what time he shall openly destroy the wicked, and comfort the godly in the truth, verse 7.

1:6 1 All men.

1:7 A confirmation of the salutation foregoing, taken from the words of God himself: in which he avoucheth his operation in every single creature, the immutable eternity that is in himself, and his omnipotence in all things: and concludeth in the unity of his own essence, that Trinity of persons, which was before spoken of.

1:8 I am he before whom there is nothing, yea, by whom everything that is made, was made and shall remain though all they should perish.
was, and Which is to come, even the Almighty.

9 1 I John even your brother and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdom and patience of Jesus Christ, was in the 2Isle called Patmos, for the word of God, and for the witnessing of Jesus Christ.

10  And I was r avished in 3spirit on the 4Lord’s day, and heard behind me a great voice, as it had been of a trumpet, 11  Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, that first and that last: and that which thou seest write in a book, and send it unto the seven Churches which are in Asia, unto Ephesus, and unto Smyrna, and unto Pergamos, and unto Thyatira, and unto Sardis, and unto Philadelphia, and unto Laodicea.

12  Then I turned back to 5see the voice that spake with me: 6and when I was turned, I saw seven golden candlesticks, 13  And in the midst of the seven candlesticks, one like unto the son of man, clothed with a garment down to the feet, and girded about the paps with a golden girdle.

14  His head and hairs were white as white wool, and as snow; and his eyes were as a flame of fire, 15  And his feet like unto fine brass burning as in a furnace: and his voice as the sound of many waters.

16  And he had in his right hand seven stars: and out of his mouth went a sharp two edged sword, and his face shone as the sun shineth in his strength.

17  7And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead: 8then he laid his right hand upon me, saying unto me, Fear not: 9I am that 10first and that last,

18  And am alive, but I was dead: and behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen: and I have the keys of hell and of death.

19  11Write these things which thou hast seen, and the things which are, and the things which shall come hereafter.

20  12The mystery of the seven stars which thou sawest in my right hand, and the seven golden candlesticks, 13is this, The seven stars are the 14Angels of the seven Churches: and the seven candlesticks which thou sawest, are the seven Churches.

1 15Unto the Angel of the Church of Ephesus

19 1 The narration opening the way to the declaring of the authority and calling of Saint John the Evangelist in this singular Revelation, and to procure faith, and credit unto this prophecy. This is the second part of this Chapter consisting of a proposition and an exposition. The proposition showeth, first who was called unto this Revelation, in what place, and how occupied, verse 9. Then at what time and by what means, namely, by the spirit and the word, and that on the Lord’s day, which day ever since the resurrection of Christ, was consecrated for Christians unto the religion of the Sabbath: that is to say, to be a day of rest, verse 10. Thirdly, who is the author that calleth him, and what is the sum of his calling.

2 Patmos is one of the isles of Sporas whither John was banished as some write.

1:10 1 This is that holy ravishment expressed, wherewith the prophets were ravished, and being as it were carried out of the world were conversant with God, and so Ezekiel saith often that he was carried from place to place of the Lord’s Spirit, and that the Spirit of the Lord fell upon him.

2 He calleth it the Lord’s day, which Paul calleth the first day of the week, 1 Cor. 16:2.

1:12 1 The exposition, declaring the third and last point of the proposition (for the other points are evident of themselves) wherein is spoken first of the author of his calling unto verse 17. Secondly of the calling itself unto the end of the Chap. And first of all the occasion is noted in this verse, in that S. John turned himself towards the vision: after is set down the description of the author in the verses following, Rev. 1:13–16.

2 To see him whose voice I had heard.

3 The description of the Author, which is Christ: by the candlesticks that standeth about him, that is the Churches that stand before him, and depend upon his direction, in this verse: by his properties, that he is one furnished with wisdom and dexterity to the achieving of great things, verse 13, and ancient gravity and most excellent sight of the eye, verse 14, with strength invincible and with a mighty word, verse 15. By his operations, that he ruleth the ministry of his servants in the Church, giveth the effect thereunto by the sword of his word, and enlightening all things with his countenance, doth most mightily provide for everyone by his divine providence, verse 16.

1:17 1 A religious fear that goeth before the calling of the Saints, and their full confirmation to take upon them the vocation of God.

2 A divine confirmation is this calling partly by sign and partly by word of power.

3 A most elegant description of this calling contained in three things, which are necessary unto a just vocation: first the authority of him that calleth, for that he is the beginning and end of all things, in this verse, for that he is eternal and omnipotent, verse 18. Secondly, the sum of this prophetic calling, and revelation, verse 19. Lastly a declaration of those persons unto whom this prophecy is by the commandment of God directed in the description thereof, verse 20.

1:19 1 The sum of this prophecy, that the Apostle must write whatsoever he should see, adding nothing, nor taking away anything, as verse 2. Hereof there are two parts: one is a narration of those things which are, that is, which then were at that time contained in the second and third Chapters, the other part is of those things which were to come, contained in the rest of this book.

1:20 1 That is, the things which [were] mystical, signified by the particulars of the vision foregoing.

2 By the Angels he meaneth the Ministers of the Church.

2:1 1 The former part of this book is comprised in a narration of those things which then were as S. John taught us, Rev. 1:19, it belongeth wholly to instruction and in these next two Chapters, containeth seven places according to the number and condition of those Churches which were named before, Rev. 1:11, figured verse 12, distributed most aptly into their Pastors and Flocks, verse 20, which verse of that Chap. is as it were a passage unto the first part. Every one of the seven places hath three principal members, an Exordium taken from the person of the Author: a Proposition, in which is praise and commendation of that which is good, representation of that which is evil; an instruction containing either an exhortation alone, or withal a dissuasion opposite unto it, and a conclusion stirring unto attention by divine promises. And this first place is unto the Pastors of the Church of Ephesus.
write, 2These things saith he that holdeth the seven stars in his right hand, and walketh in the midst of the seven golden candlesticks.

2 1I know thy works, and thy labor, and thy patience, and how thou canst not bear with them which are evil, and hast examined them which say they are Apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars.

3 And thou wast burdened, and hast patience, and for my Name’s sake hast labored, and hast not fainted.

4 Nevertheless, I have somewhat 1against thee, because thou hast left thy first love.

5 Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent and do the first works: or else I will come against thee shortly, and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, except thou amend.

6 But this thou hast that thou hastest the works of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate.

7 1Let him that hath an ear hear what the Spirit saith unto the Churches: To him that overcometh, will I give to eat of the tree of life which is in 2the midst of the 3Paradise of God.

8 ¶ 1And unto the Angel of the Church of the 3Smyrnians write. These things saith he that is first and last, which was dead and is alive.

9 I know thy works and tribulation, and poverty (but thou art rich) and I know the blasphemy of them, which say they are Jews, and are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan.

10 Fear none of those things, which thou shalt suffer: behold, it shall come to pass, that the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried, and ye shall have 3tribulation ten days: be thou faithful unto the death, and I will give thee the crown of life.

11 1Let him that hath an ear hear what the Spirit saith unto the Churches. He that overcometh shall not be hurt 3of the second death.

12 1And to the Angel of the Church, which is at 3Pergamos write, Thus saith he which hath that sharp sword with two edges.

13 1I know thy works, and where thou dwellest, even where Satan’s throne is, and thou keepest my Name, and hast not denied my faith, even in 3those days when Antipas my faithful martyr was slain among you, where Satan dwelleth.

14 But I have a few things against thee, because thou hast there them that maintain the doctrine of 1Balaam, which taught Balak to put a stumbling block before the children of Israel, that they should 3eat of things sacrificed unto idols, and commit fornication.

15 Even so hast thou them that maintain the doctrine of the 1Nicolaitans, which thing I hate.

16 Repent thyself, or else I will come unto thee shortly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.

17 1Let him that hath an ear, hear what the spirit saith unto the Churches. To him that overcometh, will I give to eat 3of the 3Manna that is hid, and will give him

---

2:1 The exordium wherein are contained the special praises of Christ Jesus the Author of this prophecy, out of verses 16 and 13 of the first Chapter.

2:2 1 The proposition, first condemning the Pastor of this Church, verses 2, 3, then reproving him, verse 4, after informing him and withal threatening that he will translate the Church to another place, verse 5. This commutation or Threat Christ mitigate by a kind of correction, calling to mind the particular virtue and piety of the Church, which God never leaveth without recompense, verse 6. Concerning refection, calling to mind the particular virtue and piety of the Church, which God thereby might show the extraordinary act of his love and care towards the Church of Pergamos, as Aretas writeth.

2:3 The third place is unto the Pastors of Pergamos. The Exordium is taken out of verses 17 and 18 of the first Chap.

2:4 1 The conclusion, containing a commandment of attention and a promise of everlasting life, shadowed out in a figure of which, Gen. 2:9.

2 2 This is, in Paradise after the manner of the Hebrew phrase.

2:5 1 Thus Christ speaketh as the Mediator.

2:6 1 The second place is unto the Pastors of the Church of the Smyrnians. The exordium is taken out of verses 17 and 18 of the first Chap.

2:7 1 Smyrna was one of the cities of Ionia in Asia.

2:8 1 The proposition of praise is in this verse and of exhortation joined with promise, is in the next verse.

2:9 1 The proposition of praise is in this verse and of exhortation joined with promise, is in the next verse.

2:10 1 That is, of ten years. For so commonly both in this book and in Daniel, years are signified by the name of days; that God thereby might declare, that the space of time is appointed by him, and the same very short. Now because Saint John wrote this book in the end of Domitian the Emperor his reign, as Justin and Irenaeus do witness, it is altogether necessary that this should be referred unto that persecution which was done by the authority of the Emperor Trajan; who began to make havoc of the Christian Church in the tenth year of his reign, as the Historiographers do write: and his bloody persecution continued until Adrian the Emperor had succeeded in his place: the space of which time is precisely ten years, which are here mentioned.

2:11 1 The conclusions as verse 7.

2:12 1 The third place is unto the Pastors of Pergamos. The Exordium is taken out of verse 16 of the first Chapter.

2:13 1 The proposition of praise is in this verse, of reprehension in the two following, and of exhortation joined with a conditional threat, verse 16. Now this Antipas was the Angel or minister of the Church of Pergamos, as Aretas writeth.

2:14 1 The faith of them of Pergamos is so much the more highly commended because they remained constant even in the very heat of persecution.

2:15 1 That which is here spoken of things offered to idols, is meant of the same kind which Paul speaketh of, 1 Cor. 10:13.

2:16 1 Which follow the footsteps of Balaam, which taught Balak to put a stumbling block before the children of Israel, that they should eat of things sacrificed unto idols, and commit fornication.

2:17 1 The conclusion, standing of exhortation as before, and of promise.

2:18 1 He alludeth to that sermon which we read of John 6, and to the place we find, Ps. 105:40.

2:19 1 Aretas writeth, that such a stone was wont to be given to wrestlers at games, or else that such stones did in old times witness the quitting of a man.
a 4\footnote{white stone, and in the stone a new \textit{name written}, which no man knoweth, saving he that receiveth it.} And unto \textit{the Angel of the Church which is at Thyatira} write, These things saith the Son of God, which hath his eyes like unto a flame of fire, and his feet like fine brass.

18 I know thy works and thy love, and thy service and faith, and thy patience, and thy works, and that they are more at the last, than at the first.

19 Notwithstanding, I have a few things against thee, that thou sufferest the woman Jezebel which callyeth herself a prophetess, to teach and to deceive my servants, to make them commit fornication and to eat meat sacrificed unto idols.

20 And I gave her space to repent of her fornication, and she repented not.

21 Behold, I will cast her into a bed, and them that be with her into great affliction, and shall make them eat the meat which is sacrificed unto idols; and will not suffer their souls to rest until they repent.

22 And unto you I say, the rest of them of Thyatira, As many as have not this learning, neither have known the deepness of Satan (as they speak) I will put upon you none other burden, but that which ye have already, hold fast till I come.

23 But that which ye have already, hold fast till I come.

24 And unto you I say, the rest of them of Thyatira, This is the word of God spoken unto the Churches.

25 The conclusion standing upon a promise and a commandment is at Thyatira write, These things saith he that hath the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars, \textit{I know thy works: for thou hast a \textit{name that thou livest, but thou art dead.}}

26 Thy works are not perfect before God.

27 And he shall make him a King by communion with me, and my Father, and before his Angels.

28 And the devil shall make war with the woman, and her seed, with the dragon; and the dragon shall war against the woman's seed, that is, the seed of the woman: and the dragon shall be angry, and go out to make war upon the woman's seed, which is in the腹 of the woman.

29 The Spirit saith to the Churches.

30 And I will give unto every one of you according to your works.

31 He that overcometh, shall be clothed in white array, and I will not put out his Name out of the \textit{book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his Angels.}

32 The brightness of greatest glory and honor nearest approaching unto the light of Christ, who is the Son of righteousness, and our head, Matt. 4. 3:1

3:1 The fifth place is unto the Pastors of Sards. The exordium is taken out of verses 4 and 16 of the first Chap.

3:2 Sardis is the name of a most flourishing and famous City, where the Kings of Lydia kept their courts.

3:3 Other things, whose state is such, that they are now going, and remain there, verse 4.

3:4 That is, who have with all religion guarded themselves from sin and moral contagion, even from the very show of evil, as S. Jude exhorted, verse 23.

3:5 Pure from all spot and shining with glory. So it is to be understood hereby after as in the next verse.

3:6 Let him that hath an ear, hear what the Spirit saith to the Churches.
7 And write unto the Angel of the Church which is of Philadelphia, These things say unto thee: I know thy works: behold I have set before thee an open door, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a little strength and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my Name.

8 Behold, I will make them 1of the Synagogue of Satan, which call themselves Jews, and are not, but do lie: behold, I say, I will make them that they shall come 2and worship before thy feet, and shall know that I have loved thee.

9 Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, therefore I will deliver thee from the hour of temptation, which will come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth.

10 Behold, I come shortly: hold that which thou hast, that no man take thy crown.

12 1And unto the Angel of the Church of Philadelphia, which is of Philadelphia, These things say 2Amen, the faithful and true witness, that 3beginning of the creatures of God.

15 1I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot: I would thou werest cold or hot.

16 Therefore because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, it will come to pass, that I shall spew thee out of my mouth.

17 For thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing, and knowest not how thou art wretched and miserable, 1and poor, and blind, and naked.

18 I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried by the fire, that thou mayest be made rich: and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that thy filthy nakedness do not appear: and anoint thine eyes with eye salve, that thou mayest see.

19 As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be 2zealous therefore and amend.

20 Behold, I stand at the door, and knock, 1If any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in unto him, and will sup with him, and he with me.

21 1To him that overcometh, will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I overcame, and sit with my Father in his throne.

22 Let him that hath an ear, hear what the Spirit saith unto the Churches.
open in heaven, and the first voice which I heard, was as it were of a trumpet talking with me, saying, Come up hither, and I will show thee things which must be done hereafter.

2 And immediately I was ransomed in the spirit, and beheld, a throne was set in heaven, and one sat upon the throne.

3 And he that sat, was to look upon, like unto a Jasher stone, and a sardine, and there was a rainbow round about the throne, in sight like to an emerald.

4 And round about the throne were four and twenty seats, and upon the seats I saw four and twenty Elders sitting, clothed in white raiment, and had on their heads crowns of gold.

5 And out of the throne proceeded lightnings, and thunderings and voices, and there were seven lamps of fire burning before the throne, which are the seven spirits of God.

6 And before the throne there was a Sea of glass like unto crystal: and in the midst of the throne, and round about the throne were four beasts, full of eyes before and behind.

7 And the first beast was like a lion, and the second beast like a calf, and the third beast had a face as a man, and the fourth beast was like a flying Eagle.

8 And the four beasts had each one of them six wings about him, and they were full of eyes within, and they ceased not by day nor night, saying, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, Which was, and which is, and which is to come.

9 And when those beasts gave glory, and honor, and thanks to him that sat on the throne, which liveth forever and ever,

10 The four and twenty Elders fell down before him that sat on the throne, and worshipped him that liveth for evermore, and cast their crowns before the throne, saying,

11 Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory, and honor, and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy will's sake they are, and have been created.

5 The book sealed with seven seals, which none could open. 6 That Lamb of God, 9 is thought worthy to open, 12 even by the consent of all the company of heaven.

1 And I saw in the right hand of him that sat upon the throne, a book written within, and on the
And I saw a strong Angel which preached with a loud voice. Who is worthy to open the book, and to loose the seals thereof?

1 And no man in heaven nor in earth, neither under the earth, was able to open the book, neither to look thereon.

2 Then I wept much, because no man was found worthy to open, and to read the book, neither to look thereon.

3 And one of the Elders said unto me, Weep not: behold, that Lion which is of the tribe of Judah, that root of David, hath obtained to open the book, and to loose the seven seals thereof.

4 Then I beheld, and lo, in the midst of the throne, and of the four beasts, and in the midst of the Elders stood a Lamb, as though he had been killed, which had seven horns, and seven eyes, which are the seven spirits of God, sent into all the world.

5 And he came, and took the book out of the hand of him that sat upon the throne.

6 Then I beheld, and lo, in the midst of the throne, and of the four beasts, and in the midst of the Elders stood a Lamb, as though he had been killed, which had seven horns, and seven eyes, which are the seven spirits of God, sent into all the world.

7 And he came, and took the book out of the right hand of him that sat upon the throne.

8 And when he hath taken the book, the four beasts, and the four and twenty Elders fell down before the Lamb, having every one a golden vial full of odors, which are the prayers of the Saints,

9 And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof, because thou wast killed, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation.

10 And hast made us unto our God Kings, and Priests, and we shall reign on the earth.

11 Then I beheld, and I heard the voice of many Angels round about the throne, and about the beasts and the Elders, and there were ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousand thousands, 12 Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was killed, to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honor, and glory, and praise.

13 And all the creatures which are in heaven, and on the earth, and under the earth, and in the sea, and all that are in them, heard I saying, Praise, and honor, and glory, and power be unto him, that sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb for evermore.

14 And the four beasts said, Amen, and the four and twenty Elders fell down and worshipped him that liveth for evermore.

1 The Lamb openeth the first seal of the book. 3 The second, 5 the third, 7 the fourth, 9 the fifth, 12 and the sixth, and then arise murders, famine, pestilence, outcries of Saints, earthquakes, and divers strange sights in heaven.
1 After I beheld when the Lamb had opened one of the seals, and I heard one of the four beasts say, as it were the noise of thunder, Come and see.

2 Therefore I beheld, and lo, there was a white horse, and he that sat on him, had a bow; and a crown was given unto him, and he went forth conquering that he might overcome.

3 And when he had opened the second seal, I heard the second beast say, Come and see.

4 And there went out another horse, that was red, and power was given to him that sat thereon to take peace from the earth, and that they should kill one another, and there was given unto him a great sword.

5 And when he had opened the third seal, I heard the third beast say, Come and see. Then I beheld, and lo, a black horse, and he that sat on him, had balances in his hand.

6 And I heard a voice in the midst of the four beasts say, A measure of wheat for a penny, and three measures of barley for a penny, and wine and oil for nothing.

7 And when he had opened the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth beast say, Come and see.

8 And I looked, and behold, a pale horse, and his name that sat on him was Death, and Hell followed after him, and power was given unto them over the fourth part of the earth, to kill with sword, and with hunger, and with death, and with beasts of the earth.

9 And when he had opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of them that were killed for the word of God, and for the testimony which they maintained.

10 And they cried with a loud voice, saying, How long, Lord, holy and true, dost thou not judge and avenge our blood on them, that dwell on the earth?

11 And long white robes were given unto every one, and it was said unto them, that they should rest for a little season until their fellow servants, and their brethren that should be killed even as they were, were fulfilled.

12 And I beheld when he had opened the sixth seal, and lo, there was a great earthquake, and the sun was darkened as a fig-tree casteth her green figs, when it is shaken of a mighty wind.

13 And heaven departed as a scroll, when it is rolled together; and every mountain and island was removed out of their places.

14 And the stars of heaven fell unto the earth, as fig-tree casteth her green figs, when it is shaken of a mighty wind.

6:1 This is the second part of this first history (which I said was common of the whole world) of the works of God in the government of all things. Of this part there are generally 3 members, the foreseeing, the sign, and the execution; the foreseeing being set down in this chapter, the sign in the next chapter, and the execution is described, Rev. 8:9. Every part of the foreseeing, there are three branches: the several and express calling of S. John, to prepare himself to take knowledge of the things that were to be showed unto him in the opening of the seals: the sign and the word expounding the sign: And albeit the express calling of S. John, be used only in four of the signs, yet the same is also to be understood in the rest that follow. The author of the foreseeing being the Lamb, as that word of the Father made the Mediator, opening the seals of the book. The instruments are the Angels in most of the visions, who expound the sign and words thereof. Now this first verse containeth an express calling of S. John to mark the opinion of the first seal.

6:2 The first sign joined with declaration, is that God for the sins, and horrible rebellion of the world, will invade the same: and first of all as afar off, with his darts of pestilence most suddenly, mightily, and gloriously, bear down the same as judge, and triumph over it as conqueror.

6:3 The second sign joined with words of declaration (after the express calling of S. John as before) is that God being provoked unto wrath by the obstinacy and hardheartedness of the world not repenting for the former plague, as setting upon the same hand, will kindle the fire of debate amongst men, and will destroy the inhabitants of this world, one by the sword of another.

6:5 The third sign with declaration, is that God will destroy the world with famine, withdrawing all provision: which is by the figure Synecdoche comprehended in wheat, barley, wine and oil.

6:6 Hereby is signified what great scarcity of corn there was, for the word here used is a kind of measure of dry things, which is in quantity but the eighth part of a bushel, which was an ordinary portion to be given servants for their stint of meat for one day.

6:10 And they cried with a loud voice, saying, How long, Lord, holy and true, dost thou not judge and avenge our blood on them, that dwell on the earth?

6:11 As before 3:4.

6:12 Until their number be fulfilled.

6:13 The sixth sign, the narration whereof hath two parts, the sign, and the event. The sign is, that the earth, heaven, and the things that are in them for the horror of the sins of the world upon those most heavy foretellings of God, and complaints of the Saints shall be shaken most vehemently, trembling in horrible manner, and losing their light in this verse: falling from on high, verse 13, withdrawing themselves and flying away for the greatness of the trouble, verse 14. So boldly do all creatures depend upon the will of God, and content themselves in his glory.

6:14 So they called in old time those woven works that were of hair.
is rolled, and every mountain and isle were moved out of their places.

15 And the kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chief captains, and the mighty men, and every bondman, and every free man, hid themselves in dens, and among the rocks of the mountains,

16 And said to the mountains and rocks, 1-4 Fall on us, and hide us from the presence of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb.

17 For the great day of his wrath is come, and who can stand?

6:16 These are words of such as despair of their escape: of which these are the words of the elect of the Lord, 5 of all tribes were sealed. 13 Such as suffered persecution for Christ's sake, 16 have great felicity.

7 1 The Angels coming to hurt the earth, 3 are stayed until the elect of the Lord. 5 of all tribes were sealed. 13 Such as suffered persecution for Christ's sake, 16 have great felicity.

1 And after that, I saw four Angels stand on the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth, that the winds should not blow on the earth, neither on the sea, neither on any tree.

2 And I saw another Angel come up from the earth, neither on the sea, neither on any tree.

3 Hurt ye not the earth, neither the sea, neither the tree of the earth, that the winds should not blow on the earth, neither on the sea, neither on any tree.

7:4 1 Now God provideth against the danger of his elect by commandment, verses 2 and 3, and by sign or figure, both for those of the nation of the Jews, whence unto verse 8, and also of the Gentiles, verse 9.

8 Not only another, or differing in number from the common Angels of God, but also in essence, office, and operation excelling all Angels: that is, Christ Jesus the eternal Angel or word of God, and mediator of the covenant. So hereafter Rev. 8:3 and 10:1, 5.

9 After these things I beheld, and lo, a great multitude, 1 which no man could number, of all nations and kindreds, and people, and tongues 1 stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with much as a foot breadth from the path commanded them of God.
long white robes, and palms in their hands.

10 1And they cried with a loud voice, saying, Salvation cometh of our God, that sitteth upon the throne, and of the Lamb.

11 And all the Angels stood round about the throne, and about the Elders, and the four beasts, and they fell before the throne on their faces, and worshipped God, 12 Saying, Amen, Praise and glory, and wisdom, and thanks, and honor, and power, and might, be unto our God for evermore, Amen.

13 1And one of the Elders spake, saying unto me, What are these which are arrayed in long white robes? and whence came they?

14 And I said unto him, Lord, thou knowest. And he said unto me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their long robes, and made their long robes white in the blood of the Lamb.

15 Therefore are they in the presence of the throne of God, and serve him day and night in his Temple, and he that sitteth on the throne will dwell among them.

16 They shall hunger no more, neither thirst anymore, neither shall the sun light on them, neither

7:10 1 The praise of God celebrated first by the holy men, in this verse, then by the heavenly Angels in the two verses following.

7:13 1 A passage over unto the expounding of the vision, of which the Angel inquired of S. John to stir him up withal, in this verse and John in the form of speech, both acknowledging his own ignorance, attributing knowledge unto the Angel, and also in most modest manner requesteth the expounding of the vision.

7:14 1 The exposition of the vision, wherein the Angel telleth first the acts of the Saints, that is, their sufferings and work of faith in Christ Jesus, in this verse. Secondly their glory, both present, which consisteth in two things, that they minister unto God, and that God protecteth them, verse 15, and to come, in their perfect deliverance from all annoyances, verse 16, and in participation of all good things which even the memory of former evils shall never be able to diminish, verse 17. The cause efficient, and which containeth all these things is only one, the Lamb of God, the Lord, the Mediator, and the Savior Christ Jesus.

7:15 1 He alludeth to the Levites, which served day and night, for else there is no night in heaven.

8:1 1 He returneth to the history of the seals of the book, which the Lamb openeth. The seventh seal is the next foresignification, and a precise commandment of the execution of the most heavy judgments of God upon this wicked world: which foresignification being understood by the seal, all things in heaven are silent, and in honor thorough admiration until commandment of execution be severally given of God unto the ministers of his wrath. So he passeth unto the third member of which I spake before in Rev. 6:1, which is of the execution of those evils wherewith God most justly determined to afflict the world.

8:2 1 Now followeth the third branch of the common history, as even now I said: which is the execution of the judgments of God upon the world. This is first generally prepared unto verse 6, then by several parts expoundeth according to the order of those that administered the same unto the end of the Chap. following. Unto this preparation of this execution are declared these things: first, who were the administers and instruments thereof in this verse. Secondly, what is the work both of the Prince of Angels giving order for this execution, thence unto verse 5, and of his administers in verse 6. The administers of the execution are said to be seven Angels: their instruments, trumpets, whereby they should as it were sound the alarm at the commandment of God. They are propounded seven in number, because it pleased God not at once to pour out his wrath upon the rebellious world, but at divers times, and by piecemeal, and in slow order, and as with an unwilling mind to exercise his judgments upon his creatures, so long called upon both by word and signs if happily they had learned to repent.

8:3 1 This is the great Emperor, the Lord Jesus Christ our King and Savior: who both maketh intercession to God the Father for the Saints, filling the heavenly Sanctuary with most sweet odor, and offering up their prayers, as the Calves and burnt sacrifices of their lips, in this verse: in such sort as every one of them (so powerful is that sweet savor of Christ, and the efficacy of his sacrifice) are held in reconclement with God and themselves made most acceptable unto him, verse 4. And then also out of his treasury, and from the same sanctuary poureth forth upon the world the fire of his wrath, adding also divine tokens thereto: and by that means (as of old the Heralds of Rome were wont to do) he proclaimeth war against the rebellious world.

8:4 1 Our prayers are nothing worth, unless that true and sweet savor of that only oblation be especially and before all things with them, that is to say, unless we being first of all justified through faith in his Son, be acceptable unto him.
there were voices, and thunderings, and lightnings, and earthquake.

6 Then the seven Angels, which had the seven trumpets, prepared themselves to blow the trumpets.

7 So the first Angel blew the trumpet, and there was hail and fire mingled with blood, and they were cast into the earth, and the third part of trees was burnt, and all green grass was burnt.

8 And the second Angel blew the trumpet, and as it were a great mountain, burning with fire, was cast into the sea, and the third part of the sea became blood.

9 And the third part of the creatures, which were in the sea, and had life, died, and the third part of ships were destroyed.

10 Then the third Angel blew the trumpet, and there fell a great star from heaven, burning like a torch, and it fell into the third part of the rivers, and into the fountains of waters.

11 And the name of the star is called Wormwood: therefore the third part of the waters became wormwood, and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.

12 And the fourth Angel blew the trumpet, and the third part of the sun was smitten, and the third part of the moon, and the third part of the stars, so that the third part of them was darkened: and the day was smitten, that the third part of it could not shine, and likewise the night.

13 And I beheld, and heard one Angel flying through the midst of heaven, saying with a loud voice, Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the sounds to come of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blow the trumpets.

9 The fifth Angel bloweth his trumpet, 3 and spoil ing locusts come out. 13 The sixth Angel bloweth, 16 and bringeth forth horsemen, 20 to destroy mankind.

1 And the fifth Angel blew the trumpet, and I saw a star fall from heaven unto the earth, and to him was given the key of the bottomless pit.

2 And he opened the bottomless pit, and there arose out of the smoke of the pit, the smoke of a great furnace, and the sun, and the air were darkened by the smoke of the pit.

3 And there came out of the smoke Locusts upon the earth, and unto them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth have power.
4 1 And it was commanded them that they should not hurt the grass of the earth, neither any green thing, neither any tree: but only those men which have not the seal of God in their foreheads.

5 And to them was commanded that they should not kill them, but that they should be vexed five months, and that their pain should be as the pain that cometh of a scorpion, when he hath stung a man.

6 Therefore in those days shall men seek death, and shall not find it, and shall desire to die, and death shall flee from them.

7 1 And the form of the locusts was like unto horses prepared unto the battle, and on their heads were as it were crowns, like unto gold, and their faces were like the faces of men.

8 And they had hair as the hair of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lions.

9 And they had habergeons, like unto habergeons of iron, and the sound of their wings was like the sound of chariots when many horses run unto battle.

10 And they had tails like unto scorpions, and there were stings in their tails, and their power was to hurt men five months.

11 1 And they have a king over them, which is the Angel of the bottomless pit, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greek he is named Apollyon, that is, destroying.

12 1 One woe is past, and behold, yet two woes come after this.

13 ¶ Then the sixth Angel blew the trumpet, and I heard a voice from the four horns of the golden altar, which is before God,

14 Saying to the sixth Angel, which had the 9:4 1 Here that power of the devils is particularly described according to their actions and effects of the same. Their actions are said to be bounded by the counsel of God: both because they hurt not all men, but only the reprobate (for the godly and elect, in whom there is any part of a better life, God guardeth by his decree) whom Christ shall not have sealed, in this verse: and also because neither they had all power not at all times, no not over those that are their own, but limited in manner and time, by the prescript of God, verse 5. So their power to affect the godly, is none, and for the wicked is limited in act and in effect by the will of God: for the manner was prescribed unto them that they should not slay, but torment the wretched world. The time is for five months or for an hundred and fifty days, that is, for so many years in which the devils have indeed mightily perverted all things in the world: and yet without that public and unpunished license of killing, which afterward they usurped when the sixth Angel had blown his trumpet, as shall be said upon verse 13. Now this space is to be accounted from the end of that thousand years mentioned, Rev. 20, and that is from the Popedom of that Gregory the seventh, a most monstrous Necromancer, who before was called Hildebrandus Sennen: for this man being made altogether of impety and wickedness, as a slave of the devil, whom he served, was the most wicked firebrand of the world: he excommunicated the Emperor Henry the fourth: went about by all manner of treachery to set up and put down empires and kingdoms as liked himself: and doubted not to set Rodolph the Swedon over the Empire instead of Henry before named, sending unto him a Crown with this verse annexed unto it: Petra dedit Petro, Petrus dedita Rodolpho: that is, The Rock to Peter gave the crown, and Peter Rodolph doth renown. Finally, he so finely bestirred himself in his affairs, as he miserably set all Christendom on fire, and conveyed over unto his successors the burning brand of the same: who enraged with like ambition, never ceased to nourish that flame, and to enkindle it more and more: whereby Cities, Commonwealths, and whole kingdoms set together by the ears amongst themselves by most expert cut-throats, came to ruin, whiles they miserably wounded one another.

This term of an hundred and fifty years, taketh end in the time of Gregory the ninth, or Hugolinus Anagniensis (as he was before called) who caused to be compiled by one Raimond his chaplain and confessor, the body of Decretals, which the trumpet of the fifth Angel had expressly forbidden, and had hindered until this time. The effects of the bloody actions are declared upon the sixth verse: that the miserable world languishing in so great calamities, should willingly run together unto death, and prefer the same before life, by reason of the grievousness of the miseries that oppressed them.

9:7 1 The form of these hellish spirits and administrators, is shadowed out by signs and visible figures in this sort: that they are very expert and swift: that wheresoever they are in the world, the kingdom of theirs: that they manage all their affairs with cunning and skill, in this verse, that making show of mildness and tender affection to draw on men withal; they most impudently rage in all mischief: that they are most mighty to do hurt, Verse 8, that they are freed from being hurt of any man, as armed with the color of religion, and sacred authority of privilege, that they fill all things with horror, Verse 9, that they are fraudulent: that they are venomous and extremely noisome, though their power be limited, Verse 10. All which things are properly in the infernal powers, and communicated by them unto their ministers and vassals.

9:11 1 The order of the powers of maliciousness: that they are subject to one inferior King, whom thou mayst call in English, The Destroyer: who driveth the whole world both Jews and Gentiles into the destruction that belongeth unto himself. And I cannot tell whether this name belongeth unto the Etymological interpretation of Hildebrand, by a figure often used in the holy Scripture: which albeit it may otherwise be turned of the Germans (as the sense of compound words is commonly ambiguous) yet in very deed it signifieth as much as if thou shouldest call him the firebrand, that is, he that setteth on fire those that be faithful unto him.

9:12 1 A passage unto the next point, and the history of the time following.

9:13 1 The sixth execution done upon the world by the tyrannical powers thereof working in the four parts of the earth, that is in most cruel manner executing their tyrannous dominion through the whole world, and killing the miserable people without punishment, which before was not lawful for them to do in that sort, as I showed upon the fourth verse. This narration has two parts: a commandment from God, in verse 14, and execution of the commandment, in the verse following.

2 The commandment given by Christ himself, who is governor over all.

3 He alludeth to the altar of incense, which stood in the Court which the Priests were in, over against the Ark of the Covenant, having a veil betwixt them.
trumpet, 1Loose the four Angels, which are bound in the great river Euphrates.
15 1And the four Angels were loosed, which were prepared at an hour, at a day, at a month, and at a year to slay the third part of men.
16 And the number of horsemen of war were twenty thousand times ten thousand: for I heard the number of them.
17 And thus I saw the horses in a vision, and them that sat on them, having fiery habergeons, and of hyacinth, and of brimstone, and the heads of the horses were as the heads of lions, and out of their mouths went forth fire, and smoke, and brimstone.
18 Of these three was the third part of men killed, that is, of the fire, and of the smoke, and of the brimstone, which came out of their mouths.
19 For their power is in their mouths, and in their tails: for their tails were like unto serpents, and had heads wherewith they hurt.
20 And the remnant of the men which were not killed by these plagues, repented not of the works of their hands that they should not worship devils, and 2idols of gold, and of silver, and of brass, and of stone, and of wood, which neither can see, neither hear, nor go.
21 Also they repented not of their murder, and of their sorcery, neither of their fornication, nor of their theft.

10 Another Angel appeared with a cloud, 2holding a book open, 3and crying out. 8A voice from heaven commandeth John to take the book. 10 He catcheth it.
1 And I saw another mighty Angel come down from heaven, clothed with a cloud, and the rainbow upon his head, and his face was as the sun, and his feet as pillars of fire.
2 And he had in his hand a little book open, and he put his right foot upon the sea, and his left on the earth.
3 And cried with a loud voice, as when a lion roarth: and when he had cried, seven thunders uttered their voices.
4 1 And when the seven thunders had uttered their voices, I was about to write: but I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me, 2 Seal up those things which the seven thunders have spoken, and write them not.

5 And the Angel which I saw stand upon the sea, and upon the earth, 1 lift up his hand to heaven,

6 And sware by him that liveth for evermore, which created heaven, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, 1 that time should be no more.

7 But in the days of the 1 voice of the seventh Angel, when he shall begin to blow the trumpet, even the mystery of God shall be finished, as he hath declared to his servants the Prophets.

8 1 And the voice which I heard from heaven, spake unto me again, and said, Go, and take the little book which is open in the hand of the Angel, which standeth upon the sea, and upon the earth.

9 So I went unto the Angel, and said to him, Give me the little book. And he said unto me, Take it, and eat it up, and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth as sweet as honey.

10 Then I took the little book out of the Angel's hand, and ate it up, and it was in my mouth as sweet as honey: but when I had eaten it, my belly was bitter.

11 1 And he said unto me, Thou must prophesy again among the people and nations, and tongues, and to many Kings.

11 1 The temple is commanded to be measured. 3 The Lord stirred up two witnesses, 7 whom the beast murdered, 9 and no man burieth them. 11 God raiseth them to life. 12 and calleth them up to heaven. 13 The wicked are terrified, 15 by the trumpet of the seventh Angel the resurrection, 18 and judgment is described.

1 1 Then was given me a reed like unto a rod, and the Angel stood by, saying, Rise and 1 mete the Temple of God, and the Altar, and them that worship therein.

104 1 A godly care is laudable, but must be joined with knowledge. Therefore nothing is to be taken in hand, but by calling: which must be expected and waiting for of the godly.

2 Keep them close.

105 1 This was a gesture used of one that sweareth, which men do nowdays use.

106 1 Neither time itself, nor the things that are in time: but that the world to come is at hand which is altogether of eternity and beyond all times.

2 There shall never be anymore time.

107 1 Whereof Rev. 11:15 and 16:17.

108 1 The other part of this Chapter, concerning the particular calling of Saint John to the receiving of the prophecy following which is enjoined him, first by sign in three verses, then in plain words in the last verse. Unto the setting forth of the sign belong these things: That Saint John is taught from heaven to demand the book of the Prophecy in this verse: for these motions and desires God doth inspire: that demanding the book, he is charged to take it in a figurative manner, the use whereof also is expounded, the ninth verse, (as in the second Chapter of Ezekiel and the ninth verse) whence this similitude is borrowed lastly, for that Saint John at the commandment of Christ took the book, and found by experience that the same as proceeding from Christ was most sweet, but in that it foretelleth the afflictions of the Church it was most bitter unto his spirit.

10:11 1 A simple and plain declaration of the sign before going, witnessing the divine calling of S. John, and laying upon him the necessity thereof.

11:1 1 The authority of the intended revelation being declared, together with the necessity of that calling, which was particularly imposed upon Saint John: hereafter followed the history of the estate of Christ's Church both conflicting or warfaring, and overcoming in Christ. For both the true Church of Christ is said to fight against that which is falsely so called over the which Antichrist ruleth. Christ Jesus overthrowing Antichrist by the spirit of his mouth, and Christ is said to overcome most gloriously until he shall slay the Antichrist by the appearance of his coming, as the Apostle excellently teacheth, 2 Thess. 2:8. So this history hath two parts. One of the state of the Church conflicting with temptations, until Chapter 16. The other of the state of the same Church obtaining victory, thence unto Chapter 20. The first part hath two members most conveniently distributed into their times, whereof the first containeth an history of the Christian Church for 1260 years, what time the Gospel of Christ was as it were taken up from amongst men into heaven: the second containeth an history of the same Church unto the victory perfected. And these two members are briefly, though distinctly propounded in this Chapter, but are both of them more at large discussed after in due order. For we understand the state of the Church conflicting out of Chapters 12 and 13 and of the same growing out of afflictions out of Chapters 14, 15 and 16. Neither did Saint John at unawares join together the history of these two times in this Chapter, because here is spoken of prophecy, which all confess to be one just and innumerable in the Church, and which Christ commanded to be continual. The history of the former time reacheth unto verse 14: the latter is set down in the rest of this Chapter. In the former are showed these things: the calling of the servants of God in 4 verses: the conflicts which the faithful must undergo in their calling, for Christ and his Church, thence unto verse 10, and their resurrection and receiving up into heaven unto verse 14. In the calling of the servants of God are mentioned two things: the begetting and setting of the Church in two verses, and the education thereof in two verses. The begetting of the Church is here commended unto S. John by sign and by speech: the sign is a measuring rod, and the speech a commandment to measure the Temple of God, that is, to reduce the same unto a new form: because the Gentiles are already entered into the Temple of Jerusalem, and shall shortly defile and overthrow the same utterly.

2 Either that of Jerusalem which was a figure of the Church of Christ, or that heavenly Example, whereof verse 19, but the first liketh me better and the things following do agree thereunto. The sense therefore is, Thou seest all things in God's house almost from the passion of Christ to be disordered: and that not only the city of Jerusalem but also the court of the Temple is trampled underfoot by the nations, and by profane men whether Jews or strangers: and that only the Temple, that is, the body of the Temple, with the Altar, and a small company of good men which truly worship God, do now remain, whom God doth sanctify and confirm by his presence. Measure therefore this, even this true Church, or rather the true type of the true Church, omitting the rest and so describe all things from me that the true Church of Christ may be as it were a very little center, and the Church of Antichrist as the circle of the center, every way in length and breadth compassing about the same, that by way of prophecy thou mayest so declare openly, that the state of the Temple of God and the faithful which worship him, that is, of the Church, is much more straight than the Church of Antichrist.
2. But the 4 court which is without the Temple cast out, and mete it not: for it is given unto the 4 Gentiles, and the holy city shall they tread under foot, two and forty Months.

3. But 1 I will give power unto my two witnesses and they shall prophesy a thousand two hundred and threescore days, clothed in sackcloth.

4. These are two olive trees, and two candlesticks, standing before the God of the earth.

5. And if any man will hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouths and devoureth their enemies:

6. These have power to shut heaven, that it rain not in the days of their prophesying, and have power over waters to turn them into blood, and to smite the earth with all manner plagues, as often as they will.

7. And when they have finished their testimony, the beast that cometh out of the bottomless pit, shall make war against them, and shall overcome them, and kill them.

8. And their corpses shall lie in the streets of the city: for if any man would hurt them, thus must he be killed.

9. Of which after Rev. 13. That beast is the Roman Empire, made long ago of civil, Ecclesiastical: the chief head whereof was then Boniface the eighth, as I said before: who lifted up himself in so great arrogancy (saith the author of Falsecians temporum) that he called himself Lord of the whole world, as well in temporal causes as in spiritual: There is an extant of that matter, written by the same Boniface most arrogantly, shall I say, or most wickedly, ca. unam sanctam, extra de majoritate & obedientia, and in the sixth of the Decretals (which is from the same author) many things are found of the same argument.

10. He shall persecute most cruelly the holy men, and put them to death, and shall wound and pierce through with cursings both their names and writings. And that this was done to very many godly men by Boniface and others, the histories do declare, especially since the time that the odious and condemned name amongst the multitude first of the brethren Waldenses or Lugundenses, then also of the Fratricels, was pretended, that good men might with more approbation be massacred.

11. That is, openly at Rome: where at that time was a most great concourse of people, the year of Jubilee being then first ordained by Boniface unto the same end, in the year of Christ a thousand three hundred, example whereof is read, Rev. 1. Extra, de penitentius & remissionibus. So by one act he committed double injury against Christ, both abolishing his truth by the restoring of the type of the Jubilee, and triumphing over his members by most wicked superstitions. O religious heart! Now that we should understand the things of Rome, Saint John himself is the author, both after in the seventeenth Chapter almost throughout, and also in the circumcision now next following, when he saith, it is that great City (as Rev. 17; 18 he calleth it) and spiritually termed Sodom and Egypt: that spiritually (for that must here again be repeated from before) Christ was there crucified. For the two first appellations signify spiritual wickednesses: the latter signifieth the show and pretence of good, that is, of Christian and sound religion. Sodom signifieth most licentious impurity and injustice: Egypt most cruel persecution of the people of God: and Jerusalem signifieth the most confident glorying of that city, as it were in true religion, being yet full of falsehood and ungodliness. Now who is ignorant that these things do rather, and more agree unto Rome than unto any other city? The commendations of the City of Rome for many years past are publickly notorious, which are not for me to gather. This only I will say that he long since did very well see what Rome is, who taking his leave thereof, used these verses:
great city, which spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where our Lord also was crucified.

9 And they of the people and kindreds, and tongues, and Gentiles, shall see their corpses three days and an half, and shall not suffer their carcasses to be put in graves.

10 And they that dwell upon the earth, shall rejoice over them and be glad, and shall send gifts one to another, for these two Prophets vexed them that dwelt on the earth.

11 But after three days and an half, the spirit of life coming from God, shall enter into them, and they shall stand up upon their feet: and great fear shall come upon them which saw them.

12 And they shall hear a great voice from heaven, saying unto them, Come up hither: And they shall ascend up to heaven in a cloud, and their enemies shall see them.

13 And the same hour shall there be a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the city shall fall, and in the earthquake shall be slain in number seven thousand: and the remnant were sore feared, and gave glory to God of heaven.

14 The second woe is past, and behold, the third woe will come anon.

15 And the seventh Angel blew the trumpet, and there were great voices in heaven, saying, The kingdoms of the world are our Lord's, and his Christ's, and he shall reign for evermore.

16 Then the four and twenty Elders, which sat before God on their seats, fell upon their faces and worshipped God.

17 Saying, We give thee thanks, Lord God Almighty, Which art, and which wast, and which art to come: for thou hast received thy great might, and hast obtained thy kingdom.

18 And the Gentiles were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be judged, and that thou shouldest give reward unto thy servants the Prophets, and to thy Saints, and to them that fear thy Name, to small and great, and shouldest destroy them, which destroy the earth.

Roma vale, vidi, Satis est vidisse: revertar, Quamleo, meetrix, scurra, cinadus ero.

Now farewell Rome, I have thee seen: It was enough to see:
I will return when as I mean, bawd, harlot knave to be.

11:8 2 After a most secret kind of meaning and understanding.
3 Namely in his members, as also he said unto Saul, Acts 9:5.

11:9 1 That is, for three years and a half for so many years Boniface lived after his Jubilee as Bergomensis witnesseth.
11:10 1 So much the more shall they by this occasion exercise the jollity of their Jubilee.
2 The gospel of Christ, in the affliction of the world, and the ministry thereof, the savor of death unto death to those that perish, 2 Cor. 2:16.

11:11 1 The third place as noted I before, is of the rising again of the Prophets from the dead, and their carrying up into heaven. For their resurrection is showed in this verse: their calling and lifting up into heaven, in the verse following.
2 That is, what time God shall destroy that wicked Boniface.
3 That is, the Prophets of God shall in a sort rise again, not the same in person (as they say) but in spirit, that is in the power and efficacy of their ministry, which S. John expressed before verses 5 and 6. And so the prophecy that is spoken of Elijah, is interpreted by the Angel to be understood of John the Baptist, Luke 1:17. For the same Boniface himself, who sought to kill and destroy them, was by the fire of God’s mouth (which the holy ministry shoveth and exhibiteth) devoured and died miserably in prison, by the endeavor of Satra Columensis, and Nogaretus a French knight, whom Philip the fair King of France sent into Italy but with a small power.
4 That is, the most grievous heat of afflictions and persecution shall stay for a while, for the great amaze that shall arise upon that sudden and unlooked for judgment of God.

11:12 1 They were called by God into heaven and taken out of this malignant world, into the heavenly Church, which also lieth hidden here in the earth, to exercise their calling secretly: as of whom this wretched world was unworthy, Heb. 11:38. For the Church of the wicked is by comparison called the earth or the world: and the Church of the godly heaven. So in ancient time amongst the godly Israelites: so amongst the Jews in the days of Manasseh and other Kings, when the earth refused the heirs of heaven, we read that they lay hidden as heaven in the earth.

2 Yet could they not hinder the secret ones of the Lord (as the Psalmist called them, Ps 83:4) but they that went on forward in his work.

11:13 1 Bergomensis saith, in the year of our Lord 1301, this year a blazing star foretelling great calamity to come, appeared in heaven, in which year upon the feast of S. Andrew, so great an earthquake arose, as never before: which also continuing, by times, for many days, overthrew many stately houses. This saith he of the year next following the Jubilee: which S. John so many ages before, expressed word for word.

2 They were indeed broken with present astonishment of mind, but did not earnestly repent as they ought to have done.
3 Glorified God by confessing his name.

11:14 1 He passeth unto the second history: which is the second part of this Chapter. S. John calleth these the second and third woes, having respect unto Rev. 9:12.
11:15 1 Of whose sounding the trumpet Christ expressly foretold, Rev. 10:7, and this is the second part of this Chapter, containing a general history of the Christian Church, from the time of Boniface 8 unto the consummation of the victory declared by voice from heaven. In this there are three branches: a preparation by the sound of the Angels trumpet: a narration by the voice of heavenly Angels and Elders: and a confirmation by sign.

4 The narration hath two parts: an acclamation of the heavenly creatures, in this verse, and both an adoration by all the Elders, verse 16, and also a most ample thanksgiving, verses 17, 18. The sense of the acclamation is, Now the Lord is entered on his kingdom, and hath restored his Church, in which most mightily recovered from the profanation of the Gentiles, he may glorify himself. Namely, that which the Lord ordained when first he ordained his Church; that the faith of the Saints doth now behold as accomplished.

11:16 1 As before, 7:11. This giving of thanks is altogether of the same content with the words going before.

11:18 1 A speech of the Hebrew language, as much to say, as Gentiles being angry thine inflamed wrath came upon them and showed itself from heaven, occasioned by their anger and fury.
12 A woman clothed with the Sun, and the Moon was under her feet, and upon her head a crown of twelve Stars.

1 And there appeared a great wonder in heaven: A woman clothed with the Sun, and the Moon was under her feet, and upon her head a crown of twelve Stars.

2 And she was with child, and cried travelling in birth, and was pained ready to be delivered.

3 And there appeared another wonder in heaven: for behold, a great red dragon having seven heads, and ten horns, and seven crowns upon his heads:

4 And his tail drew the third part of the stars of heaven, and cast them to the earth. And the dragon stood before the woman, which was ready to be delivered, to devour her child, when she had brought it forth.

5 So she brought forth a man child, which should rule all nations with a rod of iron: and that her child was taken up unto God and to his throne.

6 And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she hath a place prepared of God, that they should feed her there a thousand, two hundred and
And there was a battle in heaven, 1Michael and his Angels, fought against the dragon, and the dragon fought and his angels.

But they prevailed not, neither was their place found anymore in heaven.

And the great dragon that old serpent, called the devil and Satan, was cast out, which deceiveth all the world: he was even cast into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

Then I heard a loud voice in heaven, saying, "Now is salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night.

And they overcame him by that blood of that Lamb, and by that word of their testimonies, and they loved not their lives unto the death.

Therefore rejoice, ye heavens, and ye that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth, and of the sea: for the devil is come down unto you, which hath great wrath, knowing that he hath but a short time.

And when 1the dragon saw that he was cast unto the earth, he persecuted the woman which had brought forth the man 2child.

But to the woman were given two wings of a great Eagle, that she might fly into the wilderness, into her place where she is nourished for a 3time, and times, and half a time, from the presence of the serpent. And the serpent cast out of his mouth water after the woman, like a flood, that he might cause her to be carried away of the flood.

But the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up the flood, which the dragon had cast out of his mouth.

Then the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went and made war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus Christ.

And I stood on the sea sand.

1 Christ is the Prince of Angels, and head of the Church, who beareth that iron rod, the fifth verse. See the notes upon Daniel, Dan. 12:1. In this verse a description of the battle and of the victory in the two verses following. The Psalmist had respect unto this battle, Ps. 68:9, and Paul, Eph. 4:1 and Col. 2:15.

2 The description of the victory, by denying of the thing in this verse, and by affirming the contrary in the next verse. As that Satan gained nothing in heaven but was by the power of God thrown down into the world, whereof he is the prince, Christ himself and his elected members standing still by the throne of God.

They were cast out, so that they were never seen anymore in heaven.

12:10 1 The song of victory or triumph containing first, a proposition of the glory of God and of Christ showed in that victory; secondly, it contained a reason of the same proposition taken from the effects, as that the enemy is overcome in battle in this verse, and that the godly are made conquerors (and more than conquerors, Rom. 8:37) verse 11. Thirdly, a conclusion wherein is an exhortation unto the godly are made conquerors (and more than conquerors, Rom. 8:37)

13:1  The Apostle having declared the springing up of the Christian Church and the state of the Church from which ours taketh her beginning, doth now pass unto the story of the progress thereof, as I showed in the entrance of the former Chapter. And this history of the progress of the Church, and the battles thereof, is set down in this Chapter, but distinctly in two parts, one is of the civil Roman Empire, unto the tenth verse. Another of the body Ecclesiastical or prophetical, thence unto the end of the chapter. In the former part are showed these things: First the state of that Empire, in four verses: then the acts thereof in three verses: after the effect, which is exceeding great glory, verse 8. And last of all is commended the use: and the instruction of the godly against the evils that shall come from the ing great glory, verse 8. And last of all is commended the use: and the instruction of the godly against the evils that shall come from the

13:2  And the beast which I saw was like a leopard, and his feet like a bear, and his mouth as the mouth

13:3  of a Lion: and the dragon gave him his power and his throne, and great authority.

13:4  And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death, but his deadly wound was healed, and all the world wondered and followed the beast.

13:5  And they worshipped the dragon which gave power unto the beast, and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like unto the beast! who is able to war with him?
5 1And there was given unto him a mouth, that spake great things and blasphemies, and power was given unto him, 2to do two and forty months.

6 And he opened his mouth unto blasphemy against God, to blaspheme his Name, 1and his tabernacle, 2and them that dwell in heaven.

7 And it was given unto him to make war with the Saints, and to overcome them, and power was given him over every kindred, and tongue, and nation.

8 Therefore all that dwell upon the earth, shall worship him, 1whose names are not written in the book of life of that Lamb, which was slain from the beginning of the world.

9 1If any man have an ear let him hear.

10 If any lead into captivity, he shall go into captivity; 2if any kill with a sword, he must be killed by a sword: here is the patience and the faith of the Saints.

11 1And I beheld, another beast coming out of the earth, 2which had two horns like the Lamb, but he spake like the dragon.

12 1And he did all that the first beast could do before him, and he caused the earth and them which dwell therein, 2to worship the first beast whose deadly wound was healed.

13 1And he did great wonders, so that he made

13:5 1 The second member containing an history of the acts of the beast, as I said verse 1. The history of them is concluded in two points, the beginning and the manner of them. The beginning is the gift of the Dragon, who put and inspired into the beast both his impiety against God, and his eminence and injustice against all men, especially against the godly and those that were of the household of faith, the fifth verse. The manner of the acts or actions done, is of two sorts both impious in mind, and blasphemous in speech against God, his Church and the godly, verse six, and also most cruel and injurious in deeds, even such as were done of most raging enemies and of most insolent and proud conquerors, the seventh verse.

2 Namely his actions and manner of dealing. As concerning those two and forty months, I have spoken of them before in the twelfth Chapter and second verse.

13:6 1 That is, the holy Church, the true house of the living God.

2 That is, the godly in several who hid themselves from his cruelty. For this bloody beast surcharged those holy souls most falsely with innumerable accusations for the Name of Christ, as we read in Justin Martyr, Tertullian, Amobius, Minutius, Eusebius, Augustine, and others: which example the latter times followed most diligently in destroying the flock of Christ and we in our own memory have found by experience to our incredible grief: Concerning heaven, see the eleventh Chapter and twelfth verse.

13:8 1 That is, such as are not from everlasting elect in Christ Jesus. For this is that Lamb slain, of which the fifth Chapter, verse six. These words I do with Aretas distinguish in this manner: Whose names are not written even from the laying of the foundation of the world, in the book of life, of the Lamb slain. And this distinction is confirmed by a like place hereafter, Rev. 17:8.

13:9 1 The conclusion of this speech of the first beast, consisting of two parts, An exhortation to attentive audience in this verse: and a foretelling, which partly containeth threatenings against the wicked, and partly comforts for those which in patience and faith shall wait for that glorious coming of our Lord and Saviour Christ, the tenth verse.

13:11 1 The second member of the vision, concerning the ecclesiastical dominion, which in Rome succeeded that which was politic, and is in the power of the corporation of false Prophets, and of the forgers of false doctrine. Wherefore the same body or corporation is called of S. John by the name of false prophet, Rev. 6:13, 19 and 20. The form of this beast is first described in this verse, then his acts, in the verses following, and the whole speech is concluded in the last verse. This beast is by his breed a Son of the earth (as they say) obscurely born, and by little and little creeping up out of his abject estate.

2 That is, in show he resembled the Lamb (for what is more mild or more humble than to be the servant of the servants of God) but in deed he played the part of the Dragon, and of the Wolf, Matt. 7:15. For even Satan changeth himself into an Angel of light, 2 Cor. 11:14, and what should his honest disciples and servants do?

13:12 1 The history of the acts of this beast containeth in sum three things, hypocrisy, the witness of miracles and tyranny: of which the first is noted in this verse, the second in the 3 verses following: the third in the sixteenth and seventeenth verses. His hypocrisy is most full of leasing, whereby he abuseth both the former beast and the whole world: in that albeit he hath by his cunning, as it were by lime made of the former beast a most miserable . . . or anatomy, usurped all his authority unto himself and most impudently exerciseth the same in the sight and view of him: yet he cameth himself so, as if he honored him with most high honor, and did in very truth cause him to be honored of all men.

2 For unto this beast of Rome, which of civil Empire is made an Ecclesiastical hierarchy, are given divine honors, and divine authority so far as he is believed to be above the Scriptures, which the gloss upon the Decretals declareth by this devilish verse, Articulos solvit, synodumque facit generalem, That is, He changeth the Articles of faith, and giveth authority to general Counsels.

Which is spoken of the Papal power. So the beast is by birth, foundation, feat, and finally substance, one: only the Pope hath altered the form and manner thereof being himself the head both of that tyrannical Empire, and also of the false Prophets, for the Empire hath he taken unto himself, and thereunto hath added this cunning device. Now these words, whose deadly wound was cured are put here for distinction sake, as also sometimes afterwards: that even at that time the godly readers of this prophecy might by this sign be brought to see the things as present: as it were said, that they might adore this very Empire that now is, whose head we have seen in our own memory to have been cut off, and to be cured again.

13:13 1 The second point of the things done by the beast, is the credit of great wonders or miracles, appertaining to the strength of this impiety: of which signs some were given from above, as it is said, that fire was sent down from heaven by false sorcery, in this verse. Others were showed here below in the sight of the beast to establish idolatry, and deceive souls, which part S. John setteth forth beginning (as they say) at that which is last, in this manner: First the effect is declared in these words, He deceiveth the inhabitants of the earth, and thereunto hath added this cunning device. Now these words, whose deadly wound was cured are put here for distinction sake, as also sometimes afterwards: that even at that time the godly readers of this prophecy might by this sign be brought to see the things as present: as it were said, that they might adore this very Empire that now is, whose head we have seen in our own memory to have been cut off, and to be cured again.
fire to come down from heaven on the earth, in the sight of men.

14 And deceived them that dwell on the earth by the signs which were permitted to him to do in the sight of the beast, saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make the image of the beast, which had the wound of a sword, and did live.

15 And it was permitted to him to give a spirit unto the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast should speak, and should cause that as many have been effected and wrought in images. The histories of the Papists are full of examples of such miracles, the most of them feigned, many also done by the devil in images: as of old in the serpent, Gen. 3:1. By which examples is confirmed, not the authority of the beast, but the truth of God, and of these prophecies.

13:14 1 That is, images by enallage or change of the number: for the worship of them ever since the second Council of Nice, hath been ordained in the Church by public credit, and authority contrary unto the Law of God.

2 In the Greek the word is in the Dative case, as much to say, as unto the worship, honor and obeying of the beast: for by this maintenance of images this Pseudoprophetical beast doth mightily profit the beast of Rome, of whom long ago he received them. Wherefore the same is hereafter very fittingly called the image of the beast, for that images have their beginning from the beast, and have their form or manner from the will of the beast, and have their end and use fixed in the profit and commodity of the beast.

13:15 1 And of this miracle of the images of the beast (that is, which the beast hath ordained to establish idolatry) which miraculously speak and give judgment, or rather marvelously, by the fraud of the false prophets, the Papists books are full fraughted.

2 To give life as Jannes and Jambres imitated the wonders that Moses wrought.

13:16 1 The third place, is a most wicked and most insolent tyranny as was said before, usurped over the persons of men in this verse and over their goods and actions, in the next verse. For he is said, both to bring upon all persons a tyrannous servitude, that as bondservants they might serve the beast: and also to exercise over all their goods and actions, a peddler-like abuse of indulgences and dispensations (as they term them) amongst their friends, and against others to use most violent interdictions, and to shoot out cursings, even in natural and civil, private and public contracts, wherein all good faith ought to have place.

2 That is, their Chrism, by which in the Sacrament (as they call it) of Confirmation, they make servile unto themselves, the persons and doings of men, signing them in their forehead and hands: and as for the sign left by Christ (of which Rev. 7:3) and the holy Sacrament of Baptism they make as void. For whom Christ hath joined unto himself by Baptism, this beast maketh challenge unto them by her greasy Chrism, which he doubteth not to prefer over Baptism, both in authority and efficacy.

3 The mark of the name of the beast.

13:17 1 That is, have any traffic or interourse with men, but they only those which have this anointing and consecration of Clearkely tonsure, as they call it. Read Gratian de Consecratione, distinct. s. c. omnes, cap. Spiritus, etc. of these matters.

2 Here the false Prophets do require three things, which are set down in the order of their greatness, a character, a name and the number of the name. The meaning is, that man that hath not first their anointing and clerical tonsure or shaving: secondly holy orders, by reserving whereof is communicated the same of the beast: or finally hath not attained that high degree of Pontifical knowledge, and of the Law (as they call it) Canonical, and hath not as it were made up in account and cast the number of the mysteries thereof: for in these things consisteth the number of that name of the beast. And this is excellently set forth in the next verse.

13:18 1 That is in this number of the beast consisteth that Popish wisdom, which unto them seemeth the greatest of all others. In these words S. John expoundeth that saying which went before of the number of the beast, what it hath above his mark or consecration and his name. These things, saith S. John, the mark and the name of the beast, do easily happen unto any man: but to have the number of the beast, is wisdom: that is, only the wise and such as have understanding, can come by that number for they must be most illuminated doctors that attain thereunto, as the words following do declare.

2 How great and of what denomination this number of the beast is, by which the beast accounted his wisdom, S. John declareth in these words. Dost thou demand how great it is? it is so great, that it occupieth the whole man: he is always learning, and never cometh to the knowledge thereof: he must be a man indeed that doth attain unto it. Askest thou of what denomination it is? verily it standeth of six throughout and perfectly ariseth of all the parts thereof in their several denominations (as they term them) it standeth of six by units, tens, hundreds, etc. so as there is no one part in the learning and order Pontifical, which is not either referred unto the head, and as it were the top thereof, or contained in the same: so fitly do all things in this hierarchy agree one with another, and with their head. Therefore that cruel beast Boniface the eighth doth commend by the number of six those Decretals which he perfected, in the proem of the sixth book. Which book (saith he) being to be added unto five other books of the same volume of Decretals, we thought good to name Sextum the sixt: that the same volume by addition thereof containing a senary, or the number of six books (which is a number perfect) may yield a perfect form of managing all things, and perfect discipline of behavior. Here therefore is the number of the beast, who poureth from himself all his parts and bringeth them all back again unto himself by his discipline in most wise and cunning manner. If any man desire more of this, let him read the gloss upon that place. I am not ignorant that other interpretations are brought upon this place: but I thought it my duty, with the good favor of all and without the offense of any, to propound mine opinion in this point. And for this cause especially, for that it seemed unto me neither profitable, nor like to be true, that the number of the beast, or of the name of the beast should be taken as the common sort of interpreters do take it. For this number of the beast teacheth, giveth out, impriveth, as a public mark of such as be his, and estemeth that mark above all others as the mark of those whom he loveth best. Now those other expositions seem rather to be far removed from this property and condition of that number: whether you respect the name Latius or Titan, or another.

For these the beast doth not teach, nor give forth nor imprint, but most diligently forbiddeth to be taught, and audaciously denieth: he approveth not these, but reproveth them: and hateth them that most diligently forbiddeth to be taught, and audaciously denieth: he approveth not these, but reproveth them: and hateth them that think so of this number, with an hatred, greater than that of Vatinius.
a man, and his number is six hundred threescore and six.

1 The Lamb standeth on mount Zion: 4 with his chaste worshippers. 6 One Angel preacheth the Gospel. 8 Another foretelleth the fall of Babylon: 9 the third warneth that the beast be avoided. 13 A voice from heaven pronounceth them happy who die in the Lord. 16 The Lord's sickle thrust into the harvest, 18 and into the vintage.

1 Then I looked, and lo, a Lamb stood on mount Zion, and with him an hundred forty and four thousand, having his Father's Name written in their foreheads.

2 And I heard a voice from heaven as the sound of many waters, and as the sound of a great thunder: and I heard the voice of harpers, harping with their harps.

3 And they sung as it were a new song before the throne, and before the four beasts, and the Elders: and no man could learn that song, but the hundred, forty and four thousand, which were bought from the earth.

4 These are they which are not defiled with adoration, verse 7. The overthrowing of wicked Babylon, verse 8, and the fall of every one of the ungodly which worship the beast, verses 9, 10, 11. Finally, the state of the holy servants of God both present, verse 11, and to come, most blessed, according to the promise of God, verse 15.

2 This Angel is a type or figure of the good and faithful servants of God, whom God especially from that time of Boniface the eighth, hath raised up to the publishing of the Gospel of Christ, both by preaching and by writing. So God first, near unto the time of the same Boniface, used Peter Cassiodorus an Italian: after, Arnold de villa nova, a Frenchman, then Occam, Dante, Petrarch, after that Johannes de rupe casa, a Franciscan: after again, John Wycliff an Englishman, and so continually one or another unto the restoring of the truth and enlarging of his Church.

14:7 That is, Babylon is destroyed by the sentence and judgment of God: the execution whereof St. John described, chap. 18. And this voice of the ministers of Christ hath continued since the time that Babylon (which is Rome) hath by deliberate counsel and manifest malice oppugned the light of the Gospel offered from God.

14:8 Of her fornication, whereby God was provoked to wrath.

14:9 That is, shall not worship God alone, but shall transfer his divine honor unto this beast, whether he doeth it with his heart or counterfeitly in show. For he (saith Christ) that denieth me before men, him will I deny before my Father, and his Angels, Matt. 10:32. And this is that voice of the holy ministry, which at this time is very much used of the holy and faithful servants of God. For having now sufficiently found out the public obstinacy of Babylon they labor not any longer to thunder out as against the same but to save some particular members by terror (as S. Jude speaketh) and to pluck them out of the public flame, or else by a vehement commiseration of their state to lead them away, they set before them eternal death, into which they rush unawares, unless in good time they return unto God, but the godly which are of their own flock, they exhort unto patience, obedience, and faith in the Lord Jesus, and charge them to give light by their good example, of good life unto others.
of God, yea, of the pure wine, which is poured into the cup of his wrath, and he shall be tormented in fire and brimstone before the holy Angels, and before the Lamb.

11 And the smoke of their torment shall ascend evermore: and they shall have no rest day nor night, which worship the beast and his name.

12 ¶ Here is the patience of Saints: here are they that keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus.

13 Then I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me, Write, The dead which die in the Lord, are fully blessed. Even so saith the Spirit: for they rest from their labors, and their works follow them.

14 ¶ And I looked, and behold, a white cloud, and upon the cloud one sitting like unto the Son of man, having on his head a golden crown, and in his hand a sharp sickle.

15 ¶ And another Angel came out of the Temple, crying with a loud voice to him that sat on the cloud, Thrust in thy sickle and reap, for the time is come to reap: for the harvest of the earth is ripe.

16 And he that sat on the cloud, thrust in his sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped.

17 ¶ Then another Angel came out of the Temple, which is in heaven, having also a sharp sickle.

18 And another Angel came out from the altar, which had power over fire, and cried with a loud cry to him that had the sharp sickle, and said, Thrust in thy sharp sickle, and gather the clusters of the vineyard of the earth: for her grapes are ripe.

19 And the Angel thrust in his sharp sickle on the earth, and cut down the vines of the vineyard of the earth, and cast them into that great winepress of the wrath of God.

20 And the winepress was trodden without the city, and blood came out of the winepress, unto the horse bridles, by the space of a thousand and six hundred furlongs.
1 And I saw another sign in heaven, great and marvelous, seven Angels having the seven last plagues: for by them is fulfilled the wrath of God.

2 And I saw as it were a glassy sea, mingled with fire, and them that had gotten victory of the beast, and of his image, and of his mark, and of the number of his name, stand at the glassy sea, having the harps of God,

3 And they sang the song of Moses the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying, Great and marvelous are thy works, Lord God Almighty: just and true are thy ways, King of Saints.

4 Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name! for thou only art holy; and all nations shall come and worship before thee: for thy judgments are made manifest.

5 And after that, I looked, and behold, the Temple of the tabernacle of testimony was open in heaven.

6 And the seven Angels came out of the Temple, which had the seven plagues, clothed in pure and bright linen, and having their breasts girded with golden girdles.

7 And therefore four beasts gave unto the seven Angels seven golden vials full of the wrath of God which lived for evermore.

8 And the temple was full of the smoke of the glory of God and of his power, and no man was able to enter into the Temple, till the seven plagues of the seven Angels were fulfilled.

16 2 And the Angels pour out the seven vials of God's wrath given unto them, and so divers plagues arise in the world, to terrify the wicked. And the inhabitants of the great city.

1 And I heard a great voice out of the Temple, saying to the seven Angels, Go your ways, and pour out the seven vials of the wrath of God upon the earth.

2 And the first went and poured out his vial upon the earth: and there fell a noisome and a grievous sore upon the men which had the mark of the beast, and upon them which worshipped his image.

3 And the second Angel poured out his vial upon the sea, and it became as the blood of a dead man: and every living thing died in the sea.

4 And the third Angel poured out his vial upon the rivers and fountains of waters, and they became blood.

5 And I heard the Angel of the waters say, Lord, thou art just, which art, and which wast: and Holy, because thou hast judged these things.

153 ① That song of triumph which is Exod. 15:2.
2 So is Moses called for honor's sake, as it is set forth, Deut. 34:10.
3 This song hath two parts, one a confession, but particular in this verse, and general, in the beginning of the next verse: another, a narration of causes belonging to the confession, whereof one kind is eternal in itself, and most present unto the godly in that God is both holy, and alone God, another kind is future and to come, in that the elect taken out of the Gentiles (that is, out of the wicked ones and unbelieving: as Rev. 11:2) were to be brought unto the same state of happiness by the magnificence of the judgment of God, in the next verse.
4 Thy doings.
5 ① The second part of the narration (as was [noted,] verse 2) wherein first the authority of the whole argument and matter thereof is figured by a forerunning type of a temple opened in heaven, as Rev. 11:19, namely that all those things are divine and of God, that proceed from thence, in this verse. Secondly, the administrators or executors, come forth out of the Temple, verse 6. Thirdly, they are furnished with instruments of the judgments of God; and weapons fit for the manner of the same judgments, verse 7. Finally they are confirmed by testimony of the visible glory of God, in the last verse. A like testimony whereunto was exhibited of old in the Law, Exod. 40:34.
6 ① That is, commandments to inflict those seven plagues. Here is the figure called Metonymy.
7 Which was in old time a sign of the kingly or princely dignity.
8 That is, girding was a sign of diligence, and the girdle of gold was a sign of sincerity and trustiness in taking in charge the commands of God.
157 ① Of these before, Rev. 4:7.
158 None of those seven Angels might resume, till he had performed fully the charge committed unto him according to the decree of God.
161 ① In the former Chapter was set down the preparation unto the work of God: here is delivered the execution thereof. And in this discourse of the execution, is a general commandment, in this verse, then a particular recital in order of the execution done by every of the seven Angels, in the rest of the chapter. This special execution against Antichrist and his crew, doth in manner agree unto that which was generally done upon the whole world, Rev. 8 and 9, and belongeth (if my conjecture fail me not) unto the same time. Yet herein they do differ one from another, that this was particularly effected upon the Princes and ringleaders of the wickedness of the world, the other generally against the whole world being wicked. And therefore these judgments are figured more grievous than those.
16:2 ① The history of the first Angel, whose plague upon the earth, is described almost in the same words with that sixth plague of the Egyptians, Exod. 9:9. But it doth signify a spiritual ulcer, and that torture or butchery of conscience seared with an hot iron, which accuseth the ungodly within and both by truth of the word (the light whereof God hath now so long showed forth) and by bitterness stirreth up and forceth out the sword of God's wrath.
2 See Rev. 13:16
16:3 ① The history of the second Angel who troubleth and molesteth the seas, that he may stir up the conscience of men sleeping in their wickedness. See Rev. 8:8.
4 It was turned into rotten and filthy blood, such as is in dead bodies.
16:4 ① The history of the third Angel striking the rivers, in this verse who proclaiming the justice of God, commendeth the same by a most grave comparison of the sins of men with the punishment of God: which is common to this place and that which went before. Wherefore also this praising is attributed to the Angel of the waters, a name common to the second and third Angels according as both of them are said to be sent against the waters, albeit, the one of the sea the other of the rivers, in two verses.
6 For they shed the blood of the Saints, and Prophets, and therefore hast thou given them blood to drink: for they are worthy.

7 And I heard another out of the Sanctuary say, Even so, Lord God almighty, true and righteous are thy judgments.

8 And the fourth Angel poured out his vial on the sun, and it was given to him to torment men with heat of fire,

9 And men boiled in great heat, and blasphemed the Name of God, which hath power over these plagues, and they repented not to give him glory.

10 And the fifth Angel poured out his vial upon the throne of the beast, and the kingdom waxed dark, and they gnawed their tongues for sorrow.

11 And blasphemed the God of heaven for their pains, and for their sores, and repented not of their works.

12 And the sixth Angel poured out his vial upon the great river Euphrates, and the water thereof dried up, that the way of the Kings of the East should be prepared.

13 And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of that dragon, and out of the mouth of that beast, and out of the mouth of that false prophet.

14 For they are the spirits of devils, working miracles, to go unto the kings of the earth, and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty.

15 (Behold I come as a thief. Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, lest he walk naked, and men see his filthiness.)

16 And they gathered them together into a place called in Hebrew Armageddon.

17 And the seventh Angel poured out his vial into the air: and there came a loud voice out of the Temple of heaven from the throne, saying,
17 And there were voices, and thunderings, and lightnings, and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were upon the earth, even so mighty an earthquake.

18 And the great city was divided into three parts: and the cities of the nations fell: and great Babylon came in remembrance before God, to give unto her the cup of the wine of the fierceness of his wrath.

19 And every isle fled away, and the mountains were not found.

20 And there were voices, and thunderings, and lightnings, and an heart that cannot repent, verses 9 and 11.

1 Then there came one of the seven Angels, which had the seven vials, and talked with me, saying unto me, Come: I will show thee the damnation of the great whore that sitteth upon many waters.

2 With whom have committed fornication the kings of the earth, and the inhabitants of the earth are drunken with the wine of her fornication.

3 So he carried me away into the wilderness in the Spirit, and I saw a woman sit upon a scarlet colored beast, full of names of blasphemy, which had seven heads, and ten horns.

4 And the woman was arrayed in purple and scarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious stones, and pearls, and had a cup full of abomination and filthiness of her fornication.

5 And in her forehead was written, A mystery, that great Babylon that mother of whoredoms, and abominations of the earth.

6 And I saw the woman drunken with the blood of Saints, and with the blood of the Martyrs.
of JESUS: and when I saw her, I wondered with great marvel.

7 Then the Angel said unto me, Wherefore marvlest thou? I will show thee the mystery of that woman, and of that beast that beareth her, which hath seven heads and ten horns.

8 The beast that thou hast seen, was and is not, and shall ascend out of the bottomless pit, and shall go into perdition, and they that dwell on the earth, shall wonder (whose names are not written in the book of life from the foundation of the world) when they behold the beast that was, and is not, and yet is.

9 Here is the mind that hath wisdom, The seven heads are seven mountains, wherein the woman sitteth: they are also seven Kings.

10 Five are fallen, and one is, and another is not yet come: and when he cometh, he must continue a short space.

11 And the beast that was, and is not, is even 176 A passage unto the second part of this chapter, by occasion given of S. John, as the words of the Angel do show, in the next verse.

177 The second part or place, as I said, verse 1. The narration of the vision, promised in this verse, and delivered in the verse following. Now there is delivered first a narration of the beast and his story, unto verse 14. After, of the harlot, unto the end of the chap.

178 The story of the beast hath a triple description of him. The first is a distinction of this beast from all that ever hath been at any time, which distinction is contained in this verse: The second is a delineation or painting out of the beast by things present, by which he might even at that time be known of the godly, and this delineation is according to his heads, verses 2, 10, 11. The third is an historical foretelling of things to come, and to be done by him: and these are ascribed unto his horns, verses 12, 13, 14. This beast is that Empire of Rome, of which I spake, chap. 13:11, according to the mutations and changes whereof which then had already happened, the holy Ghost hath distinguished and set out the same. The Apostle distinguiseth this beast from all others in these words: of which two, the first exercised cruelty upon the bodies of the saints: the other also upon their souls: the first by human order and policy, the other under the color of the law of God, and of Religion, raged and imbrued itself with the blood of the godly.

179 An exhortation preparing unto audience, by the same argument, with that of Christ: He that hath ears to hear, let him hear. Wherefore, for mine own part, I had rather read in this place, Let there be here a mind, etc. So the Angel passeth fully unto the second place of this description.

4 Very children know what that seven hilled city is, which is so much spoken of and wherein Virgil thus reporteth, And compasseth seven towers in one wall: that city it is, which when John wrote these things, had rule over the kings of the earth: It was and is not, and yet it remaineth this day, but it is declining to destruction.

3 This is the painting out of the beast by things present (as I said before) whereby S. John endeavored to describe the same, that he might both be known of the godly in that age, and be further observed and marked of posterity afterwards. This delineation hath one type, that is, his heads, but a double description or application of the type: one permanent from the nature of itself, the other changeable, by the working of men. The description permanent, is by the seven hills, in this verse, the other that fleeting, is from the seven kings, verses 10, 11. And here it is worthy to be observed, that one type hath sometimes two or more applications, as seemeth good unto the holy Ghost to express either one thing by divers types, or divers things by one type. So I noted before, of the seven spirits, Rev. 1:4. Now this woman that sitteth upon seven hills, is the city of Rome, called in times past of the Greeks, . . . i. of seven tops or crests, and of Varro, septicops, i. of her seven heads (as here) of seven heads, and of others, septicollis, i. standing upon seven hills.

3 The beginning of these Kings or Emperors is almost the same with the beginning of the Church of Christ, which I showed before, Rev. 11:1. Namely from the year 35, after the passion of Christ, what time the Temple and Church of the Jews was overthrown. In which year it came to pass by the providence of God that that saying The beast was and is not, was fulfilled before that the destruction of the Jews immediately following came to pass. That was the year from the building of the city of Rome, 109, from which year S. John both numbered the Emperors which hitherto hath been, when he wrote these things, and foretelleth two others next to come: and that with this purpose, that when this particular prediction of foretelling of things to come, should take effect the truth of all other predictions in the Church might be the more confirmed. Which sign God of old mentioned this in the Law; Deut. 18, and Jeremiah confirmed, Jer. 28:8.

10 Whose names are these: the first, Servius Sulpicius Galba, who was the seventh Emperor of the people of Rome, the second Marcus Salvius Otho, the third Aulus Vitellius, the fourth, Titus Flavius Vespasianus; the fifth, Titus Vespasianus his son of his own name.

2 Flavius Domitian son of the first Vespasian. For in the latter end of his days S. John wrote these things, as witnesseth Irenaus, Lib. 5 adversus haereses.

9 Nerva. The Empire being now translated from the family of Flavius. This man reigned only one year, four months, and nine days, as the history writers do tell.

11 This is spoken by the figure synecdoche, as much to say as that head of the beast which was and is not, because it is cut off, and Nerva
17 And that woman which thou sawest, is that great city which reigned over the kings of the earth.

18 The horrible destruction of Babylon set out. The merchants of the earth, who were with her, were enriched with the pomp and luxury of it, and weep, and wail: For all the elect rejoice for that just vengeance of God.

1 And after these things, I saw another Angel come down from heaven, having great power, so that the earth was lightened with his glory.

2 And he cried out mightily with a loud voice, saying, ‘It is fallen, it is fallen, Babylon the great city, and is become the habitation of devils, and the hold of all foul spirits, and a cage of every unclean and hateful bird.'

The eighth, and is one of the seven, and all go into destruction.

12 And the ten horns which thou sawest, are ten kings, which yet have not received a kingdom, but shall receive power, as Kings at one hour with the beast.

13 These have one mind, and shall give their power and authority unto the beast.

14 These shall fight with the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them: for he is Lord of Lords, and King of Kings: and they that are on his side, called, and chosen, and faithful.

15 And he said unto me, The waters which thou sawest, where the whore sitteth, are people, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues.

16 And the ten horns which thou sawest upon the beast, are they that shall hate the whore, and shall make her desolate, and naked, and shall eat her flesh, and burn her with fire.

17 For God hath put in their hearts to fulfill his will, and to do with one consent for to give their kingdom unto the beast, until the words of God be fulfilled.

18 And the King of the north shall come and cast his shadow over thee, with chariots, and with horsemen, and with archers; and entereth into thy gates like as a man entereth into a strong city;

The ten Kings as verse 12. The accomplishment of this fact and event, is daily increased in this our age by the singular providence and most mighty government of God. Wherefore the facts are pronounced in this verse, and the cause of them in the verses following.

A reason rendered from the chief efficient cause, which is the providence of God, by which alone S. John, by inversion of order affirmeth to have come to pass, both that the Kings should execute upon the harlot, that which pleased God, and which he declared in the verse next foregoing: and also that by one consent and counsel, they should give their kingdom unto the beast, etc., verses 13, 14. For as these being blinded have before depended upon the beck of the beast that lifteth up the harlot; so it is said that afterward it shall come to pass, that they shall turn back, and shall fall away from her when their hearts shall be turned into better state by the grace and mercy of God.

18:2 The prediction or foretelling of her ruin, containing both the fall of Babylon, in this verse, and the cause thereof uttered by way of allegory concerning her spiritual and carnal wickedness, that is, her most great impiety and injustice, in the next verse: her fall is first simply declared of by the circumstances, thence, unto verse 20. The third, a confirmation of this, is a thousandfold fulfilled in the parable of the great wedding in chap. 19.

Either Christ the eternal word of God the Father (as often elsewhere) or a created Angel, and one deputed unto this service: but thoroughly furnished with greatness of power, and with light of glory, as the ensign of power.

18:1 The second place (as I said before, 17:1) of the history of Babylon, is of the woeful fall and ruin of that whereof Babylon. This historical prediction concerning her, is threefold. The first a plain and simple foretelling of her ruin in three verses, the second a figurative prediction by the circumstances, thence, unto verse 20. The third, a confirmation of the same by sign or wonder, unto the end of the Chapter.

14 That is, Rome that great City, or only City (as Justinian calleth it) the King and head whereof was then the Emperor, but now the Pope, since that the condition of the beast was changed.
3 For all nations have drunken of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich of the abundance of her pleasures.

4 1 And I heard another voice from heaven say, 2 Go out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues:

5 For her sins are come up into heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities.

6 1 Reward her, even as she hath rewarded you, and give her double according to her works: and in the cup that she hath filled to you, fill her the double.

7 Inasmuch as she glorified herself, and lived in pleasure, so much give ye to her torment and sorrow: for she saith 1 in her heart, I sit being a queen, and am no widow, and shall see no mourning.

8 Therefore shall her plagues come at one day, death, and sorrow, and famine, and she shall be burnt with fire: for that God which condemneth her, is a strong Lord,

9 And the kings of the earth shall bewail her, and lament for her, which have committed fornication, and lived in pleasure with her, when they shall see that smoke of that her burning,

10 And shall stand afar off for fear of her torment, saying, Alas, alas, that great city Babylon, that mighty city: for in one hour is thy judgment come.

11 1 And the merchants of the earth shall weep and wail over her: for no man buyeth their ware anymore.

12 The ware of gold, and silver, and of precious stone, and of pearls, and of fine linen, and of purple, and of silk, and of scarlet, and of all manner of Thynewood, and of all vessels of ivory, and of all vessels of most precious wood, and of brass, and of iron, and of marble.

13 And of cinnamon, and odors, and ointments, and frankincense, and wine, and oil, and fine flour, and wheat, and beasts, and sheep, and horses, and chariots, and servants, and souls of men.

14 1 And the apples that thy soul lusteth after, are departed from thee, and all things which were fat and excellent, are departed from thee, and thou shalt find them no more.

15 The merchants of these things which were waxed rich, shall stand afar off from her, for fear of her torment, weeping and wailing.

16 And saying, Alas, alas, that great city, that was clothed in fine linen and purple, and scarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious stones, and pearls.

17 1 For in one hour so great riches are come to desolation. And every shipmaster, and all the people that occupy ships and shippmen, and whosoever traffic on the sea, shall stand afar off.

18 And cry, when they see that smoke of that her burning, saying, What city was like unto this great city?

19 And they shall cast dust on their heads, and cry, weeping, and wailing, and say, Alas, alas that great city, wherein were made rich all that had ships on the sea by her coastlines: for in one hour she is made desolate.

20 1 O heaven, rejoice of her, and ye holy Apostles

184 1 The second prediction, which is of the circumstances of the ruin of Babylon: of these there are two kinds: one going before it: as that beforehand the godly are delivered unto the ninth verse: the other following upon her ruin, namely the lamentation of the wicked and rejoicing of the godly, unto the twentieth verse.

2 Two circumstances going before the ruin, are commanded in this place: one is, that the godly depart out of Babylon: as I mentioned, chapter 12, to have been done in time past, before the destruction of Jerusalem: this charge is given here, and in the next verse. The other is, that every one of them occupy themselves in their own place, in executing the judgment of God, as it was commanded the Levites of old, Exod. 32:27, and that they sanctify their hands unto the Lord, verses 6, 7, 8.

3 Of his commandment there are two causes to avoid the contamination of sin, and to shun the participation of those punishments that belong thereunto.

185 1 He useth a word which signifieth the following of sins one after another, and rising one another in such sort, that they grew at length to such an heap that they came up even to heaven.

186 1 The provocation of the godly, and the commandment of executing the judgments of God, stand upon three causes which are here expressed: the unjust wickedness of the whore of Babylon, in this verse her cursed pride opposing itself against God, which is the fountain of all evil actions, verse 7, and her most just damnation by the sentence of God, verse 8.

187 1 With herself.

2 I am full of people and mighty.
1 The heavenly company praise God for avenging the blood of his servants on the whore. 9 They are written blessed, that are called to the Lamb’s supper. 10 The Angel will not be worshipped. 11 That mighty King of Kings appereareth from heaven. 19 The battle, wherein the beast fell down, and worshipped God that sat on the throne, saying, Amen, Hallelujah. 5 Then a voice came out of the throne, saying, Praise our God, all ye his servants, and ye that fear him, both small and great. 6 And I heard like a voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of strong thunderings, saying, Hallelujah: for the Lord that God that Almighty one hath reigned. 7 Let us be glad and rejoice, and give glory to him: for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife hath made herself ready. 8 And to her was granted, that she should be arrayed with pure fine linen and shining, for the fine linen is the righteousness of Saints. 9 Then he said unto me, Write, Blessed are they which are called unto the marriage of the Lamb, and to her were granted to go no more, for the King is come to his marriage feast. 10 And I fell before his feet, to worship him, but he said unto me, See thou do it not: I am thy fellow servant, and one of thy brethren, which have the courage thereof, in the next verse. 19:3 1 The song of the Antiphony or response, containing an amplification of the praise of God, from the perpetual and most certain testimony of his divine judgment as was done at Sodom and Gomorrah, Gen. 19. 19:5 1 The second place of praise as I said verse 1, which first is commanded from God in this verse: and then is in most ample manner pronounced of the creatures, both because they see that kingdom of Christ to come, which most they desire, verse 6, also because they see that the Church is called forth to be brought home: into the house of her husband by holy marriage unto the fellowship of his kingdom, verses 7, 8. Wherefore S. John is commanded to write in a book the Epiphonema, or acclamation joined with a divine testimony, verse 9. 2 Out of the temple from God, as Rev. 11:19. 19:6 1 Without the Temple in heaven. 19:7 1 Namely unto that holy marriage both herself in person in this verse and also furnished of her spouse with marriage gifts princely and divine is adorned and prepared in the next verse. 19:8 1 As an ensign of Kingly and priestly dignity: which dignity Christ bestoweth upon us, Rev. 1:6. 2 This is a gift given by the husband for marriage sake and a most choice ornament, which Christ bestoweth upon us, as upon his spouse. 2 Good works which are lively testimonies of faith. 19:9 1 Namely the Angel, as appeareth by the next verse. 19:10 1 The particular history of this verse is brought in by occasion, and as it were besides the purpose, that Saint John might make a public example of his own infirmity, and of the modest sanctity of the Angel, who hath renounced for himself the divine honors, and recalled all the servants of God, unto the worship of him alone: as also Rev. 22:8.

and Prophets: for God hath punished her, to be revenged on her for your sakes. 21 Then a mighty Angel took up a stone, like a great millstone, and cast it into the sea, saying, With such violence shall that great city Babylon be cast and shall be found no more. 22 And the voice of harpers, and musicians and of pipers, and trumpeters shall be heard no more in thee, and no craftsman, of whosoever craft be be, shall be found anymore in thee: and the sound of a millstone shall be heard no more in thee. 23 And the light of a candle shall shine no more in thee: and the voice of the bridegroom and of the bride shall be heard no more in thee: for thy merchants were the great men of the earth: and with thine enchantment were deceived all nations. 24 And in her was found the blood of the Prophets and of the Saints, and of all that were slain upon the earth.
REVELATION 19:11

11 1And I saw

of high captains, and the flesh of mighty men, and the flesh of horses, and of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all freemen, and bondmen, and of small and great.

19 1And I saw the beast, and the kings of the earth, and their hosts gathered together to make battle against him that sat on the horse; and against his army.

20 But the beast was taken, and with him that false Prophet that wrought miracles before him, whereby he deceived them that received the beast's mark, and them that worshipped his image. These both were alive cast into a lake of fire burning with brimstone.

21 And the remnant were slain with the sword of him that sitteth upon the horse, which cometh out of his mouth, and all the fowls were filled full with their flesh.

1 2 bindeth Satan for a thousand years. 8 Being loosed, he stirreth up Gog and Magog, that is, privy and open enemies against the Saints, 11 but the vengeance of the Lord cutting off their insolence. 12 The books are opened, by which the dead are judged.

1 And I saw an Angel come down from heaven, having the key of the bottomless pit, and a great chain in his hand.

2 And he took the dragon that old serpent, which is the devil and Satan, and he bound him a thousand years.

19:11 1 The second member as I said verse 11. A reproachful callning forth of the enemies unto battle: in which not themselves (for they should be called forth king of the world, or provoked being his subjects? for that is not comely) but in their hearing, the birds of the air are called to eat their carcasses.

2 That is, openly, and in sight of all, as Num. 25:4 and 2 Sam. 12:11.

3 That is, through this inferior heaven, and which is nearer unto us: a Hebrew phrase.

19:19 1 The third member (as was said, verse 11) of the victory obtained by Christ. Unto this appertaineth two things: his bucking with the beast and his forces in this verse: and the event most magnificent, described after the manner of men, in the verses following. All these things are plain.
20:3 1 Namely, with that public and violent deceit which he attempted before, Chapter 12, and which after a thousand years (alack for woe) he most mightily procured in the Christian world.

2 Which being once expired, the second battle and victory shall be, of which verses 7, 8.

20:4 1 A description of the common state of the Church of Christ in earth in that space of a thousand years, for which the devil was in bonds: in which first the authority, life, and common honor of the godly, is declared, verse 4. Secondly, newness of life is preached unto others by the Gospel, after that space, verse 5. Finally, he concludes with promises, verse 6.

For judgment was committed to them, as to members joined to the head, not [that] Christ's office was given over [to] them.

2 Of the authority of the good and faithful servants of God in the Church, taken from the manner of men.

3 Of the Martyrs, which suffered in those first times.

4 Of the Martyrs which suffered after that both the beasts were now risen up, Chapter 13, for these three things are expounded.

20:5 1 Whoever shall lie dead in sin, and not know the truth of God.

2 They shall not be renewed with that newness of the life by the enlightening of the Gospel of the glory of Christ. For this is the first resurrection, by which the souls of the godly do rise from their death. In the second resurrection their bodies shall rise again.

20:6 1 That whereby both body and soul, that is, the whole man is addicted and delivered unto eternal death. So Rev. 2:11.

2 A return unto the intended history, by resuming the words which are in the end of the fourth verse.

20:7 1 The second history, of the latter victory of Christ, as was said verse 1. In which are summarily described the work, overthrow and eternal punishment of Satan.

2 Of which I spake, verse 2. Then therefore shall be given unto him liberty to rage against the Church, and to molest the Saints for the sins of men: unto whom the faithful shall have associated themselves more than was meet, tasting with them of their impurity of doctrine and life.

20:8 1 The work or act of Satan (which is the first member as I distinguished in the verse foregoing) to deceive the whole world, even unto the uttermost nations thereof: to arm them against the people of God, in this verse, and to besiege and oppress the Church, with his whole strength, in the verse following.

2 As if he said insomuch that the whole face of the earth, how great soever it is was filled.

20:9 1 Namely, with that public and violent deceit which he attempted before, Chapter 12, and which after a thousand years (alack for woe) he most mightily procured in the Christian world.

2 The wrath of God, consuming the adversaries, and overthrowing all their enterprises, Heb. 10:27. And this is the second member mentioned, verse 7, the overthrow of Satan.

20:10 1 The third member, eternal destruction against those that are overcome: as I noted in the same place.

20:11 1 The second part of this Chapter, in which is described the judge, in this verse, and the last judgment in the verse following.

2 That is, a tribunal seat most Princely and glorious: for so both the Greek word also signify.

3 That is, Christ, before whom when he cometh unto judgment, heaven and earth shall perish for the greatness of his majesty, 2 Pet. 3:7, 10, etc.

20:12 1 That is, Christ the judge, 2 Cor. 5:10.

2 As it were, our books of reckoning or accounts: that is, the testimony of our conscience, and of our works, which by no means can be avoided. This is spoken after the manner of men.

3 The book of the eternal decree of God, in which God the Father hath elected in Christ according to the good pleasure of his will, those that shall be heirs of life. This also is spoken according to the manner of men.

20:13 1 This is a prevention or an answer to an objection: for happily some man will say, but they are dead, whom the sea, death and the grave hath consumed, how shall they appear before the judge? S. John answereth by resurrection from death, whereunto all things (however repugnant) shall minister and serve at the commandment of God, as Dan. 12.
14 And death, and hell were cast into the lake of fire: this is the second death.

And whosoever was not found written in the book of life, was cast into the lake of fire.

21 He describeth new Jerusalem descending from heaven, 6 The bride the Lamb’s wife, 12 and the glorious building of the city, 19 garnished with precious stones, 22 whose Temple the Lamb is.

1 And I saw a new heaven, and a new earth: for the first heaven, and the first earth were passed away, and there was no more sea.

2 And I John saw the holy city new Jerusalem come down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride trimmed for her husband.

3 And I heard a great voice out of heaven, saying, Behold, the Tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them: and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be their God with them.

4 And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes, and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, neither crying, neither shall there be anymore pain: for the first things are passed.

5 And he that sat upon the throne, said, Behold, I make all things new, and he said unto me, Write: for these things are faithful and true.

6 And he said unto me, It is done, I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end: I will give to him that is athirst of the well of the water of life freely.

7 He that overcometh, shall inherit all things, and I will be his God, and he shall be my Son.

8 But the fearful and unbelieving, and the abominable and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone, which is the second death.

9 And there came unto me one of the seven Angels, which had the seven vials full of the seven last plagues, and talked with me, saying, Come: I will show thee the bride the Lamb’s wife.

10 And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and high mountain, and he showed me that great city, that holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God.

11 Having the glory of God, and her shining was like unto a stone most precious, as a jasper stone clear as crystal.

12 And had a great wall, and high, and had twelve gates, and at the gates twelve Angels, and the names written which are the twelve tribes of the children of Israel.

13 On the East part there were three gates, and on the North side three gates, on the South side three gates, and on the West side three gates.

20:14 The last enemy which is death shall be abolished by Christ (that he may no more make any attempt against us), 1 Cor. 15:16, and death shall feed upon the reprobate in hell for evermore, according to the righteous judgment of God, in the next verse.

21:6 The description of the Church is of three sorts, by the abolishing of old things: by the being of present things in God, that is of things eternal and by the communication of all good things with the godly, verse 6. If so be they shall strive manfully, verse 7. But the reprobate are excluded from thence, verse 8.

21:8 Their lot, and inheritance as it were.

21:9 A transition unto the particular describing of the heavenly Church by the express calling of Saint John in this verse, and his rapturing by the Spirit, in confirmation of the truth of God in the verse following.

21:10 He meaneth the place and stately seat of the Church, shadowed out in a mountain.

A type of that Church which is one, ample, or Catholic, holy celestial, built of God, in this verse: and glorious in the verse following. This type propounded generally, is after particularly declared, verse 12, etc.

21:12 A particular description (as I noted, verse 2) of the celestial Church. First, by the essential parts of the same, under the similitude of a city to verse 12. Secondly, from foreign accidents, unto the end of the chapter. Thirdly, by the effects, in the beginning of the next chapter, the essential parts are noted the matter and the form in the whole work: of these the superificies and foundation of the wall are entire parts (as they use to be called) which parts are first described in figure, unto verse 14 and afterward more exactly.

2 According to the number of the tribes, of which chap. 7. For here the outward part is attributed unto the old Testament, and the foundation of the new Testament.

3 He meaneth the Prophets, who are the messengers of God, and watchmen of the Church.
14 And the wall of the city had twelve foundations, and in them the names of the Lamb’s twelve Apostles.
15 And he that walked with me, had a golden reed, to measure the city withal, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.
16 And the city lay foursquare, and the length is as large as the breadth of it, and he measured the city with the reed, twelve thousand furlongs: and the length, and the breadth, and the height of it are equal.
17 And he measured the wall thereof an hundred forty and four cubits, by the measure of man, that is, of the Angel.
18 And the building of the wall of it was of jasper: and the city was pure gold, like unto clear glass.
19 And the foundations of the wall of the city were garnished with all manner of precious stones: the first foundation was jasper: the second of Sapphire: the third of a Chalcedony: the fourth of an Emerald:
21 And the twelve gates were twelve pearls, and every gate is of one pearl, and the street of the city is pure gold, as shining glass.
22 And I saw no Temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are the Temple of it.
23 And their city hath no need of the Sun, neither of the Moon to shine in it: for the glory of God did light it: and the Lamb is the light of it.
24 And the people which are saved, shall walk in the light of it: and the kings of the earth shall bring their glory and honor unto it.
25 And the gates of it shall not be shut by day: for there shall be no night there.
26 And the glory and honor of the Gentiles shall be brought unto it.
27 And there shall enter into it none unclean thing, neither whatsoever worketh abomination or lieth: but they which are written in the Lamb’s book of life.
the words of the prophecy of this book.

8 And I am John, which saw and heard these things: and when I had heard and seen, I fell down to worship before the feet of the Angel which showed me these things.

9 But he said unto me, See thou do it not: for I am thy fellow servant, and of thy brethren the Prophets, and of them which keep the words of this book: worship God.

10 And he said unto me, Seal not the words of the prophecy of this book: for the time is at hand.

11 He that is unjust, let him be unjust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still.

12 And behold, I come shortly, and my reward is with me, to give and execute just judgment, in this verse: who have taught that it is a witness of my truth unto my glory, who will come shortly be no use of this book unto men: yet it shall be of this use unto me, and their fruit in the same.

13 I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

14 Blessed are they, that do his Commandments, that their right may be in the tree of Life, and may enter in through the gates into the City.

15 For without shall be dogs and enchan ters, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth or maketh lies.

16 I Jesus have sent mine Angel, to testify unto you these things in the Churches: I am the root and the generation of David, and the bright morning star.

17 And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come: and let him that is athirst, come: and let whosoever will, take of the water of life freely.

18 For I protest unto every man that heareth the words of this prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book.

19 And if any man shall diminish of the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy City, and from those things which are written in this book.

20 He which testifieth these things, saith, Surely I come quickly, Amen. Even so, come Lord Jesus.

21 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, AMEN.

THE END
A FORM OF PRAYER TO BE USED IN PRIVATE HOUSES EVERY MORNING & EVENING

Morning Prayer.

Almighty God and most merciful father, we do not present ourselves here before thy Majesty, trusting in our own merits or worthiness, but in thy manifold mercies, which hast proved to hear our prayers and grant our requests, which we shall make to thee in the name of thy beloved Son Jesus Christ our Lord, who also hath commanded us to assemble ourselves together in his name, with full assurance, that he will not only be amongst us, but also be our mediator and advocate to thy Majesty, that we may obtain all things which shall seem expedient to thy blessed will, for our necessities. Therefore we beseech thee sweet Father, to turn thy loving countenance towards us, and impute not unto us our manifold sins and offenses, whereby we most justly deserve thy wrath and sharp punishment, but rather receive us to thy mercy, for Jesus Christ's sake, accepting his death and passion as a just recompense for all our offenses, in whom only thou art pleased, and through whom thou canst not be offended with us. And seeing that of thy great mercy we have quietly passed this night: Grant (O heavenly Father) that we may bestow this day wholly in thy service, so that all our thoughts, words, and deeds, may redound to the glory of thy name and good ensample of all men, who seeing our good works, may glorify thee our heavenly Father. And forasmuch as of thy mere favor and love, thou hast not only created us to thine own similitude and likeness, but also hast chosen us to be heirs with thy dear son Jesus Christ, of that immortal kingdom, which thou preparedst for us before the beginning of the world: we beseech thee to increase our faith and knowledge, and to lighten our hearts with thy holy spirit, that we may in the meantime live in godly conversation and integrity of life, knowing that Idolaters, adulterers, covetous men, contentious persons, drunkards, gluttons and suchlike, shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

And because thou hast commanded us to pray one for another, we do not only make request (O Lord) for ourselves, and for them that thou hast already called to the true understanding of thy heavenly will, but for all people and nations of the world, who as they know by thy wonderful works, that thou art God over all, so they may be instructed by thy holy spirit, to believe in thee, their only Savior and Redeemer, but forasmuch as they cannot believe, except they hear, nor cannot hear but by preaching, and none can preach, except he be sent: therefore (O Lord) raise up faithful distributors of thy mysteries, who setting apart all worldly respects, may both in their life and doctrine only seek thy glory. Continually confound Satan, Antichrist, with all hirelings, whom thou hast already cast off into a reprobate sense, that they may not by sects, schisms, heresies, and errors, disquiet thy little flock. And because, O Lord, we be fallen into the latter days and dangerous times, wherein ignorance hath gotten the upper hand, and Satan by his Ministers seeks by all means to quench the light of thy Gospel: we beseech thee to maintain thy cause against those ravening Wolves and strengthen all thy servants, whom they keep in prison and bondage. Let not thy long suffering be an occasion, either to increase their tyranny, or to discourage thy children: neither yet let our sins and wickedness, be an hindrance to thy mercies, but with speed (O Lord) consider their great misery. For thy people Israel many times by their sin provoked thine anger and thou punishedst them by thy just judgment, yet though their sins were never so grievous, if they once returned from their iniquity, thou receivedst them to mercy. We therefore most wretched sinners bewail our manifold sins, and earnestly repent us of our former wickedness, and ungodly behavior towards thee: and whereas we cannot of ourselves purchase thy pardon, yet we humbly beseech thee for Jesus Christ's sake, to show thy mercy upon us, and receive us again to thy favor: Grant us dear Father these our requests, and all other things necessary for us, and thy whole Church, according to thy promise in Jesus Christ our Lord. In whose name we beseech thee, as he hath taught us, saying: Our Father which art in heaven, etc.

Evening Prayer.

O Lord God, Father everlasting, and full of pity, we acknowledge and confess, that we be not worthy to lift up our eyes to heaven, much less to present ourselves before thy Majesty, with confidence that thou wilt hear our prayers, and grant our requests: if we consider our own despavings: for our consciences do accuse us, and our sins do witness against us, and we know that thou art an upright Judge, which dost not justify the sinners... and wicked men, but punisheth the faults of all such as transgress thy commandments: yet most merciful Father, since it hath pleased thee to command us to call on thee in all our troubles and adversities, promising even then to help us, when we feel ourselves, (as it were) swallowed up of death and desperation, we utterly renounce all worldly confidence, and fly to thy sovereign bounty as our only stay and refuge: beseeching thee not to call to remembrance our manifold sins and wickedness, whereby we continually provoke thy wrath and indignation against us, neither our negligence and unkindness, which have neither worthyly esteemed, nor in our lives sufficiently expressed the sweet comfort of thy Gospel revealed unto us, but rather to accept the death and obedience of thy Son Jesus Christ, who by offering up his body in sacrifice once for all hath made a sufficient recompense for all our sins. Have mercy therefore upon us, O Lord, and forgive us our offenses.
Teach us by thy holy Spirit, that we may rightly weigh them, and earnestly repent for the same. And so much the rather, O Lord, because that the reprobate and such as thou hast forsaken, cannot praise thee, nor call upon thy name, but the repenting heart, the sorrowful mind, the conscience oppressed, hungering and thirsting for thy grace, shall ever set forth thy praise and glory.

And albeit we be but worms and dust, yet thou art our Creator, and we be the work of thine hands: yea, thou art our Father, and we thy Children: thou art our Shepherd, and we thy flock: thou art our Redeemer, and we thy people whom thou hast bought: thou art our God, and we thine inheritance. Correct us not therefore in thine anger (O Lord) neither according to our deserts punish us, but mercifully chastise us with a fatherly affection, that all the world may know at what time soever a sinner doth repent him of his sin from the bottom of his heart, thou wilt put away all his wickedness out of thy remembrance, as thou hast promised by thy holy Prophet.

Finally, forasmuch as it hath pleased thee to make the night for man to rest in, as thou hast ordained him the day to travail in, grant O dear Father, that we may continually watch for the time that our Lord Jesus Christ shall appear for our deliverance out of this mortal life, and in the mean season, that we be not overcome by any fantasies, dreams, or other temptations, may fully set our minds upon thee, love thee, fear thee, and rest in thee. Furthermore, that our sleep be not excessive or overmuch, after the insatiable desires of our flesh, but only sufficient to content our weak nature, that we may be the better disposed to live in all godly conversation, to the glory of the holy Name, and profit of our brethren. So be it.

A Confession for all estates and times.

O eternal God and most merciful Father, we confess and acknowledge here before thy divine Majesty, that we are miserable sinners, conceived and born in sin and iniquity, so that in us there is no goodness. For the Honorable prayer to be said at all times.

Honor and praise be given to thee, O Lord God Almighty, most dear Father of heaven, for all thy mercies and loving-kindnesses showed unto us, in that it hath pleased thy gracious goodness, freely and of thine own accord to elect and choose us to salvation before the beginning of the world: And even like continual thanks be given to thee, for creating us after thine own image, for redeeming us with the precious blood of thy dear Son, when we were utterly lost: for sanctifying us with thy holy Spirit in the revelation and knowledge of thy word: for helping and succoring us in all our needs and necessities, for saving us from all dangers of body and soul, for comfortings us so fatherly in all our tribulations and persecutions, for sparing us so long, and giving us so large a time of repentance. These benefits O most merciful Father, like as we acknowledge to have received them of thy only goodness, even so we beseech thee for thy dear Son Jesus Christ's sake, grant us always thy holy Spirit, whereby we may continually grow in thankfulness towards thee, to be led into all truth, and comforted in all adversities. O Lord strengthen our faith, kindle it more in ferventness and love towards thee, and our neighbors for thy sake: suffer us not (most dear Father) to receive thy word any more in vain: but grant us always the assistance of thy grace and holy Spirit, that in heart, word, and deed, we may sanctify and do worship to thy name, help to amplify and increase thy kingdom, and whatsoever thou sendest, we may be hardly well content with thy good pleasure and will. Let us not lack the thing, O Father, without the which we cannot serve thee: but bless thou so all the works of our hands, that we may have sufficient, and not be chargeable but rather helpful unto others. Be merciful O Lord to our offenses, and seeing our debt is great which thou hast forgiven in Jesus Christ, make us to love thee and our neighbors so much the more: be thou our Father, Captain, and defender in all temptations: hold thou us always the assistance of thy grace and holy Spirit, so large a time of repentance. These benefits O most merciful Father, like as we acknowledge to have received them of thy only goodness, even so we beseech thee
for thy dear Son Jesus Christ's sake, grant us always thy holy Spirit, whereby we may continually grow in thankfulness towards thee, to be led into all truth, and comforted in all adversities. O Lord strengthen our faith, kindle it more in ferventness and love towards thee, and
our neighbors for thy sake: suffer us not (most dear Father) to receive thy word any more in vain: but grant us always the assistance of thy grace and holy Spirit, that in heart, word, and deed, we may sanctify and do worship to thy name, help to amplify and increase thy kingdom, and whatsoever thou sendest, we may be hardly well content with thy good pleasure and will. Let us not lack the thing, O Father, without the which we cannot serve thee: but bless thou so all the works of our hands, that we may have sufficient, and not be chargeable but rather helpful unto others. Be merciful O Lord to our offenses, and seeing our debt is great which thou hast forgiven in Jesus Christ, make us to love thee and our neighbors so much the more: be thou our Father, Captain, and defender in all temptations: hold thou us by thy merciful hand, that we may be delivered from all inconveniences, and end our lives in the sanctifying and honoring of thy holy name, through Jesus Christ our Lord and only Savior.

Let thy mighty hand and outstretched arm (O Lord) be still our defense, thy mercy and loving-kindness in Jesus Christ thy dear Son our salvation, thy true and holy word our instruction, thy grace and holy Spirit our comfort and consolation unto the end and in the end, So be it.

O Lord increase our faith.
flesh evermore rebelleth against the spirit, whereby we continually transgress thy holy precepts and commandments: and so purchase to ourselves through thy just judgment, death and damnation. Notwithstanding (O heavenly Father) forasmuch as we are displeased with ourselves for the sins that we have committed against thee, and do unfeignedly repent us of the same, we most humbly beseech thee for Jesus Christ's sake to show thy mercy upon us, to forgive us all our sins, and increase thy holy Spirit in us, that we acknowledging from the bottom of our hearts, our own unrighteousness, may from henceforth not only mortify our sinful lusts and affections, but also bring forth such fruits as may be agreeable to thy most blessed will, not for the worthiness thereof, but for the merits of thy dearly beloved Son Jesus Christ our only Savior, whom thou hast already given an oblation and offering for our sins, and for whose sake we are certainly persuaded that thou wilt deny us nothing that we shall ask in his name, according to thy will. For thy Spirit doth assure our consciences, that thou art our merciful Father, and so loveth us thy children through him, that nothing is able to remove thy heavenly grace and favor from us. To thee therefore (O Father) with the Son, and the holy Ghost, be all honor and glory world without end. Amen.

A prayer to be said before a man begin his work.

O Father, who most merciful and heavenly Father, seeing it hath pleased thee to command us to travail, that we may relieve our need, we beseech thee of thy mercy to show thy grace to us, that we may be blessed in all our labor, that thy blessing may extend unto us, through all the world, and to all men: we pray not only for ourselves here present, but for the whole estate of Christ's Church.

A prayer for the whole estate of Christ's Church.

 Almighty God and most merciful Father, we humbly submit ourselves and fall down before thy majesty, beseeching thee from the bottom of our hearts, that this seed of thy word now sown amongst us, may take such deep root, that neither the burning heat of persecution cause it to wither, nor the thorny cares of this life choke it, but that as seed sown in a good ground, it may bring forth thirty, sixty, and an hundredfold, as thy heavenly wisdom hath appointed. And because we have need continually to crave many things at thy hands, we humbly beseech thee (O heavenly Father) to grant us thy holy Spirit, to direct our petitions, that they may proceed from such a fervent mind, as may be agreeable to thy most holy will, and seeing that our infirmity is able to do nothing without thy help, and that thou art not ignorant with how many and great temptations we are met with, with a careful keeping of all thy commandments, that no hardness of heart, no hypocrisy, nor concupiscence of the eyes, nor enticements of the world do draw us away from thy obedience. And seeing we live now in these most perilous times, let thy strength (O Lord) sustain us against the violence of our enemies, which seek all means to oppress thy truth.

Furthermore, forasmuch as by thy holy Apostle we are taught to make our prayers and supplications for all men: We pray not only for ourselves here present, but beseech thee also to reduce all such as be yet ignorant from the miserable captivity of blindness and error, to the pure understanding and knowledge of thy truth, that we all with one accord and unity of mind may worship thee our only God and Savior. And that all Pastors, Shepherds, and Ministers, to whom thou hast committed the dispensation of thy holy word, and charge of thy chosen people, may both in their life and doctrine be found faithful, setting only before their eyes thy glory, and that by them all poor sheep which wander and go astray, may be gathered and brought home to thy fold.

Moreover, because the hearts of Rulers are in thy hands, we beseech thee to direct and govern the hearts of all Kings, Princes, and Magistrates, to whom thou hast committed the sword: Especially (O Lord) according to our bounden duty, we beseech thee to maintain and increase the Honorable estate of the King's Majesty, and all his most noble Counselors and Magistrates, with all the spiritual Pastors and Ministers, and all the whole body of this commonweal. Let thy fatherly favor so preserve them, and thy holy spirit so govern their hearts, that they may in such sort execute their office, that thy religion may be purely maintained, manners reformed, and sin punished, according to the precise rule of thy holy word: and for that we be all members of the mystical body of Jesus Christ, we make our requests unto thee (O Heavenly Father) for all such as are afflicted with any kind of cross or tribulation: as war, plague, famine, sickness, poverty, imprisonment, persecution, banishment, or any other kind of thy rods, whether it be calamity of body, or vexation of mind, that it would please thee to give them patience and constancy, till thou send them full deliverance out of all their troubles. Root out from hence, O Lord, all ravening Wolves, which to fill their bellies, seek to destroy thy flock. And show thy great mercies upon those our brethren in other countries, which are persecuted, cast into prison, and daily condemned for the testimony of thy truth. And although they be utterly destitute of all man's aid, yet let thy sweet comfort never depart from them, but so inflame their hearts with thy holy spirit, that they may boldly and cheerfully abide such trial as they godly wisdom shall appoint: So that at length as well by their death, as by their life, the kingdom of thy dear Son Jesus Christ, may increase and shine through all the world. In whose name we make our humble petitions unto thee, as he hath taught us.

Our father, etc.

A prayer against the Devil and his manifold tentations, made by S. Augustine.

There wanted a tempter, and thou wast the cause that he was wanting: there wanted time and place, and thou wast the cause: that they wanted. The tempter was present, and there wanted neither place nor time, but thou heldest me back that I should not consent.

The tempter came full of darkness as he is, and thou didst restrain him, and strengthened me. The tempter came armed and strongly, but to the intent he should not overcome me, thou didst restrain him and strengthen me.

The tempter came transformed into an Angel of light, and to the intent he should not deceive me, thou didst rebuke him, and to the intent I should know him, thou didst enlighten me. For he is the great red dragon the old serpent, called the Devil and Satan, which hath seven heads and ten horns, whom thou hast created to take his pleasure in this huge and broad sea, wherein there creep living wights innumerable, and beasts great and small, that is to say, divers sorts of fiends which practiceth nothing else day and night, but goeth about seeking whom he may devour, except thou resist him O Lord Jesus. For it is that old dragon which draweth down the third part of the stars of heaven with his raise, and casteth them to the ground, which with his venom poisoneth the waters of the earth, that as many men as drink of them, may die, which trampleth upon gold, as if it were mire, and is of opinion that Jordan shall run into his mouth and which is made of such a mold that he feareth no man: And who shall save us from his chaps, O Lord Jesus? who shall pluck us out of his mouth, saving thou O Lord, who hast broken the head of this great Dragon? Help us Lord, spread out thy wings over us O Lord, that we may flee under them from the face of this Dragon that pursueth us: and fence thou us from his horns with thy shield: For this is his continual endeavor, this is his only desire to devour the souls that thou hast created. And therefore we cry unto thee O God, deliver us from our daily adversary, who whether we sleep or wake, whether we eat or drink, or whether we be doing of any thing else presseth upon us by all kind of means, assimulating us day and night with trains and policies, and shooting his venomous arrows at us, sometimes openly, and sometimes privily to slay our souls. And yet such is our great madness O Lord, that whereas we see the dragon continually in a readiness to devour us with open mouth, we nevertheless do sleep, and rejoice in our own slothfulness, as though we were out of his danger, who desirith nothing else but to destroy us. Our mischievous enemy to the intent to kill us, watcheth continually and never sleepeth, and yet will not we awake from sleep to save ourselves. Behold he hath pitched infinite snares before our feet, and filled all our ways with sundry traps to catch our souls. And who can escape O Lord Jesus, so many and great dangers? He hath laid snares for us in our riches, in our poverty, in our meat, in our drink, in our pleasures, in our sleep, and in our waking. He hath set snares for us in our words, and our works in all our life. But thou, O Lord, deliver us from the net of the Fowler, and from hard words that we may give praise to thee, saying: Blessed be the Lord who hath not given us to be a prey for their teeth: our soul is delivered as a sparrow out of the Fowler's net, the net is broken and we have escaped.

The Confession of the Christian faith.

I believe and confess my Lord God, eternal, infinite, immeasurable, incomprehensible, and invisible, one in substance, and three in person, Father, Son, and holy Ghost, who by his almighty power and wisdom, hath not only of nothing created heaven and earth, and all things therein contained, and man after his own image, that he might in him be glorified, but also by his fatherly providence governeth, maintaineth, and preserveth the same, according to the purpose of his will.

I believe also and confess Jesus Christ the only Savior and Messiah, who being equal with God, made himself of no reputation, but took on him the shape of a servant, and became man, in all things like unto us, except sin, to assure us of mercy and forgiveness: for when through our Father Adam's transgression, we were become children of perdition, there was no means to bring us from the yoke of sin and damnation, but only Jesus Christ our Lord, Who giving us that by grace, which was by nature his, made us through faith the children of God, who when that fullness of time was come, was conceived by the power of the holy Ghost, born of the Virgin, Mary (according to the flesh) and preached in earth the Gospel of Salvation, till at length by tyranny of the Priests, he was guiltlessely condemned under Pontius Pilate, the President of Jury, and most slanderously hanged on the Cross between two thieves, as a notorious trespasser, where taking upon him the punishment of our sins, he delivered us from the curse of the law.

And forasmuch as he being only God, could not feel death, neither being only man, could overcome death, he joined both together, and suffered his humanity to be punished with most cruel death, feeling in himself the anger and severe judgment of God, even as he had been in extreme torments of hell, and therefore cried with a loud voice, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? Thus of his mercy: without compulsion, he offered up himself as the only sacrifice to purge the sins of all the world, so that all other sacrifices for sin, are blasphemous and derogate from the sufficiency hereof, which death, albeit it did sufficiently reconcile us to God, yet the Scriptures commonly do attribute our regeneration to his resurrection, For as by rising again from the grave, the third day he conquered death, even so the victory of our faith standeth in his resurrection: and therefore without the one, we cannot feel the benefits of the other. For as by his death sin was taken away, so our righteousness was restored by his resurrection. And because he would accomplish all things, and take possession for us in his kingdom, he ascended into heaven, to enlarge the same kingdom, by the abundant power of his spirit, by whom we are most assured of his continual intercession towards God the Father for us.

And although he be in heaven as touching his corporal presence, where the Father hath now set him at his right hand, committing unto him the administration of all things, as well in heaven above, as in earth beneath: yet is he present with us his members, even to the end of the world, in preserving and governing us with his effectual power and grace: who when all things are fulfilled, which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Prophets, since the world began, will come in the same visible form, in the which he ascended, with an unspeakable Majesty, power, and company, to separate the Lambs from the Goats, the elect from the reprobate: So that none, whether he be alive then, or dead before, shall escape his judgment.

Moreover, I believe and confess the holy Ghost, God equal with the Father, and the Son, who regenerateth and sanctifieth us, ruleth and guideth us unto all truth, persuading most assuredly in our consciences that we be the children of God, brethren to Jesus Christ, and fellow heirs with him of life everlasting; yet notwithstanding it is not sufficient to believe that God is omnipotent and merciful, that Christ hath made satisfaction, or that the holy Ghost hath his power and effect, except we do apply the same benefits to us which are God's elect.

I believe therefore and confess one holy Church, which as members of Jesus Christ, the only head thereof, consent in faith, hope, and charity, using the gifts of God, whether they be temporal or spiritual, to the profit and furtherance of the same, which Church is not seen to man's eye, but only known to God, who of the lost sons of Adam, hath ordained some as vessels of wrath to damnation, and hath chosen others as vessels of his mercy to be saved: the which in due time he calleth to integrity of life, and godly conversation, to make them a glorious Church in himself.

But that Church which is visible, and seen to the eye, hath three tokens and marks whereby it may be known. First, the word of God contained in the old and new Testament, which as it is above the authority of the same Church, and only sufficient to instruct us in all things concerning salvation: so it is left for all degrees of men, to read and understand. For without this word, neither Church, Counsel, nor decree, can establish any point of his promises. For as by Baptism once received, is signified, that we (as well Infants as others of age and discretion) being strangers from God by original sin, are received into his family and congregation, with full assurance, that although this root of sin lie hid in us, yet to the Elect it shall not be imputed: So the Supper declareth that God as a most provident Father, doth not only feed our bodies, but also spiritually nouriseth our souls with the graces and benefits of Jesus Christ, (which the Scripture calleth eating of his flesh, and drinking of his blood) neither must we in the administration of these Sacraments, follow man's fantasy, but as Christ himself hath ordained, so must they be administered, and by such as by ordinary vocation are thereunto called. Therefore whosoever reserveth and worshippeth these Sacraments, or contrariwise contemneth them in time and place, procureth to himself damnation.

The third mark of this Church, is Ecclesiastical Discipline, which standeth in admonition and correction of faults. The final end whereof is Excommunication, by the consent of the Church determined, if the offender... be obstinate: And besides this Ecclesiastical Discipline, I acknowledge to belong to his Church, a politic Magistrate, that ministereth to every man justice, defending the good and punishing the evil. To whom we must render honor and obedience in all things which are not contrary to the word of God. And as Moses, Hezekiah, Josiah, and other good rulers, purged the Church of God from superstition and idolatry, so the defense of Christ’s Church appertaineth, to Christian Magistrates, against all Idolaters and Heretics, as Papists, Anabaptists, with such like limbs of Antichrist, to root out all doctrine of Devils and men, as the Mass, Purgatory, Limbus patrum, prayers to Saints, and for the dead, free-will, distinction of meats, apparel, and days, vows of single life, presence at Idol service, man’s merits with such like, which draw us from the society of Christ’s church, wherein standeth only remission of sins purchased by Christ’s blood to all them that believe, they be Jews or Gentiles, and lead us to vain confidence in creatures and trust in our own imaginations, the punishment whereof although God oftentimes defereth in this life, yet after the general resurrection, when our souls and bodies shall rise again to immortality, they shall be damned to unquenchable fire, and then we which have forsaken all man’s wisdom, to cleave unto Christ, shall hear the joyful voice, Come ye blessed of my father, inherit the Kingdom prepared for you from the beginning of the world: and so shall go triumphing with him in body and soul to remain everlastingly in glory, where we shall see God face to face, and shall no more need to instruct one another, we shall all know him from the highest to the lowest. To whom with the Son and the holy Ghost, be all praise, honor and glory now and ever. So be it.

FINIS.

The Magna Carta

Magna Carta (Latin for Great Charter, originally issued in 1215), required King John of England to proclaim certain rights (pertaining to freemen), respect certain legal procedures, and accept that his will was bound by the law. It explicitly protected certain rights of the King’s subjects, whether free or fettered—and implicitly supported what became the writ of habeas corpus, allowing appeal against unlawful imprisonment. The Magna Carta is arguably the most significant early influence to clearly put into writing that king and citizen, lord and vassal were equally accountable to the rule of law. It is this important (and biblical) concept that led to the rule of constitutional law today in the English speaking world.

Preamble: John, by the grace of God, king of England, lord of Ireland, duke of Normandy and Aquitaine, and count of Anjou, to the archbishop, bishops, abbots, earls, barons, justiciaries, foresters, sheriffs, stewards, servants, and to all his bailiffs and liege subjects, greetings. Know that, having regard to God and for the salvation of our soul, and those of all our ancestors and heirs, and unto the honor of God and the advancement of his holy Church and for the rectifying of our realm, we have granted as underwritten by advice of our venerable fathers, Stephen, archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England and cardinal of the holy Roman Church, Henry, archbishop of Dublin, William of London, Peter of Winchester, Jocelyn of Bath and Glastonbury, Hugh of Lincoln, Walter of Worcester, William of Coventry, Benedict of Rochester, bishops; of Master Pandulf, subdeacon and member of the household of our lord the Pope, of brother Aymeric (master of the Knights of the Temple in England), and of the illustrious men William Marshal, earl of Pembroke, William, earl of Salisbury, William, earl of Warenne, William, earl of Arundel, Alan of Galloway (constable of Scotland), Waren Fitz Gerold, Peter Fitz Herbert, Hubert De Burgh (seneschal of Poitou), Hugh de Neville, Matthew Fitz Herbert, Thomas Basset, Alan Basset, Philip d’Aubigny, Robert of Roppesley, John Marshal, John Fitz Hugh, and others, our liegemen.

1. In the first place we have granted to God, and by this our present charter confirmed for us and our heirs forever that the English Church shall be free, and shall have her rights entire, and her liberties inviolate; and we will that it be thus observed; which is apparent from this that the freedom of elections, which is reckoned most important and very essential to the English Church, we, of our pure and unconstrained will, did grant, and did by our charter confirm and did obtain the ratification of the same from our lord, Pope Innocent III, before the quarrel arose between us and our barons: and this we will observe, and our will is that it be observed in good faith by our heirs forever. We have also granted to all freemen of our kingdom, for us and our heirs forever, all the underwritten liberties, to be had and held by them and their heirs, of us and our heirs forever.

2. If any of our earls or barons, or others holding of us in chief by military service shall have died, and at the time of his death his heir shall be full of age and owe “relief,” he shall have his inheritance by the old relief, to wit, the heir or heirs of an earl, for the whole barony of an earl by £100; the heir or heirs of a baron, £100 for a whole barony; the heir or heirs of a knight, 100 shillings, at most, and whoever owes less let him give less, according to the ancient custom of fees.
3. If, however, the heir of any one of the aforesaid has been under age and in wardship, let him have his inheritance without relief and without fine when he comes of age.

4. The guardian of the land of an heir who is thus under age, shall take from the land of the heir nothing but reasonable produce, reasonable customs, and reasonable services, and that without destruction or waste of men or goods; and if we have committed the wardship of the lands of any such minor to the sheriff, or to any other who is responsible to us for its issues, and he has made destruction or waster of what he holds in wardship, we will take of him amends, and the land shall be committed to two lawful and discreet men of that fee, who shall be responsible for the issues to us or to him to whom we shall assign them; and if we have given or sold the wardship of any such land to anyone and he has therein made destruction or waste, he shall lose that wardship, and it shall be transferred to two lawful and discreet men of that fee, who shall be responsible to us in like manner as aforesaid.

5. The guardian, moreover, so long as he has the wardship of the land, shall keep up the houses, parks, fishponds, stanks, mills, and other things pertaining to the land, out of the issues of the same land; and he shall restore to the heir, when he has come to full age, all his land, stocked with ploughs and wainage, according as the season of husbandry shall require, and the issues of the land can reasonable bear.

6. Heirs shall be married without disparagement, yet so that before the marriage takes place the nearest in blood to that heir shall have notice.

7. A widow, after the death of her husband, shall forthwith and without difficulty have her marriage portion and inheritance; nor shall she give anything for her dower, or for her marriage portion, or for the inheritance which her husband and she held on the day of the death of that husband; and she may remain in the house of her husband for forty days after his death, within which time her dower shall be assigned to her.

8. No widow shall be compelled to marry, so long as she prefers to live without a husband; provided always that she gives security not to marry without our consent, if she holds of us, or without the consent of the lord of whom she holds, if she holds of another.

9. Neither we nor our bailiffs will seize any land or rent for any debt, as long as the chattels of the debtor are sufficient to repay the debt; nor shall the sureties of the debtor be distrained so long as the principal debtor is able to satisfy the debt; and if the principal debtor shall fail to pay the debt, having nothing wherewith to pay it, then the sureties shall answer for the debt; and let them have the lands and rents of the debtor, if they desire them, until they are indemnified for the debt which they have paid for him, unless the principal debtor can show proof that he is discharged thereof as against the said sureties.

10. If one who has borrowed from the Jews any sum, great or small, die before that loan be repaid, the debt shall not bear interest while the heir is under age, of whomsoever he may hold; and if the debt fall into our hands, we will not take anything except the principal sum contained in the bond.

11. And if anyone die indebted to the Jews, his wife shall have her dower and pay nothing of that debt; and if any children of the deceased are left under age, necessaries shall be provided for them in keeping with the holding of the deceased; and out of the residue the debt shall be paid, reserving, however, service due to feudal lords; in like manner let it be done touching debts due to others than Jews.

12. No scutage nor aid shall be imposed on our kingdom, unless by common counsel of our kingdom, except for ransoming our person, for making our eldest son a knight, and for once marrying our eldest daughter; and for these there shall not be levied more than a reasonable aid. In like manner it shall be done concerning aids from the city of London.

13. And the city of London shall have all its ancient liberties and free customs, as well by land as by water; furthermore, we decree and grant that all other cities, boroughs, towns, and ports shall have all their liberties and free customs.

14. And for obtaining the common counsel of the kingdom anent the assessing of an aid (except in the three cases aforesaid) or of a scutage, we will cause to be summoned the archbishops, bishops, abbots, earls, and greater barons, severally by our letters; and we will moveover cause to be summoned generally, through our sheriffs and bailiffs, and others who hold of us in chief, for a fixed date, namely, after the expiry of at least forty days, and at a fixed place; and in all letters of such summons we will specify the reason of the summons. And when the summons has thus been made, the business shall proceed on the day appointed, according to the counsel of such as are present, although not all who were summoned have come.

15. We will not for the future grant to anyone license to take an aid from his own free tenants, except to ransom his person, to make his eldest son a knight, and once to marry his eldest daughter; and on each of these occasions there shall be levied only a reasonable aid.

16. No one shall be distrained for performance of greater service for a knight’s fee, or for any other free tenement, than is due therefrom.

17. Common pleas shall not follow our court, but shall be held in some fixed place.

18. Inquests of novel disseisin, of mort d’ancestor, and of darrein presentment shall not be held elsewhere than in their own county courts, and that in manner following: We, or, if we should be out of the realm, our chief justiciar, will send two justiciaries through every county four times a year, who shall alone with four knights of the county chosen by the county, hold the said assizes in the county court, on the day and in the place of meeting of that court.

19. And if any of the said assizes cannot be taken on the day of the county court, let there remain of the knights and freeholders, who were present at the county court on that day, as many as may be required for the efficient making of judgments, according as the business be more or less.

20. A freeman shall not be amerced for a slight offense, except in accordance with the degree of the offense; and for a grave offense he shall be amerced in accordance with the gravity of the offense, yet saving always his “contentment”; and a merchant in the same way, saving his “merchandise”; and a villein shall be amerced in the same way, saving his “wainage” if they have fallen into our mercy: and none of the aforesaid amercements shall be imposed except by the oath of honest men of the neighborhood.

21. Earls and barons shall not be amerced except through their peers, and only in accordance with the degree of the offense.

22. A clerk shall not be amerced in respect of his lay holding except after the manner of the others aforesaid; further, he shall not be amerced in accordance with the extent of his ecclesiastical benefice.

23. No village or individual shall be compelled to make bridges at river banks, except those who from of old were legally bound to do so.

24. No sheriff, constable, coroners, or others of our bailiffs, shall hold pleas of our Crown.
25. All counties, hundred, wapentakes, and tithings (except our demesne manors) shall remain at the old rents, and without any additional payment.

26. If anyone holding of us a lay fee shall die, and our sheriff or bailiff shall exhibit our letters patent of summons for a debt which the deceased owed us, it shall be lawful for our sheriff or bailiff to attach and enroll the chattels of the deceased, found upon the lay fee, to the value of that debt, at the sight of law worthy men, provided always that nothing whatever be thence removed until the debt which is evident shall be fully paid to us; and the residue shall be left to the executors to fulfill the will of the deceased; and if there be nothing due from him to us, all the chattels shall go to the deceased, saving to his wife and children their reasonable shares.

27. If any freeman shall die intestate, his chattels shall be distributed by the hands of his nearest kinsfolk and friends, under supervision of the Church, saving to every one the debts which the deceased owed to him.

28. No constable or other bailiff of ours shall take corn or other provisions from anyone without immediately tendering money therefor, unless he can have postponement thereof by permission of the seller.

29. No constable shall compel any knight to give money in lieu of castle-guard, when he is willing to perform it in his own person, or (if he himself cannot do it from any reasonable cause) then by another responsible man. Further, if we have led or sent him upon military service, he shall be relieved from guard in proportion to the time during which he has been on service because of us.

30. No sheriff or bailiff of ours, or other person, shall take the horses or carts of any freeman for transport duty, against the will of the said freeman.

31. Neither we nor our bailiffs shall take, for our castles or for any other work of ours, wood which is not ours, against the will of the owner of that wood.

32. We will not retain beyond one year and one day, the lands those who have been convicted of felony, and the lands shall thereafter be handed over to the lords of the fees.

33. All kydells [fish traps] for the future shall be removed altogether from Thames and Medway, and throughout all England, except upon the seashore.

34. The writ which is called praecipe shall not for the future be issued to anyone, regarding any tenement whereby a freeman may lose his court.

35. Let there be one measure of wine throughout our whole realm; and one measure of ale; and one measure of corn, to wit, “the London quarter”; and one width of cloth (whether dyed, or russet, or “halberget”), to wit, two ells within the selvedges; of weights also let it be as of measures.

36. Nothing in future shall be given or taken for a writ of inquisition of life or limbs, but freely it shall be granted, and never denied.

37. If anyone holds of us by fee-farm, either by socage or by burage, or of any other land by knight’s service, we will not (by reason of that fee-farm, socage, or burgage), have the wardship of the heir, or of such land of his as if of the fee of that other; nor shall we have wardship of that fee-farm, socage, or burgage, unless such fee-farm owes knight’s service. We will not by reason of any small serjeancy which anyone may hold of us by the service of rendering to us knives, arrows, or the like, have wardship of his heir or of the land which he holds of another lord by knight’s service.
38. No bailiff for the future shall, upon his own unsupported complaint, put anyone to his “law”, without credible witnesses brought for this purposes.

39. No freemen shall be taken or imprisoned or disseised or exiled or in any way destroyed, nor will we go upon him nor send upon him, except by the lawful judgment of his peers or by the law of the land.

40. To no one will we sell, to no one will we refuse or delay, right or justice.

41. All merchants shall have safe and secure exit from England, and entry to England, with the right to tarry there and to move about as well by land as by water, for buying and selling by the ancient and right customs, quit from all evil tolls, except (in time of war) such merchants as are of the land at war with us. And if such are found in our land at the beginning of the war, they shall be detained, without injury to their bodies or goods, until information be received by us, or by our chief justiciar, how the merchants of our land found in the land at war with us are treated; and if our men are safe there, the others shall be safe in our land.

42. It shall be lawful in future for anyone (excepting always those imprisoned or outlawed in accordance with the law of the kingdom, and natives of any country at war with us, and merchants, who shall be treated as if above provided) to leave our kingdom and to return, safe and secure by land and water, except for a short period in time of war, on grounds of public policy, reserving always the allegiance due to us.

43. If anyone holding of some escheat (such as the honor of Wallingford, Nottingham, Boulogne, Lancaster, or of other escheats which are in our hands and are baronies) shall die, his heir shall give no other relief, and perform no other service to us than he would have done to the baron if that barony had been in the baron’s hand; and we shall hold it in the same manner in which the baron held it.

44. Men who dwell without the forest need not henceforth come before our justiciaries of the forest upon a general summons, unless they are in plea, or sureties of one or more, who are attached for the forest.

45. We will appoint as justices, constables, sheriffs, or bailiffs only such as know the law of the realm and mean to observe it well.

46. All barons who have founded abbeys, concerning which they hold charters from the kings of England, or of which they have long continued possession, shall have the wardship of them, when vacant, as they ought to have.

47. All forests that have been made such in our time shall forthwith be disafforsted; and a similar course shall be followed with regard to river banks that have been placed “in defense” by us in our time.

48. All evil customs connected with forests and warrens, foresters and warreners, sheriffs and their officers, river banks and their wardens, shall immediately be inquired into in each county by twelve sworn knights of the same county chosen by the honest men of the same county, and shall, within forty days of the said inquest, be utterly abolished, so as never to be restored, provided always that we previously have intimation thereof, or our justiciar, if we should not be in England.

49. We will immediately restore all hostages and charters delivered to us by Englishmen, as sureties of the peace of faithful service.

50. We will entirely remove from their bailiwicks [offices], the relations of Gerard of Athee (so that in future they shall have no bailiwick in England); namely, Engelard of Cigogne, Peter, Guy, and Andrew of Chanceaux, Guy of Cigogne, Geoffrey of Martigny with his brothers, Philip Mark with his brothers and his nephew Geoffrey, and the whole brood of the same.

51. As soon as peace is restored, we will banish from the kingdom all foreign born knights, crossbowmen, serjeants, and mercenary soldiers who have come with horses and arms to the kingdom’s hurt.

52. If anyone has been dispossessed or removed by us, without the legal judgment of his peers, from his lands, castles, franchises, or from his right, we will immediately restore them to him; and if a dispute arise over this, then let it be decided by the five and twenty barons of whom mention is made below in the clause for securing the peace. Moreover, for all those possessions, from which anyone has, without the lawful judgment of his peers, been dispossessed or removed, by our father, King Henry, or by our brother, King Richard, and which we retain in our hand (or which as possessed by others, to whom we are bound to warrant them) we shall have respite until the usual term of crusaders; excepting those things about which a plea has been raised, or an inquest made by our order, before our taking of the cross; but as soon as we return from the expedition, we will immediately grant full justice therein.

53. We shall have, moreover, the same respite and in the same manner in rendering justice concerning the disafforestation or retention of those forests which Henry our father and Richard our brother afforested, and concerning the wardship of lands which are of the fee of another (namely, such wardships as we have hitherto had by reason of a fee which anyone held of us by knight’s service), and concerning abbeys founded on other fees than our own, in which the lord of the fee claims to have right; and when we have returned, or if we desist from our expedition, we will immediately grant full justice to all who complain of such things.

54. No one shall be arrested or imprisoned upon the appeal of a woman, for the death of any other than her husband.

55. All fines made with us unjustly and against the law of the land, and all amercements, imposed unjustly and against the law of the land, shall be entirely remitted, or else it shall be done concerning them according to the decision of the five and twenty barons whom mention is made below in the clause for securing the peace, or according to the judgment of the majority of the same, along with the aforesaid Stephen, archbishop of Canterbury, if he can be present, and such others as he may wish to bring with him for this purpose, and if he cannot be present the business shall nevertheless proceed without him, provided always that if any one or more of the aforesaid five and twenty barons are in a similar suit, they shall be removed as far as concerns this particular judgment, others being substituted in their places after having been selected by the rest of the same five and twenty for this purpose only, and after having been sworn.

56. If we have dispossessed or removed Welshmen from lands or liberties, or other things, without the legal judgment of their peers in England or in Wales, they shall be immediately restored to them; and if a dispute arise over this, then let it be decided in the marches by the judgment of their peers; for the tenements in England according to the law of England, for tenements in Wales according to the law of Wales, and for tenements in the marches according to the law of the marches. Welshmen shall do the same to us and ours.

57. Further, for all those possessions from which any Welshman has, without the lawful judgment of his peers, been dispossessed or removed by King Henry our father, or King Richard our brother, and which we retain in our hand (or which are possessed by others, and which we ought to warrant), we will have respite until the usual term of crusaders; excepting those things about which a plea has been raised or an inquest made by our order before we took the cross; but as soon as we return (or if perchance we desist from our expedition), we will immediately grant full justice in accordance with the laws of the Welsh and in relation to the foresaid regions.

58. We will immediately give up the son of Llywelyn and all the hostages of Wales, and the charters delivered to us as security for the peace.

59. We will do towards Alexander, king of Scots, concerning the return of his sisters and his hostages, and concerning his franchises, and his right, in the same manner as we shall do towards our other barons of England, unless it ought to be otherwise according to the charters which we hold from William his father, formerly king of Scots; and this shall be according to the judgment of his peers in our court.

60. Moreover, all these aforesaid customs and liberties, the observances of which we have granted in our kingdom as far as pertains to us towards our men, shall be observed by all of our kingdom, as well clergy as laymen, as far as pertains to them towards their men.

61. Since, moreover, for God and the amendment of our kingdom and for the better allaying of the quarrel that has arisen between us and our barons, we have granted all these concessions, desirous that they should enjoy them in complete and firm endurance forever, we give and grant to them the underwritten security, namely, that the barons choose five and twenty barons of the kingdom, whomsoever they will, who shall be bound with all their might, to observe and hold, and cause to be observed, the peace and liberties we have granted and confirmed to them by this our present Charter, so that if we, or our justiciar, or our bailiffs or any one of our officers, shall in anything be at fault towards anyone, or shall have broken any one of the articles of this peace or of this security, and the offense be notified to four barons of the foresaid five and twenty, the said four barons shall repair to us (or our justiciar, if we are out of the realm) and, laying the transgression before us, petition to have that transgression redressed without delay. And if we shall not have corrected the transgression (or, in the event of our being out of the realm, if our justiciar shall not have corrected it) within forty days, reckoning from the time it has been intimated to us (or to our justiciar, if we should be out of the realm), the four barons aforesaid shall refer that matter to the rest of the five and twenty barons, and those five and twenty barons shall, together with the community of the whole realm, distress and distress us in all possible ways, namely, by seizing our castles, lands, possessions, and in any other way they can, until redress has been obtained as they deem fit, saving harmless our own person, and the persons of our queen and children; and when redress has been obtained, they shall resume their old relations towards us. And let whoever in the country desires it, swear to obey the orders of the said five and twenty barons for the execution of all the aforesaid matters, and along with them, to molest us to the utmost of his power; and we publicly and freely grant leave to everyone who wishes to swear, and we shall never forbid anyone to swear. All those, moreover, in the land who of themselves and of their own accord are unwilling to swear to the twenty five five and twenty to help them in constraining and molesting us, we shall by our command compel the same to swear to the effect foresaid. And if any one of the five and twenty barons shall have died or departed from the land, or be incapacitated in any other manner which would prevent the foresaid provisions being carried out, those of the said five and twenty barons who are left shall choose another in his place according to their own judgment, and he shall be sworn in the same way as the others. Further, in all matters, the execution of which is entrusted, to these five and twenty barons, if perchance these twenty five are present and disagree about anything, or if some of them, after being summoned, are unwilling or unable to be present, that which the majority of those present ordain or command shall be held as fixed and established, exactly as if the whole five and twenty had concurred in this; and the said five and twenty shall swear that they will faithfully observe all that is aforesaid, and cause it to be observed with all their might. And we shall procure nothing from anyone, directly or indirectly, whereby any part of these concessions and liberties might be revoked or diminished; and if any such things has been procured, let it be void and null, and we shall never use it personally or by another.

62. And all the will, hatreds, and bitterness that have arisen between us and our men, clergy and lay, from the date of the quarrel, we have completely remitted and pardoned to everyone. Moreover, all trespasses occasioned by the said quarrel, from Easter in the sixteenth year of our reign till the restoration of peace, we have fully remitted to all, both clergy and laymen, and completely forgiven, as far as pertains to us. And on this head, we have caused to be made for them letters testimonial patent of the lord Stephen, archbishop of Canterbury, of the lord Henry, archbishop of Dublin, of the bishops aforesaid, and of Master Pandulf as touching this security and the concessions aforesaid.

63. Wherefore we will and firmly order that the English Church be free, and that the men in our kingdom have and hold all the aforesaid liberties, rights, and concessions, well and peaceably, freely and quietly, fully and wholly, for themselves and their heirs, of us and our heirs, in all respects and in all places forever, as is aforesaid. An oath, moreover, has been taken, as well on our part as on the part of the barons, that all these conditions aforesaid shall be kept in good faith and without evil intent.

Given under our hand, the above named and many others being witnesses, in the meadow which is called Runnymede, between Windsor and Staines, on the fifteenth day of June, in the seventeenth year of our reign.
In the name of God, Amen. We, whose names are underwritten, the Loyal Subjects of our dread Sovereign Lord King James, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, King, defender of the Faith, etc.:

Having undertaken, for the Glory of God, and advancements of the Christian faith, and the honor of our King and Country, a voyage to plant the first colony in the Northern parts of Virginia; do by these presents, solemnly and mutually, in the presence of God, and one another; covenant and combine ourselves together into a civil body politic; for our better ordering, and preservation and furtherance of the ends aforesaid; and by virtue hereof to enact, constitute, and frame, such just and equal laws, ordinances, acts, constitutions, and offices, from time to time, as shall be thought most meet and convenient for the general good of the colony; unto which we promise all due submission and obedience.

In witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names at Cape Cod the 11th of November, in the year of the reign of our Sovereign Lord King James, of England, France, and Ireland, the eighteenth, and of Scotland the fifty-fourth, Year of Our Lord, 1620.

The Declaration of Independence

Adopted by Congress on July 4, 1776

The Unanimous Declaration of the Thirteen United States of America

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature’s God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any form of government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.
He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the state remaining in the meantime exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these states; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies without the consent of our legislature.

He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule in these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burned our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens taken captive on the high seas to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare, is undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which, would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress, assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

ARTICLE I
The Style of this Confederacy shall be “The United States of America.”

ARTICLE II
Each state retains its sovereignty, freedom, and independence, and every power, jurisdiction, and right, which is not by this Confederation expressly delegated to the United States, in Congress assembled.

ARTICLE III
The said States hereby severally enter into a firm league of friendship with each other, for their common defense, the security of their liberties, and their mutual and general welfare, binding themselves to assist each other, against all force offered to, or attacks made upon them, or any of them, on account of religion, sovereignty, trade, or any other pretense whatever.

ARTICLE IV
The better to secure and perpetuate mutual friendship and intercourse among the people of the different States in this Union, the free inhabitants of each of these States, paupers, vagabonds, and fugitives from justice excepted, shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of free citizens in the several States; and the people of each State shall free ingress and regress to and from any other State, and shall enjoy therein all the privileges of trade and commerce, subject to the same duties, impositions, and restrictions as the inhabitants thereof respectively, provided that such restrictions shall not extend so far as to prevent the removal of property imported into any State, to any other State, of which the owner is an inhabitant; provided also that no imposition, duties or restriction shall be laid by any State, on the property of the United States, or either of them.

If any person guilty of, or charged with, treason, felony, or other high misdemeanor in any State, shall flee from justice, and be found in any of the United States, he shall, upon demand of the Governor or executive power of the State from which he fled, be delivered up and removed to the State having jurisdiction of his offense.

Full faith and credit shall be given in each of these States to the records, acts, and judicial proceedings of the courts and magistrates of every other State.

ARTICLE V
For the most convenient management of the general interests of the United States, delegates shall be annually appointed in such manner as the legislatures of each State shall direct, to meet in Congress on the first Monday in November, in every year, with a power reserved to each State to recall its delegates, or any of them, at any time within the year, and to send others in their stead for the remainder of the year.

No State shall be represented in Congress by less than two, nor more than seven members; and no person shall be capable of being a delegate for more than three years in any term of six years; nor shall any person, being a delegate, be capable of holding any office under the United States, for which he, or another for his benefit, receives any salary, fees or emolument of any kind.

Each State shall maintain its own delegates in a meeting of the States, and while they act as members of the committee of the States.

In determining questions in the United States in Congress assembled, each State shall have one vote.

Freedom of speech and debate in Congress shall not be impeached or questioned in any court or place out of Congress, and the members of Congress shall be protected in their persons from arrests or imprisonments, during the time of their going to and from,
and attendance on Congress, except for treason, felony, or breach of the peace.

ARTICLE VI

No State, without the consent of the United States in Congress assembled, shall send any embassy to, or receive any embassy from, or enter into any conference, agreement, alliance or treaty with any King, Prince or State; nor shall any person holding any office of profit or trust under the United States, or any of them, accept any present, emolument, office or title of any kind whatever from any King, Prince or foreign State; nor shall the United States in Congress assembled, or any of them, grant any title of nobility.

No two or more States shall enter into any treaty, confederation or alliance whatever between them, without the consent of the United States in Congress assembled, specifying accurately the purposes for which the same is to be entered into, and how long it shall continue.

No State shall lay any imposts or duties, which may interfere with any stipulations in treaties, entered into by the United States in Congress assembled, with any King, Prince or State, in pursuance of any treaties already proposed by Congress, to the courts of France and Spain.

No vessel of war shall be kept up in time of peace by any State, except such number only, as shall be deemed necessary by the United States in Congress assembled, for the defense of such State, or its trade; nor shall any body of forces be kept up by any State in time of peace, except such number only, as in the judgement of the United States in Congress assembled, shall be deemed requisite to garrison the forts necessary for the defense of such State; but every State shall always keep up a well-regulated and disciplined militia, sufficiently armed and accoutered, and shall provide and constantly have ready for use, in public stores, a due number of filed pieces and tents, and a proper quantity of arms, ammunition and camp equipage.

No State shall engage in any war without the consent of the United States in Congress assembled, unless such State be actually invaded by enemies, or shall have received certain advice of a resolution being formed by some nation of Indians to invade such State, and the danger is so imminent as not to admit of a delay till the United States in Congress assembled can be consulted; nor shall any State grant commissions to any ships or vessels of war, nor letters of marque or reprisal, except it be after a declaration of war by the United States in Congress assembled, and then only against the Kingdom or State and the subjects thereof, against which war has been so declared, and under such regulations as shall be established by the United States in Congress assembled, unless such State be infested by pirates, in which case vessels of war may be fitted out for that occasion, and kept so long as the danger shall continue, or until the United States in Congress assembled shall determine otherwise.

ARTICLE VII

When land forces are raised by any State for the common defense, all officers of or under the rank of colonel, shall be appointed by the legislature of each State respectively, by whom such forces shall be raised, or in such manner as such State shall direct, and all vacancies shall be filled up by the State which first made the appointment.

ARTICLE VIII

All charges of war, and all other expenses that shall be incurred for the common defense or general welfare, and allowed by the United States in Congress assembled, shall be defrayed out of a common treasury, which shall be supplied by the several States in proportion to the value of all land within each State, granted or surveyed for any person, as such land and the buildings and improvements thereon shall be estimated according to such mode as the United States in Congress assembled, shall from time to time direct and appoint. The taxes for paying that proportion shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the legislatures of the several States within the time agreed upon by the United States in Congress assembled.

ARTICLE IX

The United States in Congress assembled, shall have the sole and exclusive right and power of determining on peace and war, except in the cases mentioned in the sixth article—of sending and receiving ambassadors—entering into treaties and alliances, provided that no treaty of commerce shall be made whereby the legislative power of the respective States shall be restrained from imposing such imposts and duties on foreigners, as their own people are subjected to, or from prohibiting the exportation or importation of any species of goods or commodities whatsoever—of establishing rules for deciding in all cases, what captures on land or water shall be legal, and in what manner prizes taken by land or naval forces in the service of the United States shall be divided or appropriated—of granting letters of marque and reprisal in times of peace—appointing courts for the trial of piracies and felonies committed on the high seas and establishing courts for receiving and determining finally appeals in all cases of captures, provided that no member of Congress shall be appointed a judge of any of the said courts.

The United States in Congress assembled shall also be the last resort on appeal in all disputes and differences now subsisting or that hereafter may arise between two or more States concerning boundary, jurisdiction or any other causes whatever; which authority shall always be exercised in the manner following. Whenever the legislative or executive authority or lawful agent of any State in controversy with another shall present a petition to Congress stating the matter in question and praying for a hearing, notice thereof shall be given by order of Congress to the legislative or executive authority of the other State in controversy, and a day assigned for the appearance of the parties by their lawful agents, who shall then be directed to appoint by joint consent, commissioners or judges to constitute a court for hearing and determining the matter in question: but if they cannot agree, Congress shall name three persons out of each of the United States, and from the list of such persons each party shall alternately strike out one, the petitioners beginning, until the number shall be reduced to thirteen; and from that number not less than seven, nor more than nine names as Congress shall direct, shall in the presence of Congress be drawn out by lot, and the persons whose names shall be so drawn or any five of them, shall be commissioners or judges, to hear and finally determine the controversy, so always as a major part of the judges who shall hear the cause shall agree in the determination: and if either party shall neglect to attend at the day appointed, without showing reasons, which Congress shall judge sufficient, or being present shall refuse to strike, the Congress shall proceed to nominate three persons out of each State, and the secretary of Congress shall strike in behalf of such party absent or refusing; and the judgement and sentence of the court to be appointed, in the manner before prescribed, shall be final and conclusive; and if any of the parties shall refuse to submit to the authority of such court, or to appear or defend their claim or cause, the court shall nevertheless proceed to pronounce sentence, or judgement, which shall in like manner be final and decisive, the judgement or sentence and other proceedings being in either case transmitted to Congress, and lodged among the acts of Congress for the security of the parties concerned: provided that every commissioner, before he sits in judgement, shall take an oath to be administered by one of the judges of the supreme or superior court of the State, where the cause shall be tried, “well and truly to hear and determine the matter in question, according to the best of his judgement, without favor, affection or hope of reward:” provided also, that no State shall be deprived of territory for the benefit of the United States.

All controversies concerning the private right of soil claimed under different grants of two or more States, whose jurisdictions as they may respect such lands, and the States which passed such grants are adjusted, the said grants or either of them being at the same time claimed to have originated antecedent to such settlement of jurisdiction, shall on the petition of either party to the Congress of the United States, be finally determined as near as may be in the same manner as is before presecribed for deciding disputes respecting territorial jurisdiction between different States.

The United States in Congress assembled shall also have the sole and exclusive right and power of regulating the alloy and value of coin struck by their own authority, or by that of the respective States—fixing the standards of weights and measures throughout the United States—regulating the trade and managing all affairs with the Indians, not members of any of the States, provided that the legislative right of any State within its own limits be not infringed or violated—establishing or regulating post offices from one State to another, throughout all the United States, and exacting such postage on the papers passing through the same as may be requisite to defray the expenses of the said office—appointing all officers of the land forces, in the service of the United States, excepting regimental officers—appointing all the officers of the naval forces, and commissioning all officers whatever in the service of the United States—making rules for the government and regulation of the said land and naval forces, and directing their operations.

The United States in Congress assembled shall have authority to appoint a committee, to sit in the recess of Congress, to be denominated “A Committee of the States,” and to consist of one delegate from each State; and to appoint such other committees and civil officers as may be necessary for managing the general affairs of the United States under their direction—to appoint one of their members to preside, provided that no person be allowed to serve in the office of president more than one year in any term of three years; to ascertain the necessary sums of money to be raised for the service of the United States, and to appropriate and apply the same for defraying the public expenses—to borrow money, or emit bills on the credit of the United States, transmitting every half-year to the respective States an account of the sums of money so borrowed or emitted—to build and equip a navy—to agree upon the number of land forces, and to make requisitions from each State for its quota, in proportion to the number of white inhabitants in such State; which requisition shall be binding, and thereupon the legislature of each State shall appoint the regimental officers, raise the men and cloath, arm and equip them in a solid-like manner, at the expense of the United States; and the officers and men so cloathed, armed and equipped shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the United States in Congress assembled. But if the United States in Congress assembled shall, on consideration of circumstances judge proper that any State should not raise men, or should raise a smaller number of men than the quota thereof, such extra number shall be raised, officered, cloathd, armed and equipped in the same manner as the quota of each State, unless the legislature of such State shall judge that such extra number cannot be safely spread out in the same, in which case they shall raise, officer, cloath, arm and equip as many of such extra number as they judge can be safely spared. And the officers and men so cloathed, armed, and equipped, shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the United States in Congress assembled.

The United States in Congress assembled shall never engage in a war, nor grant letters of marque or reprisal in time of peace, nor enter into any treaties or alliances, nor coin money, nor regulate the value thereof, nor ascertain the sums and expenses necessary for the defense and welfare of the United States, or any of them, nor emit bills, nor borrow money on the credit of the United States, nor appropriate money, nor agree upon the number of vessels of war, to be built or purchased, or the number of land or sea forces to be raised, nor appoint a commander in chief of the army or navy, unless nine States assent to the same: nor shall a question on any other point, except for adjourning from day to day be determined, unless by the votes of the majority of the United States in Congress assembled.

The Congress of the United States shall have power to adjourn to any time within the year, and to any place within the United States, so that no period of adjournment be for a longer duration than the space of six months, and shall publish the journal of their proceedings monthly, except such parts thereof relating to treaties, alliances or military operations, as in their judgement require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the delegates of each State on any question shall be entered on the journal, when it is desired by any delegates of a State, or any of them, at his or their request shall be furnished with a transcript of the said journal, except such parts as are above excepted, to lay before the legislatures of the several States.

ARTICLE X

The Committee of the States, or any nine of them, shall be authorized to execute, in the recess of Congress, such of the powers of Congress as the United States in Congress assembled, by the consent of the nine States, shall from time to time think expedient to vest them with; provided that no power be delegated to the said Committee, for the exercise of which, by the Articles of Confederation, the voice of nine States in the Congress of the United States assembled be requisite.

ARTICLE XI

Canada acceding to this confederation, and adjoining in the measures of the United States, shall be admitted into, and entitled to all the advantages of this Union; but no other colony shall be admitted into the same, unless such admission be agreed to by nine States.

ARTICLE XII

All bills of credit emitted, monies borrowed, and debts contracted by, or under the authority of Congress, before the assembling of the United States, in pursuance of the present confederation, shall be deemed and considered as a charge against the United States, for payment and satisfaction whereof the said United States, and the public faith are hereby solemnly pledged.
ARTICLE XIII
Every State shall abide by the determination of the United States in Congress assembled, on all questions which by this confederation are submitted to them. And the Articles of this Confederation shall be inviolably observed by every State, and the Union shall be perpetual; nor shall any alteration at any time hereafter be made in any of them; unless such alteration be agreed to in a Congress of the United States, and be afterwards confirmed by the legislatures of every State.

And Whereas it hath pleased the Great Governor of the World to incline the hearts of the legislatures we respectively represent in Congress, to approve of, and to authorize us to ratify the said Articles of Confederation and perpetual Union. Know Ye that we the undersigned delegates, by virtue of the power and authority to us given for that purpose, do by these presents, in the name and in behalf of our respective constituents, fully and entirely ratify and confirm each and every of the said Articles of Confederation and perpetual Union, and all and singular the matters and things therein contained: And we do further solemnly plight and engage the faith of our respective constituents, that they shall abide by the determinations of the United States in Congress assembled, on all questions, which by the said Confederation are submitted to them. And that the Articles thereof shall be inviolably observed by the States we respectively represent, and that the Union shall be perpetual. In Witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hands in Congress.

DONE at Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania, the 9th day of July, in the Year of our Lord 1778, and in the third year of the independence of America.

The aforesaid articles of confederation were finally ratified on the first day of March 1781; the state of Maryland having, by their Members in Congress, on that day acceded thereto, and completed the same.

The Constitution of the United States

We the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

Article I

Section I

All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Section II

The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States, and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

No Person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the Age of twenty five Years, and been seven Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct Taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective Numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole Number of free Persons, including those bound to Service for a Term of Years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three fifths of all other Persons.

The actual Enumeration shall be made within three Years after the first Meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent Term of ten Years, in such Manner as they shall by Law direct. The Number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty Thousand, but each State shall have at Least one Representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five and Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the Representation from any State, the Executive Authority thereof shall issue Writs of Election to fill such Vacancies.

The House of Representatives shall choose their Speaker and other Officers; and shall have the sole Power of Impeachment.

Section III

The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof, for six Years; and each Senator shall have one Vote.
Immediately after they shall be assembled in Consequence of the first Election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three Classes. The Seats of the Senators of the first Class shall be vacated at the Expiration of the second Year, of the second Class at the Expiration of the fourth Year, and of the third Class at the Expiration of the sixth Year, so that one third may be chosen every second Year; and if Vacancies happen by Resignation, or otherwise, during the Recess of the Legislature of any State, the Executive thereof may make temporary Appointments until the next Meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such Vacancies.

No person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty Years, and been nine Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no Vote, unless they be equally divided.

The Senate shall choose their other Officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the Office of President of the United States.

The Senate shall have the sole Power to try all Impeachments. When sitting for that Purpose, they shall be on Oath or Affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside: And no Person shall be convicted without the Concurrence of two thirds of the Members present.

Judgment in Cases of Impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from Office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any Office of honor, Trust or Profit under the United States: but the Party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to Indictment, Trial, Judgment and Punishment, according to Law.

Section IV

The Times, Places and Manner of holding Elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by Law make or alter such Regulations, except as to the Place of Choosing Senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every Year, and such Meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by Law appoint a different Day.

Section V

Each House shall be the Judge of the Elections, Returns and Qualifications of its own Members, and a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent Members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide.

Each House may determine the Rules of its Proceedings, punish its Members for disorderly Behavior, and, with the Concurrence of two-thirds, expel a Member.

Each House shall keep a Journal of its Proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such Parts as may in their Judgment require Secrecy; and the Yeas and Nays of the Members of either House on any question shall, at the Desire of one fifth of those Present, be entered on the Journal.

Neither House, during the Session of Congress, shall, without the Consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other Place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.
Section VI
The Senators and Representatives shall receive a Compensation for their Services, to be ascertained by Law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States. They shall in all Cases, except Treason, Felony and Breach of the Peace, be privileged from Arrest during their Attendance at the Session of their respective Houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any Speech or Debate in either House, they shall not be questioned in any other Place.

No Senator or Representative shall, during the Time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil Office under the Authority of the United States which shall have been created, or the Emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no Person holding any Office under the United States, shall be a Member of either House during his Continuance in Office.

Section VII
All bills for raising Revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with Amendments as on other Bills. Every Bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it become a Law, be presented to the President of the United States; If he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his Objections to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the Objections at large on their Journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such Reconsideration two thirds of that House shall agree to pass the Bill, it shall be sent, together with the Objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two thirds of that House, it shall become a Law. But in all such Cases the Votes of both Houses shall be determined by Yeas and Nays, and the Names of the Persons voting for and against the Bill shall be entered on the Journal of each House respectively. If any Bill shall not be returned by the President within ten Days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the Same shall be a Law, in like Manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their Adjournment prevent its Return, in which Case it shall not be a Law.

Every Order, Resolution, or Vote to which the Concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of Adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the Same shall take Effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the Rules and Limitations prescribed in the Case of a Bill.

Section VIII
The Congress shall have Power To lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the United States; but all Duties, Imposts and Excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

To borrow money on the credit of the United States;

To regulate Commerce with foreign Nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian Tribes;

To establish an uniform Rule of Naturalization, and uniform Laws on the subject of Bankruptcies throughout the United States;

To coin Money, regulate the Value thereof, and of foreign Coin, and fix the Standard of Weights and Measures;
To provide for the Punishment of counterfeiting the Securities and current Coin of the United States;
To establish Post Offices and Post Roads;
To promote the Progress of Science and useful Arts, by securing for limited Times to Authors and Inventors the exclusive Right to their respective Writings and Discoveries;
To constitute Tribunals inferior to the supreme Court;
To define and punish Piracies and Felonies committed on the high Seas, and Offenses against the Law of Nations;
To declare War, grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal, and make Rules concerning Captures on Land and Water;
To raise and support Armies, but no Appropriation of Money to that Use shall be for a longer Term than two Years;
To provide and maintain a Navy;
To make Rules for the Government and Regulation of the land and naval Forces;
To provide for calling forth the Militia to execute the Laws of the Union, suppress Insurrections and repel Invasions;
To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the Militia, and for governing such Part of them as may be employed in the Service of the United States, reserving to the States respectively, the Appointment of the Officers, and the Authority of training the Militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress;
To exercise exclusive Legislation in all Cases whatsoever, over such District (not exceeding ten Miles square) as may, by Cession of particular States, and the acceptance of Congress, become the Seat of the Government of the United States, and to exercise like Authority over all Places purchased by the Consent of the Legislature of the State in which the Same shall be, for the Erection of Forts, Magazines, arsenals, dock-Yards, and other needful Buildings; And
To make all Laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into Execution the foregoing Powers, and all other Powers vested by this Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any Department or Officer thereof.

Section IX
The Migration or Importation of such Persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the Year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such Importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each Person.
The privilege of the Writ of Habeas Corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in Cases of Rebellion or Invasion the public Safety may require it.
No Bill of Attainder or ex post facto Law shall be passed.
No capitation, or other direct, Tax shall be laid, unless in Proportion to the Census or Enumeration herein before directed to be taken.
No Tax or Duty shall be laid on Articles exported from any State.
No Preference shall be given by any Regulation of Commerce or Revenue to the Ports of one State over those of another: nor shall Vessels bound to, or from, one State, be obliged to enter, clear, or pay Duties in another.
No Money shall be drawn from the Treasury, but in Consequence of Appropriations made by Law; and a regular Statement and Account of the Receipts and Expenditures.
of all public Money shall be published from time to time.

No Title of Nobility shall be granted by the United States: And no Person holding any Office of Profit or Trust under them, shall, without the Consent of the Congress, accept of any present, Emolument, Office, or Title, of any kind whatever, from any King, Prince or foreign State.

Section X

No State shall enter into any Treaty, Alliance, or Confederation; grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal; coin Money; emit Bills of Credit; make any Thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts; pass any Bill of Attainder, ex post facto Law, or Law impairing the Obligation of Contracts, or grant any Title of Nobility.

No State shall, without the Consent of the Congress, lay any Imposts or Duties on Imports or Exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection Laws: and the net Produce of all Duties and Imposts, laid by any State on Imports or Exports, shall be for the Use of the Treasury of the United States; and all such Laws shall be subject to the Revision and Control of the Congress.

No State shall, without the Consent of Congress, lay any duty of Tonnage, keep Troops, or Ships of War in time of Peace, enter into any Agreement or Compact with another State, or with a foreign Power, or engage in War, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent Danger as will not admit of delay.

Article II

Section I

The executive Power shall be vested in a
President of the United States of America.

He shall hold his Office during the Term of four Years, and, together with the Vice-President chosen for the same Term, be elected, as follows:

Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors, equal to the whole Number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress: but no Senator or Representative, or Person holding an Office of Trust or Profit under the United States, shall be appointed an Elector.

The Electors shall meet in their respect-tive States, and vote by Ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not lie an Inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a List of all the Persons voted for, and of the Number of Votes for each; which List they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the Seat of the Government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the Presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the Certificates, and the Votes shall then be counted. The Person having the greatest Number of Votes shall be the President, if such Number be a Majority of the whole Number of Electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such Majority, and have an equal Number of Votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately choose by Ballot one of them for President; and if no Person have a Majority, then from the five highest on the List the said House shall in like Manner choose the President. But in choosing the President, the Votes shall be taken by States, the Representation from each State having one Vote; a quorum for this Purpose shall consist of a Member or Members from two-thirds of the States, and a Majority of all the States shall be necessary to a Choice. In every Case, after the Choice of the President, the Person having the greatest Number of Votes of the Electors shall be the Vice President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal Votes, the Senate shall choose from them by Ballot the Vice-President.

The Congress may determine the Time of choosing the Electors, and the Day on which they shall give their Votes; which Day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person except a natural born Citizen, or a Citizen of the United States, at the time of the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the Office of President; neither shall any Person be eligible to that Office who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty-five Years, and been fourteen Years a Resident within the United States.

In Case of the Removal of the President from Office, or of his Death, Resignation, or Inability to discharge the Powers and Duties of the said Office, the same shall devolve on the Vice President, and the Congress may by Law provide for the Case of Removal, Death, Resignation or Inability, both of the President and Vice President, declaring what Officer shall then act as President, and such Officer shall act accordingly, until the Disability be removed, or a President shall be elected.

The President shall, at stated Times, receive for his Services, a Compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the Period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that Period any other Emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the Execution of his Office, he shall take the following Oath or Affirmation:

“I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the Office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my Ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States.”

Section II

The President shall be Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the Militia of the several States, when called into the actual Service of the United States; he may require the Opinion, in writing, of the principal Officer in each of the executive Departments, upon any subject relating to the Duties of their respective Offices, and he shall have Power to Grant Reprieves and Pardons for Offenses against the United States, except in Cases of Impeachment.

He shall have Power, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Senate, to make Treaties, provided two thirds of the Senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the Advice and Consent of the Senate, shall appoint Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls, Judges of the supreme Court, and all other Officers of the United States, whose Appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by Law: but the Congress may by Law vest the Appointment of such inferior Officers, as they think proper, in the President alone, in the Courts of Law, or in the Heads of Departments.

The President shall have Power to fill up all Vacancies that may happen during the Recess of the Senate, by granting Commissions which shall expire at the End of their next Session.

Section III

He shall from time to time give to the Congress Information of the State of the Union, and recommend to their Consideration such Measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary Occasions, convene both Houses, or either of them, and in Case of Disagreement between them, with Respect to the Time of Adjournment, he may adjourn them to such Time as he shall think proper; he shall receive Ambassadors and other public Ministers; he shall take Care that the Laws be faithfully executed, and shall Commission all the Officers of the United States.

Section IV
The President, Vice President and all civil Officers of the United States, shall be removed from Office on Impeachment for, and Conviction of, Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors.

Article III

Section I
The judicial Power of the United States, shall be vested in one supreme Court, and in such inferior Courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The Judges, both of the supreme and inferior Courts, shall hold their Offices during good Behavior, and shall, at stated Times, receive for their Services a Compensation which shall not be diminished during their Continuance in Office.

Section II
The judicial Power shall extend to all Cases, in Law and Equity, arising under this Constitution, the Laws of the United States, and Treaties made, or which shall be made, under their Authority; to all Cases affecting Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls; to all Cases of admiralty and maritime Jurisdiction; to Controversies to which the United States shall be a Party; to Controversies between two or more States; between a State and Citizens of another State; between Citizens of different States; between Citizens of the same State claiming Lands under Grants of different States, and between a State, or the Citizens thereof, and foreign States, Citizens or Subjects.

In all Cases affecting Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls, and those in which a State shall be Party, the supreme Court shall have original Jurisdiction. In all the other Cases before mentioned, the supreme Court shall have appellate Jurisdiction, both as to Law and Fact, with such Exceptions, and under such Regulations as the Congress shall make.

The Trial of all Crimes, except in Cases of Impeachment, shall be by Jury; and such Trial shall be held in the State where the said Crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State, the Trial shall be at such Place or Places as the Congress may by Law have directed.

Section III
Treason against the United States, shall consist only in levying War against them, or in adhering to their Enemies, giving them Aid and Comfort. No Person shall be convicted of Treason unless on the Testimony of two Witnesses to the same overt Act, or on Confession in open Court.

The Congress shall have power to declare the Punishment of Treason, but no Attainder of Treason shall work Corruption of Blood, or Forfeiture except during the Life of the Person attainted.

Article IV

Section I
Full Faith and Credit shall be given in each State to the public Acts, Records, and judicial Proceedings of every other State. And the Congress may by general Laws prescribe the Manner in which such Acts, Records and Proceedings shall be proved, and the Effect thereof.

Section II
The Citizens of each State shall be entitled to all Privileges and Immunities of Citizens in the several States.

A Person charged in any State with Treason, Felony, or other Crime, who shall flee from Justice, and be found in another State, shall on demand of the executive Authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having Jurisdiction of the Crime.

No Person held to Service or Labour in one State, under the Laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in Consequence of any Law or Regulation therein, be discharged from such Service or Labour, But shall be delivered up on Claim of the Party to whom such Service or Labour may be due.

Section III
New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new States shall be formed or erected within the Jurisdiction of any other State; nor any State be formed by the Junction of two or more States, or parts of States, without the Consent of the Legislatures of the States concerned as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have Power to dispose of and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory or other Property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to Prejudice any Claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

Section IV
The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government, and shall protect each of them against Invasion; and on Application of the Legislature, or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened) against domestic Violence.

Article V
The Congress, whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose Amendments to this Constitution, or, on the Application of the Legislatures of two thirds of the several States, shall call a Convention for proposing Amendments, which, in either Case, shall be valid to all Intents and Purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several States, or by Conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one or the other Mode of Ratification may be proposed by the Congress; Provided that no Amendment which may be made prior to the Year One thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any Manner affect the first and fourth Clauses in the Ninth Section of the first Article; and that no State, without its Consent, shall be deprived of its equal Suffrage in the Senate.

Article VI
All Debts contracted and Engagements entered into, before the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the Confederation.

This Constitution, and the Laws of the United States which shall be made in Pursuance thereof; and all Treaties made, or which shall be made, under the Authority of the United States, shall be the supreme Law of the Land; and the Judges in every State shall be bound thereby, any Thing in the Constitution or Laws of any State to the Contrary notwithstanding.

The Amendments to the Constitution

Amendment 1
Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

Amendment 2
A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed.

Amendment 3
No Soldier shall, in time of peace be quartered in any house, without the consent of the Owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

Amendment 4
The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

Amendment 5
No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

Amendment 6
In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the Assistance of Counsel for his defence.

Amendment 7
In Suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury, shall be otherwise re-examined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

Amendment 8
Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

Amendment 9
The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

Amendment 10
The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.
Amendment 11

The Judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by Citizens of another State, or by Citizens or Subjects of any Foreign State.

Amendment 12

The Electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice-President, and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate;

The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates and the votes shall then be counted; The person having the greatest Number of votes for President, shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice-President of the United States.

Amendment 13

1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Amendment 14

1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President.

The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President, shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice-President of the United States.
2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and Judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Amendment 15

1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Amendment 16

The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several States, and without regard to any census or enumeration.

Amendment 17

The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, elected by the people thereof, for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote. The electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State legislatures.

When vacancies happen in the representation of any State in the Senate, the executive authority of such State shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies: Provided, That the legislature of any State may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct.

This amendment shall not be so construed as to affect the election or term of any Senator chosen before it becomes valid as part of the Constitution.

Amendment 18
1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

2. The Congress and the several States shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress.

Amendment 19
The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex.

Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Amendment 20
1. The terms of the President and Vice President shall end at noon on the 20th day of January, and the terms of Senators and Representatives at noon on the 3d day of January, of the years in which such terms would have ended if this article had not been ratified; and the terms of their successors shall then begin.

2. The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall begin at noon on the 3d day of January, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

3. If, at the time fixed for the beginning of the term of the President, the President elect shall have died, the Vice President elect shall become President. If a President shall not have been chosen before the time fixed for the beginning of his term, or if the President elect shall have failed to qualify, then the Vice President elect shall act as President until a President shall have qualified; and the Congress may by law provide for the case wherein neither a President elect nor a Vice President elect shall have qualified, declaring who shall then act as President, or the manner in which one who is to act shall be selected, and such person shall act accordingly until a President or Vice President shall have qualified.

4. The Congress may by law provide for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the House of Representatives may choose a President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them, and for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the Senate may choose a Vice President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them.

5. Sections 1 and 2 shall take effect on the 15th day of October following the ratification of this article.

6. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States within seven years from the date of its submission.

Amendment 21
1. The eighteenth article of amendment to the Constitution of the United States is hereby repealed.

2. The transportation or importation into any State, Territory, or possession of the United States for delivery or use therein of intoxicating liquors, in violation of the laws thereof, is hereby prohibited.

3. The article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by conventions in the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress.

Amendment 22

1. No person shall be elected to the office of the President more than twice, and no person who has held the office of President, or acted as President, for more than two years of a term to which some other person was elected President shall be elected to the office of the President more than once. But this Article shall not apply to any person holding the office of President, when this Article was proposed by the Congress, and shall not prevent any person who may be holding the office of President, or acting as President, during the term within which this Article becomes operative from holding the office of President or acting as President during the remainder of such term.

2. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States within seven years from the date of its submission to the States by the Congress.

Amendment 23

1. The District constituting the seat of Government of the United States shall appoint in such manner as the Congress may direct: A number of electors of President and Vice President equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives in Congress to which the District would be entitled if it were a State, but in no event more than the least populous State; they shall be in addition to those appointed by the States, but they shall be considered, for the purposes of the election of President and Vice President, to be electors appointed by a State; and they shall meet in the District and perform such duties as provided by the twelfth article of amendment.

2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Amendment 24

1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote in any primary or other election for President or Vice President, for electors for President or Vice President, or for Senator or Representative in Congress, shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any State by reason of failure to pay any poll tax or other tax.

2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Amendment 25

1. In case of the removal of the President from office or of his death or resignation, the Vice President shall become President.

2. Whenever there is a vacancy in the office of the Vice President, the President shall nominate a Vice President who shall take office upon confirmation by a majority vote of both Houses of Congress.

3. Whenever the President transmits to the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives his written declaration that he is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, and until he transmits to them a written declaration to the contrary, such powers and duties shall be discharged by the Vice President as Acting President.

4. Whenever the Vice President and a majority of either the principal officers of the executive departments or of such other body as Congress may by law provide, transmit to the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives their written declaration that the President is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the Vice President shall immediately assume the powers and duties of the office as Acting President.

Thereafter, when the President transmits to the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives his written declaration that no inability exists, he shall resume the powers and duties of his office unless the Vice President and a majority of either the principal officers of the executive department or of such other body as Congress may by law provide, transmit within four days to the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives their written declaration that the President is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office. Thereupon Congress shall decide the issue, assembling within forty eight hours for that purpose if not in session. If the Congress, within twenty one days after receipt of the latter written declaration, or, if Congress is not in session, within twenty one days after Congress is required to assemble, determines by two thirds vote of both Houses that the President is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the Vice President shall continue to discharge the same as Acting President; otherwise, the President shall resume the powers and duties of his office.

Amendment 26

1. The right of citizens of the United States, who are eighteen years of age or older, to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of age.

2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Amendment 27

No law, varying the compensation for the services of the Senators and Representatives, shall take effect, until an election of Representatives shall have intervened.
Rules of Civility & Decent Behavior in Company and Conversation

George Washington, sometime before the age of 16, transcribed Rules of Civility & Decent Behaviour in Company and Conversation. (Original errors in numbering have been corrected; original spelling is unchanged.)

1st Every Action done in Company, ought to be with Some Sign of Respect, to those that are Present.

2nd When in Company, put not your Hands to any Part of the Body, not usually Discovered.

3rd Shew Nothing to your Friend that may affright him.

4th In the Presence of Others Sing not to yourself with a humming Noise, nor Drum with your Fingers or Feet.

5th If You Cough, Sneeze, Sigh, or Yawn, do it not Loud but Privately; and Speak not in your Yawning, but put Your handkerchief or Hand before your face and turn aside.

6th Sleep not when others Speak, Sit not when others stand, Speak not when you Should hold your Peace, walk not on when others Stop.

7th Put not off your Cloths in the presence of Others, nor go out your Chamber half Drest.

8th At Play and at Fire its Good manners to Give Place to the last Commer, and affect not to Speak Louder than Ordinary.

9th Spit not in the Fire, nor Stoop low before it neither Put your Hands into the Flames to warm them, nor Set your Feet upon the Fire especially if there be meat before it.

10th When you Sit down, Keep your Feet firm and Even, without putting one on the other or Crossing them.

11th Shift not yourself in the Sight of others nor Gnaw your nails.

12th Shake not the head, Feet, or Legs rowl not the Eys lift not one eyebrow higher than the other wry not the mouth, and bedew no mans face with your Spittle, by approaching too near him when you Speak.

13th Kill no Vermin as Fleas, lice ticks &c in the Sight of Others, if you See any filth or thick Spittle put your foot Dexteriously upon it if it be upon the Cloths of your Companions, Put it off privately, and if it be upon your own Cloths return Thanks to him who puts it off.

14th Turn not your Back to others especially in Speaking, Jog not the Table or Desk on which Another reads or writes, lean not upon any one.

15th Keep your Nails clean and Short, also your Hands and Teeth Clean yet without Shewing any great Concern for them.

16th  Do not Puff up the Cheeks, Loll not out the tongue rub the Hands, or beard, thrust out the lips, or bite them or keep the Lips too open or too Close.

17th  Be no Flatterer, neither Play with any that delights not to be Play’d Withal.

18th  Read no Letters, Books, or Papers in Company but when there is a Necessity for the doing of it you must ask leave: come not near the Books or Writings of Another so as to read them unless desired or give your opinion of them unask’d also look not nigh when another is writing a Letter.

19th  let your Countenance be pleasant but in Serious Matters Somewhat grave.

20th  The Gestures of the Body must be Suited to the discourse you are upon.

21st  Reproach none for the Infirmaties of Nature, nor Delight to Put them that have in mind thereof.

22nd Shew not yourself glad at the Misfortune of another though he were your enemy.

23rd  When you see a Crime punished, you may be inwardly Pleased; but always shew Pity to the Suffering Offender.

24th  Do not laugh too loud or too much at any Publick Spectacle.

25th  Superfluous Complements and all Affectation of Ceremonie are to be avoided, yet where due they are not to be Neglected.

26th  In Pulling off your Hat to Persons of Distinction, as Noblemen, Justices, Churchmen &c make a Reverence, bowing more or less according to the Custom of the Better Bred, and Quality of the Person. Amongst your equals expect not always that they Should begin with you first, but to Pull off the Hat when there is no need is Affectation, in the Manner of Saluting and resaluting in words keep to the most usual Custom.

27th  Tis ill manners to bid one more eminent than yourself be covered as well as not to do it to whom it’s due Likewise he that makes too much haste to Put on his hat does not well, yet he ought to Put it on at the first, or at most the Second time of being ask’d; now what is herein Spoken, of Qualification in behaviour in Saluting, ought also to be observed in taking of Place, and Sitting down for ceremonies without Bounds is troublesome.

28th  If any one come to Speak to you while you are are Sitting Stand up tho he be your Inferiour, and when you Present Seats let it be to every one according to his Degree.

29th  When you meet with one of Greater Quality than yourself, Stop, and retire especially if it be at a Door or any Straight place to give way for him to Pass.

30th  In walking the highest Place in most Countrys Seems to be on the right hand therefore Place yourself on the left of him whom you desire to Honour: but if three walk together the midst Place is the most Honourable the wall is usually given to the most worthy if two walk together.

31st  If any one far Surpasss others, either in age, Estate, or Merit yet would give Place to a meaner than himself in his own lodging or elsewhere the one ought not to except it, So he on the other part should not use much earnestness nor offer it above once or twice.

32nd To one that is your equal, or not much inferior you are to give the chief Place in your Lodging and he to who ‘tis offered ought at the first to refuse it but at the Second to accept though not without acknowledging his own unworthiness.

33rd They that are in Dignity or in office have in all places Precedency but whilst they are Young they ought to respect those that are their equals in Birth or other Qualities, though they have no Publick charge.

34th It is good Manners to prefer them to whom we Speak before ourselves especially if they be above us with whom in no Sort we ought to begin.

35th Let your Discourse with Men of Business be Short and Comprehensive.

36th Artificers & Persons of low Degree ought not to use many ceremonies to Lords, or Others of high Degree but Respect and highly Honour them, and those of high Degree ought to treat them with affability & Courtesie, without Arrogancy.

37th In Speaking to men of Quality do not lean nor Look them full in the Face, nor approach too near them at lest Keep a full Pace from them.

38th In visiting the Sick, do not Presently play the Physician if you be not Knowing therein.

39th In writing or Speaking, give to every Person his due Title According to his Degree & the Custom of the Place.

40th Strive not with your Superiors in argument, but always Submit your Judgment to others with Modesty.

41st Undertake not to Teach your equal in the art himself Professes; it Savours of arrogancy.

42nd Let thy ceremonies in Courtesie be proper to the Dignity of his place with whom thou conversest for it is absurd to act the same with a Clown and a Prince.

43rd Do not express Joy before one sick or in pain for that contrary Passion will aggravate his Misery.

44th When a man does all he can though it Succeeds not well blame not him that did it.

45th Being to advise or reprehend any one, consider whether it ought to be in publick or in Private; presently, or at Some other time in what terms to do it & in reproving Shew no Sign of Cholar but do it with all Sweetness and Mildness.

46th Take all Admonitions thankfully in what Time or Place Soever given but afterwards not being culpable take a Time & Place convenient to let him know it that gave them.

47th Mock not nor Jest at any thing of Importance break no Jest that are Sharp Biting and if you Deliver any thing witty and Pleasant abstain from Laughing there at yourself.

48th Wherein you reprove Another be unblameable yourself; for example is more prevalent than Precepts.

49th Use no Reproachful Language against any one neither Curse nor Revile.

50th Be not hasty to believe flying Reports to the Disparagement of any.

51st Wear not your Cloths, foul, ript or Dusty but See they be Brush'd once every day at least and take heed that you approach not to any Uncleaness.

52nd In your Apparel be Modest and endeavour to accomodate Nature, rather than to procure Admiration keep to the Fashion of your equals Such as are Civil and orderly with respect to Times and Places.

53rd Run not in the Streets, neither go too slowly nor with Mouth open go not Shaking your Arms kick not the earth with your feet, go not upon the Toes, nor in a Dancing fashion.

54th Play not the Peacock, looking every where about you, to See if you be well Deck't, if your Shoes fit well if your Stockings sit neatly, and Cloths handsomely.

55th Eat not in the Streets, nor in the House, out of Season.

56th Associate yourself with Men of good Quality if you Esteem your own Reputation; for 'tis better to be alone than in bad Company.

57th In walking up and Down in a House, only with One in Company if he be Greater than yourself, at the first give him the Right hand and Stop not till he does and be not the first that turns, and when you do turn let it be with your face towards him, if he be a Man of Great Quality, walk not with him Cheek by Jowl but Somewhat behind him; but yet in Such a Manner that he may easily Speak to you.

58th Let your Conversation be without Malice or Envy, for 'tis a Sign of a Tractable and Commendable Nature: And in all Causes of Passion admit Reason to Govern.

59th Never express anything unbecoming, nor Act against the Rules Moral before your inferiors.

60th Be not immodest in urging your Friends to Discover a Secret.

61st Utter not base and frivolous things amongst grave and Learn'd Men nor very Difficult Questions or Subjects, among the Ignorant or things hard to be believed, Stuff not your Discourse with Sentences amongst your Betters nor Equals.

62nd Speak not of doleful Things in a Time of Mirth or at the Table; Speak not of Melancholy Things as Death and Wounds, and if others Mention them Change if you can the Discourse tell not your Dreams, but to your intimate Friend.

63rd A Man ought not to value himself of his Achievements, or rare Qualities of wit; much less of his riches Virtue or Kindred.

64th Break not a Jest where none take pleasure in mirth Laugh not aloud, nor at all without Occasion, deride no mans Misfortune, tho' there Seem to be Some cause.

65th Speak not injurious Words neither in Jest nor Earnest Scoff at none although they give Occasion.
66th Be not forward but friendly and Courteous; the first to Salute hear and answer & be not Pensive when it’s a time to Converse.

67th Detract not from others neither be excessive in Commanding.

68th Go not thither, where you know not, whether you Shall be Welcome or not. Give not Advice without being Ask’d & when desired do it briefly.

69th If two contend together take not the part of either unconstrained; and be not obstinate in your own Opinion, in Things indifferent be of the Major Side.

70th Reprehend not the imperfections of others for that belongs to Parents Masters and Superiours.

71st Gaze not on the marks or blemishes of Others and ask not how they came. What you may Speak in Secret to your Friend deliver not before others.

72nd Speak not in an unknown Tongue in Company but in your own Language and that as those of Quality do and not as the Vulgar; Sublime matters treat Seriously.

73rd Think before you Speak pronounce not imperfectly nor bring out your Words too hastily but orderly & distinctly.

74th When Another Speaks be attentive your Self and disturb not the Audience if any hesitate in his Words help him not nor Prompt him without desired, Interrupt him not, nor Answer him till his Speech be ended.

75th In the midst of Discourse ask not of what one treateth but if you Perceive any Stop because of your coming you may well intreat him gently to Proceed: If a Person of Quality comes in while you are Conversing it’s handsome to Repeat what was said before.

76th While you are talking, Point not with your Finger at him of Whom you Discourse nor Approach too near him to whom you talk especially to his face.

77th Treat with men at fit Times about Business & Whisper not in the Company of Others.

78th Make no Comparisons and if any of the Company be Commended for any brave act of Virtue, commend not another for the Same.

79th Be not apt to relate News if you know not the truth thereof. In Discoursing of things you Have heard Name not your Author always A Secret Discover not.

80th Be not Tedious in Discourse or in reading unless you find the Company pleased therewith.

81st Be not Curious to Know the Affairs of Others neither approach those that Speak in Private.

82nd Undertake not what you cannot perform but be carefull to keep your promise.

83rd When you deliver a matter do it without passion & with discretion, however mean the person be you do it too.

84th When your Superiours talk to any Body hearken not neither Speak nor Laugh.
85th  In Company of these of Higher Quality than yourself Speak not til you are asked a Question then Stand upright put off your Hat & Answer in few words.

86th  In Disputes, be not So Desirous to Overcome as not to give Liberty to each one to deliver his Opinion and Submit to the Judgment of the Major Part especially if they are Judges of the Dispute.

87th  Let thy carriage be such as becomes a Man Grave Settled and attentive to that which is spoken. Contradict not at every turn what others Say.

88th  Be not tedious in Discourse, make not many Digressions, nor repeat often the Same manner of Discourse.

89th  Speak not Evil of the absent for it is unjust.

90th  Being Set at meat Scratch not neither Spit Cough or blow your Nose except there’s a Necessity for it.

91st  Make no Shew of taking great Delight in your Victuals, Feed not with Greediness; cut your Bread with a Knife, lean not on the Table neither find fault with what you Eat.

92nd  Take no Salt or cut Bread with your Knife Greasy.

93rd  Entertaining any one at table it is decent to present him with meat, Undertake not to help others undesired by the Master.

94th  If you Soak bread in the Sauce let it be no more than what you put in your Mouth at a time and blow not your broth at Table but Stay till Cools of it Self.

95th  Put not your meat to your Mouth with your Knife in your hand neither Spit forth the Stones of any fruit Pye upon a Dish nor Cast anything under the table.

96th  It’s unbecoming to Stoop much to ones Meat Keep your Fingers clean & when foul wipe them on a Corner of your Table Napkin.

97th  Put not another bit into your Mouth til the former be Swallowed let not your Morsels be too big for the Jowls.

98th  Drink not nor talk with your mouth full neither Gaze about you while you are a Drinking.

99th  Drink not too leisurely nor yet too hastily. Before and after Drinking wipe your Lips breath not then or Ever with too Great a Noise, for its uncivil.

100th  Cleanse not your teeth with the Table Cloth Napkin Fork or Knife but if Others do it let it be done with a Pick Tooth.

101st  Rinse not your Mouth in the Presence of Others.

102nd  It is out of use to call upon the Company often to Eat nor need you Drink to others every Time you Drink.

103rd  In Company of your Betters be not longer in eating than they are lay not your Arm but only your hand upon the table.

104th  It belongs to the Chieftest in Company to unfold his Napkin and fall to Meat first, But he ought then to Begin in time & to Dispatch with Dexterity that the Slowest may have time allowed him.
105th Be not Angry at Table whatever happens & if you have reason to be so, Shew it not but on a Chearfull Countenance especially if there be Strangers for Good Humour makes one Dish of Meat a Feast.

106th Set not yourself at the upper of the Table but if it Be your Due or that the Master of the house will have it So, Contend not, least you Should Trouble the Company.

107th If others talk at Table be attentive but talk not with Meat in your Mouth.

108th When you Speak of God or his Attributes, let it be Seriously & with Reverence. Honour & Obey your Natural Parents altho they be Poor.

109th Let your Recreations be Manfull not Sinfull.

110th Labour to keep alive in your Breast that Little Spark of Celestial fire Called Conscience.
